Dr. Bradley pronounces the faster, Dr. Tanner, a fraud and unworthy the notice of honorable scientists. He believes that Dr. Tanner has been detected in receiving food from his attendant.

The Kearney post-office was robbed the other night of about $11. Letters and packages were cut open. The burglars broke the knob off the combination lock, but were unable to force the safe.

The express train that runs from Kansas City to St. Joseph was boarded at Winthrop station on the morning of the 9th by masked men and the safe robbed of $250, and a package of jewelry.

Gen. Slocum declares that Hancock "will sweep the country like a hurricane." The Chicago Times says "Gentle, general; not so much devastating wind. It's early in the canvas, and that sort of thing is too violent."

The Spanish government has formed the State department at Washington that they believe the ship which fired on the American schooner off the Cuban coast, was a pirate, as there is no Spanish vessel of that description.

It is denied the canard started by the New York Truth the very day it was started. I have nothing to say against Hancock. I have known him for forty years. His personal, official and military record is good. The party which has put him in nomination is bad. Yours truly, U. S. Grant.

A terrific rain storm visited Des Moines last week and a few miles west of the city it took the form of a water-spout. Vanmeter, a small town, was submerged in three feet of water, and the embankment of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific road was washed away. The Grand Island Independent.

prints entire the JOURNAL's article on selection of senator, saying "it contains some sensible suggestions that coincide with our views. By all means the State convention nominate, and the people decide it."

The Clarksville Messenger prints the article without comment.

The Omaha Republican condescends to quote from the same as coming from a "rural newspaper," and labors through a column article, endeavoring to prove that "our rural contemporary" is seeking to have enforced a "constitutional enactment [that] is utterly powerless."

We should be glad to see the press of the State take up the discussion of this question which interests us all, and bring before the people the fact that we have among us newspapers (and politicians, no doubt,) who are endeavoring, and who will continue to endeavor to thwart the will of the people as expressed in their constitution, and statutes thereunder. Let the light shine upon this thing to the end that the right may prevail. The press, the "rural press," especially, of the State are little beholden to politicians, or to those who deal in senatorships, &c., and it is their duty as standing among the people to give the warning cry against those newspapers which are well known and recognized as the mouth-pieces of political jobbers and tricksters.

Judge Savage on Saturday last rendered a very important decision, holding that no appeal lies from the county court admitting a will to probate. In this case the will of Joseph Weiser was duly made, devising all his property, valued at about $5,000, to his brothers and sisters, excluding his widow from any interest whatever in his estate. The widow contested the will before the county court, but it was finally admitted to probate, from which decision the widow appealed to the district court and the motion made to dismiss the appeal was sustained by the district court on the ground above stated. This case clearly disclosed a defect in the legislation of the state, which should speedily meet with the proper remedy.

Just about the time the newspaper reporters were closing up their accounts at the Smelting Works fire at Omaha, which was about midnight, the alarm of fire was again heard, which soon disclosed the Omaha grain elevator in flames. The fire department was powerless to do anything to save the elevator, which was all ablaze before their arrival upon the ground. The elevator was owned by John McCormick, D. S. Barriger and Fred. Davis, who composed a stock company. The origin of the fire is unknown; some persons believe it to be the work of an incendiary. The loss on building and grain will reach $60,000, partly secured by insurance.

The Chicago Advance publishes a statement from Gen. Grant denying the report published in the New York Truth that Gen Grant cherished personal animosity and petty spite against Hancock ever since the Mexican war. Gen. Grant says: "You have probably seen that I denied the canard started by the New York Truth the very day it was started. I have nothing to say against Hancock. I have known him for forty years. His personal, official and military record is good. The party which has put him in nomination is bad. Yours truly, U. S. Grant."

Rising City.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Our celebration on the 3d was a pleasant and enjoyable affair, and fully 1,000 were assembled in our city to enjoy themselves in the various amusements of the day. Our corn band discoursed excellent music, and the Glee Club, accompanied by the organ, captivated the ear, and enchanted the heart of the assembled patriots, young and old, male and female, with their songs, most excellently rendered. Dr. Engalhard was the orator of the occasion, and delivered a most excellent oration, but from a Republican standpoint hardly suitable for such a gathering, and such an occasion. The Dr. is a good speaker, and a part, at least, of his auditors were more than satisfied. Then came the good, old-fashioned basket dinner, friends gathering in groups, and friendly chat. After which was the foot race, sack race, and many other amusements, until the time for parting came, and our city once more assumed its usual quietness, and methodical business status.

The wheat crop will be light, some complaint of chinch bugs, on new ground it is very poor indeed. Corn will be good, where it has sufficient cultivation.

The political situation suits us exactly; a Garfield club is to be organized here, and energetically for the successful soldier, the eminent scholar, the matured statesman, who we believe will honor the country in the office to which he will be elected. Our hope, too, is that our Nebraska papers will conduct (as does the JOURNAL) the campaign on its "merits," instead of the vile personalities, and slanders too often indulged in, to defeat an opponent. For once let it be measures, not personalities, and the right and the true will win. Why Not.

One night last week at midnight three transports left the arsenal at Constantinople for Soto, with seven battalions of troops, five batteries and a quantity of ammunition. The troops were ordered disembarked stealthily. The disembarkment of 4,000 soldiers in Thessaly, whose time has expired, has been forbidden.

Numerous meetings were being held last week throughout Ireland to sanction the land agitators. At one meeting resolutions were passed congratulating the United States on the anniversary of independence, and declaring that Ireland was fighting the same battle that America fought a century ago.

The Omaha Bee thinks that under the recent opinion rendered by Attorney General Devens that the President is authorized to fill vacancies in federal offices, whether the vacancy occurred during or since the session of congress, is likely to re-open the race for the Nebraska marshalship.

It is stated that ex-Gov. Jewell will soon take charge of his rooms in New York city at 245, Fifth Ave., as chairman of the national republican committee, and reside on one of the upper floors of the new headquarters throughout the presidential campaign. The new chairman means business.

CITIZENS of Omaha were startled by the disclosure of the fact that Mr. Gilbert H. Collins sent a bullet through his brain and expired at midnight on the 11th. It is regarded at Omaha as a very sad suicide, no cause being known to induce the terrible act except a fit of temporary insanity.

Thos. D. DEYARNETTE shot his six sister Nellie Deyarnette five times, two of which will prove fatal, at Danville, Va., on the night of the 8th in a house of ill-fame. The sister says he did right to shoot her, to wipe out the disgrace, and wishes he may not be punished.

The earthquake at Genoa Sunday week was the most severe and widespread that has been known in Switzerland for many years. Two persons were killed. Several metres of the summit of Senelberg near Quart fell, overwhelming a large wood.

An earthquake recently occurred at the Island of St. George, one of the Azore group, resulting in the formation of another, 600 yards distant and about 18,000 square yards in extent.
