Storm at Humphrey.

From Wm. Schroeder we learn some of the particulars of the storm at Humphrey, Saturday evening last. At fifteen minutes to six a territic cloud appeared, with heavy, uglylooking black borders and white center, betokening hail, and immediately the storm struck the town from the west with terrific force. It would seem from the description given that this was the beginning of the storm because the wind at this point was straight forward and not whirling, as it was further east. At this writing we have no definite particulars of the storm elsewhere. It is said that the track of the storm was from one to two miles in width. All the exposed windows on the west side of houses were demolished by the hail, which is said to have been the size of hen's eggs and smaller, and very fierce in its peltings. Farmers out in their shirt sleeves were beaten black and blue where the stones struck them. At Humphrey, Louis Shroeder's dwelling house was carried off and torn to very small pieces and the household furniture destroyed, nothing appearing whole except a looking-glass.

The Columbus Mænnerchor i mall in numbers but great in musical ability. Its leader, Prof. Pohl, s one of the most graceful, easy and accomplished conductors who appeared in any of the concerts. . The first teuor, Mr. Segelke, has a lovely voice, as was shown in the enchore pieces of Friday evening, and we are sure the audience would have been cratified to have been able to judge more fully of its qualities in a solo performance.
