

To Make This Horse Center.

Norfolk and vicinity could be well known all over the country as a fancy horse breeding center if the plan of G. L. Carlson, the scientific horse breeder, is worked out. At an open meeting of the Commercial club at the city hall, called for the purpose of considering the matter, Mr. Carlson explained in an interesting address, that about fifty thoroughbred breeding mares should be purchased by farmers of this vicinity for the purpose of breeding fancy horses. It is not a difficult thing to bring the thoroughbred stock here to be sold, but they should be kept here, said Mr. Carlson. Norfolk and vicinity should make a breeding center of fancy stock and in time make a registering point for this kind of stock. Mr. Carlson's services in procuring these animals direct at cost for the farmers would be gratis. On account of short notice for the calling of the meeting only a fair sized crowd of business men were represented.

It was decided that Mr. Carlson should meet at a later date to be named by him with the directors of the Commercial club, who will formulate plans which the club will carry out. It was declared that farmers will act favorably on this proposition and take advantage of Mr. Carlson's offer.

Harvard-Yale in 0-to-0 Game.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 19.—The game between Yale and Harvard resulted in neither side being able to score. Final score: Yale 0, Harvard 0.

Yale "came back" today sufficiently to hold a stronger team to a scoreless tie for the first time in the history of Yale field.

The Harvard team was not quite aggressive enough to get to Yale's goal line, although in the last period the crimson had a good opportunity for a field goal from Yale's 15-yard line.

Harvard chose to rush and lost the ball immediately after on a fumble. This was the nearest that Harvard came to scoring. A few minutes later Yale, by good kicking, got the ball on Harvard's 35-yard line and in the last two minutes of play Captain Dalet failed at a goal by twenty feet.

Yale played a wonderful defensive game, but could make few gains in succession through the Harvard line. Although the game ended quietly, close followers of the sport gave Yale the credit of the contest, while Harvard followers were disappointed.

HE'S A TRAMP TELEGRAPHER.

Just in From "Chy." He Feels Sorry Over Change at Omaha.

J. P. Barnhart, day chief operator of the Western Union Telegraph company at Omaha who was recently appointed to a higher position in line of duty, is very well known by telegraphers along the Northwestern line in this territory. Chief Operator Barnhart has held the day chiefship at the large Omaha office for many years, and is known by tramp telegraphers as one of the best chiefs to work under in the country.

He is known never to forget a face or name. J. H. Owens, night chief operator of the same office, also well known throughout northeast Nebraska and remembered as giving great relief to the congested wire service during the Bonesteel, rush when hundreds of messages from the Tripp country were able to move only by his expertness as a wire chief, calls Mr. Barnhart the best chief operator in the country.

The Omaha office of the telegraph company employs over 100 telegraphers among them being expert operators known in the telegraph world as being on the "block" most of their lives. Many of these "rounders" are known to have applied for positions at the Omaha office fifty different times and have never been refused employment by Mr. Barnhart. A tramp telegrapher passed through Norfolk Friday and declared the Omaha office on the "bum."

"Barney," as Chief Barnhart is nicknamed by the operators, "is gone," said the tramp. "He has given me a job over fifty times and I just blew in from Chy (Chicago) and am on the block."

Old time telegraphers, such as the late Andy Swan, F. P. Code, Bert Cardwell, "Kid" Thornton, Dimmy Crowley, E. L. Huntley and hundreds of others who have worked up from messenger boys to Associated Press operators, will miss "Barney's" face at the chief's desk in the Omaha office. "Bill Ruskland, the traffic chief, is still there," said the tramp operator, "but Barney is not there to give the old timers a job. We were always good for a few hours extra in the dull season when Barney was there to hand out the vouchers, but it's not the same 'Om' (Omaha) office anymore."

The tramp operator, who has worked on nearly every railroad line in the country as an "OS" man, (night operator), as a "commercial" man in nearly every large city in the states, and as operator in many large newspaper offices, declared he must get "under cover" for the winter, and has now accepted an "OS" position on the Northwestern road. Probably next spring when "business picks up," he will go back to commercial work, but he declares he will not go back to Omaha.

"Barney is gone and it's no use. They don't stand for a man taking a nip any more."

Magner to Referee Fight.

"Patsey" Magner of Sioux City, the veteran pugilist and fight referee who refereed the Sullivan-West fight in Norfolk, has been engaged to referee the Sullivan-Davis mill at Gregory on the night of November 24. Every automobile in O'Neill has been chartered according to a letter received here from M. F. Kirwin, a Sullivan admiral. The automobile party will go across the country to Spencer from O'Neill. At Spencer they will embark on the late train for Gregory. The majority of the O'Neill fight fans will go to Gregory via Norfolk.

The fact that "Patsey" Magner will referee the fight assures both sides a clean contest.

Sullivan is reported in excellent condition. He has undergone a severe workout which will be continued until next Wednesday. By no means will he leave any chance to any of his opponents to wrest from him the title of middleweight champion of the world, which he claims.

Lee Davis, on the other hand, is also reported in the pink of condition at Gregory, where the betting is about even. Davis is known at Gregory never to have lost a fight and he has many backers.

At O'Neill there is no betting, the O'Neill fans holding their money until Gregory is reached when the long green from O'Neill will be placed on Sullivan.

A report from Gregory says $250 to $200 was bet on Davis Saturday.

Verdict in Pierce Case.

Pierce, Neb., Nov. 21.—Special to The News: After having been out for twenty-four hours, the jury in the case against Ross Ascroft, charged with murdering Harry Ropp, a Yankee Robinson circus employe, returned a verdict Saturday night of "assault and battery," compelling the defendant to pay a $100 fine and to pay all costs of the prosecution, amounting to between $1,000 and $2,000, or go to jail in payment, at the rate of $3.33 a day. The time he has been in jail already was allowed to Ascroft.

Ascroft said that he had no comment to make. In passing sentence Judge Welch said that manslaughter might have been the verdict and that undoubtedly Ascroft's demeanor during the trial had something to do with the verdict.

Ascroft was with the Yankee Robinson circus when it appeared in Pierce last August. Ropp, a drunken and vicious follower of the circus, was beaten so badly that he died.

Ascroft has no money to pay the costs with, it is said.

Woman Killed in a Runaway.

Gregory-Times Advocate: Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock Mrs. Anton Christanson met instant death as a result of a runaway accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Christanson and two sons were on their way home in a lumber wagon. They stopped at the depot to get a box of express just after the evening train had pulled out. The team being rather fractious the older boy remained in the wagon with his mother to watch the team while the father and younger son went into the depot for the box. It seems the box proved too heavy for them and the help of the older son was needed. Mrs. Christanson staid with the team, but got out of the wagon and stood at their heads. Just as the box was being loaded in the wagon the team started, knocking Mrs. Christanson down and both team and wagon passed over her body. Medical aid was at once summoned, but life had departed, instant death having been pronounced. The remains were taken to the home of Mrs. Henning.

Last Week of Labor Meet.

St. Louis, Nov. 21.—Aid for the striking garment workers in Chicago and for the building trades in Los Angeles was recommended at today's session of the annual session of the American Federation of Labor which began at noon, by the resolutions committee. The sentiment of the delegates indicated that the recommendations would be granted. Among other things to be decided will be the next meeting place. Rochester, New York, Atlanta and Oklahoma City are seeking the next convention.

JOHNSON GOING PACE.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—The next time Jack Johnson steps into a prize ring will bring out a new heavyweight champion.

Close friends of Jeffries' conquerer here today declare the above is the fact in Johnson's case. They are not surprised at the reports from the east and say a breakdown of the big black has been coming for some time. "Too much auto scorching and too much prosperity," is the way they put it and in their fears the mother of Johnson shares, following the report of the champion's collapse at Lowell, Mass.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflattering light of the low-priced Rayo.

He was told it was, and a few moments after giving the name of the party he wished to talk to in the distant city he was shut away by himself in the long distance booth. Five minutes later he came out of the booth smiling.

"It was my official I was talking to," he said to an officer of the company. "I heard her voice just as plainly as if I was in the same room with her. I never had to repeat one word."

It cost the young man exactly $9.75 for the talk, but he declared it was well worth the money.

"THE CABBY" TWOSTEP.

A Musical Selection Dedicated to Advertising Man on The News.

Among the several new pieces of music written recently by Professor Otto Voget of this city, and which will soon be sent to the publishers to be printed, is a pretty twostep entitled "Cabby" and dedicated to C. B. Cabanis, advertising manager of The News.

The musician had just finished writing the new music one afternoon when Mr. Cabanis called on him. The professor, aware of the fact that the advertising man was fond of music, especially twosteps, played his new composition. The caller was delighted with the catchy notes and commented favorably upon it. When he left the professor had a name for his new writing. He would call it "Cabby" and with the consent of Mr. Cabanis he dedicated the new music to him. A beautiful cover is being designed for the twostep. A young man returning home in the wee hours of the morning seated in a cab smiling in a satisfied manner will be the feature of the front covering.
