Golf Cuts Waist Lines.

There's an anti-fat cure in Norfolk. and an anti-thin cure, and an antiwhat-alls-you cure.

It's golf. Some call it "goff" and some call it "gowf" and some "gollof" and some 'gawf," but whatever you call it, it does the biz when it comes to putting the animal man into fit form.

Every Norfolk player feets better than he ever did in his life. Every one has made up his mind he's going to live longer than he would have endured, if he hadn't discovered golf.

The fat ones are getting thin and the thin ones are getting fleshy and the mediums are keeping just the right weight, but feeling better.

Men who had business worries have been able to go out and forget everything for two solid hours save just that little homeopathic pill that they chase around the two-mile links. And they all pronounce it bully sport.

It would be hard to figure out just how many inches of waistline Norfolk golfers, in the aggregate, have lost few days' visit in Sioux City. this summer, but the total would run up into a good many yards. For instance, here's a table of a few who terday in his automobile, to perform the same patch. have lost waistline, by inches:

S. M. Braden..... 3 C. E. Burnham...... 31/2 J. E. Haase..... 2 J. S. Mathewson..... 2 S. G. Mayer..... 3 George H. Spear..... 5 P. H. Salter..... 21/2 G. B. Christoph 2 N. A. Huse..... 21/2 E. P. Weatherby 2 C. S. Parker..... 2

Some of these reductions have meant the loss of as much as twenty pounds of weight.

Among the thin men who have either gained or kept their regular weight. and feel better than they ever did, are: C. H. Reynolds, C. B. Salter, George Burton, W. F. Hall, Dr. Brush, ha, where he spent a few days with Sam Erskine, ir., Elmer Hight, E. M. relatives. Huntington, W. P. Stafford, James Delaney, D. Mathewson.

Mackay Arraigns Schools.

In an article in the Medical Review Dr. J. H. Mackay of Norfelk denounces the commercialism of the present age as being responsible for our social, moral and health problems. He cites statistics to show that the financial loss to the nation annually from preventable sickness and deaths amounts to one and one-half billion dollars. Continuing, the doctor charges to our industrial idolatry the neuroticism and psychomania that is disturbing civil life and social order. The air, streams and soil, he affirms, are being poisoned and polluted and our food adulterated by a selfish commercialism and thus an avenue is opened through which misery, ill bealth and death enters. He charges the national government with expending more money for the protection and propagation of pigs and plants than is spent for the health of operation recently at an Omaha hos- sued in which Ferrin applied vile ep- improvements being made in Norfolk. the people.
