Smith of Wayne were in the city yesterday on their way to York to attend the state meeting of the federation of woman's clubs. Eugene Austin of this office is not slow at raising potatoes. A crowd of about 100 people witnessed the sport. W. H. Bueholz gave a dinner party to half a dozen of his gentlemen friends Saturday evening, the guest of honor being Mr. E. C. Howe, manager of the American Beet Sugar company. It is needless to say that a delightful dinner was served and that those present congratulated themselves upon having received an invitation. Word of a distressing calamity to the family of Attorney J. H. Brown of Wakefield, formerly of this city, has been received here. From all the reports obtainable it seems that Mr. Brown was in Omaha and for a time yesterday the children were left alone in the house, when in some manner the little boy set fire to his young sister's clothes and she was so badly burned that she died this morning from the injuries received. It is understood that the little girl is about three years of age. The Gustava Male quartet entertained a fair-sized audience at the M. E. church Saturday evening and that their music was appreciated was attested by the fact that they received a vociferous encore after almost every number rendered. Both the solo and ensemble numbers were well received. Although young men, the members of the quartet give evidence of thorough education in music and with more experience before the public will be second to no company now on the road. The quartet also sang at both morning and evening services at the M. E. church yesterday. Dr. Fletcher M. Sisson, the new presiding elder of the Norfolk district of the M. E. church, preached yesterday, both morning and evening, in the First church of this city and was greeted by a full house at both services. All who heard him were highly pleased with his sermons, and he made many friends in the city. At the morning service he gave convincing evidence that he was a true Methodist preacher by taking up a collection. Within a few minutes he raised $100 for the winter's supply of coal and other incidental expenses. He is a man of much religious power and will undoubtedly accomplish much good for the churches of the district. Members of the A. O. U. W. from all parts of the state will be in Omaha next Saturday, which is Workman day at the exposition. The Omaha Bee of yesterday, speaking of this event, says: "The Ancient Order of United Workmen will have the right of way next Saturday. Mrs. Bishop, nee Sumption, who is visiting in Madison, is expected to arrive in the city today to visit Mrs. A. J. Durland. Chris Schavland, clerk of the district court and candidate for re-election on the republican ticket, was a city visitor this morning. There was a special dance for employees at the hospital for insane last night and a very enjoyable time was had by all present. The Fourth ward democrats have pledged in nomination F. W. Koerber for assessor. The nomination was made at the caucus held last night. Rev. W. H. Eaton preached to a large congregation of country folk at Bega school house about 12 miles northeast of the city last Sunday afternoon. The shower which fell in this vicinity last night served to lay the dust which has been unusually plentiful. The change is very acceptable to the people. The Fourth ward republican caucus met in the hose house at the Junction last evening, and placed J. H. Thompson in nomination for the office of assessor. The bridge gang of the C. St. P. M. & O. road, with the company's pile driver, is driving piles and strengthening the bridge across the Northfork east of depot. The company has orders ahead all the time for its product, which is shipped as fast as turned out, and goes to the leading jobbers in western cities. Monte Cristo is billed to be presented at the Marquardt hall next Monday evening, in which Charles H. Farham will appear in the title role. This is a piece that has always drawn well and there is no doubt that the hall will be filled to its fullest capacity. The Heywood Celebrities have decided to postpone their engagement for the present, but will appear before a Norfolk audience later in the season. Mr. Heywood has gone to Creighton and Pierce to try to arrange for the appearance of his company in those cities. The state secretary of the Sunday school union has written to Norfolk parties desiring to hold a convention of all the Sunday schools in the county sometime during the latter part of October. Arrangements for the meeting have not yet been completed. A. G. Bohnert, the former Neligh merchant, is receiving a portion of his stock of general merchandise which will soon be opened up to the public in the Koenigstein block next door east of the postoffice. The room has been placed in first class condition and the newly papered walls and shelving give it a very neat and cleanly appearance. Miss Anna Lobnow this morning began her duties as assistant day operator at the telephone exchange. The temporary improvements to the facilities of the station have been made and it is hoped that all who desire to become patrons of the exchange may be accommodated pending the arrival of the new switch board now being constructed. A new time card will go into effect on the Union Pacific road next Sunday and it is understood that the trains of that line will begin running between here and Sioux City on Monday. It is said that while all the details have not yet been arranged it is practically assured that the freight service between here and Sioux City will be resumed on that day. Rev. A. F. Siegler will depart tomorrow for Wauwatosa, Wis., to assume his duties as pastor of the German Lutheran church at that place. It is understood that he will have the body of the late Mrs. Siegler exhumed and taken to his new home, where the remains will be re-interred. Mrs. Siegler died and was buried in the church cemetery here some months ago. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Spaulding drove a horse belong to G. R. Seiler about two and one-half miles into the country yesterday, and when near the track on their way home last evening, the horse refused to go further and laid down in the harness and died. The cause for its sudden death is not known, but it is supposed the animal was afflicted with heart disease or some other disorder peculiar to its kind. A team hitched to a buggy and being driven by C. B. Vrooman indulged in a lively runaway on Main street last evening. One of the neckyoke straps gave away, letting the tongue of the vehicle to the ground, which frightened the animals and caused the runaway. The frightened animals were stopped by bystanders just in time to keep them from dashing into a buggy containing a lady. Mr. Vrooman also had a narrow escape from injury. The Sophomore class of the Norfolk high school called on and surprised Miss Lydia Siegler last evening at the home of her friend, Miss Clara Rudat, where she is stopping. The party was in the nature of a farewell to the young lady, who leaves with her father tomorrow for her new home in Wauwatosa, Wis. A fine time was had, marred only by the thought of a classmate's departure. Very fine refreshments were served during the evening. Dr. Fletcher M. Sisson's household goods have arrived from Omaha and are being placed in the home on South Fourth street recently purchased from Dr. Hodgetts. It is expected that Mrs. Sisson and the children will arrive this evening and they will begin housekeeping soon in their new residence. Mrs. Sisson is the authoress of "Gathered Thistles" a work that was placed before the public at Fremont and has met with very good success. It is believed that Norfolk society will afford the family a warm welcome. A dispatch to the Omaha Bee from Creighton says that diphtheria is still raging at Walnut Grove, a few miles west of that place. Three have died in the Fredrick family and it is reported Mrs. Fredrick is now very ill. The case of the Fredricks was especially distressing. The neighbors were not aware of their terrible plight and when the doctor got to the house he found one child dead and the mother alone with the dead child and her sick husband. The doctor and his driver buried the child alone at midnight. The management of the sugar factory has found it necessary to exclude visitors from the working parts of the plant with the exception of Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4, when a guide will be provided and all those who desire will be shown through and the functions of the different pieces of machinery explained. The visitors' gallery, however, is open at all times of day and night, and visitors are always welcome to inspect the factory from that point of vantage. This step has been made necessary by the constant stream of visitors who have been coming to the factory during the past month, and who not only require considerable attention but are in constant danger of being injured while passing through the factory. The adjourned annual meeting of the Baptist church society was held last evening and proved to be one of the most cheering meetings of the kind ever held in the history of the organization. The financial statement showed a gratifying advance over former years in the society's standing as to money matters, while the spiritual welfare under Rev. Eaton's pastorate also shows great improvement. The outlook for the future welfare of the society is very cheerful and the members are encouraged wonderfully. Z. H. Bateman was elected as a member of the board of trustees for a term of three years, C. H. Blood was chosen as clerk and E. E. Adams as treasurer of the society. The bride is well known in Norfolk, having made it her home since childhood, with the exception of a few years which she spent in Connecticut with her grandmother, where she became acquainted with the groom. She is a lovely young lady, both in regard to looks, demeanor and disposition, and Mr. Congdon may congratulate himself on acquiring a rare Nebraska jewel. The heartiest of congratulations of Norfolk friends are accorded Mr. and Mrs. Congdon. J. H. Conley has located his stolen bicycle and the thief is in Omaha. The Bee says: "Detectives Heifelt and Donahue arrested W. Arlington last Saturday and booked him at the police station as a suspicious character. They mistrusted he had been taking things that did not rightfully belong to him, but were unable to get any positive evidence. He was kept in jail until Tuesday morning and then the officers put up a job on him. They had him released and kept the closest surveillance upon his every action during the day with the result that he was landed in jail again about dusk with a bicycle in his possession that had been stolen up at Norfolk some time ago." Mr. Conley left this morning for Omaha and will bring back with him the thief and the wheel. While in this city Arlington went under the name of Marshall at his boarding house and the sugar factory, where he was employed, and when he hired the wheel of Conley gave the name of Wilson. If he is one and the same fellow he is sailing under many aliases and is undoubtedly a clever crook. Money Talks.
