A GRAND MEETING HELD

Conference of German Evangelical Church at Hoskins.

APPOINTMENTS FOR THE YEAR.

Interesting Meeting at Norfolk Sunday Evening—Bishop Horn Gives an Eloquent Portrayal of the True Faith. Church Beautifully Decorated—Music by Conference Quartette.

Last Sunday was a great day with the people of the German Evangelical church of this community. It was a day as one of their number expressed it "long to be remembered."

The state conference had been in session at Hoskins since Thursday, attended by a large number of clergymen from different parts of Nebraska with several of the notable men from abroad.

Sunday morning at Hoskins, Bishop Horn of Cleveland, Ohio, preached a very impressive and interesting ordination sermon.

At the afternoon services, held at the same place, Rev. A. Wichelt and Rev. George Hemkin were ordained as deacons. Following this a missionary meeting of much interest was conducted by Rev. T. C. Meckel, corresponding secretary of the Parent Missionary society. An appeal for funds with which to carry on the needed work, resulted in raising over $1500.

In the evening the conference closed its four days session with two meetings. One held at Hoskins, led by Rev. S. P. Spreng, editor of the Evangelical Messenger, published at Cleveland, Ohio. Rev. Spreng gave an able and convincing address.

At the Evangelical church in this city the evening service was one of unusual interest and power. The church was beautiful decorated with flowers and plants and the house was crowded to the doors with an expectant audience. They had come to listen to one of the great leaders of the church and they had a right to anticipate a feast of rich things. Nor were they disappointed. For nearly an hour Bishop Horn dwelt in a masterly manner upon the value and power of "The True Faith." He is man of well built frame, impressive manner, with an evident wealth of experience in things seen and unseen, and held the closest attention of his audience through his entire discourse.

The music rendered by a male quartette composed of Rev. I. Laipply of West Point, Rev. A. Wichman of Louisville, Rev. F. Doeschler of Denver, Col., and Rev. C. Yenny of Albion, was much enjoyed and added greatly to the effectiveness of the service.

A heavy fall of snow is reported last night at Kansas City, St. Louis and other southern points. The season is every where very backward. There is every indication of a storm here before morning. Spring is coming but it is embarrassed in its attempts by snow blockades at every point of the compass.

Last night about 9:30 Officer Kane arrested on Braasch avenue, Fisher brothers—two colored men—and they spent the night in the city cooler. The indications are very strong that they tapped Machmuller's saloon till, relieving it of $10 or more. They were brought before Judge Hayes this morning on the charge of vagrancy and were ordered to leave the town.

Dr. Chas. A. McKim who has been attending the Chicago Veterinary college since last October, was graduated from there on the 23rd inst., receiving the degree of doctor of comparative medicine (M. D. C.). Dr. McKim stood second in his class which numbered 11 members. He will return to Norfolk about April 1, and resume his practice.

Last night Officer Livingston rounded up a fellow who was with the man who stole the goods from Baum Bros.' store some time ago. He was found in the Johnson Dry Good's company's store, arrested on suspicion and lodged in the city jail. This morning Judge Hayes ordered him to leave town on the double quick and he departed.

Among the pictures that will be found in the art exhibit to be given by the Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church April 5 to 12, is a fine collection of about 30 water colors by many well known artists in Rome and Venice. These are originals, not copies. In a letter from one of the best known New York art dealers who had framed some, he said every one was of much merit and that the society was very fortunate in securing so many choice ones done by well known artists. All of the above are to be placed on sale at reasonable prices. Lovers of pictures will not only have a rare opportunity of seeing and enjoying works of art but can also have the advantage of procuring them to beautify their own homes.

Some days ago THE NEWS entered a remonstrance against the habit of spitting on the sidewalk and in public places. This subject might seem at first thought a trivial one, but it is a grave mistake to so consider it. Public health is the foundation of general and individual prosperity. Whatever helps to promote it helps in adding to the entire round of human happiness. There are certain general conditions which cannot be ignored in Norfolk or any other community without knocking the underpinning out from under the whole social superstructure. It is just dawning upon the mind of the public that this question of disease germs is of the highest importance to the common safety. There is a vast number of microbes that, in one form or another, make a business of preying upon human life. Certain conditions are favorable to their growth. Take tuberculosis for instance—more than one hundred thousand people in the United States die annually of consumption. How can this figure be reduced? The answer is found very largely in THE NEWS' suggestion that people stop spitting in public places.

To confirm the importance of this advice, as applied to consumptives a brief extract from an article by Dr. John H. Girdner in one of the leading magazines for March is in order. He says: "When we consider that nearly one-seventh of the human race die of consumption of the lungs, and that for weeks, months, and often years, these patients are continually expectorating quantities of the bacilli, we see that this source alone keeps up a large supply of infection. The dangerous sputum dries upon handkerchiefs, carpets, bedding, or in the streets and highways and floats in the air as dust particles, ready to be breathed into the lungs of the passerby. In this dry state the bacilli live for a long time. He adds, 'We can all do something to lessen this enormous supply of infection. If every consumptive person in the United States never expectorated except into a vessel containing a five per cent solution of carbolic acid and these vessels with their contents were burned from time to time, the death rate from this source would be enormously decreased.' What is true of this one disease is true of many more. If the people of Norfolk expect long life they can realize more fully on their expectations by refraining from further expectorating in public places. This isn't a question merely of cleanliness and good taste but in fact one of life and death. It is spoken of locally, not because this place is conspicuous for thoughtlessness in this matter, but because this community is the home of News readers and it is especially interested in their personal welfare.
