

LIKE A FLASH of lightning, sudden and startling, disease strikes down many a man. Yet there have been warnings upon warnings, unheeded. Food has lain like a heavy weight in the stomach after eating. There have been belchings, bitter risings in the mouth, nervousness, sleeplessness and growing irritability. Instead of listening to these warnings, recourse has been had to some of the nerve numbing palliatives that cover but never cure disease. Many serious diseases begin in a diseased condition of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. The stomach is really the vital center of physical life. It furnishes the blood which nourishes the whole body, in brain as well as in brawn. When the stomach is "weak," it is not equal to the work of supplying the blood upon which depends the strength and vigor of the body. Without this essential blood supply the body weakens in all its organs. The condition of the body when the blood stream runs low is the same as that of the mill when the mill stream runs low. There is not enough power to do the work. The heart feels the lack of power, the brain feels it, so do the lungs, nerves, liver, and all the vital organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cures the weak stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, increases the activity of the blood-making glands and pours a tide of pure blood along the arteries and veins which nourishes every organ into strength. It is the great stomach-strengthening, nerve-nourishing, lung-healing, muscle-making remedy of the age. It contains no alcohol and is free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Doctors Disagree.
"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Mr. Wm. Connolly, of 335 Walnut Street, Lorain, Ohio. "I got so bad that I had to get off my feet—two and three days in a week. I have been treated by the best doctors in this city, but got no help. Some said I had cancer of the stomach, others catarrh, others dyspepsia. Then I wrote to you for advice. You advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' These medicines I have taken as directed. I commenced to get better from the start, and have not had a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Keep the bowels healthy by using Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They don't grip. They are easy to take and sure to cure.

SHORT NEWS STORIES.

Stephen Crane's Revenge—A Healthy Prince—James Whitcomb Riley's Joke.

When Stephen Crane was a student at Syracuse college he some way won the wrath of a certain professor who was instrumental in having him expelled from the institution. Thereafter Crane cherished a beautiful hatred for this professor.

The Greek war broke out. Crane was sent to "cover it" for a newspaper. One day he found himself with a companion between the two lines. He could go in neither direction. With his friend he lingered in the hills. They lay under a tree one night, and just as they were about to roll over to sleep the sound of breaking twigs fell upon their ears. Both men looked whence came the sound. Out into the moonlight stepped a man. He was Crane's old professor. The correspondent called him, and he joined the two men. He had come to the country to study the archaeological remains and had lost his way in the hills. He had been wandering around for three days eating berries. Crane, who knew the country well from three months' loitering there, took the old man under his wing and shared his outfit with him, finally seeing him well within the Greek lines.

"He used to tell me I would end my days in state's prison," said Crane in telling the story, "and my assistance to him there in the hills was the sweetest revenge a man ever secured."

Out of that incident Crane wrote his novel called "Active Service."—Detroit Free Press.

A Healthy Prince.
Many stories are current about the Prince of Wales' recent visit to Marlborough, where he was most democratic. It is said that a Polish Jew, sitting on

DIDN'T NEED WATER CURE.
A park bench next to the prince, not knowing his identity, began to question him about what he paid for his rooms, doctors, etc., ending with digging his royal highness in the ribs and telling him he looked too healthy to need the water cure.

James Whitcomb Riley's Joke.
J. Whitcomb Riley did his first literary work in the early seventies, for the Indianapolis Journal, under an assumed name. The first pay he ever received for a poem was a suit of clothes from the late George Harding of the Indianapolis Herald. About 1876 Riley went east and was welcomed by Holmes, Whittier and Longfellow. The New England newspapers made much of his visit, and when he returned he was a hero.

"I can remember," said an old Journal man the other day, "when Riley, with his smooth, boyish face, slender figure, clad in sacerdotal garb, used to come to the office and sit on my desk and dash off nonsense verses in the same copperplate, microscopic handwriting that he uses today. Elijah Halford, now a paymaster, with the rank of major, in the United States army and President Harrison's private secretary, was the editor, and it used to be Riley's chief delight to submit some of his most meaningless jingles to Halford for the editorial page. The major, who never had the slightest sense of humor, spent many a weary hour trying to comprehend them."

"You'd better draw a diagram to go with this," he would say. Then a shout of laughter from the boys would show him that there was a joke loose somewhere, and he would retire into his office to avoid it."

What He Wanted to Be.
Lord Charles Beresford as a boy was the despair of both his parents and teachers. On his thirteenth birthday his father gave him his choice whether he would enter the army or the navy or take up orders.

"Well," he concluded, "what is it to be, my lad?"
"The navy, my lord."
"And why, my lord?"
"Cause I'd like to be an admiral, like Nelson."
"Pshaw—like Nelson! Why Nelson?"
"Cause I want to."
"But, even if you were to join the navy, why do you think you will ever become an admiral, Charlie?"
"Cause I mean to," was the blunt reply. He had his wish and entered the navy.—Collier's Weekly.

Kitchener's Compliment to the Queen.
Lord Kitchener of Khartoum is a straightforward soldier, but he does not scorn the art of turning a compliment gracefully.

It has long been said of him that he is proof against all feminine charms, and when he waited upon her majesty at Windsor the queen was curious enough to put a pointed question.
"Is it true, my lord," she asked, "that you have never yet cared for women?"
"Yes, your majesty," replied the sirdar, "quite true—with one exception."
"Ah!" said the queen, "and who is she?"
The sirdar bowed. "Your majesty," said he.—Youth's Companion.

A Literary Note.

The denizens of the forest were organizing a literary club.
"We must make the porcupine president," said Br'er Wolf. "His style is full of good points."
"Permit me," remarked Br'er Rabbit, "to recommend a reptile friend of mine. He can put up a rattling trail."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Fence Will Stay.
Two Atholston men decided recently that their property would look better with no dividing fence between and took it down. It was down a week when both women agreed to make their husbands put up the fence again. They had had no trouble, but a talk in the back yard without a fence to lean on was like meat without salt. The fence is up to stay.—Atholston Globe.

WHY HE CURES.
The Greatest Specialist of the Time Gives Every Case His Personal Attention.
Most doctors have a certain number of stock remedies which they use in all cases which seem at all similar. This is the case with the majority of the medical profession. Every case with him is most carefully studied, and he prescribes the exact position of the diseased condition determined. This is the reason why he cures all cases so rapidly and medicines are all specially prepared under Dr. Hathaway's personal supervision. No two people are affected in the same manner, consequently no two people should be treated in the same way even for some complaint. Dr. Hathaway has a special list in the best sense of the word—he treats special cases in a special manner of his own—a system studied out years ago while in college and enlarged upon constantly during his own and in 50 or more years of the most extensive practice enjoyed by any specialist in the country. Dr. Hathaway's method of treatment is based on the principle of individuality of response to the various forms of disease, and is based on the knowledge of the exact position of the diseased condition determined. This is the reason why he cures all cases so rapidly and medicines are all specially prepared under Dr. Hathaway's personal supervision.
