The fusionists are not highly de-lighted over ex-President Harrison's announcement of his position. He stands where he did in 1896.

The corn, oats and wheat crops of Dodge county for 1900 are worth $780,000 more than the same quantity was worth in 1896.—Freemont Tribune.

Mathew Gering of Plattsburgh, one of the strongest workers for the fusionists, has renounced Bryan and says that he will support the republican ticket.

All the living ex-presidents of the United States support the policies of Wm. McKinley. All the deceased ex-presidents support Mr. Bryan—or at least he claims their support and they cannot object.

Mr. Bryan ate his New York $12-a-plate banquet seated between the "two graces," Mr. Croker, head of Tammany hall and the chief corruptionist of New York City, and Mr. Van Wyck, famous for his connection with the notorious ice trust of that city.

The republicans of Dodge county are meeting fusion tactics at every turn. In one part of the county they advertised a rally, but the fusionists had closed the right to use the school house for republican meetings, retaining it for their own use. A farmer, however, offered the use of his hayloft to the republicans and a very successful meeting was held therein.

Down in Custer county where the good Silas Holcomb makes his home and where everything goes fusion by something less than two to one, it requires almost six pages of solid nonpareil type to tell the story of the delinquent tax list. In Madison county but little more than a page was necessary. Either it is not surprising that Custer is a fusion stronghold or it is not surprising that a fusion stronghold is so beset with delinquent taxes.

Mr. Poynter should know that when he terms the regular soldier a "hireling" he makes a distinction without a difference. Every regular soldier is a volunteer and every volunteer receives his pay just as though he were a regular. Both enlist for a certain period of time, the only difference being that the regular soldier belongs to an organization that is always maintained while the volunteer organization is dissolved after the work is done for which it was organized. Many volunteers become regulars and all regulars are volunteers.

Oscar Smith of Humboldt voted for Mr. Bryan in 1896 but will this year support McKinley, giving the following reasons: "I started from Elmwood, Neb., Aug. 1, 1896, and traveled to Syracuse, Neb., a distance of 225 miles. Then I went from there to Palmer, Neb., in Nance county, a distance of 150 miles, and from there to Humboldt, Neb., without receiving one day's work. The whole distance was traveled with team, and I endeavored to find work every day. I don't want any more of that in mine. But McKinley was elected and I have not been able to travel because work is on every hand at good wages."

Mr. Bryan told his New York audience: "If I am a sample of what is going on on the farm I have some idea of what is taking place there," and also led his hearers to believe that the farmers of the west are not enjoying prosperity. A man that is compelled to abandon his section of the country in order to gain votes from another section is in hard straits. He must take the New Yorkers for fools, but it is probable that they know more about the financial conditions of the west than Bryan himself. They keep informed on such matters. He also tells the New Yorkers that the democratic party is the best friend of wealth while he does not mention such a friendship in the west.

Senator Hanna is not only a friend of labor, but he exemplifies the fact that in this country the poor man has a chance to become wealthy if he improves the opportunities presented. In a recent speech at Chicago the senator said: "I commenced working for $25 a month. Every dollar I earned I put into an industry, and if I succeeded it was because I was industrious and fairly honest. I was the first employer of labor in Ohio to recognize union labor, and I never refused to treat them.

Four years ago Bryan went to Ironon, Michigan, where I am president of a mine employing 2,000 men. He went there to tell them what a bad man I was. I shut down the mine a half a day to give them a chance to hear him, but I didn't stop the pay."

Anti-Trust Democrats.

The supreme court having decided that the constitution prevented congress from interfering with trusts and corporations, except in the matter of interstate commerce, the following amendment was introduced in the house of representatives and came to a vote on the first day of June, last:

Section 1. All powers conferred by this article shall extend to the several states, the territories, the District of Columbia, and all territory under the sovereignty and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Section 2. "Congress shall have power to define, regulate, control, prohibit, or dissolve trusts, monopolies or combinations, whether existing in the form of a combination or otherwise. The several states may continue to exercise such power in any manner not in conflict with the laws of the United States."

Section 3. Congress shall have power to enforce the provisions of this article by appropriate legislation.

The clause saving all rights of states was inserted in the hope of getting states rights democrats to support the amendment. Nevertheless the vote stood 148 republicans for and 130 democrats against, and the measure failed of the necessary two-thirds majority.

This would seem to be the very thing demanded by the democrats and yet they defeated it and now they hypocritically go before the people and want them to give them the power which they refused to avail themselves of when they had the opportunity.

The name of our own John S. Robinson is registered against this measure, but, like his associates and his chief, he is probably telling the people of the third district what he would do to the trust if he had the opportunity.

It is a choice bit of record that rises up to denounce the democrats and show up their groundless pretensions on the trust question.

Rock Throw by a Boy Strikes Governor on the Head.

Cleveland, Oct. 18.—Last night the city of Cleveland gave Governor Roosevelt reception rivaling any similar demonstration ever made here. There was an immense parade, consisting of half a score of brass bands, dozens of political organizations, including many which had come hither from other places to do honor to the candidate for vice president. Superior street, the chief thoroughfare through which the parade passed, was ablaze with electric lights, suspended from tall pillars, surmounted by flaming globes. Along this brilliant course thousands of rockets and flambéaux flared. The walks were thronged with men, women and children, who drew so near that the horses of the various mounted sections almost trampled them.

Only one incident marred the evening, notwithstanding reports circulated early in the day that an attempt would be made to break up the proposed meeting in Newburg. It was here that a boy, standing some distance away, threw a rock at the governor as the latter was leaving the tent in company with National Committeeman Herrick of Ohio and others. The rock struck the governor on the head.

"I was not hurt at all," said the governor, when he returned to his car and discussed the matter with several friends. "The rock was thrown by one of a number of hoodlums, and I saw him throw it. It struck my head, but my hat prevented it from wounding me."

Ferrill on Trial.

Marysville, O., Oct. 18.—A jury was impaneled yesterday to try Rosslyn Ferrill, charged with the murder of Express Messenger Lane and the robbery of an express safe on a Panhandle train on the night of Aug. 10, and the taking of testimony was begun. The preliminary statements of counsel disclosed that the plea of the defense would be insanity.

RAPID SPREAD OF THE FIRE.

Woman Cremated on Balcony Before the Eyes of the Crowd—Boy Loses His Life While Making Heroic Effort to Save an Old Woman.

New York, Oct. 18.—Eight people were either burned to death or suffocated in a fire which partially destroyed the double tenement house at 45 and 45½ Hester street yesterday. The dead: Sarah Sass, Samuel Sass, Lena Sass, Morris Sass, Mrs. Horowitz, Rosa Lewis, Mendel Strauss, and Samuel Strauss.

On the third floor of No. 45 lived Charles Sass, his wife and four children, his mother-in-law and Mrs. Horowitz. Sass took the child nearest at hand and rushed to the fire escape. He managed to get down to the balcony in front of the building on the second floor. Mrs. Horowitz was the only one who followed him. She took the child from his arms when she saw the escape cut off and cried to a policeman below to catch it. The policeman held out his arms and as the child fell he caught it safely and shouted to her to drop. Sass had already hung down and dropped to the ground.

Mrs. Horowitz was about to drop when flames suddenly burst through an awning on the first floor with such fury that she was driven back against the wall and her only escape was cut off. So fierce were the flames that burst at the same time from the awning below, from the window behind her and from the floor of the balcony under her feet that it was impossible for the firemen to rescue her. On the balcony, only a few feet above the ground, but hedged in on all sides by flames, she was burned to death before the eyes of the terrified crowd gathered in the street. Mrs. Sass, with little Morris, had been unable to get further than the window when they were both overcome by smoke and perished. Lena Sass ran into the hallway and was caught by the flames there and burned to death. Young Samuel Sass tried to rescue Mrs. Rosa Lewis from the flames, but was unsuccessful and they perished together. Their bodies were found in the hallway, the lad's arms still clasped about the aged woman's waist as though he had died while trying to drag her out.

The front room in the attic was occupied by Mendel Strauss and his son, Samuel. Both were suffocated before they could escape.

SPEAKS IN CLOSE DISTRICTS

Senator Makes Addresses in Several Towns, Stopping at Huron.

Huron, S. D., Oct. 18.—The special train bearing Senators Hanna and Frye traveled up and down through the counties of central South Dakota yesterday in the districts where the vote as a rule is close, and where farmers compose a greater part of the population. Four stops, varying in length from three minutes to an hour, were made during the day. Senator Hanna making speeches at Redfield, Northfield, Groton, Andover, Bristol, Bradley, Elrod, Bryant, Lake Preston, Desmet, Iroquois, Huron, Aberdeen and Webster.

Senator Frye also spoke at some length in the more important stopping places. A good deal of spice was put into the speeches at times by sharp questioning on the part of the audiences, who desired to hear about trusts and "imperialism" and were not slow to make their wishes known. This was true especially at Aberdeen, where Senator Hanna was constantly interrupted during his speech by questions regarding phases of the trust issue. Senator Hanna apparently enjoyed these interruptions and invariably answered them.

Actress Shoots Pasen.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Joe Pasen, proprietor of the Pasen Theatrical exchange, was shot in the abdomen yesterday by Zorah Card, an actress. Pasen was taken to the county hospital in a critical condition. The shooting occurred in Pasen's office in the presence of two or three persons. Pasen ran into an adjoining office, holding his stomach and calling for a doctor. The two are thought to have quarreled over some theatrical engagement.

Passenger and Freight Collide.

Springfield, Ills., Oct. 18.—A southbound passenger train on the Chicago, St. Louis and Peoria collided north of Petersburg last night with a freight train. Thomas Wiley of Peoria, express messenger, was probably fatally injured. Captain W. H. Weaver of Petersburg, Conductor T. F. Covington and Postal Clerk Baker, both of Peoria, were badly injured.

Fatal Wreck on Southern Pacific.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 18.—A fatal wreck occurred on the Southern Pacific yesterday 60 miles east of this city. A bridge gave way as a westbound freight was passing over it and the engine and four of the cars went down. Engineer John Schaffer and Fireman W. B. Edison were killed. Recent heavy rains had weakened the foundations of the bridge.

Man Death in Horrible Manner.

Nickerson, Minn., Oct. 18.—Laundie Hoyt, aged 15, was killed in a horrible manner at a sawmill here yesterday. He was attending to a conveyor which leads to the slab burner, and in some manner became fastened in the endless chain. Before help could reach him he was conveyed to the furnace and burned to death.
