POPULISTS NAME SENATOR

D. W. Darlington of this County is the Candidate.

HOWARD TALKS POPULISM

Congressional Convention Adjourns for Four Weeks Without Making a Nomination—Will Meet Again on October 4th, to Name a Candidate.

From Friday's Daily.

The populist state senatorial convention finished up its labors last evening by placing D. W. Darlington in nomination as candidate for state senator from the eleventh district. The congressional convention did not make a nomination, but adjourned for four weeks until October 4, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Ex-Congressman Howard gave a talk of an hour, which was about the most stirring proposition that the populists of this section have been up against for a long time. He discussed the situation which confronts populists without gloves, and showed in figures which are beyond contradiction that the populist party under its present method of fusion with democrats is losing numbers every day, whereas previous to four years ago, before it began to merge itself with the democrats, it was growing faster than any party that was ever established in this country.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Howard characterized the democratic party as a party without principle. He stated that one man is responsible for the ratification of the treaty with Spain—and that man is Bryan, who resigned his commission as colonel in the army to go to Washington and urge the acceptance of the treaty by which the United States acquired the Philippine islands, and without whose influence the treaty would not have been ratified. Now this same Mr. Bryan tells us that the great issue of the campaign is imperialism—if McKinley is re-elected we will straightway become an empire.

We are attempting to govern the poor Filipino without his consent, and that is imperialism. At the very hour that they are howling so loud about the iniquities of governing a people without their consent, this same democratic party is enacting and enforcing laws throughout the south which disfranchise nearly all the negroes and many of the poor whites, and these are people who have a right under the constitution to participate in the government, and yet, say the democrats, the issue of the whole campaign rests upon a little group of islands thousands of miles away, and which could not have been acquired except for the assistance given by the democrats. "I tell you, you are fusing with a party that has no fixed principles; a party, in fact, without principle."

At the close of Mr. Howard's address the senatorial convention was called to order by the chairman, Dr. Bryant. The committee on permanent organization recommended that the temporary organization be made permanent, which was done.

The committee on credentials reported, giving the names of those entitled to seats in the senatorial convention. The report was adopted and read.

Motion prevailed that the convention now proceed to nominate a candidate for senator from the eleventh senatorial district. The name of D. W. Darlington of Madison county was proposed, and there being no other names mentioned he was made the unanimous choice of the convention.

Mr. Darlington accepted the nomination in a neat speech, outlining his belief and stating what he will undertake to do if elected.

A central committee was elected as follows: Stanton county, J. E. Nicholas; Pierce, C. C. Wilson; Madison, L. S. Simpson. The committee was empowered to appoint a member from Wayne county.

The candidate was authorized to select his own chairman and secretary.

The congressional convention was then called to order, and the report of the committee on credentials was received without reading.

The committee on permanent organization recommended that the temporary organization be made permanent, and the recommendation was adopted. The recommendation was made that the convention adjourn for four weeks, or until October 4, and after discussion the suggestion was put in form of a motion and carried.

The Knights of the Maccabees held another very pleasant and successful meeting last night, initiating ten more candidates into the mysteries of the order under the direction of State Deputy L. M. Thomas of Lincoln. The L. O. T. M. again appeared with refreshments and the balance of the evening was most enjoyable.

The musical entertainment given by Mrs. Ralph Henry Day and Miss Hildreth E. Sisson at the Auditorium last evening, drew a fair audience of music loving people. The concert was high class in the strictest sense of the word, and the many critics present pronounced it faultless. Mrs. Day is wholly at home with the piano and the manner in which she rendered the classics called forth her greatest genius. She has a wonderful, delicate touch, a soul to interpret and power to execute, which makes the thorough musician. Miss Sisson has a pure, sweet voice, which shows the strength and refinement of intelligent cultivation. Miss Sisson's numbers were received with merited applause, and she was obliged several times to respond to an encore. She has a bright musical future before her.

The news has received a copy of the Missouri Valley, Iowa, Daily Times of the 6th, containing a very excellent write-up of the marriage of Miss Lulu May Edgcomb of that city to Edward W. Madsen formerly of Norfolk. The services were the first wedding ceremony performed in the new Presbyterian church, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion. Rev. J. McAllister performed the rites. The bridal party appeared while Miss Lola Chapman sang "O, Promise Me." The bride was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Blanche Edgcomb of Kansas City, while the groom was attended by his brother, Charles Madsen of this city. The paper says of the bride that she "made a bewitching picture in her gown of white tulle and long veil. She carried a large bunch of bride's roses. The maid of honor was attired in white organdy and carried white roses." Chas. Madsen also helped receive at an informal reception held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony, about 100 guests being present. A feature of the reception was the distribution of wedding favors in the form of tiny little boxes of white satin paper, tied with a true lover's knot of white ribbon. Five of the boxes contained additional favors to the ones fortunate enough to receive them. Mr. and Mrs. Madsen have gone to Denver and Hot Springs and will be in Norfolk next Wednesday. They will make their home on upper Erie street, Missouri Valley, and will be at home after September 25th.
