THURSDAY TIDINGS.

The plank walk in front of Vail's candy kitchen is being replaced by a new one of the same material.

Dallas Brunson this morning purchased the hack line of A. N. Eddy, adding it to his already well equipped line of hacks and busses.

Mrs. W. J. Baker very pleasantly entertained a party of about 20 young people at her home in The Heights last evening. Cards was the principal amusement and watermelon was served for refreshment.

The tennis enthusiasm has taken possession of the small boys of Norfolk and they take advantage of any vacancy in the courts to indulge in the game.

The lawn tennis game last evening was played by Dr. P. H. Salter and N. A. Huse against F. H. Beels and W. H. Bucholz. The former team won by a score of 8-6.

Miss Jennie Wheeler entertained a company of about 20 young friends at her home on South Ninth street last evening from 4 to 8, in honor of Miss Ruth Harding. The guests enjoyed the afternoon and evening very thoroughly.

The special car for the accommodation of veterans to the national encampment, G. A. R., at Chicago, will be at the F. E. & M. V. uptown depot here until 11:55 Saturday morning. Tickets and seats for the trip may be secured at the uptown (Creighton) depot.

The weather changed quite suddenly between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon, when black clouds drove down from the north, cooling the atmosphere and bringing some rain. The clouds looked quite fierce and their evolutions were anxiously watched, but nothing disastrous happened here.

The young ladies' M. Q. M. club which has been enjoying a week's camping at the Yellow Banks, returned yesterday noon and report having had a most enjoyable time. The club is composed of Misses Gae Stanton, Iva Foster, Maude Clark, Nora Dixon, Mary Covert and Anna Killen. Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. Foster chaperoned the party.

The auditorium and lecture room of the Congregational church are to be newly carpeted, in a color which will harmonize with the paper that has recently been hung upon the walls. The Ladies' society of the church is bearing the expense, and at a meeting held yesterday afternoon members of the society selected the pattern for the carpet.

S. K. Warrick has resigned his position as cashier of the Battle Creek Valley bank, to take effect September 1, which he does for the purpose of taking charge of a bank at Broken Bow, this state. Harry Barnes, assistant cashier, has also resigned. E. H. Luikart of this city has been selected to succeed Mr. Warrick, and he will assume his duties on the date that the latter retires.

Roy Gardner has been endeavoring to construct a telephone line to his home in the west part of the city. In the process of construction he climbed a tree and encountered a hornet's nest from the occupants of which he got a warm reception and at once suspended operations. Manager Sprecher had been interested in the line and being in the neighborhood desired to know why the work was not completed. He was informed by Roy that it was too warm in the tree to work and was invited to go up himself. Whether he accepted the invitation or not and what happened to him has not been learned. If he went up, however, he is probably ready and willing to endorse Roy's opinion as to the temperature.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Westervelt returned yesterday from a visit to Denver and other points of interest in Colorado, including Colorado Springs, Manitou, and a trip around the Loop. At Grand Junction they were entertained by S. H. McClary and shown some of the wonderful peach orchards. Much of the fruit is going to waste because it is impossible to get it to market, owing, it was explained, to the freight rates. Fruit growers are putting up immense drying houses and hope in the future to take care of much of their product in this way. Its possibilities as a fruit country can be realized from the fact that one of the growers cleared $10,000 in four years from one piece of land. Mr. and Mrs. Westervelt enjoyed the trip most thoroughly. They were accompanied by their daughters, Mrs. Wm. Martin and Mrs. Swithon Reynolds, who live in Denver.

At a meeting of the directors of the Norfolk National bank, held Tuesday evening, N. A. Rainbolt tendered his resignation as president of that institution, to take effect October 1. This move was made upon the advice of Mr. Rainbolt's physician, who prescribes absolute rest during the coming year in hope that his failing health, which has been brought about through long continued close attention to business, may be regained. While the patrons of the bank will regret that he is to retire from its active management, they will be glad to know that he is to remain as one of its board of directors and that it will continue to have the benefit of his counsel and experience. It is probable that he will travel extensively during the next few months, following the advice of his physician that a change of scene and recuperation are what are required to build him up physically. Mr. Rainbolt has been president of the Norfolk National bank about fourteen and one-half years, and during that time he has seen the institution grow from a struggling business with a capital of $60,000 and deposits of less than $50,000, to one with a capital of $100,000, a surplus of $20,000, and with deposits ranging in the neighborhood of $325,000. The building up of this great business has been done by the closest attention to details and at a sacrifice of health which has at last partially undermined his constitution, but it is believed that a short period of rest will entirely restore him to his former vigor and ability to cope with the intricate problems of the financial world. No arrangements have yet been made as to who shall be his successor, but it is likely that one will be named before the first of October.

STAMPED TO DEATH.

Crazy Man Kills one Who is Drunk at Wayne.

BOTH WERE CONFINED IN JAIL.

The Murder Was Committed Some Time During the Night—Crazy Man Thought His Cell Mate Possessed of the Devil and Proceeded to Stamp it Out.

A telephone message from Wayne this morning gives information of a horrible murder committed in the Wayne jail some time during last night, a crazy man named Wainund killing a man named Bigham, who was intoxicated.

As near as could be ascertained the murdered man, Bigham, makes his home at Dunbar, had been to visit his daughter at Wausa and was on his way to Norfolk to visit a son. He stopped over at Wayne and, becoming drunk, was placed in jail by the city marshal.

The name of the crazy man is Wainund and his home is in Buckland, Mo. He got on at Emerson and his ticket read to Norfolk. He became violent on the train and the conductor put him off at Wayne.

The conductor asked him where he was going and he said: "Where the rest of them are." Asked as to where that was he said "In Heaven." The trainman told him he should have bought a ticket to heaven then.

He was finally put off at Wayne and, between 9 and 10 o'clock last night was locked in jail with the drunken man.

When the marshal entered the jail this morning he found Bigham dead, having been literally stamped to death and his body horribly mutilated by Wainund.

Wainund was asked why he committed the crime and he said his fellow occupant was an enemy of Jesus Christ, possessed of the devil and it was his duty to kill him.

The coroner assembled a jury this morning and held an inquest, rendering a verdict to the effect that Bigham had been murdered by Wainund while insane.

The name of the insane man is so similar to that of W. J. Wynand, who recently disappeared from this city that an effort was made to learn if they were one and the same.

Inquiries were made and it was learned that the last known of Wynand was that he is in Lincoln and it could not possibly have been him.

Another story is given by a man over from Wayne. He asserts that the name of the murdered man was Wainund and that the crazy man's name was Bigham. He was personally acquainted with "Dad" Wynand and states that neither of the parties bore any resemblance to him.

This murder, following so close on the one at Meadow Grove, the suicide at Winside, the accidental death at Tilden, and the recent suicide and accidental death in Stanton county, places Norfolk in the geographical center of a series of horrors seldom equalled in a short space of time elapsed, which has been little more than a week. While all the trouble has been in a territory tributary to Norfolk this city has thus far escaped anything of the kind and it is sincerely hoped that it may escape such notoriety altogether.
