

Oakland Easy for Norfolk.
Norfolk, 70; Oakland, 0.

Oakland's fast high school football team which a few months ago held the Blair team down to a 0 to 0 score, was very easily defeated by the Norfolk high school team on the driving park here Friday afternoon by 70 to 0.

A large number of football fans took advantage of the ideal weather and witnessed with great delight the last game of the season in Norfolk. By agreement made last year Norfolk will play at Wayne Thanksgiving day. Oakland defeated Wayne last Saturday.

At no time during Friday's game was Norfolk's goal in danger and the spectacular features on the part of the Norfolk players were many. Every man on the team was playing the game. Peden, Alexander, C. Holland and Pearson starred for Oakland. The latter team gave Norfolk credit for having a whirlwind eleven at the beginning of the last half. While Oakland's tackling was good, Norfolk had no trouble in putting over one touchdown after another. Emory ran forty yards with the aid of usual interference and made a touchdown, which was followed by the feature runs of Parish and Logan with eighty and eighty-five yards, respectively. Logan made seven touchdowns, Emery three, Parish one and Odgen one. Fisher kicked goal ten times and missed only once.

The First Quarter.

The first quarter of the game was opened with Norfolk's fumbling Oakland's kickoff, Oakland then punted and in a regular line buck Odgen got the ball and through a scattered field he took it over for a touchdown after two minutes of play. Fisher kicked goal gracefully. Oakland was surprised and admitted that while Norfolk players looked small, they were "there." The prophecy of ex-Supt. Hunter that the first two minutes of play usually decided which team would win the game began to go the rounds among Norfolk players and Pearson and Alexander, the two fast Oakland tacklers, had their hands full.

After the ball had been returned to the field from Fisher's goal kick, Logan took possession of it and threatened another touchdown. H. Larson at left end, held Logan down, but Logan's gain was a good one. In a mix-up Swanson was out for a moment and later he delayed the game once more, being out for almost three minutes. In this mix-up Logan was pushed forward fast with Parish giving great interference. With Oakland yelling, "Nothing to it," Norfolk successfully executed the "shift" play and put Logan over for a touchdown after that halfback had worked up the entire field. This time Fisher missed goal. This second touchdown was made in five minutes of play.

Oakland erred in hesitating whether to punt or try a forward pass, notwithstanding the fact that there only remained a short time to finish the first quarter. Oakland's backfield fought hard as Koerber landed on the ball and in a shift play Logan gained heavily. Six minutes were played and Emery was put over for the third touchdown, followed by Fisher with a graceful goal kick. As time was called Parish passed beautifully to Koerber, which gained heavily on Oakland, but the shift which followed added little.

The Second Quarter.

It took Logan only one minute and a half to score a touchdown in the second quarter, which was the result of a few line bucks and a shift play. In the back-kick Parish stepped over the line and there was no goal kick. In the mix-up which started after the touchdown Peden, Oakland's quarterback, showed his good points in making fair gains. Oakland punted and Norfolk took the ball and passed it to Emory who took it over for a touchdown after only three minutes' play. Fisher kicked safely again. Three minutes later Emory ran forty yards with the ball and a touchdown once more with Parish, Odgen and Hibben making good their work of interference. Fisher kicked goal.

Thirty seconds later Parish ran eighty yards with the ball for a touchdown, followed by Fisher's goal kick. Oakland seemed dragging behind the fast Norfolk quarterback. The interference on the part of the Norfolk team in this play was good and the fans on the side lines roared lustily. As the quarter ended, making the score 40 to 0 in Norfolk's favor, Odorne leaped high in the air and stopped Peden, who was taking in a forward pass. Koerber and Fisher featured in the wind-up of this quarter and first half.

The Third Quarter.

Koerber took Oakland's kickoff in the first of the third quarter back to whence it started. Oakland here recovered the ball and in an effort at a forward pass took possession of it. In a regular line play Logan took it over for a touchdown and followed by Fisher's goal kick in four minutes of actual playing.

Robertson fumbled Norfolk's kickoff and the ball remained where it landed. Odorne took Oakland's punt and Logan, to whom it was passed, almost went over for a touchdown. Emery made gains at this time. Coach Colegrove found Parish holding immediately afterward and penalized Norfolk fifteen yards. Pearson was doing good work here for Oakland and Norfolk lost in an effort on a three-cornered forward pass. Just as W. Holland was getting cheered for his good tackling, Logan made a long run with the ball for a touchdown, supported by three good Norfolk interference men. Fisher made the goal easily as the quarter ended.

The Last Quarter.

As the last quarter opened Quarterback Peden for Oakland gave the side lines cause to gasp as he took the ball for nearly forty yards and threatened a touchdown. Norfolk's goal, however, was not in danger and Parish and several other Norfolk sprinters waylaid Peden a good distance from the goal. As Oakland punted back Logan made a spectacular eighty-five-yard run for a touchdown and was followed by Fisher's goal kick. Officials times gave Logan two minutes of actual play of the quarter for his sensational run. Just before the game ended, and in quick succession Logan took the ball over to more times, followed by Fisher's beautiful goal kicks.

Frank Pilger to Live Here.

Frank Pilger, for years county superintendent of Pierce county, has moved his family to Norfolk and after his present term with Pierce county expires on Jan. 1, he himself will move from Pierce and make Norfolk his future home. Mr. Pilger has rented Mrs. Foster's home at 212 South Twelfth street. As publisher and editor of the Nebraska School Review and manager of the Huse-Pilger school supply business, Mr. Pilger believes he will have plenty of work to do in Norfolk. Mr. Pilger has been superintendent of Pierce county since 1904.

For three successive years he has been the first superintendent in the state to file his annual report with the state superintendent, which is considered a great honor among county superintendents.

Frank Pilger started his career in the county education work while he was very young. He was born on a farm at Bloomington, Neb., on May 19, 1877. On this farm the present Bloomington city school now stands. His father and thirteen other pioneers who came west from Wisconsin in 1871 organized the town of Bloomington. His father was a brother to August Pilger, a Norfolk pioneer who died some years ago.

Frank Pilger lived on this farm until he was 11 years old, when his parents moved to Plainview where he attended both the country and town schools. He graduated from the Plainview high school in the Plainview class of 1896. When he was 20 he spent the summer months in the summer schools at Plainview. When he was 22 years old he entered the normal school at Plainview for a year, teaching there a part of the time. When he was 23 he had charge of the grammar school at Neligh.

In 1901 he was a candidate for county superintendent of Pierce county and was defeated by seventy-one votes, his successful opponent being W. N. Stevenson, who was re-elected. Mr. Pilger resigned during the same year at the beginning of the holiday vacation and became deputy county clerk of Wayne county and had entire charge of the county clerk's office, acting as head deputy for two years. While serving as deputy in 1903 he became candidate a second time for the superintendency of Pierce county and was elected. He took office in 1904 and has been serving continuously ever since. He was not a candidate this year.

Mr. Pilger is a cousin of Dr. W. H. Pilger and C. H. Pilger of Norfolk.

Besides being ranked among the first county superintendents in the state, Mr. Pilger is highly spoken of among school teachers who have kept in close touch with him. It is said of Mr. Pilger that not another superintendent in the state is closer to the teacher than he. Only recently he has been appointed to address school teachers on questions of importance to them. He will deliver about ten of these lectures, which are said to be very fine. In one of his lectures Mr. Pilger spares no words in telling the teacher two sides of her life. First, he pictures the pupils' ideas of a teacher and the pupils' thoughts, and on the other hand he describes the teacher and points out the good and wrong actions often taken.

Aged Woman Falls.

Mrs. Leu, 77 years old, mother of William Leu, a prominent farmer living near Hadar, is in a dangerous condition at her son's home as the result of a broken thigh. Mrs. Leu accidentally tripped over a piece of carpet in her son's home and fell heavily to the floor. Her right thigh bone was broken.

Stehr is Convicted.

Madison, Neb., Nov. 25.—Special to The News: Henry Stehr was this afternoon found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of his 2-year-old son Kurt Stehr, whose death followed the freezing of his feet in the blizzard of Jan. 1, last.

The jury was out three and a half hours. Counsel for the defense immediately made a motion for a new trial.

Sentence will not be pronounced until after this motion has been argued and passed on by the court. The argument on this motion will be heard today.

The penalty for manslaughter is imprisonment in the state penitentiary not less than one year nor more than ten years.

Story of the Case.

Little Kurt Stehr, 3-year-old illegitimate son of Mrs. Henry Stehr, was found several days after the blizzard of New Year's day, this year, to be suffering with gangrenous feet. The feet were amputated, one of them falling off during the operation, the gangrene having rotted the bone. It developed that the child had been frozen in the blizzard. Neighbors said the little fellow had been shut in an outbuilding during that awful storm.

Witnesses told of Stehr's having whipped the child cruelly. Mrs. Klentz and Miss Klentz, the nurses to whom the lad was taken for the operation, told of finding welts on his stomach, a gash on his eye and a cut on his thigh. Stehr admitted having whipped the child with a strap to correct him of a disease.

The death of the little fellow was pathetic and tragic. He had called for his mother but she failed to come to his bedside on the day of his death, despite the fact that the word was passed to her.

Three days after the child's feet were taken off he died in the arms of his aunt, Mrs. Bankraih, in the Klentz home.

The jury apparently decided that Stehr was willfully negligent and derelict in his duty toward the child, and therefore brought in a manslaughter verdict in accordance with Judge Welch's instructions.

Judge Welch instructed the jury that no verdict of first or second degree murder could be found because of insufficient evidence. He defined manslaughter and stated that if the jury found that Stehr had willfully been indifferent to negligence in his treatment of the child from Dec. 31, when the boy's feet were frozen, to Jan. 18, when they were amputated, that a verdict of manslaughter must be returned. The judge said ignorance could not be regarded as an excuse for failure to exercise care and diligence toward the child.

County Attorney Nichols concluded his closing argument with an eloquent appeal for conviction in the interest of childhood when court convened this morning.

The Defense Rests.

The defense rested its case yesterday afternoon, having kept Mrs. Stehr upon the stand all day.

The state then recalled Dr. Tashjian who testified that he did not notice any indication of diabetes when he made examination at the time of the operation. Dr. Verges was recalled also and testified that the gangrenous condition of the boy's feet was the result of freezing and that the boy was not afflicted with diabetes, although he had a number of symptoms.

Mrs. Bankraih was recalled and said she had had trouble with Mrs. Stehr over some laundry, but it did not amount to much; that they were friends and she had told Mr. Stehr a number of times not to punish the child.

Mrs. Klentz was recalled and testified that she did send word to the mother before the child died and told her she had better come, but she did not come until 9 o'clock at night and that the child never asked to be taken home. He told her to go away.

Murder Charge Ruled Out.

At this juncture both the state and defense rested. And the motion of counsel for the defense to find the defendant not guilty of murder in the first and second degree for the reason of insufficient evidence of deliberate and premeditated purpose and motive to kill, was sustained and the jury was so instructed. At 3 o'clock Attorney Isaac Powers made the opening argument to the jury on behalf of the prosecution. He talked but a few minutes. Then followed M. D. Tyler for the defense. Mr. Tyler for one hour spoke with tremendous force and conviction. His argument was in every way a masterly effort. H. P. Barnhart followed, thoroughly going over the evidence from a defensive point of view. County Attorney Nichols contended ably for conviction in the limited time allowed him in the closing argument, which was continued when court convened this morning.

Nebraska 6, Michigan 6.
Lincoln, Nov. 25.—Final score: Nebraska, 6; Michigan, 6.

Both teams arrived on the field fifteen minutes before play began, the Nebraska team being led by the university band. Yost's men received an ovation from several hundred Michigan alumni seated in the south stand. Michigan indulged in a brief punting practice and a moment later the 12,000 in the stands cheered the Nebraska squad as the team rushed onto the field and began signals.

Nebraska Wins the Toss.

The wind was from the west and Nebraska won the toss and the advantage of the wind at their backs. Michigan kicked off at 2:42.

Gov. Aldrich kicked the ball fifteen yards, as a curtain raiser.

Michigan missed two tries at forward passes. Patterson missed a field goal from the 25-yard line and Nebraska punted out of danger. At straight football Michigan gained, but was forced to punt.

Touchdown Falls to Count.

Lofgren ran forty yards and placed the ball behind Michigan's goal but was called back for offside play and penalized thirty-five yards.

The quarter ended without a score. Michigan blocked an attempted field goal and punted out of danger. Michigan secured the ball on a fumble on Nebraska's 25-yard line and Thompson attempted a drop-kick for goal.

Nebraska gained the most from straight football and Shonka tore big holes in the Michigan line for good runs. These ended with the ball in Nebraska's possession in the middle of the field.

The entire Nebraska line played in perfect harmony and their interference far exceeded that of Michigan. Yost's men held at critical times, however.

The remainder of the quarter was devoted to punting. Thompson having the best of the kicks and the Nebraska backs excelled at returning the ball.

Score, second quarter: Nebraska, 0; Michigan, 0.

Each Gets Touchdown.

After the kickoff in the third quarter an exchange of punts gave Nebraska the ball on Michigan's 30-yard line. Nebraska suffered from penalties and was forced to kick, but took it again on a fumble. Michigan bucked the line with only partial success and punted.

Conklin blocked a kick on Nebraska's 25-yard line, picked up the ball on a bound and raced behind the goal posts. Thompson kicked goal.

Gibson kicked off and on a fumble Nebraska secured the ball on Michigan's 10-yard line. Two plunges sent Purdy over for a touchdown and Potter kicked goal, tying the score.

End third quarter: Nebraska, 6; Michigan, 6.

Michigan Man Badly Hurt.

Carroll, who had gone in for Harrington, was badly hurt.

For the first three quarters Nebraska employed the Michigan team, but suffered more from penalties, offside play being the principal offense. Only two penalties thus far were registered against Michigan. Michigan kicked to the Nebraska 25-yard line and McMillan took the ball.

A fumble gave it to Nebraska on the first down and the Cornhuskers tore great holes in the Michigan line and lost the ball on a fumble on the Michigan 20-yard line.

Returning a forced punt, Nebraska again started down the field, but was forced to kick.

Thompson was downed on the Michigan 25-yard line. Unable to get in on plunges, Thompson kicked to the middle of the field.

Another Michigan Man Hurt.

Garret was injured and Almondgren relieved him.

Michigan was continually on the defense. Nebraska struggled desperately for another score. Nebraska pushed the ball to Michigan's 7-yard line and missed an attempted forward pass, but retained the ball's possession.

Purdy missed an attempt at a forward goal. Michigan punted, but was penalized for holding and Nebraska lost fifteen yards for offside play. The quarter and game ended with the ball in the middle of the field.

KILLS HIM TO SAVE SOUL.

New York, Nov. 25.—"Yes, I shot him—shot him to save his soul from eternal purgatory," said Mrs. Frances O'Shaughnessy on the witness stand in describing the murder of her husband, George.

"Then I went to where he lay on the floor," she continued, "and I kissed him. I stood over him and said a prayer for his soul. I left him lying there and found a policeman. I told him that I had just shot and killed my husband."

George had cast her from his affections for another woman, she said. She was soon to become a mother, she would have killed herself. But to save his soul from eternal damnation she risked her own by killing him.

Baby Mine.

A pretty good sized audience laughed till its sides ached at "Baby Mine," the funniest comedy ever presented in Norfolk, at the Auditorium last night. The play, superbly written by Margaret Mayo, gets the audience into good humor at the very start, and there's nothing but laugh from that moment on to the end.

Despite the theme, the play is free from unpleasant suggestion, the lines being wholesome throughout. The Brady company that gave the show here last night is of finest quality and well balanced. Marjorie Cortland, as the falsifying wife, and Earl Mitchell as "Jimmy," perhaps attracted most favorable attention, but the whole cast is clever. The stage settings are complete in every detail and pretty to look upon.
