

RAILROAD NOTES

Edward C. O'Brien, who went to Uruguay as United States minister, has decided to remain in that country as the promoter and president of a new railroad.

John Ringling, the circus king, has just completed a railroad connecting White Sulphur Springs, Mont., which he practically owns, with the main line of the Milwaukee.

English and German bankers have organized a $14,000,000 company and have commenced work on a railroad from the city of Puebla, Mexico, west to a port on the Pacific ocean.

Members of the Association of Transportation and Car Accounting Officers will have much important business to discuss and will hear numerous reports during the meeting today and tomorrow at the Auditorium, Chicago.

A big increase in freight rates for the transportation of second-hand locomotives and tenders, which have been largely sold by southern roads to small lines throughout the country, has been held up by the interstate commission.

Next year will witness an exciting race between the three great railroad systems of Canada for the command of the traffic of the great Peace River country in northern Canada, a land which is said to possess remarkable mineral and agricultural possibilities.

Arguments on the evidence adduced during the rate hearing will be heard by the interstate commerce commission at Washington, beginning tomorrow, and after due deliberation the commission will announce what it is generally considered will be the most important decision ever emanating from it.

B. F. Yoakum, who has recently completed an inspection trip over the lines of the St. Louis and San Francisco, of which he is the executive head, declares that the people of the southwest were never so prosperous as this year, and that the anti-railroad agitation in that section has practically ceased.

The demand for additional railroad equipment continues all over this country and Canada, recent orders including 400 copper cars and 500 ore cars for the Great Northern, seventy all-steel passenger cars of the latest design for the Baltimore and Ohio, and 20,000 tons of steel rails for the Western Maryland.

What promised to be a fierce passenger rate war between the railroads operating from Chicago to New York has ended in a boost of rates.

Stubbs Attacks Railroads.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Governor W. R. Stubbs of Kansas, made a sensational attack upon railroads and trusts, at a banquet of the Illinois Manufacturers association last night. He declared that "the advanced freight rates demanded by the railroads, were agreed to by the combined railroads and are therefore clearly in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and were unjustifiable.

WANTS US TO GIVE COWS.

Dallas News Suggests Them for Next Subscription Contest.

Dallas News: The Norfolk News has been rejoicing over the federal census giving that city better than 6,000 inhabitants, but the milk question in that city has distracted that lively newspaper from a share of its pleasure from that source. Up in this country a cow is counted as half a living and we would suggest to The News editor that he stock the Norfolk market with milk cows in his next contest to subscribers and use them for prizes in place of automobiles and pianos. Huh! Is it a hunch?

Experiment With Trains.

Albion News: Secretary Jones of the Commercial club is in receipt of a communication from General Manager Walters of the Northwestern stating that the freight trains recently installed between Cornlea and Oakdale were being run as an experiment and might be withdrawn if the business did not warrant their continuance. If they are continued, the matter of their carrying passengers will be considered.

MAY FIGHT EDDY WILL.

George Glover of Lead, S. D., May Contest the Instrument.

Boston, Dec. 13.—That George Glover, son of Mary Baker G. Eddy, late head of the Christian Science church, may contest the will of his mother on the grounds that she was incompetent to make such an instrument is the statement made by Attorney Frederick W. Peabody, who figured prominently in the "next friend" suit which resulted in the settlement by Mrs. Eddy of $245,000 on her son.

PHIL BROOKS BEATS GOODMAN.

Easy Victory in 10-Round Go at Cleveland—Knockout in Preliminary.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 13.—Phil Brock of Cleveland had an easy victory over Danny Goodman of Chicago in a ten-round bout here. Goodman was clearly outclassed, but covered so well that Brock was not able to hurt him or knock him down.

John White of Chicago nearly knocked out Tommy Kilbane of Cleveland in the tenth round of the semifinal. A left hook sent Tommy shooting through the ropes into the crowd. Up to that round it was pretty even, with points in favor of White.

Tommy Gavigan of Cleveland won over Rube May of Detroit in five rounds. May's seconds throwing up the sponge.

A Fast 10-Round Fight.

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 13.—Kid Farmer of Peoria and Harry Donahue of Pekin, Ill., fought ten fast rounds to a draw before the Comet Athletic club at Central park. Both fighters pressed the game from start to finish, but neither could gain any material advantage. The fight was one of the fiercest and fastest seen in Peoria this season. Neither fighter was injured and both were apparently fresh at the tenth round.

Davis Accepts Challenge.

Gregory, S. D., Dec. 13.—Sporting Editor, The News: I noticed a challenge in The News some time ago for myself, which I very gladly accept. I am ready to meet West or any other fellow at 150 pounds, as that is heavy for me, and I am ready to make a side bet at any time, especially for West.

I have made twenty-eight fights, of which I have lost two, but never a loser in anywhere near my weight. Lost one to a fellow in Duluth, Minn., by the name of White Head, who fought at 180 pounds, and lost one to Jack Sullivan of O'Neill, Neb., who weighs 165 or more—I think more.

But I am ready to meet Sullivan again on the same conditions, if he feels he is such a wonder in the squared circle.

So asking the favor of you to publish this, I remain Yours truly, Lee Davis.

P. S.—I have never been knocked out.

FLEGE IS BROKEN IN SPIRIT.

Downcast Over Verdict Rendered by the Jury.

Ponca, Neb., Dec. 13.—As he sits in the county jail, accused and convicted of the murder of his sister on June 30 last, little does William Flege look like the confident, well-groomed man of last week. He appears to be a man who has aged forty years in the last twenty-four hours. His face displays an insight of the severe tortures he has undergone. His eyes are bloodshot and sunken in. His face has taken on several wrinkles.

Out of the kindness of Sheriff H. A. Maskell the prisoner is allowed the freedom of the whole jail and the sheriff's office. When talked with Flege answered questions in a surly manner and was very downcast. He kept repeating to himself: "I didn't do it, I didn't do it. How could they find me guilty of murdering my sister?"

The brothers of the convicted man left for their home near Wayne in an automobile, as did also the sister, Mrs. Frevert. The brothers and the sister hardly spoke a word. When at the breakfast table they ate scarcely anything. Flege has not eaten a thing today and says he cannot eat.

The people of the vicinity express themselves as satisfied with the verdict and say it was a just one. The feeling against Flege which manifested itself at the time of his arrest and which had been allayed somewhat during the interval before the trial returned at its resumption. Several people here say if a guilty verdict had not been returned something would have happened to the convicted man.

One city official declares that a petition is being circulated asking the city council to pave Norfolk avenue from Seventh to Ninth street and thence north to Prospect avenue. The city engineer, it is said, was called by a number of property owners and asked to give the width of the streets mentioned. The city engineer, however, declared he knew nothing of the proposed new paving district when asked about it. "Petitions for paving should go in to the city council now," he said. "If Norfolk citizens wish any paving to be done in the spring."

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Norfolk Industrial company, held in the office of Mapes & Hazen last night, the old board was re-elected. The members of the board talked over the situation of putting the old sugar factory buildings to some use, and although they have offered to give the buildings and a large tract of land free to anyone who would for twenty-five years employ at least fifty men at some work there, they have not yet heard from any such party. All who have inquired into the factory proposition were promoters, say the directors, and the factory buildings and valuable land is still open for any proposition. The old board of directors re-elected are: N. A. Rainbolt, Dr. A. Bear, A. Degner, C. F. A. Marquardt, C. S. Hayes, A. H. Kiesau, H. A. Pasewalk. The officers of the board are: President, H. A. According to Architect J. C. Stitt, all the steel work on the Y. M. C. A. building will be completed in three or four days, after which the other work will be resumed, providing weather conditions permit.

With one and one-half blocks of Norfolk avenue remaining to be paved, the contractors are at a standstill awaiting the arrival of eighteen or twenty cars of brick which are on the way to finish the paving work.

The Mission Circle of the Baptist church will meet with Mrs. Melmaker, 423 South Fifth street, on Thursday afternoon at 2:30. All clothing for the box to be sent to the Nebraska Children's Home is requested to be brought at that time.

While the chicken show is being held upstairs in the Taylor building, the window trimmer for Beeler Bros. has put on a miniature chicken show of his own in the show windows downstairs in the same building. A stage, with chickens as actors, a chicken orchestra and a chicken audience makes up the miniature chicken show.

The Ladies' Aid of the First Congregational church will hold the last meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. E. A. Bullock with Mrs. T. E. Odiorne assisting, Thursday. All members are earnestly urged to be present as there will be an election of officers. The basketball situation in Norfolk is looking very good. The militiamen are talking organization, while three other teams are already at practice. Friday night the Norfolk Business college team will give a supper in the college rooms for the benefit of the team, and a large crowd of enthusiastic basketball fans are expected to be present to talk the situation over after the supper.

In the office of City Engineer H. H. Tracy are stored bricks, or samples of cement and concrete, from nearly every part of the paved section of Norfolk avenue. These cement and concrete bricks have been tested by the city official in the cement testing machine and have so far proved satisfactory. Mr. Tracy declares he will keep all samples of cement and concrete used on the Norfolk avenue paving for at least two years to determine the qualities of the material. "The cement and concrete naturally grow stronger as they grow older," he said.

They Crow and Cackle. The large hall on the second floor of the Taylor building was the scene all day of much activity and plenty of noise. It marked the opening of the first annual exhibition of the Northeast Nebraska Poultry association.

Scores of birds in regulation coops newly built, seemed to welcome the first day of the poultry show and they made themselves clear on the matter by their loud crowing. Up to noon, Judge George A. Heyl of Washington, Ill., had not yet arrived, but there was plenty of work to do by the local judge, E. I. Custer, and Superintendent F. E. Davenport, who attended to the placing of the birds, weighing and classifying them.

Assisting Judge Custer was J. W. McClary, whose duty it is to give assistance to all officials. Mr. McClary exhibited his prowess among the chicken kingdom when an imported Hamburg chick belonging to John Freyhalter escaped from its cage. Mr. McClary captured the bird after a lively chase around the show room. The chickens are arriving at the show rooms every hour and it is believed by late tonight all will have arrived. Many birds are expected from Platte Center, Wakefield, Albion, Lindsay and other towns.

Monday's work was probably the hardest that will be experienced by the local officials. Many birds arrived throughout the day at the show room and First Vice President H. B. Dixon, who acted as secretary, had his hands full. Every bird had to be banded and entered. A valuation of each bird was made to the secretary, who designated their places. Then the birds were turned over to Local Judge Custer, who, assisted by J. W. McClary, weighed them, classified them and put them in their respective coops.

The classification of a bird is no "snap," declare the local officials. "He may be a cockerel, if he weighs enough, and if he doesn't he's a cock. Then the owner gets busy and inquires of the judge just how much his cockerel will be cut down, that is, if he should weigh too much."

Some Beautiful Birds There. There are some beautiful chickens on exhibition and it is well worth while to look them over. Geese and ducks have also arrived, but there will not be much competition in this class. The fantail pigeons entered by Stanley Brush are the only ones on exhibition, and will without doubt carry off the prize if Tom Hight fails to put his pigeons up for competition.

In the Buff Orpington class there will be much competition, this class of birds being well exhibited. The barred Plymouth Rocks will also show a lively contest, there being some splendid birds of this class already on exhibition, with more promised Wednesday. Among the pretty chickens are the White Orpingtons and the silver spangled Hamburgs, which were among the first to arrive. These are being greatly admired. The first chickens to arrive in the show room came last night, one coop of White Orpingtons belonging to E. I. Custer.

W. J. Gow's coop of Bantams drew much interest. Being the only chickens in their class entered up to noon, they seemed a curiosity.

Among those whose birds were exhibited Tuesday were: F. E. Davenport, J. S. Mathewson, A. L. A. Walker, S. B. Morehead, Mrs. E. A. Lindsay of Lindsay, Stanley Brush, E. I. Custer, Mrs. Sophia Knebel, George Williams, C. L. Anderson, Mrs. Anna Meister, Mrs. C. E. Smith of Tilden, Mrs. William Morgan, Emil F. Frantz, Charles H. Price of Stanton, Mrs. E. H. Brewer, Mrs. Clara Mapes, J. W. McClary, H. B. Dixon, M. L. Black, Frank A. Davis of Wakefield, and John J. Leik.

No move towards calling the men out was made, but the subject will be discussed this afternoon and tonight.

The sheriff said George Bernhard had expressed himself as being afraid of this man.

Incendiary Fire at Plainview. Plainview, Neb., Dec. 13.—Special to The News: Fire broke out in the Mason meat market at midnight and burned a hole through the roof before the fire department arrived on the scene. The firemen had the flames under control in a few minutes and the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done to the building. The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin, gasoline being used to give it a quick start. The firemen as usual did good work and the waterworks system again made good.

Want Patrick Pardoned. New York, Dec. 13.—Announcement was made that the medico-legal society has appealed to Governor White to pardon Albert T. Patrick, serving a life sentence for the murder of William Marsh Rice in this city some years ago. It is maintained by the petitioners that Patrick was convicted on medical testimony that embalming fluid introduced into a body through the right brachial artery would not enter the lungs, but that it has since been demonstrated that the testimony was wrong.

A Double Ordination. Norfolk on Wednesday will enjoy the distinction of having the second double ordination ever performed in the Nebraska diocese of the Episcopal church, outside the Omaha cathedral. Dana C. Colegrove of Norfolk will be ordained from a deacon to a priest and Victor H. Kaltenbach of Albion will be made a deacon. Mr. Colegrove has charge of Trinity church, Norfolk, and Mr. Kaltenbach has been doing lay work at Albion. Bishop Arthur L. Williams will be here to perform the ceremony.

Besides the bishop a number of clergymen will be present to assist in a portion of the ceremony. Those who will be here are: Rev. Robert G. Hamilton, Neligh; Rev. Marcus J. Brown, Creighton; Rev. W. H. Moore, Omaha; Rev. John Albert Williams, Omaha; Rev. Francis J. Randall, Fullerton; Rev. W. H. Xanders, Columbus; of the angry jurist are urging him to drop the matter, alleging that it would be undignified for a governor to appear against a former president in such a case.

Governor-elect Baldwin has been repeatedly invited and urged to attend tonight's banquet, but it is highly unlikely that he will do so, as the tip has gone forth that he absolutely refuses to sit at the same table with the man who, he alleges, went out of his way to falsely defame him. The invitation to Colonel Roosevelt is of long standing and was accepted before the campaign which led to the controversy between the former president and the governor-elect.

Miners Elect Officers. Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 14.—Union miners all over the country are balloting for their international officers. The ballots will be sent to the international headquarters in this city, and after the count the result will be kept secret until the annual convention, which will be held in Columbus, O., next month. The district officials will be elected in the following districts: Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia and central and western Pennsylvania.

On Rosebud Agent's Trail. Washington, Dec. 13.—Representative Hitchcock of Nebraska, will possibly carry to the secretary of the interior his fight against the effort of Superintendent J. B. Woods, of the Rosebud Indian agency in South Dakota, to compel Indians to purchase McCormick mowers and rakes. Mr. Hitchcock exhibited on the floor of the house a letter from Woods directed "to all farmers and Mr. Caton," in which he ordered that no Indians be allowed to buy "other than standard farming implements such as the McCormick, John Deere, etc."

To this was appended a postscript saying McCormick mowers and rakes were to be preferred in all cases. Mr. Hitchcock aired the matter in the discussion of the Indian bill in the house and denounced as an outrage for a man in Woods' position to discriminate between legitimate business concerns.

It was clearly intimated in the debate that an attempt was being made to favor the harvester trust. Representative Burke put himself in the attitude of defending the Woods letter, though he denied that was his purpose. Nothing was done with the Indian bill to head off such discrimination as Woods is charged with. Burke contends it is a matter of administration and Hitchcock will doubtless go to the interior department about it.

Death of Niobrara Pioneer. Niobrara, Neb., Dec. 13.—Special to The News: Mrs. Ella Berner Santee, a pioneer resident of Niobrara, whose death occurred at Omaha, was buried here from the M. E. church. Mrs. Santee was the widow of the late John S. Santee, who was a prominent character in the early history of Knox county.

For the past ten years her home has been at Orleans, Neb. She was afflicted with spinal trouble several years ago and at different times has been an intense sufferer. She was placed in Wise Memorial hospital at Omaha six weeks ago, and the best medical skill was employed to relieve her suffering and effect a cure, but of no avail.

Two daughters and a son accompanied the remains here. One daughter is a missionary in India and the other daughter was unable on account of sickness to be present.
