He is getting along nicely at this writing.

HYDE'S TRIAL DRAWS NEAR. Kansas City, April 4.—Henry Jost, assistant county prosecutor, announced that the state would ask no delay in the trial of Dr. B. Clark Hyde for the murder of Thomas H. Swope.

Mr. Jost also declared that he had received positive assurance from the attorneys for the physician that they would be ready for trial April 11, the date set by Judge Latshaw.

If, looking backward, you're sorry you didn't advertise more about this time last year, try, now, the experiment of doing the thing which always seems right in retrospect.

A GIRL CAUSED A STRIKE. "Joan of Arc of the East Side" Has Aroused 1,000 Suit Case Makers.

New York, April 2.—One thousand men and women, the entire force of dress suit case makers in the city, struck today. A quiet eyed, dark haired Austrian girl was responsible for the strike. For two hours last night she exhorted the men in a dingy hall on Eldridge street.

At the close of her speech the workers decided to go out. The girl whose words precipitated the strike is Minnie Tadamier, known as "the Joan of Arc of the East Side," from the part she took in bringing about the neckwear makers' strike. She is 18 years old and looks like the last person in the world to lead 1,000 workmen and women to a fight.

She is short and rather stout. Her hair is scant and dark. If it were not for her eyes she would seem almost timid, but they are steady and deep brown.

A PRIZE FOR BOY FARMERS. Senator Gore Encouraging the Raising of Corn in Oklahoma.

Washington, April 2.—Senator Gore of Oklahoma made an offer recently to pay the expenses of a trip to Washington next winter for the Oklahoma boy who raised the largest crop of corn on an acre of ground. The conditions are that the boy must be under 16 years old and must have done all the work himself.

The senator announced today that he will have between 3,000 and 4,000 competitors for the prize. The department of agriculture has promised to furnish information about the growing of corn for the benefit of the boys who ask for it and most of the young farmers believe they can increase the yield if they have scientific advice.

The original offer read for boys, but the senator has two letters from girls asking permission to take part in the contest. They are Mamie Tennant of Yukon and Anna Morrison of Ochelata. The senator wrote them today that they would be considered as contestants and given the same chance as the boys, also that he would be as glad to see a girl win as one of the boys.

In a similar contest in South Carolina last year a boy raised 155 bushels of corn on an acre of land.

Fire at Lake City. Newport Republican: A prairie fire broke out west of Lake City during the high wind Monday. No other damage than the burning of hay has been learned of. It was reported that Young's buildings were burned, but the report proved to be only a rumor.

School House for Osmond. Osmond Republican: On Friday night, March 25, the school board entered into a contract with Bohrer Bros., of Falls City, Nebr., for the erection of a new school building in this place. There were four bidders after the job, the bids running from $17,011 to $18,940.00. The Messrs Bohrer secured the work for $17,011.00. The building is to be completed by Sept. 10, or they pay a forfeit of $25 per week for all time after that. A copy of the contract and drawings of the new building may be seen at this office.

An Auto Experience. Fairfax Advertiser: Carl Gollady, Chet Johnson, M. L. Parrish, J. E. Beagle and John Kosta, who went to Omaha to bring back, overland, four automobiles, reached home Sunday morning. The party left Omaha at 10:45 Friday morning and made good time considering the roads. Just after leaving Fremont, Neb., Ed. Beagle, who was running his big Oakland machine and was in the lead, lost control for a second, but that was long enough for the big machine to jump to the side of the road and tear through a wire fence. M. L. Parrish and John were in the auto and experienced quite a fright. Parrish turned a back somersault out the rear, and Kosta said his prayers, while Beagle ducked under the steering wheel. Fortunately the auto stopped before breaking the wire and no damage was done. After the machine was righted the party proceeded without further trouble. They could have reached Fairfax several hours sooner, but rested several hours at Spencer.

Electricity for O'Neill. O'Neill Frontier: When Engineer Bruce was here a few weeks ago Mayor Biellu had quite a talk with him regarding an electric light system for the city and Mr. Bruce said he would prepare an estimate of the cost of a plant of sufficient capacity to supply the needs of this city. Mayor Biellu received the estimate yesterday. The plant is estimated to run fourteen arc lights and 650 incandescents and would cost installed $7,500. It would seem to us that at this price O'Neill should have an electric light plant and sufficient capital should be secured in the city to put the plant in.

A Serious Accident. Platte Central Signal: A very serious accident happened in a very peculiar manner on Tuesday to an eighteen months old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Chohan, living on the farm recently occupied by Fred Michaelson, in Grand Prairie township. A washing machine was being run by a horse-power, the power being connected to the machine by a tumbling rod. The child walked under the rod and its hair caught on the rod and was twisted around in such a manner as to tear a large piece in the scalp entirely off. Dr. Pugh who was called to attend the child says that a piece of the scalp larger than the palm of his hand was torn off leaving the scalp exposed. The piece was replaced and stitched on in the hope that it would unite. It will be several days before it can be determined whether this will be a success.

MORE PITTSBURG GRAFTERS. Four Banks Are Now Being Investigated by Grand Jury. Pittsburg, April 4.—With the handing down of sixteen more indictments the grand jury investigating the municipal bribery scandal has practically wiped the slate clean of the councilmanic end of the case.

The jury is now devoting most of its time to an investigation of the four city depositories which are alleged to have contributed to the $45,000 corruption fund taken to New York for distribution.

of Raphael, King Victor Emanuel II, the "father of his country," and King Humbert. At the entrance to the temple, Mr. Roosevelt was saluted by the veteran of the wars of Italian independence, who for thirty years have guarded night and day the tomb of their chief.

Puts Wreaths on Tombs. The guest shook hands with each of the veterans, congratulating them on the honorable duty in which they were engaged and saying that he had wished not to leave Rome without saying a tribute of respect to the memory of the founder of united Italy. He brought two wreaths, which were placed on the tombs of Victor Emanuel II and Humbert.

Mr. Roosevelt was received by Dr. Ricci, director general of the department of the fine arts, who repeated the ministry of instruction.

Others present were Monsignor Baccaria, royal chaplain of the pantheon; Commander Andrew T. Long, American naval attaché; Prof. Jesse Carter, director of the American school of classical studies at Rome and several other Americans.

Rain was falling, but outside the pantheon a large crowd had gathered and as Mr. Roosevelt left the place he was cheered.

Meets Dowager Empress. A pleasing incident at the pantheon was a chance meeting between Mr. Roosevelt and the Queen Dowager Margarita, who detained the former president in conversation for some moments.

Col. W. F. Cody and Wife Effect a Reconciliation. North Platte, Neb., April 4.—Colonel Cody arrived here and for the first time in ten years slept in the old ranch house at Scout's Rest, his old home. The coming of Colonel Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill, marks the strained relations that have existed between him and his wife for more than eight years. There has been a reconciliation, and they are as happy as any married couple in Nebraska. This reconciliation was brought about by Cody Boals, a grandson yet in his teens, a student at the Kearney military academy. He came here to spend the Easter vacation with his grandmother, who has been occupying the old home, living with W. F. Graw and wife, the latter having been Miss Irma Cody prior to her marriage.

Unknown to anybody, a few days ago, young Boals telegraphed his grandfather inviting him here to spend his vacation. The old scout accepted, and came as rapidly as the train would bring him. He was met at the depot by Cody Boals and taken out to the house. The first person he met was Mrs. Cody. The meeting was unexpected, but the greetings were so cordial that each acknowledged having made a mistake when they separated. It is understood that the divorce proceedings will be dismissed.

MONDAY MENTION. W. D. Lewis has moved from 1214 Madison avenue to South Thirteenth street.

Floyd Freeland has purchased a home on Madison avenue between Eleventh and Twelfth streets.

Much thanks is being given by a large number of people to the good work started at a local saloon when a petition was circulated in the place by its proprietor to aid a sick citizen and his wife whose four children were without food. Four hours after the subscription was started $50 was raised in the saloon and later, when taken out on the street, it soon reached a higher mark.

The route includes stations on the Platte line of the Milwaukee from Yankton to Canton; from Elk Point to Mitchell; from Mitchell to Rapid City. From the Black Hills country the party will return over the Northwestern line, stopping at practically every station in Nebraska.

The Third District. Fremont Tribune: Republican candidates for congress in the Third district are backward about coming forward, and it should not be so. That there should be a situation in which a man like Mr. Latta should be conceded to be difficult to defeat is not in the interest of legislative efficiency. If he were kept in congress for fifty years he would not prove a capable legislator, for he lacks the qualifications for that kind of work. This is not to be construed to mean that he is not a good citizen, for he will go as far as the next one, according to all reports, to relieve a sick or distressed neighbor. It is to be construed as meaning only that Mr. Latta's qualifications as a legislator extend no farther than that he can provide a rat pocketbook for making a campaign. There are not ten men in the district who would be willing to say that were it not for his money bags Mr. Latta would never have been thought of as a candidate for congress. Is this not true? Then when we reflect a little further we are forced to admit it is supremely absurd in these days to elect a man on his money qualifications alone. For we have been doing some boasting about legislating against the pernicious practice of scattering campaign funds abroad for the election of candidates. We have been citing that as evidence of our political progress and our moral growth. We have a law on the books forbidding a congressional candidate spending more than $500, yet Mr. Latta's candidacy rests on the fact that he can spend many times that sum without being pinched. We doubt if even he would deny that his election two years ago cost fifteen or twenty times that amount.

Since Mr. Latta has only his pocket book for his platform, republicans should have a candidate who can make a stumping contest against him. They need one who can take the rostrum and give the plain facts in a convincing way, that the voters may understand them. The democrats expect to rely on the maxim that "money talks," but republicans, not likely to be able to cope with them in this particular manner, should have a candidate who can talk. Of course his republicanism must also be of the progressive kind.

To Tax Autos $1 Per H. p. Governor Shallenberger Has Plan for Keeping up Country Roads. Lincoln, April 2.—"I shall recommend to the legislature that the tax on automobiles shall be based on the horse-power of the machine," said Governor Shallenberger discussing the suggestion he recently made. "I shall recommend the enactment of a law which provides that for every horsepower the owner shall pay $1 tax each year and that this money shall be deposited in a fund known as the good roads fund. The law will provide that the money derived from the tax on automobiles shall be apportioned back to the counties in which the owners live. I shall recommend that this tax be in lieu of all others on this class of property.

"Many of the eastern states have such a law and as a result they are getting good roads very rapidly and at little cost in so far as the general public is concerned. I have heard from a number of owners of automobiles and they have endorsed the idea and I believe there are very few who will object to the tax.

"As a matter of fact, the money saved the owners of automobiles by good roads will soon repay them for the additional tax."

On recommendation of the city attorney, Justice Eiseley dismissed the case of the state of Nebraska versus M. L. Ogden, who was charged with allowing paper to be blown into the street. Four deaths and eighteen births are the vital statistics of this city for the month of March. Three fires occurred during March. Justice Eiseley reports six arrests in March and says the police justice has had a very idle month.

Because they allowed their employees to dump rubbish into the street instead of into the dumping grounds, W. A. Emery and A. H. Kiesau were fined $5.90 each in Justice Eiseley's court Friday.

The fire department was on its way to the fire four minutes before the whistle sounded the alarm and the men made short work of the flames with a garden hose. This was the first fire of this month.

Harry Lewis is again in training for a fight which will be pulled off here about April 14 with Kid Buckles of Omaha, a brother of the well known Guy Buckles. "Long Distance" is open for any engagement and will take on any fighter weighing about 158 pounds.

Ray Weber Burned Again. Ray Weber, the bartender of the Emil Koehn saloon who was badly burned a few days ago when he was accidentally set on fire by a gasoline stove accident, had another experience of almost the same nature last evening at his home on South Sixth street, when an oil lamp exploded, badly burning him about the arm and shoulder.

Weber was standing near the lamp bandaging up his burns when suddenly the cotton caught fire from the lamp and an explosion followed. Neighbors who came into the house threw the lamp into the street, probably saving the house from destruction by fire. Two physicians were called to attend Weber, who is said to be badly burned.

STARVING, HE TRIED TO DIE. A Stranger in Chicago Jumped into the Lake, but Was Saved.

Chicago, April 2.—After walking Chicago's streets for two days and a night, penniless and without food, Norman W. Taylor, 27 years old, attempted to commit suicide yesterday by jumping into Lake Michigan.

John Ferchuse, 19 years old, a marine fireman, pulled him out. "I had not eaten since Monday," said Taylor to the ambulance surgeon. "I didn't have a penny. I was just discouraged."

MISS MORGAN SAW EMPORIA. In William Allen White's Family Survey She Did a Kansas Town.

Emporia, Kan., April 2.—Behind "Old Tom," who has grown gray hauling notable literary and political persons to see the Emporia depot, Miss Anne Morgan realized her desire to see a Kansas town. William Allen White and Mrs. White met the party with the family survey.

Miss Morgan began by taking a good look at the usual depot crowd, to several of whom she was introduced by Mr. White. The family survey with "Old Tom" was half a block up the street. On the way Mr. White met several friends, including a candidate for mayor and a commissioner. This caused a little delay, for Miss Morgan insisted particularly on seeing a Kansas town as it is every day.

So Mr. White stopped to chat with his friends while the visitors made their way to the team with Mrs. White.

The first place Miss Morgan chose to see was Mr. White's newspaper office, the Emporia Gazette. Here she spent half an hour, showing the practical strain in her interests by giving considerably more attention to the printing than to the editorial department. Also she explained her dislike of speaking for publication. After a drive around the paved streets of the town, the party took tea at the White home, where about thirty guests were invited to meet them. At night they took dinner with the Whites, and only other guests being Governor and Mrs. Stubbs.

The countess seemed to be deeply depressed when she was seen on board the liner. Asked when she expected to return to New York she said with a sad smile: "I wish I could tell you."

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, mother of the countess, Reginald Vanderbilt and his wife and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney accompanied the countess to the pier and remained there until the big vessel was headed down the North river.

TAFT TO NAME BOWERS? The Former Yale Man Probably Will Go to the Supreme Bench.

Washington, April 2.—President Taft has allowed it to be made public that he has made up his mind as to whom he will appoint to be associate justice of the United States supreme court to succeed Justice Brewer. Of course, he will make no move in the direction of making the appointment until after the funeral of Justice Brewer and it is believed by some that he has let the information that he has made his selection become public for the purpose of keeping away the advocates of the various men who are or will be candidates.

The rumors in political circles that the chosen man is Lloyd W. Bowers, now solicitor general of the United States, the next highest office under the attorney general, are more persistent today than ever, and it is Bowers' name that is spoken on every hand when people who profess to have information discuss the matter. The talk has become so general here that there is already a backfire started by men who think that a man so recently an attorney for a great railroad ought not to be sent direct to the highest judicial position in the country.

The objection is made that a railroad attorney may be as good a man as anyone and is pretty sure to be a good lawyer, but his habits of thought, his view of public things are influenced by his occupation and that a man who comes from some other sort of position ought to be preferred. If Bowers is appointed the president is pretty sure to be severely criticised and the fact that the criticism is already starting with no other basis than the rumors that he is the chosen man may result in the president naming someone else and letting his critics see that they have spoken too soon.

Unless the matter has clearly been disposed of there will be a meeting of the Kansas delegation in both houses the day after the funeral and the question of backing Judge W. C. Hook of Leavenworth, now judge of the United States circuit court of appeals, will be considered. As a matter of fact, it has already been considered to the extent that all the Kansans here know that if there seems to be a chance for the Kansas man, every member from his state in both house and senate will endorse him for the honor and most of them will become active workers in his behalf.

AS TARIFF DATA. Reports to Government of Corporation Will Serve Double Purpose.

Washington, April 2.—Industries claiming that a large tariff is necessary to permit them to do business will be confronted, when the tariff is next revised, with their returns under the corporation tax. If their statements are found to be true the returns will be accepted as evidence that a high tariff is needed but if they are not true it will discredit their testimony and result in drastic action.

This was one of the chief complaints during the taking of testimony by the house ways and means committee by manufacturers asking revision upward in the last congress and the fact that President Taft and his advisers saw in the corporation tax this particular phase for its use was made public by officials in the treasury department today. At the present time forty men are working on the returns from corporations under the corporation tax law, about 315,000 having been received to date. Approximately only about 1,000 known corporations failed to comply with law, many of them saying they had dissolved before the end of the calendar year. The question of their liability was put up to Attorney General Wickersham yesterday.

The number of cases of flagrant refusals to comply with the law for other reasons numbers less than 100 at the present time, say the officials.

About $3,000,000 has been paid to the treasury on account of the corporation tax.
