WANTED.—A good girl to do house work. Must be a good baker of bread. None others need apply. Call immediately at Flynn's brick yard.

Any man wanting a good light dress and durable machine will buy the New Manny celebrated reaper and mower of F. F. English & Brandt.

Impossibilities overcome; English & Brandt are selling the Beatson band cutter, to be attached on any threshing machine. Threshers, come and see sample.

In the absence of a regular celebration on the Fourth the members of the Columbus Cornet Band at 4 o'clock a. m., treated the citizens to a serenade from the top of the Court House.

Pro-Nic.—Of the children of the Court School, Thursday, July 10th at Stevens Grove. They will leave the School House at 8:30 o'clock. School children are cordially invited. A free ride to the grove.

The sack containing the big fish unquestionably bore the name of P. H. Kelley, but it turns out on further investigation that D. W. Kinsey, of Monroe, caught and sent that big fish to the Journal office.

Father Ambrose is subject, under the rules of the church, to be removed from his position in the Monastery this year, as such change takes place every three years. He has not yet received notice of the change.

Very lengthy communications received as late as Monday must lay over till the next week, and we must again caution correspondents against writing advertisements in their communications. Business is business.

A man in the northern part of the county was so excited in detailing the doings of the lightning on his premises that he got somewhat mixed, declaring that the lightning killed his stove and knocked his dog down.

The water works at the depot certainly add greatly to the comfort of "the boys," and to the safety of the buildings in case of fire. Pipes run from the large water tank, and hose are placed in readiness for emergency.

A remonstrance against the action of the City Council in the Frankfort Square matter was presented at the meeting Monday evening, which, however, did not change their former opinion to fence and devote the square to a city park.

The bonds of the A. & N. are contested by the U. P. officials, but no machine in the country can contest the time-established fact that the Adams & French harvesting machines are the conquerors in the field. For sale by F. F. English.

G. W. Stevens, living west of the city, for some time back has had his chickens stolen, to the number of twenty. Last Saturday night he captured the thief in a steel trap, which turned out to be a savage looking wild cat. He will steal no more.

Superintendent S. L. Barrett will hold the annual Normal Institute in this city the last of July or first of August, lasting four weeks. This institute will be of decided advantage to the teachers of the county and they should make, if necessary, some sacrifices to attend.

Mike Ebel says that John Jones of Butler lost two steers lately by the same disease that carried off so many cattle last fall. Mike says they are subject to it when they begin to fatten, after a change of feed, and that the lower bowels should be kept well open.

The Episcopal church at Silver Creek, a new building, 38x50 ft. and 30 ft. high, elevated on 8x8 posts, 2 1/2 ft. above the ground, without under protection, was blown down and washed to pieces Wednesday night last. On the same night Dr. Wierd's house opposite the town was struck by lightning.

Mr. Galek tells us that the entire contract for the construction of the new road between Lincoln and Columbus has been let, and sublet between Lincoln and Milford. That 2,000 men will be wanted on the road between Aug. 1st and Dec. 1st, and that the U. P. will build anywhere, in spite of all injunctions.

The American Agriculturist for July is at hand. Always good, this number has no exception. Literature, to aid the farmer in his actual work, is about as indispensable as a windmill on the average prairie farm, and every one who reads should have this best of monthlies. Published by the Orange Judd Co., 512 Broadway, N. Y., $1.50 a year, in either English or German.

Notwithstanding the very gentle rain we quoted last week from the Central City Courier, the young man who does up the locals for the Era continues to pilfer his items from the JOURNAL. While we must acknowledge admiration for his sound discriminating judgment, which knows what is good, we must denounce to suit that his virtues are not of the perpendicular order.

The crops south of the Loup river and in the valley for six or eight miles west to the depth of 10 feet which reached the course sand, and all the refuse water about the building passes into this sink which runs away immediately and every thing around the building is kept clean and sweet. Nothing offensive about the sink.

Persons desirous of getting rid of waste or refuse water about their buildings in this level country, should examine the sink at the monastery building prepared for that purpose, sunk to the depth of 10 feet which reached the course sand, and all the refuse water about the building passes into this sink which runs away immediately and every thing around the building is kept clean and sweet. Nothing offensive about the sink.

The Platte Valley Democrat, published by Messrs. Wentworth & Son, made its appearance last Friday. It is a seven-column paper, neatly printed. The proprietors think Columbus is a good point to establish a paper to circulate throughout the State. A good Democratic State paper is sorely needed. In a business point of view we wish the new enterprise success, but confusion and defeat to its political utterances.

Choice residence lots for sale. See advertisement.

Services at the Episcopal church next Sabbath at 11 o'clock.

The "C. of the C. F." will meet Thursday evening for a game.

A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Postle, at 6 p. m. yesterday.

The editor of the Omaha Bee must not lay quite so much stress upon the ebullitions of his correspondent, C. E. M., at least so far as Columbus is concerned. For instance, there is no "mighty howl" against the U. P. and a "dangerous murmur of indignation," and no thirst of revenge "permeates the highest and the lowest." The truth is simply, and this is recognized by all thinking men here, the U. P. Co. has done nothing more than might have been expected of her, having one-fifth the A. & N. bonds to pay.

The citizens of Waterville and vicinity, appropriately celebrated the 4th. The exercises were opened with prayer by Elder Cook, followed by the reading of the declaration of Independence by Ed. Moncrief. Brief and excellent orations were delivered by Elder Cook and Chas. Magon. After partaking of dinner the young folks enjoyed themselves by engaging in the merry dance under the shady bower, and late in the evening adjourned to the schoolhouse, where the dance was continued after night. All enjoyed the occasion highly.

On the Fourth, a lad by the name of Joseph Weinhil, who was crossing 11th street northward at Henry's crossing, was knocked down by a horse driven by Gus, and Louis Schroeder. As we are informed, the horse was at the time going at a brisk trot, his knee striking the boy's back and the two wheels on one side of the buggy both passing over the boy's bowels. It might have been a most serious matter for all concerned—as it was at first supposed that the lad could not recover. The occurrence, as we look at it, is a practical lesson to the drivers, to the boy, and likewise to the City Marshal.

At Mr. Barker's sheep ranch north of the city, the storm of rain and wind which occurred about 2 o'clock Thursday morning last scattered things about pretty lively. The roof of the sheep corral was blown off, and scattered in every direction, and some of the boards split in pieces, and about 125 feet of the corral fence blown down. The building at the ranch is only one story, 14x22, which, by the force of the storm, was moved about fourteen feet from the foundation, wrenching all the doors from the stove, turning the table and dishes into one corner of the building, and greatly alarming the persons sleeping therein. Three persons were at the corral and house, none of whom were injured. The only thing killed on the premises was one chicken.

The U. P. surveyors were at Jackson on the 4th. We understand that their last survey has been made from Jackson to the O. & R. V. R. R. which strikes that road at a point between Rising and Osceola, and from which place the U. P. intends continuing the road to Lincoln. Stranger things than such a project are liable to occur, as well as the erection of a round-house at Jackson. The land is a little rough north and west of Jackson, but there is good territory enough in that vicinity upon which to build up a large city, large enough to support the capital of any state in the Union. The citizens of Jackson and vicinity are excited upon all these subjects, and we cannot blame them for looking after and taking care of what they regard as their own interests.

Wednesday night of last week was a good time to set for a moonlight picnic, so far as the light of that orb was concerned, but the dark clouds that rolled up from a southern sky on the evening in question had a tendency to change the "splendid" time that had been anticipated by a most jolly crew, to something that didn't prove quite so nice; at least that's what "Jim Devero" thinks, who was in attendance, and who, by the way, is gaining for himself considerable notoriety as a poetical genius. "Jim," after giving a detailed and laughable account of the evening's doings, "wound up" with—

"There was 'Carl,' 'Theod,' 'Gus,'— in all, some twenty-four. Who for 'Stevens' grove and a good time were set; When nearly there, oh, how the rain did pour! Which caused us all to become wringing wet."

From David Anderson we learn that crop prospects are much better in Nebraska, than either Iowa or Illinois, especially is the corn far advanced ahead of those states; while the oats and wheat are promising throughout Illinois, the corn is very backward. The Rock Island and C. & B. Q. railroads will have a double track laid between the Missouri river and Chicago within twelve months. A mammoth packing house is soon to be erected in Council Bluffs, with Omaha and Chicago capital. Mr. A. thinks the business men and citizens of Chicago are unnecessarily excited over the communistic movements, and that the authorities are fully prepared for an outbreak at any time, should one occur. There are now hundreds of tramps camped along the Rock Island road, waiting for harvest to begin. The tramp nuisance in Iowa is certainly a monster elephant for the people to handle.

All parties indebted to me will please call and settle by cash or note. W. H. RANDALL.

Personal. A. M. Post was at Genoa Monday. Julius Rasmussen was in Osceola Monday.

J. E. North returned from the west on Friday. Miss Lou Rieckly is visiting in Omaha this week.

E. J. Baker visited his stock ranch at Genoa Monday. G. W. Galley has returned from a trip through the counties northwest.

Kuhne & Meedel went to Nance county the other day to spy out the land. W. M. Robertson, Esq., of Madison was sick several days in this city last week.

Thos. Scott, the railroad king, passed through the city westward Thursday. A letter from John Wiggins to a friend speaks of a good time in the Empire State.

L. Gerrard recently made a trip to St. Paul, in which town several of our citizens have a money interest. Judge Stull of Polk county says that Arcade is to be the name of the junction town on the O. & R. V., and the road southeast from Jackson.

Geo. Wandel writes to a friend in the city that he arrived in Hamburg June 11th, after thirteen days of sea-sickness, during which he couldn't smoke his accustomed cigar. T. H. Saunders started Sunday for Penn. His wife followed on Monday. If he can make a certain proposed trade he will remain there. We shall be sorry to lose him as a citizen.

A. E. Touzalin, of the B. & M., was in the city several days last week. It is thought that a basis for settlement has now been made, of the taxes of the B. & M. of this county.

S. B. Galey and M. Whitmoyer started for Denver Friday to appear in the interests of Platte county against the U. P. injunction. S. C. Smith accompanied them on private business of his own.

Adolph Jaggi arrived on the 11th of June in the old country. He speaks in glowing language of the celebration of Emperor William's golden wedding, and of the splendid scenery on the Rhine.

Mr. L. M. Sanford, connected with the Iowa State Leader called at this office Saturday. Mr. Sanford is visiting Nebraska, partly on account of his health and to get away a short time from the cares and perplexities of the printer's life.

Barclay Jones made the trip Friday to St. Paul, Howard county. The reservation is being settled up rapidly. At Fullerton several good buildings are being put up—Land is broken up in every direction, and great herds of cattle may be seen all about the route. A heavy rain Friday deepened the Cedar 8 ft. in a few hours.

Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson returned from the east Saturday last. Mrs. A. informs us that the trip was a very pleasant one to her. David is enthusiastic in regard to the crops of Nebraska as compared with Iowa and Illinois. Placing his right hand about four inches above the ground, "there," said he "is Illinois"; up to his chin, "and there is Nebraska." He says the difference is very marked as soon as the Missouri river is reached. The apple crop in Iowa will be a partial failure.

From Jackson north to the Loup valley is found what is known as the Little Sand Hills. It is a singular formation, but most assuredly never formed in the manner that citizens generally suppose, by the action of the wind storms blowing of the sand into hills, valleys and ravines; it thus formed, how was it possible that the same wind could blow clay soil into the same hills and valleys? All the valleys and hills are now in July covered with grass, and would sustain thousands upon thousands of cattle or sheep for summer grazing. Those lands belong almost entirely to government and the U. P. R. R. Co., and persons seeking homes in the west have passed them by and they remain unoccupied. We learn from a citizen similar formed lands extend from the Loup valley in this county north of the U. P. railroad as far west as Kearney, and are unoccupied except in exceptional cases where the valleys are rich and wide enough to farm. We predict that the time will come when these lands will be occupied in the summer by large herds of cattle and sheep, and the thought may originate in a wild imagination but we firmly believe that along the slopes of this clay land and even to the tops of the highest hills will grow the richest fruits, such as grapes, apples, peaches, pears, plums, cherries, and choice berries.

Preis Kegeln. The following persons won prizes at the ten-pin match at Wm. Bucher's place on the 4th of July: 1st prize, Jacob Ernst; 2d, Sam'l Gass; 3d, Fred Gerber; 4th, John Gaff; 5th, Schlesinger; 6th, Sam'l Gass; 7th, Kersenbrock; 8th, Sam'l Gass; 9th, Kersenbrock; 10th, Jos. Hengger; 11th, Andrew Mattis; 12th, Sam'l Gass; 13th, Kersenbrock.

Take Notice! All parties indebted to me will please call and settle by cash or note. W. H. RANDALL.

Best Application for Burns. Thomas O'Neal's child, aged 18 months was badly scalded with hot tea last Thursday night. It reached up to the table and tipped a cupful of boiling tea, the contents of the cup going over its throat and chest and a large portion down its throat, the steam getting into the windpipe. The case was a peculiar one and the child suffered terribly. The fond parents gave up their little one as beyond help, but brought the child to the city (22 miles) to have the suffering allayed. Drs. Mitchell & Martyn of the Institute took charge of the little fellow, and when we saw him Saturday he seemed to be enjoying himself very nicely. Dr. Martyn tells us that it is a fact, which should be universally known, that common baking soda, (bicarbonate of soda) such as every good woman has in the house, is the best application known for burns. Spread it thick on the scalded flesh, and dampen a cloth to put over it, being careful to have it so well saturated that it will permeate the soda. Many a life might be saved in this way. The application should be made at once, and for after treatment call in a physician. About a year ago the JOURNAL mentioned an instance of the wonderful properties of soda to preserve the flesh from the effects of fire, and we desire to so strongly impress the fact that no one who reads this will ever forget it.

The Raging Wind. Last Thursday night J. A. Wood, living 8 1/2 miles west of Columbus, was wakened up with the crash of a window, and found his house gone away from over his head, leaving nothing but the floor. The house was of log, one and a half stories, and was scattered so far and wide that 25 Philadelphia lawyers could not put it together again. A little boy, up-stairs, was carried fifteen rods, wrapped up in a quilt, and laid down as gently as a mother would lay her babe to rest. The cupboard was knocked down, but not a dish broken. A clock was carried quite a distance, but only the looking-glass in it broken. No one of the four occupants of the house was hurt. The same wind unroofed an unoccupied building in the same neighborhood, belonging to George Savidge.

A Card. Having purchased the furniture that I have heretofore rented, I am now sole proprietor of the well known Chicago Barber Shop, on Olive St., opposite the Hammond House. I am now running three chairs, no more waiting. Having procured the services of George McKelvey, formerly employed by Mr. Gregorius, and my brother, Mr. Alfred Woods, I am prepared to wait upon my many old patrons and as many new ones as see fit to favor me with their patronage. Come one, come all, and get a good shave and a clean towel every time. Yours respectfully, HENRY WOODS.
