VERDICT IS RESENTED

Recondemnation of Dreyfus Causes Indignation.

EARLY RELEASE IS HOPED FOR.

His Five Years on Devil's Island May Be Held to Discharge the Requirements of the Second Sentence of Ten Years. Plan for a New Revision.

RENNES, Sept. 11.-Drevfus has borne the terrible shock of his conviction with marvelous fortitude, one might almost say with unnatural calm. Saturday be seemed stupefied when M. Labori communicated to him the verdict, but he has since rallied. He passed a quiet night and rose when his orderly brought him water at 5 a. m., as he did during the trial when it was necessary. Madame Dreyfus and Matthieu Dreyfus, his brother, visited him during the course of the afternoon, his brother subsequently leaving for Paris. The application to the court of revision was taken to him at noon by M. Labori's assistant and he signed it.

He has spoken but little, though he has seemed in better spirits than might have been anticipated. The meeting with his wife was naturally very affecting, but both held up as well as possi-

CAPTAIN ALFRED DREVEUS. He said to her. "I am not uneasy regarding myself, as I shall soon be free, but I think of you and my poor children. They will be branded as the children of a traitor." He is convinced that 10 years' imprisonment to which he is sentenced will be wiped out by the five years of solitary seclusion he has undergone on Devil's island, and he expects to be released by Oct. 15, which will be five years from the date of his former condemnation. He is so sanguine that he has made an extraordinary request of his wife for a novel to read in the meantime, explaining that his mind is so shaken and weighed down by recent events that he expects to divert his thoughts and to forget all the recollec- and gloomy speculations are indulged as tions of the past three months out of his to what future is in store for France. mind. terday after her visit to her husband and saw her father, M. Hadamar. M. Hadamar said Mme. Dreyfus and the family were hopeful and looked forward to some favorable development. "The verdict is an infamy," he said. "Capand the nervous effect of Saturday's terrible blow is bound to react on his general condition. His suppression of all outward depression is due to his almost incredible force of will, but it does not imply that he is insensible to undergone. On the contrary, the famthey care to express."

There are hardly justice from the country it is necessary any gendarmes in sight except near the first of all to act with calmness. The Dreyfus residence, where a few are Gaulois says: "A great movement of

So far as can be ascertained military men are perfectly satisfied with the verdict, which they interpret as safeguarding the honor of the army and at the same time doing an act of mercy to Dreyfus, who, they say, has sufficiently expiated his crime in the awful experience on Devil's island. They point that even if he is sent to Fort Corte, it will be to receive henceforth the humane treatment he has experienced since his return to France. One strange fact is the extraordinary difference of spinion respecting the exact effect of the judgment-whether he can be degraded again and whether the five years' solitary confinement he has undergone will be regarded as equivalent to the 10 years' detention to which he is sentenced and he will be released next month.

This matter is quite aside from the general impression that he will be parbet, who will find some ground to exercise elemency.

The correspondent of the Associated beginning when Dreyfus appeared before them, disregarding altogether his previous sentence.

M. Coupers said: "I have no doubt whatever that, according to the military code, Drevfus must undergo degradation again, as he was reinstated as a ordeal I think doubtful."

Colonel Jouanst also declared that Dreyfus must serve 10 years, but speaking with friends he expressed a conviction that there would not be a fresh degradation. This ceremony requires breaking the prisoner's sword and tearing off his epaulets. But Dreyfus never had his sword restored to him, and he only wore undress uniform without epaulets. a fascination that rivers the attention so that it would be impossible to carry out the regulations for degradation.

Those who think Dreyfus will be released in October, because the five years on Devil's island will wipe out the present sentence saw in the fact that he was sentenced for exactly ten years a confirmation of their view, but they are mistaken. He was sentenced to ten years, not because that happens to be all the trunk lines of the United States double his time on Devil's island, but because according to the military code tourists' paradise. A reporter will be appointed to examine it minutely and ascertain whether there be any flaw in the proceedings. The result will be submitted to the court of revision, which will maintain or annul

Evokes Indignation Everywhere, LONDON, Sept. 11 .- It would be difficult to describe adequately the indignation the verdict of the Dreyfus courtmartial has evoked everywhere in England. With the exception of the Jesuit organs in Rome and the anti-Semite papers, the press of the whole world is ringing with execration. Even the Russian press joins in the chorns, although perhaps the Jews are nowhere more hated than in Russia. We are lead to this inquiry in looking over the 1899 official guide of Niagara to the Sea, issued by the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation company, 228 St. Paul street, Montreal. It treats exhaustively of the finest inland water trip in the world, for nowhere on the continent of North America is there captain in the army and he appeared a more picturesque region than that before the court in uniform. That he which lies between Niagara and the will actually be put through this cruel sea. The most magnificent scenery abounds from start to finish and opportunity for viewing the same through facilities that have been provided by the company above referred to is so complete-so carefully worked out in every detail-that the journey once made can be looked back upon as one of the most delightful of a lifetime. First of all, Niagara itself is one of the wonders of the world, with of tourists as they start out on this trip of sight-seeing to the sea. It is so easily reached that none need deprive themselves of the privilege of seeing this greatest of nature's marvels and "doing" the grand tour of the famed Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence. From all points south of the international boundary there is direct railway communication, nearly converging at this great gateway to the West, embarking on one of the steamcis, shooting the rapids, stopping over at Montreal and Quebec, and finally reaching the crowning glory of all the incomparable grandeur of the Saguenay river

To properly describe the beauties of the trip from Niagara to the sea would occupy many times the space that we can here devote to its portrayal. Let it be made, for instance, on the beautiful steamer "Toronto," built the past year, and which began regular trips on the Toronto-Montreal route June 1. It sails from Toronto every Tuesday. Thursday and Saturday. This magnificent boat has spacious and elegant passenger accommodations, including 140 state rooms, four parlors and large Pullman sleeping cabins, and has a sleeping capacity for 430 passengers. The dining room on the upper deck has a seating capacity for over 100 persons. As already said, the Navigation company in the performance of their part of the work, has forgot nothing tending to the comfort and enjoyment of patrons. This very important part having then been provided for, the tourist has but to avail himself or herself of privileges afforded within the confines of the Toronto and absorb the beauties of nature to be seen on every side from its decks. Historical places of interest are pointed out and visited. cities and towns viewed from land and water and the grandly beautiful landscape so impressed upon the memory that ever afterward the tourist must concede that the trip from Niagara to the sea by way of the St. Lawrence embodies more real delight, more genuine satisfaction in sight-seeing than any other course that could be taken in a given number of miles. He returns to his home enriched in knowledge of wonders of the world and thankful to the Navigation company that has made it possible for him to see so much at such nominal expense.

The official guide already alluded to, besides showing illustrations of many cities, public buildings and points of interest along the route taken by the Navigation company's steamers, gives a list of rates for passage, state rooms, meals, etc., etc. A copy of this guide should be in the hands of those who contemplate making the trip in order that they may understand all details concerning the journey and the beautiful scenery it will be their privilege to view as they move from Niagara to the sea in the luxurious steam ers of the line in question. The guide can be obtained from the company at Montreal.

Every Sunday since he began his services the cathedral has been crowded, whereas ordinarily the summer congregations are made up of a few dozen faithful parishioners. Dr. Canfield takes to New York as a duck takes to water, his boyhood having been passed in Brooklyn, where his father was an eminent Episcopal rector.
