CRIPPLED BOY MAKES GOOD. Although Greatly Handicapped He Has Accumulated $5,000. Omaha, July 22.—Fred H. Walker of Omaha has demonstrated that it is not necessary for a young man to have the use of his legs in order to exist and keep the wolf away from the door. This young man is 24 years of age and although he has been a cripple for six years he has gathered about him property to the value of $5,000 and has done this without the assistance of any person other than his customers, and in dealing with them he feels that he has given them dollar for dollar.

Six years ago Walker was in the Omaha high school, where he was a bright boy and a crack football player. In one of the games he met with an accident that deprived him of the use of his legs, at least when he was able to be about he was forced to use crutches and his physicians told him that he will never be able to walk without them.

The parents of Walker were poor, but this did not discourage him. The squab business had started and in it Walker saw some money. He went to another man, a friend, he bought lumber for his pens, and being something of a mechanic, did his own building. Then he went in debt for fifty pairs of squabs. He was ready for business.

The birds increased at a wonderful rate and at the end of the first year he had sold fifty dozen young birds at $3 per dozen and had 100 pairs in his pens. The second year he sold $500 worth of birds, paid off all his debts and increased his breeding stock by 150 pairs. From that time on his business flourished. Up to July 1 of this year his sales for the six months had aggregated $1,000 and he says he will turn off fully $500 worth of birds before winter. Young Walker has bought him a team and does his own marketing. He sells only to hotels and restaurants and consequently receives the highest prices.

Humphrey Commercial Club. Humphrey Democrat: A long felt want is at last about to be filled in Humphrey, and that is a commercial club. The start was made Monday evening when a few business men met at the home of Dr. Condon and the set on foot a movement which no doubt result in a good live club being formed. Messrs. Diers, Wentz and N. J. Steffes were chosen as a committee to circulate a paper to secure signatures and a promise to attend a meeting next Monday evening in the city hall to complete an organization.

Humphrey had a commercial club a number of years ago. It started out to secure a flouring mill for the town. It succeeded, but it seemed that after this was accomplished it considered its mission ended, so it died a silent death. There has been need of a commercial club in Humphrey almost continuously since, and had we had one we believe the town would be considerably better off today. Attend the meeting Monday night, and there receive such inspiration as will make you a booster, not a knocker, for the good of the town and community as long as you claim Humphrey as your home. A town good enough to live in is certainly good enough to boost for and this is what a good commercial club will make you do.

JEWELS AND JACK KNIVES. Pure Food Law Cannot Prevent Gifts and Premiums to the Purchaser. Lincoln, Neb., July 24.—It is no offense against the law for the manufacturer of a food product to include in the package containing his stuff a prize, gift or premium, and that section of the pure food law which declares this to be misbranding is unconstitutional. So holds District Judge Stewart in a test case brought by the manufacturers of ice cream powder and mince meat, who gave slips that could be redeemed in cash or in magazine or book subscription.

The attorney general holds that this is a device that is intended to deceive the purchaser of a food product into believing that he is getting something for nothing and that the cost of the prize being included in the price charged, it means deterioration in the food product sold. The court says that there being no element of chance in it, public morals are not lowered, and that, therefore, the police power of the state cannot be invoked. The manufacturers complained that the law was secured by manufacturers who didn't make it impossible for those who did to do so.

Carnival With Race Meeting. A new carnival company will be here from Monday, August 2, to Saturday, August 7, to show under the auspices of the race committee. A contract has been signed by the race committee with L. C. Kelley, representative of the main show of the Lachman company. Mr. Kelley says, although the carnival company that was here a short time ago was a branch of their company, it has gone through bad weather and has been handicapped in many ways. Before signing the contracts with this company Mayor Friday sent messages of inquiry to Beatrice, where the company last showed, and the answers were very satisfactory. Beatrice people say they were very much pleased with the company and recommended it. At present the company is at Hastings.

The idea of having a carnival company here during the races was to have a place for the visiting horsemen and visitors to amuse themselves after the races and ball games and in the evenings.

The free attractions given by this company are said to be excellent and they also carry an animal show in connection with their other shows. No pains have been spared by the race committee to make the three days of racing a grand holiday for the visitors and it is said there will be many people here.

A bunch of horses will come from Pierce and many more are reported on the way. There is no doubt that there will be a large field of horses.

The baseball tournament will be one of the features of the three days' holiday. Many good teams have inquired for dates. Among them are Lyons, in which club two Norfolk boys are the battery. It is said they are likely to be here for one or two games soon.

Automobiles are at present putting the finishing touches to the race track here and within a week the track will be in the best kind of condition. The track has been flooded and automobiles are running over it and using it as a driving park. Every owner of an automobile is invited and requested by the race committee to join the crowd Monday night at the track and take a spin round, which will help put the final touches to its fine condition.

Graves Store Changes Hands. The Graves department store, formerly known as Luikart's store, was sold Saturday morning, C. W. McMaster acting as buyer.

In the future the store will be known as The People's Department store," and Mr. McMaster will be manager.

D. C. Cordry, who has been manager of the store for the past year, leaves August 5 for St. Paul to accept a position as traveling salesman.

Will Ask Steel King for $11,000. Andrew Carnegie will be asked to give $11,000 for the Norfolk public library building, instead of $10,000 as already provided. Owing to the advance in cost of labor and materials during the past six months, the library building planned six months ago to cost $10,000, will now cost a little more than $11,000. The building as planned is as small and inexpensive as Norfolk should have, in the opinion of the library board, and an effort will be made to secure additional funds from the steel king in order to build the structure just as outlined.

There is reason to believe that the additional $1,000 may be secured. The steel magnate makes it a rule to give for a library building ten times as much money as the city will yearly appropriate for maintenance. And owing to the increase in Norfolk's assessed valuation, due to increase in property and to growth in the city, the levy made for library maintenance, originally planned to bring $1,100 per year, will now raise about $1,100. Ten times this amount would make $11,000 and Mr. Carnegie makes it a rule to give ten times the yearly maintenance appropriation for the building's construction.

So Mr. Carnegie will be written to immediately, and the facts in the case called to his attention. Until a reply is received, and the needed additional money provided, work will not start on the building. But matters will be expedited as much as possible so that just as quickly as is possible the new building will begin to be built.

Bids Are Opened. The library board met yesterday afternoon to receive bids on the proposed building. As a result the following figures are available:

For the completed building, without furniture or architect's fee, the low bid was $11,840.

For the same building without finished basement (on which original estimate was based) low bid was $11,005.

Four bids were received, two from local contractors and two from outside. John Hermann and Pruden & Beckenhauer were the Norfolk bidders; F. H. Woerth of Scribner and Anton Rastad of Vermillion, S. D., were the other two. There was $700 difference between the high and low bid.

Deeds for Site Now Signed. The deed for the library site, at Norfolk avenue and Eighth street, was signed Saturday, so that now all is in readiness for the building itself as soon as the additional fund is arranged. The site is 127 feet by 104 feet, at the southwest corner of Norfolk avenue and Eighth.

The increased cost of building, over the figures of six months ago, was shown by the 20 per cent increase on brick and the 33 per cent increase on labor. One contractor stated that he is now paying 25 cents an hour for common labor, as against 17 cents last January, and men are hard to get at that price.

The building as planned will make a beautiful public institution for Norfolk and the library board feels that any action in reducing the size or the quality of the building, from the originally planned structure, would not be justified, in view of the fact that Norfolk is entitled to a library that is worth while. The board feels that to erect an inferior building would be cause for lasting regret and for this reason—to get the building that has been planned—the new effort with Mr. Carnegie will be made.

The building could have been built before, but owing to delays in the closing of arrangements with Mr. Carnegie, over which the board had no control, it was impossible to proceed until now.

With another $1,000 from Mr. Carnegie and with a portion of the maintenance fund already accumulated for use on certain features which could properly come under the head of maintenance, the structure can be built as outlined. New bids will be advertised for, it is probable, after Mr. Carnegie is heard from.
