CLARK TALKS TO DEMOCRATS.

Speaker of House Tells Why He Wants More Democratic Congressmen. Dodge City, Kan., Nov. 11.—"The great battle of 1912 must be fought on the splendid record of the democrats in this, the Sixty-second congress, and upon that record we can win, not only next year, but for years to come."

Thus spoke Champ Clark, speaker of the national house of representatives, today in addressing the democratic congressional convention which met here to nominate a successor to the late Judge E. H. Madison, of the Seventh district.

"I am here for the purpose, and in the hope of sending another democratic congressman to Washington," continued Speaker Clark, "to keep company with Joe Taggart, who last Tuesday won such a brilliant victory in the Second Kansas district."

"To me Taggart's decisive triumph was one of the most pleasant features of the recent election, as it was an expression of opinion by an intelligent western constituency on President Taft's record as compared with the record of the democrats in congress."

"Taggart carried the democratic banner to victory, as I hope Brother Neely will do in this instance. Having in my youth been an inhabitant of Kansas, I feel a deep and abiding interest in her welfare, which she will promote by swinging into the democratic column."

"Somebody may inquire why I am so desirous of electing another democrat when we have already sixty-five majority in the house. The answer is simple. In the present house of 391 members, while on a full vote it requires only 196 votes to pass a bill, we have to have 252 votes to pass a bill over the president's veto."

"It may be that some republican congressional brethren who voted to sustain the vetoes at the extraordinary session have learned something during the congressional vacation by keeping their ears to the ground, and may vote with us if there are any more presidential vetoes of the tariff bills. But we know that Neely will vote with us, and that one vote may be decisive of the result."

Speaker Clark quoted United States Senator Works of California as saying: "Taft and La Follette are destined to face each other in the next republican national convention, and if it were left to a popular vote today La Follette would be nominated, and easily, too."

"United States Senator Bristow talks in a similar vein," said Speaker Clark, "and many other eminent republicans—all of which tends to illustrate the peculiar brand of harmony now reigning and tearing the G. O. P. in twain."
