

SOCIETY

Pleasures of the Week.

On Tuesday evening, January 31, Mrs. Cora A. Beels entertained a party of little girls in honor of the eleventh birthday of her niece, Helen Beels.

The G. O. club is the name under which the nine little girls of Miss Edith Vele's Sunday school class will meet the first and third Wednesday evenings of the month for social purposes.

The members of the choir of the First Congregational church, with their wives and husbands, took their supper with them and spent a delightful evening on Thursday at the parsonage with Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Booth.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Braden entertained a company of sixteen at a delightful 6 o'clock dinner last Saturday evening. The tables were beautiful with decorations of narcissus and sweet peas.

Miss Elizabeth Podoll entertained the Thimble club, or the Jolly Sixteen, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wichert. The girls were all dressed in little girls' clothes.

Mrs. P. H. Salter entertained at bridge on Friday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. C. S. Wells, Jr. At 5 o'clock the hostess served a delicious supper.

Mrs. J. R. Hays entertained the members of the new bridge club at a 1 o'clock luncheon on Wednesday. Mrs. F. E. Davenport was a guest of the club.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church added a nice sum to their treasury by serving supper in the basement of the church on Friday evening.

Mrs. F. B. Miner, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Cole, entertained the ladies of the First Congregational church on Thursday afternoon.

The members of the Dolls' Sewing club enjoyed a meeting with Miss Dorothy Christoph last Saturday afternoon.

The ladies of Trinity church met with Mrs. Colegrove at the rectory on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Huse entertain the West Side Whist club this evening.

Mrs. Frank Powers visited in the home of Judge and Mrs. Isaac Powers the past week. Mrs. Powers was en route from Chadron to Grand Island, where her husband is now located and where they will make their future home.

Wilfred Mahanna, a prominent business man of Fargo, N. D., spent last Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dixon. Mr. Mahanna and Mrs. Dixon are cousins, and had not met for over twenty years.

Miss Martha Davenport visited her sister, Mrs. Arthur Pilger, in Stanton last Saturday. Miss Mary Pilger returned home with her for a week's visit.

H. E. Gerecke went to Fremont on Wednesday for a visit in the home of his son, Irvin. Mr. Gerecke will visit in Omaha before returning to Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Rainbolt expect to leave on Tuesday for their trip to Florida and Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. Rainbolt expect to be gone several months.

Miss Nora Dixon came home from Denver last Saturday to enjoy a two weeks' visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dixon.

Mrs. Jean Whitney of Chicago is in Norfolk for a visit in the home of her parents Judge and Mrs. Isaac Powers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge of Fremont are expected in Norfolk tonight for a visit in the home of C. S. Bridge.

Mrs. E. P. Weatherly returned the first of the week from a visit in Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Braden went to Chicago last Sunday for a ten days' visit.

Mrs. M. J. Sanders has gone to Omaha for a visit with her daughter.

Hymenial.

A picture of Miss Ruth Harding, daughter of Charles Harding, formerly of Norfolk, was printed in last Sunday's Omaha Bee with the announcement that Miss Harding is to be married in March to Samuel Reese, Jr., of Omaha.

The Veterans Came Back.

The Veteran bowling team came back. It walloped the Bankers good and plenty last night and stands ready to meet all comers today.

The Veterans will clash with the Bankers. Here was last night's score:

Table with columns for names and scores. Includes Norton Howe, E. B. Kaufman, and others.

In the Stilly Night.

"What is it? The drugist sleepily inquired from his bedroom window. 'This is drug store, ain't it?' asked the man who had rung the night bell.

Expanding. The old friend I understand that your practice is getting bigger. The Young Doctor—That's true. My patient has gained nearly two pounds in the last month.

PLANNED A WORLD RAILWAY.

Like Puck, Harriman Would Have Girdled the Earth. New York, Feb. 4.—"If E. H. Harriman had lived he would have had a railroad around the world. This was one of his great ambitions.

These two secrets showing the extent to which the late railroad man's ambitions were leading him at the time of his death, were revealed last night by Otto H. Kahn, Loeb & Co., who was closely associated with Mr. Harriman for more than ten years.

Back Numbers. We will pay 25 cents apiece for one copy each of the Norfolk Weekly News-Journal of the following dates: October 15, 1909; November 26, 1909; August 25, 1910. These are wanted to complete our files.

Darkened at the Start. Englishman—Did you have a pleasant voyage from London to New York? American—No. The purser gave us our custom house declaration slips on the second day out.—Life.

Cuban Paper Duties Higher. Cuba purposes to increase its Import Duties on various kinds of paper.

Fear Steamers Are Lost. Madrid, Feb. 4.—Several cruising vessels in the Mediterranean are still missing and it is feared that the steamers were lost during the recent storm. On the Catalan coast alone five barks were wrecked and forty-three persons drowned.

913 Quakes at Mt. Taal. Manila, Feb. 4.—The earthquakes which have continued for several days coincident with the eruption of Mount Taal are decreasing in intensity. At noon today a total of 913 quakes have been recorded at the observatory.

Smith Beats Cross. New York, Feb. 4.—Sammy Smith, a Philadelphia lightweight, outfought Leach Cross of New York in all save one of ten rounds at the Empire Athletic club. In the second round Cross showed to advantage, but all the others were Smith's.

Gunboat is Fumigated. On the U. S. S. Marietta, at Sea, via Wireless to New Orleans, Feb. 4.—The gunboat Marietta, proceeding from Honduras waters to Key West, was off Cape San Antonio. There are four cases of yellow fever on board. These are described as two mild, now convalescent, and two moderately severe, which now have passed the crisis.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Rainbolt expect to leave on Tuesday for their trip to Florida and Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. Rainbolt expect to be gone several months.

Mrs. Jean Whitney of Chicago is in Norfolk for a visit in the home of her parents Judge and Mrs. Isaac Powers.

Mrs. E. P. Weatherly returned the first of the week from a visit in Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Braden went to Chicago last Sunday for a ten days' visit.

The Well Dressed WOMAN

New York, Feb. 4.—Although the smart shops are filled with spring and summer fabrics, which are supposed to be at the highest so early in the season, the woman with a little surplus revenue can get a choice selection among the first offerings at reasonable cost.

If one be not ambitious to "wear new things first" she will, of course, be able to get the same fabrics later, but there will not be so many pretty designs from which to choose.

Social conditions have changed so radically within recent years that one must have, of necessity, some kind of smart frock for afternoon, and this can be used also for the restaurant and theater. The spotted muslins, crepes, etc., are excellent for the purpose, as are also the figured foulards, which were never so handsome as now.

A spotted silk of inexpensive design is among the prettiest of the frocks designed for southern wear. It is so typical of the demand for chic simplicity that it will be sure to be among the spring favorites. The skirt has a deep fold of plain silk matching the background of the dotted material, which in this instance is dawn grey figured with gentian blue.

The frock of crepe or of sheer stuff with straight or slightly draped skirt weighted down to clinging lines despite its slight fullness and with some simple shoulder and sleeve drapery forming the corsage above the empire girdle is charming if well handled, and the satin fourreau with empire tunic of sheer material has innumerable attractive phases.

The empire lines have gained general acceptance for both afternoon and evening frocks, and this opens the way for delightfully chic and youthful effects, though it opens the way also for extravagance of truly first empire audacity. Simplicity—sweet simplicity—is not the exclusive feature of the debutant's frocks by any means, for her old sisters, and even her mother, if she be youthful and comely, may and does go in for the simpler effects.

Some of the best models in pongee are designed for matrons who like to keep pace with their daughters as far as being smartly known is concerned. A design in natural color has the skirt draped with a sort of panel effect that extends above the waistline at the front and is smartly stitched down to the bodice. The effect is very much like the panel idea which made it possible for gowns of ever so many parts to be called "one-piece" frocks a season or two ago, but nothing has ever yet appeared that looks better.

An apron tunic is what they call this latest arrangement, for the front is narrowed away to almost nothing. The bodice is finished rather in Gibson than in the prevailing kimono effect at the shoulders, but it is handsome and the trimmings of dark satin at the neck and sleeves make a splendid contrast with the clear, soft tones of the pongee.

The kimono sleeve retains its vogue and is much used both in woolen, silk and lingerie frocks, though for tubing purposes it is an abomination and not as successful as linen or softer materials. And by the way, linen frocks and materials multiply in the shops, the soft ramic being first favorite, and the one-piece linen frocks modeled more or less upon the lines of the one-piece silk or serge frocks, as generally worn under fur coats this winter, are extremely pretty. Like the winter models, they are very simple, straight and narrow in line, usually a trifle short of waist and elaborated only by some smart bit of trimming about the throat and as a sleeve finish, and perhaps by buttons and loops, a bit of braiding. In linens, however, these simple little frocks have the advantage of color schemes and contrasts more varied than the dark tones of the winter models.

The new hats, which always follow closely upon new materials, have made their appearance and one must admit to a little disappointment if anything very startling was expected. Perhaps when May comes the Parisian milliners, or their New York rivals will have something different to show, but the Riviera and Palm Beach models are interesting, even if not exactly authoritative in their prophecy. One has to concede a certain familiar air about them, a semblance of old friends masquerading in new finery; for the shapes are the shapes to which women have become accustomed during the winter. Only the materials speak summer and novelty.

Then, too, the chances are that when spring comes these shapes will still be in order, though there will probably be new things added. The models do not change with lightning and radical rapidity nowadays, and frocks seem likely to be but little modified this spring. Many of the straw hats are faced with velvet, and indeed some are so heavily swathed with marabout, velvet and the like until, at first glance they look quite like winter models. In New York women are already wearing spring millinery, being tired of their winter hats and reaching out for something fresh and new. Flower hats are shown in various small shapes and in wonderful colorings. One smart little toque is of black crin, something of the familiar ding-a-ling shape. It fits the head very closely and has a brim of velvet in a curious red, with a purplish bloom.

Another affair in black combines a touch of white in the shape of a pom-pom of marabout, with a single quill emerging from the pom-pom. Big picturesque shapes of black malle trimmed in plumes or crests look much like the big winter hats at a distance, but, of course, are airily adapted to summer wear, and there are other big shapes in malines with wide brim, very slightly rolled and with for trimming a huge bow of the maline posed on the top of the crown, a little toward the back, and spreading out toward the sides, its soft cloudy folds softening the outlines of the low rounded crown.

Black velvet has invaded the children's realm, not only for party frock use but for dressy afternoon and street wear, and it is so tremendously becoming that one is disposed to approve its use. Very often gay Bulgarian or oriental embroidery relieves the black, as does a collar or little guimpe of good lace, and again handsome silk braid is the trimming and little gold buttons relieve the black.

Play clothes, school clothes, etc., are simple enough, but those party frocks! One can not deny that they are dainty and pretty, though many of them do seem a trifle pretentious. The filmy white things, smothered in lace and embroidery are most in demand.

May Hire Secretary. The Norfolk Commercial club may get a paid secretary who will put in his entire time on work for Norfolk and the Commercial club. This matter was thoroughly discussed at a meeting of the directors of the club held last evening in the directors' rooms of the Nebraska National bank. C. C. Gow, who was elected secretary at the last meeting of the directors, although willing to serve, is in favor of a paid secretary. A committee was appointed to communicate with cities maintaining a paid secretary and they are to secure information and investigate how such a secretary is paid and how a fund for his salary is raised.

Plan for Alfalfa Show. The directors also discussed thoroughly J. W. Dietrick's communication about the Northwestern alfalfa school which will be brought to Norfolk on February 21. A committee was appointed to secure hall room for the alfalfa exhibit.

To Buy Oil Now. The committee on oil roads made a short report and were instructed to purchase all oil required for the Thirtieth street road now. This purchase is made to enable all material to be on hand when the weather becomes warm enough to commence work.

The Judge's Crime. A prisoner, a faded, battered specimen of mankind, on whose haggard face, deeply lined with the marks of dissipation, there still lingered faint reminders of better days long past, stood dojected before a New York police judge. "Where are you from?" asked the magistrate. "From Boston," answered the accused. "Indeed," said the judge—"indeed, yours is a sad face, and yet you don't seem to thoroughly realize how low you have sunk." The man started as if struck. "Your honor does me an injustice," he said bitterly. "The disgrace of arrest for drunkenness, the mortification of being thrust into a noisome dungeon, the publicity and humiliation of trial in a crowded and dingy courtroom I can bear, but to be sentenced by a police magistrate who splits his infinitives—that is indeed the last blow."—New York World.

Auditorium before an enormous audience by John Davis, a local blacksmith, last night. Wells, a subject of Gilpin and his wife, the hypnotists, weighs but 128 pounds. It required twelve blows with a sledge hammer before Davis finally broke the stone, which lay directly over the stomach of Wells.

At 12:30 Friday afternoon Gilpin and Wells to sleep in the front window of the Calumet restaurant, where Wells had sent himself on the saddle of an ordinary bicycle. A moment later he was ordered to ride continuously for eight hours and late in the afternoon he was still riding steadily. The bicycle was fastened in the window and the pedals and wheels revolve.

Wells will be led to the stage in the Auditorium at 7:30 this evening by Gilpin and the bicycle be fastened to the floor of the stage. He will ride there until 8:30, when the curtain rises, and Gilpin will awaken him before the audience as he has done his other subjects.

FRIDAY FACTS.

Dr. C. C. Johnson of Creighton was here on business. Mrs. J. H. Glenn of Chadron is in the city visiting with Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Boham.

Frank Hamm of Creighton is visiting relatives in the city. R. R. Hazen of Naper was in the city transacting business.

J. B. Hight returned from a business trip to Creighton Friday noon. H. N. Wood of Omaha was in the city transacting insurance business.

George D. Butterfield returned at noon from a business trip to Dallas. Roy Ritts of Gregory, formerly of Norfolk, was in the city visiting with friends.

Ernest Letzke, O. A. Letzke and M. A. Letzke, all of Platte, S. D., were visitors in the city. Mrs. Robert Smith of Cedar Rapids, Neb., is in the city visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Baldwin.

"Kid" Hall, formerly a Norfolk barber, enroute from Sioux City to Bonesteel, was in the city visiting with friends.

A. D. Hinam and daughter, Miss Maude Hinam of St. Edwards, Neb., are here for a few days' visit with the E. S. South family.

Burt Mapes went to Madison to attend court in the Teske guardianship matter. The B. Y. P. U. will hold a meeting tonight for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

After an illness of twelve weeks, Mrs. W. E. Graham, living on a farm northeast of the city, passed away early Friday morning.

A large number of out-of-town attorneys were in the city Thursday attending a bankruptcy hearing before Referee E. P. Weatherly.

George Davis reports that the quarantine which has been placed on his residence on account of scarlet fever will be lifted within a few days.

The mass meeting of Norfolk citizens in the city hall for the purpose of organizing an associated board of charities will be held tonight at 8 o'clock.

State Inspector of Normal Training Gregory was in the city inspecting the normal training class at the high school. Mr. Gregory highly praised the Norfolk class.

J. M. Davis of the Western Electrical company of Omaha is in the city installing a new section to the switchboard in the local office of the Nebraska Telephone company. This is the second installment of this kind in the office in one year.

Dr. F. B. Roller, the well known Seattle wrestler, passed through the city Friday afternoon enroute from Sioux City to O'Neill, where he was scheduled to wrestle Young Gotch and several O'Neill wrestlers Friday night.

With the wrestler were his manager and several followers of the sport. Friends of Dick Walton, who was mixed up in a fight at Madison the other day, say that he was not the aggressor. It is claimed in his behalf that a dispute followed a footrace and that a bystander called Walton a name which called for a fight. In the mix-up, in which Walton's friends claim the other man started first, Walton injured his antagonist.

Chief of Police Marquardt executed a shepherd dog Friday morning in the city hall yard. The dog's offense was attacking a teacher of the Grant school. The teacher reported to the chief of police that she had been attacked Thursday night, and Mr. Marquardt called at the school Friday morning, and with the aid of the teacher and several students he found the dog and later shot it. No report of the affair was made to Superintendent Hunter, but it is said the teacher was not bitten by the animal. Her gown was torn, however.
