

WHAT IS MAN?

IS HE A SPIRIT BEING OR AN ANIMAL?

Pastor Russell Starts His Audience by Confirming Bobby Burns, "A Man's Man For A That."

Buffalo, New York, January 22.—Pastor Russell preached twice here today in the Opera House. He had excellent attention and a crowded house. We report one of his addresses from the following: "What is man? (Psalm viii, 4-6.) He said: 'Confusion prevails respecting man's nature, as well as in regard to his origin and destiny. We have no quarrel with those who boast of monkey parentage and evolution and who hope against facts that mankind will soon be a race of gods and that dying is a step up into life. We are a step down into death. To those who are happy in this illogical view I have nothing to say now. I address the more humbled-minded, who confess their perplexity and who have not become so worldly-wise as to reject the Bible as the voice Divine. However we may understand the Bible's declaration respecting the lower animals—the water creeping things and the four-footed various kinds—we must admit that the statements respecting man are explicit: he was not thus brought forth, but is declared to have been a direct creation of God in his own image and character, likeness—only on the spiritual side of man. Adam possessed God's likeness in his mental and moral qualities higher than those of brutes, by which man is able to reason and philosophize, respecting scientific and moral problems. These higher human powers were dwarfed and the lower and more animal powers maintained to the full, by reason of the fall and its sentence. 'Dying thou shalt die.' Jesus Was Made a Little Lower Than the Angels.

The Scriptures do not suggest that man was an imperfectly developed species whose death could be a change to another nature and eternal form and a heavenly home. Quite to the contrary: The hope set before Adam was everlasting life and an earthly Eden. It was this hope that made it his earthly nature and human perfection in God's image in Paradise restored that the Scriptures hold out as the hope of a world through the glorified Messiah's kingdom—a spiritual kingdom in which the faithful, elect Church of this age will participate. That Kingdom of righteousness will be "beyond the veil" of human sight. Its power will be universal and exercised on man's behalf for the restraint of Satan and every adverse influence and for human assistance back to all that was lost by disobedience in Eden and all that was redeemed by the obedience of Calvary.

Nor even then, will the image of God, as represented in the human will, be coerced. Merely the glorious opportunities of reconciliation and of restoration will be afforded to every creature—and those who decline them will be cut off from life in the Second Death (Acts II, 19-23). God answers the question of our text, "What is man?" He declares: "Thou madest him (in his Edenic perfection) a little lower than the angels. Thou crownedst him with glory and honor (the dignity and power of the perfect Adam). Thou didst set him at the top of the works of thine hands (an earthly being, he was at the head of all earthly creatures—the King of earth), over the beasts of the field, the fowl of heaven, the fish of the sea—thou hast put him above all creatures" (with kingly power clearly outlined and his subjects named). Evidently man had a mental power for the control of the lower creatures, as well as physical force, as intimated in his primary dealings with them and giving them their names (Hebrews II, 6-8). We have known men possessed of wonderful magnetic power—horsetrainers, and they, and tames of wild beasts and reptiles. But Adam, perfect, must have possessed this power in a still superior degree.

A little lower than the angels, yet very much higher than the angels, was the King of earth in his Edenic perfection. And such man will be as a redeemed and restored race, when the Divine Plan shall have been fully outworked, when "every creature in heaven and in earth and who heard saying: 'Praise and glory and honor, dominion and might, be unto him that sitteth upon the Throne and unto the Lamb forever,'" and when there shall be no more sighing, no more crying, no more dying, no more weeping, no more death and death shall have passed away, because the great King, Messiah, the Redeemer of mankind, shall deliver him from the power of sin and death and the tomb. Well did he state his mission work: "The Son of man came to seek and to recover that which was lost."

"The Earth Abideth Forever?" Man, then, is an animal of a high, glorious type, adapted to an earthly home and it adapted to his welfare when he and it shall both be in perfection. Of the earth it is written that "God made it not in vain, but to be inhabited." And again: "The earth abideth forever." "Seasons and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, enduring as long as there are sun and moon." Again: "Earth is God's footstool and he will make the place of his feet glorious." To this end the earth will shortly be turned over to the great Redeemer, who will "take his great power and reign." He will put down all enemies and lift up mankind, redeemed by his sacrifice, giving an opportunity of everlasting life to all, and then, as St. Paul declares, after having accomplished the restitution work for man and for the earth, the Redeemer will turn over the government of the world to God, even the Father (I Corinthians II, 20).

Our great mistake in the past has been in not studying the Bible correctly. Hence we failed to see that only an elect "little flock" is invited to a heavenly reward following the Savior in the narrow way of self-sacrifice, and that then the earthly reward will be bestowed during Messiah's reign upon all the willing and obedient and that thus will be accomplished the original Divine intention of having an earth full of people amongst whom God's will shall be done as in heaven.

At some future time we may take up "What is the soul of man?" For the present let us briefly say that the word soul finds its synonym in the word being, and that when God had created man of the dust of the earth he was a man only in form; he was not a soul or being, and no thought or sentiment being. When God started Adam's physical system by blowing into his nostrils the breath of lives (as the Hebrew Scriptures state it), then Adam, not a part of him, but the whole of him, became a living soul—living being. It was not Adam's breath that was on trial, that was sentenced, nor was it his flesh. It was the soul Adam that was tried, the soul Adam that sinned, the soul Adam that died and the soul Adam that Jesus redeemed and that is to be resurrected.

WHAT MRS. DITCHEN SAYS.

Denies She Wired Husband to Meet Her in Denver—To Get Divorce?

Fremont Tribune: That she has no intention of ever living again with her husband and that she will secure a divorce from him is the claim of Mrs. Ella Hoshor-Ditchen, set forth in a letter to the Tribune. The letter comes from Los Angeles, Calif., where Mrs. Hoshor-Ditchen is now staying at the King Edward hotel. Mrs. Hoshor-Ditchen, who left Fremont ostensibly to get away from Ditchen, to whom she was married after a brief courtship, says in her letter: "It is not true that I telegraphed Mr. Ditchen at Norfolk from Denver to meet me. When I left him in Fremont I left him for good and am now making preparations to get a divorce. I wish you would make this fact public."

Mrs. Ditchen's statement to the Fremont Tribune is rather misleading. A News man was shown the dispatch referred to, at the time it came from Denver. In it Mrs. Ditchen said: "You need not be surprised that I am here. Wire me, care—hotel."

Mrs. Ditchen showed this message to prove that his wife was not running from him, as Fremont people had alleged. She has communicated with him from Los Angeles in a manner altogether contradictory to her letter to the Fremont Tribune.

ARGUE LABOR LEADER CASES.

Bucks Stove Boycott Case Thrown Out of Court—Other Still On.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Oral arguments in the so-called "boycott" case of the Bucks Stove and Range company in St. Louis, Mo., against the American Federation of Labor, were stopped by the United States supreme court here. The court reached the conclusion that the parties to the case had settled their differences out of court and that therefore no issues remained for it to pass upon.

Following that action the court listened to oral arguments on the "contempt" case embracing the charge of the Bucks Stove and Range company, against Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, its secretary, had violated the injunction of the supreme court of the District of Columbia in the "boycott" case. Each was held to be guilty and sentenced to jail. Arguments will be finished Monday.

Death of F. J. Wiesner.

West Point, Neb., Jan. 28.—Special to The News: Forian J. Wiesner, one of the oldest settlers and best known citizens of Cuming county, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. J. Langer, at Davenport, Okla., on Thursday morning. The deceased was a native of Bohemia and was 70 years of age at his death.

An epidemic of grip is prevailing in West Point, large numbers of people being quite seriously ill with the disease. It appears to attack all ages and conditions of people, young and old being alike afflicted.

Marlin Pinker, an aged and well known old settler of Lincoln township and father of Clerk of the District Court J. C. Pinker, died at the family home and was interred at St. John's Catholic church at Howell, Father Zak officiating. The deceased leaves a widow and eight children. He was a native of Bohemia and had resided in Cuming county nearly thirty years. He leaves a valuable estate.

Murder Will Be Charged.

The preliminary hearing of Henry Stehr, stepfather of little Kaurt Stehr who died this week as a result of inhuman treatment at the hands of Stehr and his wife, according to the coroner's verdict, will be held Monday.

While the charge has not yet been filed, it is considered highly probable that, from the tone of the coroner's verdict, first degree murder will be charged by County Attorney Nichols. In fact, The News has reason to believe this will be the charge.

This would carry with it all the lesser degrees of murder.

Little Grave to Be Marked.

Neleigh, Neb., Jan. 26.—Editor News: In today's issue of The News we note that a News reader of Stuart would start fund for memorial to little Kaurt Stehr.

This is in itself a very commendable spirit and shows how the hearts of a reading public go out in sympathy to the fate of this innocent child.

Sentiment and pity for the little one can not of course undo what has been done, but it can mark the resting place of the little martyr.

In full sympathy with your Stuart reader and others of your valued paper, we beg to ask that they forego public subscription and we will place at the grave of little Kaurt a respectable monument without cost to anybody but ourselves.

If our offer meets with approval please send necessary dates to inscribe on monument and we will select a suitable stone from our stock and set as soon as weather will permit.

Yours truly, The Neleigh Marble and Granite Works, by F. G. Auringer, treasurer and general manager.

That a fund would have been raised if it had been needed to mark little Kaurt Stehr's grave, was evidenced Friday morning when, almost before the day had begun, Julius Kell, a neighbor of the Stehrs' in Edgewater, called at The News to contribute $1. Mr. Kell's contribution will now be returned, inasmuch as the Neleigh firm has so generously offered to donate a stone for the little pauper's resting place.

Even before Mr. Kell had appeared at The News office, however, J. M. Beaver, postmaster at Scribner, Neb., had started the fund. A letter just received from him was mailed at Scribner Thursday afternoon, apparently a few minutes after the noon News had reached Scribner. Mr. Beaver sent $1 with which to start the fund.
