REPORTS from St. Paul say that the farmers' losses from the recent storm will aggregate three thousand acres of grain totally destroyed and this is only a small part of the entire loss.

The senate confirmed J. A. Hunter, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Utah, Lieut. Col. J. Newton to be Colonel, and Maj. Geo. A. Mendell, Lieutenant Colonel of Engineers.

NINETY swarms of grasshoppers were reported from Chicago last week from different parts of Dakota, southwestern Minnesota and northwestern Iowa. Great damage to wheat is already done, and in many places seven-eighths of the small grain is destroyed.

OUR exchanges give a fearful account of the crops in southern Russia as being about totally ruined by drought in some sections and excessive rains in others, while frightful swarms of grasshoppers and corn beetles made their appearance, destroying whatever remained.

FORTY-FIVE colored people arrived at Lincoln the evening of the 1st, on the A. & N. R. R., from New Orleans and Baton Rouge. The colored people of Lincoln met them at the depot and will make temporary provision for them, as they are destitute of everything except scanty bedding.

MRS. LAVANCHE NAMBERER last week shot her self through the heart because her husband would not buy her a pair of shoes on the day she wanted them. The deceased was 18 years old, and had been married less than a year. This item is taken from the Albany (Mo.) Ledger, and doubtless is correct.

FROM Sioux City we learn that a similar tornado to the one that struck St. Paul, swept over the country along the southeastern part of Elkhorn, D. T., doing similar damage to the property of citizens by blowing down barns, houses, trees, fences and crops, besides killing several persons.

The Daily State Journal of the 2d announces the fact that work commenced on the Lincoln and Northwestern, which is known here as the A. & N. railroad, on last Wednesday. We learn from the same source that Mr. Fitzgerald has submitted to different contractors ten or twelve miles of the road, and the work will be pushed forward rapidly.

The House at Washington before adjournment passed a resolution giving all annual employees of the House an extra month's pay, or thirteen months for six months' work, and six months' vacation. This is a sample of democratic economy. The Senate refused to pass a similar resolution for its employees. Several democrats in the Senate denounced the measure as an outrage.

The most severe rain and wind storm that ever visited Minnesota, struck St. Paul on the night of the 2d, flooding the town and country by a rainfall of five inches. In its course, houses, barns, and trees were blown down. In the course of its track great damage was done to fencing and the crops. A great number of persons reported killed by lightning during the storm.

The new bounty law provides that upon the petition of fifty freeholders of any county, the commissioners of that county shall submit the question to a vote of the people at the next succeeding election, when the ballots shall be printed "For bounties," or "Against bounties." If the election is in favor of bounties, two dollars a scalp shall be paid for wolves, wild cats, or coyotes.

It is now rumored that the insatiable Jay Gould has added the Hannibal & St. Joe to his grand railroad system. The St. Joseph Herald says there is good authority for the report that this road has passed into the hands of a receiver, and would shortly be turned over to the Gould party. It further states that L. D. Tutbill, General Manager of the St. Joe & Denver road, is in New York, and will probably be made Superintendent of the Hannibal line.—Lincoln Journal.

The Price of Success. In noticing the railroad injunction case the Schuyler Sun makes the following sensible remarks:

"To one fact the people must sooner or later resign themselves. That to contend with railroads, even to the extent of keeping them within reasonable bounds, eternal vigilance is the price of success. In the case now on hand, the present difficulty will not sooner be disposed of than another, through the mediumship of the Union Pacific or its retainers will present itself, and so on until it is clearly demonstrated that the people are determined and will not be discouraged by trifles."

CITIZENS of the south-western part of the county celebrated the 4th at Jackson. The buildings of our patriotic friend John Strasser, where the citizens congregated, were decorated with American flags, the bright, waving emblems of our freedom and liberties. About half past 1 o'clock the sweet strains of music were heard in the large dining room of the Strasser House, where Mr. Kuehne and his lady partner led in the merry dance. The regular ball was to come off in the evening, when the young folks would obtain their full share of enjoyment.

PITTSBURG, Pa., is perhaps the blackest town in the United States, and a very singular and ingenious plan has been suggested to clean and wash it up. The washing is to be done by passing the smoke from the manufactories through the spray caused by paddle-wheels revolving in a tank of water, holding soda ash in solution. The tank and wheels are placed in the flue, between the furnace and the chimney, and the wheels being made to revolve in the direction of the chimney, the draught is increased. It is claimed that the smoke, after being thus treated, will not soil a white handkerchief.

Hail and Havoc. The Omaha Herald of Sunday contains the following paragraph, which we learn from other sources is substantially true. We have not ascertained the extent of the storm or of the damage:

Railway men report that near Clark's station on the U. P., yesterday they saw the track of a hail storm which passed over the section on Friday afternoon. It swept a belt of country from three to four miles wide, causing terrible havoc. The crops were literally beaten into the ground, and the farmers have not even a sufficient remnant of a hay crop to pay for attempting to cut it. It is not known that any persons were injured. The storm approached the line of the railway from the northwest, and then turned, taking a southeasterly direction.

The new Democratic paper calls President Hayes a "hog." Webster defines this word, as applied to men, to signify: "a brutal fellow; one who is mean and filthy." So far as the President is concerned he certainly is anything but a "brutal fellow," and as for being "mean and filthy," no one who knows anything of him, or cares for his own reputation for truth-speaking would make such an assertion. While Mr. Hayes may possibly not be the most generous man in the world (the Democrat man may exceed him) he is certainly not "mean," and placed alongside of the President, even the Democrat man might be forced to confess a point or two in favor of Mr. Hayes on the score of less or more "filth." But then, this is a fair specimen of that Bourbon democracy, which learns nothing and forgets nothing.

Saint Edwards. ED. JOURNAL.—July 4th, that day dear to all true lovers of those free institutions guaranteed to us by the declaration of Independence, was duly observed by a grand celebration in this community. Promptly at the appointed time those who had formed a procession in town moved off with colors flying to the grove one mile above; arriving there, a large crowd who had come in from other directions, were already enjoying themselves with swings, croquet and other amusements under the shade of the tall spreading elms, box elders, and cottonwoods. Soon that vast assemblage rallied around the speaker's stand when the exercises of the day were opened with instrumental music by Miss Kate McFadden on the organ, assisted by Messrs. Davis and Dunbar on violins followed with prayer by Elder Wright; and after the reading of the Declaration of Independence and another piece of music, the large audience listened with wrapt attention to a masterly and eloquent oration by A. H. Simpson of Columbus, followed by a telling speech by his partner J. P. Morrison. This brought dinner, and for the next hour the contents of well-filled baskets occupied the time and attention of that happy throng, as they betook themselves by families and in groups under the friendly shade.

Then an entire change from the general order of things took place: A motley band of Ku Klux or some other kind of klux, mounted and on foot, filed into the grove from the south. We will not attempt to describe their clownish recharade, a colony of immigrants that might have been forcibly ejected from the infernal regions, but they seemed to be "perfectly" happy and in their movements closely resembled the antics of a herd of mules in a horse's nest. A song and a speech from his Satanic Majesty, their captain, and a high-toned quadrille on the speaker's stand wound them up and they dispersed and returned whence they came.

About 4 p. m. the crowd moved back to town to witness a game of base ball, and horse and foot races, but a shower coming on about that time, put an end to that. Not so the dance at the new Hardy House; as to that event one and all agreed that it was the grandest affair of the season. The supper gotten up under the auspices of Mr. J. Rittel and Mrs. J. O'Donnell, was the very best, and as the stage is in sight, I will close by adding that the success of the day's celebration was to a great extent due to the able management of our marshal of the day, H. O. Smith. D.

An Explanation Which Does Not Altogether Explain.

PIERCE, NEB., July 4, '79. M. K. TURNER, Respected Friend: After leaving Columbus not long since in company with the Hon. W. S. Geer, a few hours ride brought us to Madison, and we found the heretofore quiet townsmen somewhat excited over their R. R. bond defeat. We partook of some refreshments and passed along to the bright and thriving town of Norfolk. Almost every man we met appeared to be on the war path, especially when a Columbus man put in an appearance. As good luck was bound to come to me, an old friend put in an appearance and quieted their excited feelings by informing them that I was en route for the Santa Fe Agency to pay a short visit, and that he thought I had not used any influence to defeat their purpose, therefore the effusion of wrath was arrested. Thence to Niobrara, the bright city of Mr. J. B. Nebruka R. J. in the near future. Over night the latter place, to the Agency the next day, where we met with a cordial reception, which state of things continued until on our return. We were beyond the range of the musical notes of our parting serenade by the enthusiastic maidens of the Dakotas. From the Agency to Pierce without much delay, one saving a little of civilization was met with suspicious feelings which resulted in my arrest as a trespasser. The residents here in the main are a good feeling people, but a certain lawless, cowardly, bull-doing element is in considerable force, which will require but a short time to extinguish. I plead guilty, but refused to pay the fine, which event brings me up to the present time.

Yours respectfully, W. B. COFFIN. Humphrey Items. Last Wednesday night this vicinity was visited by a slight shower of rain which was accompanied with a tremendous wind; it moved Mr. Wanzler's frame barn about three feet eastward, badly racked the stable which was on the east side of it, and laid the most of his barn-yard fence flat on the ground. It racked the dwelling house of the Humphrey post-master, Mr. Mead, badly frightening the inmates, but injuring the house only slightly. It overturned or unroofed several corn cribs and other out-houses in the neighborhood.

We celebrated the "glorious 4th" by having a neighborhood picnic in Charles Roscoe's grove of timber. Several pieces that were appropriate for the occasion were rehearsed and read, and we were also favored with good singing; and if ever a table groined under the weight of provisions, that one did, and a stranger might have thought by the quality of the victuals, that luxuries were to be had here in Nebraska, by "the asking." In fact, the dinner was "fit for a king." In the afternoon the sound of the violin was heard, and those who wished so to do, joined in the merry dance. All seemed pleased with the entertainments of the day.

The harvest of winter wheat will begin to-morrow, if the weather permits. July 4th, 1879. The Busy Time. Mr. Editor:—The busy time has come; our farmers are at work harvesting rye; other small grains are ripening fast.

The Bloomingdale stock farm makes a very due appearance right now. Prof. Henrich is not only a good doctor and preacher, but makes a good farmer also; surely, he is what city farmers used to call a round man. Long may he live to do good.

Davis, Williams, Thomas and Lewis are at work, and as far as we can see, their prospect is fair. Hugh Edwards has broke 30 acres on his farm since he bought it of Hugh Hughes, in the spring. Mr. E. will make a fine show after a while, if he keeps on as he has doing. The Elliots are also up and a-beging. May prosperity crown their efforts. We are pleased to see our friends doing well.

St. Bernard. We are having plenty of rain the past few weeks and plenty of warm weather, which makes the corn "git up and git,"—one can almost see it growing.

There has been some barley harvested, and wheat and oats are coloring nicely, and if nothing happens it will be of good quality.

Our worthy friend and bachelor (by the way), Jas. M. Adams, has in 120 acres of crops this year; he wants to be able to feed his other half this winter, should he find her.

Our school, in No. 56, taught by Miss Bell Lisco, came to a close the 30th of June, and all the well satisfied that she had done her work faithfully.

A goodly number of our people are going down to Madison to help celebrate the glorious old Fourth.

Our neighbor, S. E. Morgan, lost a fine horse last Sunday—did not hear what was the matter.

Everybody is enjoying new potatoes, peas, and all kinds of garden stuff. EAGLE.

Grant Prairie. EDITOR JOURNAL: The celebration in Mr. Wasserburger's grove on the 4th was more than we expected. It was quite a success,—the largest crowd by hundreds that has ever met at this place.

Mr. Wasserburger carried off the purse on the wheelbarrow race.

There was a grand dinner in the grove, good enough for a king to sit to, and the music was No. 1. Rev. Mr. Roberts delivered the oration, which was good.

Dancing commenced in the hall, at 4 p. m. and was kept till 11 a. m. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves well. The music was the best ever played at this place, and it was impossible for people to sit still; they were waiting in every corner,—up stairs, down stairs, in the kitchen, and all over, and all over,—in short, we just had the best time we ever had at this place. NOW AND THEN.

Madison. [From the Chronicle.] The improvements made by Mr. A. C. Tyrrel on his block by tree planting are well worthy of imitation. His collection of fruit and forest trees consists of apple, pear, peach, cherry, box elder, black walnut, and honey locust. Besides these he has a number of grape vines and some shrubbery. The trees, now in their dark green foliage, are beautiful to look upon. A few more with the energy and taste of Mr. T., and Madison would soon become a city of groves and shady avenues.

The Bat Smashers and Shell Creek boys played a game of ball at this place last Saturday, and the Smashers got badly scooped. They were no match for a picked nine taken from different parts of Platte county, and an umpire whose sympathy for the club from his own place was so great that he decided everything in their favor. They played nine innings and the score stood 12 to 47.

We learn that both clubs are regularly organized, and that the A. & N.'s of this county, instead of being a picked nine, have been playing together for two years. To make the thing altogether satisfactory Platte county suggests that a game be played by the same nines, to be umpired by any recognized fair-minded man in Fremont, Omaha, or any other place outside of Platte and Madison counties, for love, fun, money, chalk or marbles. Now, Mr. Chronicle, let the Smashers come to time right away, quick, and "may we all be there to see."

Some Columbus chaps, who haven't sense enough to mind their own business, are dodging around in the west part of this precinct working in an unadvised manner to defeat the precinct proposition. We advise the citizens in the west part of the precinct to appoint one of their number as fool-thresher and let him dust the jackets of these Columbus bums. Let our people consider whether the object of these men is to benefit us or to enhance their own interests to our everlasting detriment. Are they acting by motives of pure philanthropy, or by hogish selfishness? Does the "milk of human kindness" course so freely through the veins of these meddlers that they can afford to leave their own business and mix themselves up in the business of our citizens? The people of this precinct are old enough and wise enough, to conduct their own affairs, and of this fact the Columbusites will please take particular notice.

The Chronicle has been pleased to do itself and Columbus citizens a gross injustice. Columbus has no interest in defeating Madison railroad schemes, but on the contrary desires to see this whole region about to enter upon another stage of her existence as a city and needs to be on the friendliest terms with all the thriving communities in the circle of her business acquaintance.
