

ADVERTISEMENTS.

HENRY LUERS, BLACKSMITH AND Wagon Maker.

All kinds of wood and iron work on Wagons, Buggies, Farm Machinery, &c.

TIMKEN SPRING BUGGY, and other eastern buggies.

Forest & Bradley Plows.

NEBRASKA HOUSE, S. J. MARMOY, Prop'r.

Nebraska Ave., South of Depot, COLUMBUS, NEB.

A new house, newly furnished. Good accommodations. Board by day or week at reasonable rates.

Sets a First-Class Table.

Meats, 25c; Cakes, 10c; Lunches, 25c to 50c.

MILLINERY! MILLINERY!

MRS. M. S. DRAKE HAS JUST RECEIVED A LARGE STOCK OF

SPRING AND SUMMER MILLINERY AND FANCY GOODS.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF EVERYTHING BELONGING TO FIRST-CLASS MILLINERY STORE.

210th St., two doors east State Bank.

F. GERBER & CO., DEALERS IN—

FURNITURE, AND UNDERTAKERS.

Chairs, Bedsteads, Bureaus, TABLES, Etc., Etc.

GIVE HIM A CALL AT HIS PLACE ON SOUTH SIDE 11th ST.

One door east of Heibitz's drug store.

CITY Meat Market!

One door north of Post-office, NEBRASKA AVE., Columbus.

KEEP ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats, SAUSAGE, POULTRY, FRESH FISH, Etc., in their season.

Cash paid for Hides, Lard and Bacon.

212-X WILL T. HICKLY.

H. B. MORSE IS STILL SELLING WM. SCHILZ'S OLD STOCK

At Cost! At Cost! AND HAS ADDED

A Line of Spring Goods WHICH HE IS SELLING AT EASTERN PRICES.

WM. SCHILZ Can still be found at the old stand, where he continues to do all kinds of Custom Work and Repairing.

BECKER & WELCH, PROPRIETORS OF SHELL CREEK MILLS.

MANUFACTURERS & WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

FLOUR AND MEAL.

OFFICE—COLUMBUS, NEB

The Columbus Journal.

VOL. XII.—NO. 8.

COLUMBUS, NEB., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1881.

WHOLE NO. 580.

I HAVE RECENTLY PURCHASED THE STOCK OF HARDWARE, STOVES, AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS!

MR. ROBERT UHLIG, And will continue the business at the old stand, where I will be pleased to see the old customers—no objection to a few new ones.

STOVES, RANGES, NAILS, PUMPS, BARBED WIRE, Agricultural Implements!

The John Deere Goods a Specialty.

PLOWS, HARROWS, RAKES.

Buckeye Cultivators, DRILLS AND SEEDERS.

CLIMAX MOWERS, ELWARD HARVESTERS AND CORD BINDERS.

EUREKA MOWERS, wide cut and lightest draft machine made.

THE OLD RELIABLE Chicago Pitts Thresher, with Steam or Horse power.

The Iron Turbine Wind Mills, The mill that stands all the storms and is always ready for action.

DAVIS, GOULD CO'S Buggies, Carriages, and Platform Spring Wagons.

which I can sell cheaper than you can go on foot. No trouble to show goods or talk prices.

It square deals and "give and let live" prices will secure a share of your patronage. I shall be pleased to receive it.

212-X GEO. D. FOSTER, Successor to R. Uhlig.

COLUMBUS STATE BANK, Successors to Good & Good and Turner & Hilt.

COLUMBUS, NEBRASKA. CASH CAPITAL, $50,000

DIRECTORS: LEANDER GERRARD, Pres't. Geo. W. Hulst, Vice Pres't.

JULIUS A. REED, EDWARD A. GERRARD, ANNER TURNER, Cashier.

Bank of Deposit, Discount and Exchange. Collections Promptly Made on all Points.

Pay Interest on Time Deposits.

AMERICAN MEDICAL & SURGICAL INSTITUTE.

Physicians and Surgeons. Consulting Physicians and Surgeons.

For the treatment of all classes of Surgery and deformities; acute and chronic diseases, diseases of the eye and ear, etc., etc.

COLUMBUS, NEB.

ANDERSON & ROEN, BANKERS, ELEVENTH ST., COLUMBUS, NEBRASKA.

Deposits received, and interest paid on time deposits.

Prompt attention given to collections and proceeds remitted on day of payment.

Passage tickets to or from European points by local lines at lowest rates.

Drafts on principal points in Europe.

REFERENCES AND CORRESPONDENTS: First National Bank, Decorah, Iowa.

Dr. A. HEINTZ, DEALER IN DRUGS, MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, WINES, LIQUORS.

Fine Soaps, Brushes, PERFUMERY, Etc., Etc.

And all articles usually kept on hand by Druggists.

Physicians Prescriptions Carefully Compounded.

Eleventh street, near Foundry, COLUMBUS, NEBRASKA

SPEICE & NORTH, Real Estate.

Union Pacific, and Midland Pacific R. R. Lands for sale at from $2,000 to $10,000 per acre for cash, or on five or ten years time, in annual payments to suit purchasers.

We have also a large and choice lot of other lands, improved and unimproved, for sale at low price and on reasonable terms.

Also business and residence lots in the city. We keep a complete abstract of title to all real estate in Platte County.

625 COLUMBUS, NEB.

HERMAN OEBLICH & BRO., WHOLESALE & RETAIL GROCERS!

ALSO DEALERS IN Crockery, Glassware, Lamps, Etc., and Country Produce of all kinds.

THE BEST OF FLOUR ALWAYS KEPT ON HAND.

GOOD GOODS FOR THE LEAST MONEY!

Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the city. Terms cash.

Corner Eleventh and Olive Streets, Columbus, Neb.

WAGONS! BUGGIES! WAGONS!

END SPRINGS, PLATFORM SPRINGS, WHITNEY & BREWSTER SIDE SPRINGS.

Light Pleasure and Business Wagons of all Descriptions.

We are pleased to invite the attention of the public to the fact that we have just received a car load of Wagons and Buggies of all descriptions, and that we are the sole agents for the counties of Platte, Butler, Boone, Madison, Merrick, Polk and York, for the celebrated

CORTLAND WAGON COMPY, of Cortland, New York, and that we are offering these wagons cheaper than any other wagon built of same material, style and finish can be sold for in this county.

Send for Catalogue and Price-list.

PHIL CAIN, Columbus, Neb.

LAW, REAL ESTATE AND GENERAL COLLECTION OFFICE BY W. S. GEER.

MONEY TO LOAN in small lots on farm property, time one to three years. Farms with some improvements bought and sold. Office for the present at the Clothier House, Columbus, Neb.

COLUMBUS Restaurant and Saloon!

E. D. SHEERAN, Proprietor.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in Foreign Wines, Liquors and Cigars, Dubonnet, Picture Frames and Mountings, Looking-glass Plates, Walnut Lumber, etc., etc.

OYSTERS in their season, by the case or by the dish.

11th Street, South of Depot

BUSINESS CARDS.

CORNELIUS & SULLIVAN, ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW, Up-stairs in Gluck Building, 11th street, Above the New bank.

JOHN J. MAUGHAN, JUSTICE OF THE PEACE AND NOTARY PUBLIC, PLATTE CENTER, NEB.

H. J. HUDSON, NOTARY PUBLIC, 12th Street, 2 doors west of Hammond House, Columbus, Neb.

D. R. M. D. THURSTON, RESIDENT DENTIST, Office over corner of 11th and North-st. All operations first-class and warranted.

CHICAGO BARBER SHOP! HENRY WOODS, Prop'r. Everything in first-class style. Also keep the best of cigars.

McALLISTER BROS., ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Office up-stairs in McAllister's building, 11th St. W. A. McAllister, Notary Public.

F. H. RUSCHE, 11th St., nearly opp. Gluck's store, Sells Harness, Saddles, Collars, Whips, Blankets, Curry Combs, Brushes, etc., at the lowest possible prices. Repair promptly attended to.

M. J. THOMPSON, NOTARY PUBLIC, And General Collection Agent, St. Edwards, Boone Co., Neb.

BYRON MILLETT, Justice of the Peace and Notary Public, BYRON MILLETT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, Columbus Nebraska, N. B.—He will give close attention to all business entrusted to him.

LOUIS SCHREIBER, BLACKSMITH AND WAGON MAKER. All kinds of repairing done on short notice. Buggies, Wagons, etc., made to order, and all work guaranteed.

Shop opposite the "Pattersall," Olive Street.

F. J. SCRUGG, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Columbus, Neb. Office—Corner of North and Eleventh Sts., up-stairs in Gluck's brick building. Consultation in German and English.

W. BURGESS, Dealer in REAL ESTATE, CONVEYANCER, COLLECTOR, AND INSURANCE AGENT, GENOA, SANCE CO., NEB.

JAMES PEARSALL, IS PREPARED, WITH FIRST-CLASS APPARATUS, To remove houses at reasonable rates. Give him a call.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS. J. E. Moncrief, Co. Supt., Will be in his office at the Court House on the first and last Saturdays of each month for the purpose of examining applicants for teacher's certificates, and for the transaction of any other business pertaining to schools.

J. S. MURDOCK & SON, Carpenters and Contractors, Have had an extended experience, and will guarantee satisfaction in work. All kinds of repairing done on short notice. Our motto is, Good work and fair prices. Call and give us an opportunity to estimate for you.

Shop on 13th St., one door west of Friedhof & Co's. store, Columbus, Neb.

WILLIAM RYAN, DEALER IN KENTUCKY WHISKIES, Wines, Ales, Cigars and Tobacco.

Schill's Milwaukee Beer constantly on hand.

ELVENTH ST., COLUMBUS, NEB.

A GOOD FARM FOR SALE, 150 acres of good land, 80 acres under cultivation, a good house one and a half story high, a good stock range, plenty of water, and good hay land. Two miles east of Columbus. Inquire at the Pioneer Bakery.

F. SCHECK, Manufacturer and Dealer in CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

ALL KINDS OF SMOKING ARTICLES. Store on Olive St., near the old Post-office Columbus Nebraska. 447-1/2

HENRY GASS, Manufacturer and dealer in Wooden and Metallic Burial Caskets.

All kinds and sizes of Robes, also has the sole right to manufacture and sell the Smith's Hammock Reclining Chair, Cabinet Turning and Scroll work, Pictures, Picture Frames and Mountings, Looking-glass Plates, Walnut Lumber, etc., etc.

COLUMBUS, NEB.

OUR NEW NEIGHBORS AT PONKAPOG.

When I saw the little house building, an eighth of a mile beyond my own, on the Old Bay Road, I wondered who were to be the tenants. The modest structure was set well back from the road, among the trees, as if the inmates were to care nothing whatever for a view of the stylish equipages which sweep by during the summer season.

For my part, I like to see them passing, in town or country; but each has his own taste. The proprietor, who seemed to be also the architect of the new house, superintended the various details of the work with an assiduity that gave me a high opinion of his intelligence and executive ability, and I congratulated myself on the prospect of having some very agreeable neighbors.

It was quite early in the spring, if I remember, when they moved into the cottage—a newly married couple, evidently; the wife very young, pretty and with the air of a lady; the husband somewhat older, but still in the first flush of manhood. It was understood in the village that they came from Baltimore; but no one knew them personally, and they brought no letters of introduction. (For obvious reasons I refrain from mentioning names.)

It was clear that, for the present at least, their own company was entirely sufficient for them. They made no advances toward the acquaintance of any of the families in the neighborhood, and consequently were left to themselves. That, apparently was what they desired, and why they came to Ponkapog. For after its black bass and wild duck and teal, solitude is the chief staple of Ponkapog. Perhaps its perfect rural loveliness should be included. Lying high up under the wing of the Blue Hills, and in the odorous breath of pines and cedars, it chances to be the most enchanting bit of genuine country within 50 miles of Boston, which, moreover, can be reached in half an hour's ride by railway.

But the nearest railway station (Heaven be praised!) is two miles distant, and the seclusion is without a flaw. Ponkapog has one mail a day; two mails a day would render the place uninhabitable. The village—it looks like a compact village at a distance, but unravels and disappears the moment you drive into it—has quite a large floating population. I do not allude to the perch and pickerel. Along the Old Bay Road, a highway even in the colonial days, there are a number of attractive cottages straggling toward Milton, which are occupied for the summer by people from the city. These birds of passage are a distinct class from the permanent inhabitants, and the two seldom closely assimilate unless there has been some previous connection. It seemed to me that our new neighbors were to come under the head of permanent inhabitants; they had built their own house, and had the air of intending to live in it all the year round.

'Are you not going to call on them?' I asked my wife one morning. 'When they call on us,' she replied lightly. 'But it is our place to call first, they being strangers.'

This was said as seriously as the circumstances demanded; but my wife turned it off with a laugh, and I said no more, always trusting to her intuitions in these matters. She was right. She would not have been received, and a cool 'not at home' would have been a bitter social pill to us if we had gone out of our way to be courteous.

I saw a great deal of our neighbors, nevertheless. Their cottage lay between us and the post-office; where he was never to be met by any chance—and I caught frequently glimpses of the two working in the garden. Floriculture did not appear so much an object as exercise. Possibly it was neither; maybe they were engaged in digging for specimens of those arrowheads and flint hatchets which are continually coming to the surface hereabouts. There is scarcely an acre in which the plowshare has not turned up some primitive stone weapon or domestic utensil, disdaintfully left to us by the red men who once held the domain—an ancient tribe called the Punky-pogs, a forlorn descendant of which, one Polly Cook, figures in the annual Blue Book, down to the close of the Southern war, as a State pensioner. I quote from the local historian.

When I saw the little house building, an eighth of a mile beyond my own, on the Old Bay Road, I wondered who were to be the tenants. The modest structure was set well back from the road, among the trees, as if the inmates were to care nothing whatever for a view of the stylish equipages which sweep by during the summer season.

For my part, I like to see them passing, in town or country; but each has his own taste. The proprietor, who seemed to be also the architect of the new house, superintended the various details of the work with an assiduity that gave me a high opinion of his intelligence and executive ability, and I congratulated myself on the prospect of having some very agreeable neighbors.

It was quite early in the spring, if I remember, when they moved into the cottage—a newly married couple, evidently; the wife very young, pretty and with the air of a lady; the husband somewhat older, but still in the first flush of manhood. It was understood in the village that they came from Baltimore; but no one knew them personally, and they brought no letters of introduction. (For obvious reasons I refrain from mentioning names.)

It was clear that, for the present at least, their own company was entirely sufficient for them. They made no advances toward the acquaintance of any of the families in the neighborhood, and consequently were left to themselves. That, apparently was what they desired, and why they came to Ponkapog. For after its black bass and wild duck and teal, solitude is the chief staple of Ponkapog. Perhaps its perfect rural loveliness should be included. Lying high up under the wing of the Blue Hills, and in the odorous breath of pines and cedars, it chances to be the most enchanting bit of genuine country within 50 miles of Boston, which, moreover, can be reached in half an hour's ride by railway.

But the nearest railway station (Heaven be praised!) is two miles distant, and the seclusion is without a flaw. Ponkapog has one mail a day; two mails a day would render the place uninhabitable. The village—it looks like a compact village at a distance, but unravels and disappears the moment you drive into it—has quite a large floating population. I do not allude to the perch and pickerel. Along the Old Bay Road, a highway even in the colonial days, there are a number of attractive cottages straggling toward Milton, which are occupied for the summer by people from the city. These birds of passage are a distinct class from the permanent inhabitants, and the two seldom closely assimilate unless there has been some previous connection. It seemed to me that our new neighbors were to come under the head of permanent inhabitants; they had built their own house, and had the air of intending to live in it all the year round.

'Are you not going to call on them?' I asked my wife one morning. 'When they call on us,' she replied lightly. 'But it is our place to call first, they being strangers.'

This was said as seriously as the circumstances demanded; but my wife turned it off with a laugh, and I said no more, always trusting to her intuitions in these matters. She was right. She would not have been received, and a cool 'not at home' would have been a bitter social pill to us if we had gone out of our way to be courteous.

I saw a great deal of our neighbors, nevertheless. Their cottage lay between us and the post-office; where he was never to be met by any chance—and I caught frequently glimpses of the two working in the garden. Floriculture did not appear so much an object as exercise. Possibly it was neither; maybe they were engaged in digging for specimens of those arrowheads and flint hatchets which are continually coming to the surface hereabouts. There is scarcely an acre in which the plowshare has not turned up some primitive stone weapon or domestic utensil, disdaintfully left to us by the red men who once held the domain—an ancient tribe called the Punky-pogs, a forlorn descendant of which, one Polly Cook, figures in the annual Blue Book, down to the close of the Southern war, as a State pensioner. I quote from the local historian.

When I saw the little house building, an eighth of a mile beyond my own, on the Old Bay Road, I wondered who were to be the tenants. The modest structure was set well back from the road, among the trees, as if the inmates were to care nothing whatever for a view of the stylish equipages which sweep by during the summer season.

When I saw the little house building, an eighth of a mile beyond my own, on the Old Bay Road, I wondered who were to be the tenants. The modest structure was set well back from the road, among the trees, as if the inmates were to care nothing whatever for a view of the stylish equipages which sweep by during the summer season.

For my part, I like to see them passing, in town or country; but each has his own taste. The proprietor, who seemed to be also the architect of the new house, superintended the various details of the work with an assiduity that gave me a high opinion of his intelligence and executive ability, and I congratulated myself on the prospect of having some very agreeable neighbors.

It was quite early in the spring, if I remember, when they moved into the cottage—a newly married couple, evidently; the wife very young, pretty and with the air of a lady; the husband somewhat older, but still in the first flush of manhood. It was understood in the village that they came from Baltimore; but no one knew them personally, and they brought no letters of introduction. (For obvious reasons I refrain from mentioning names.)

It was clear that, for the present at least, their own company was entirely sufficient for them. They made no advances toward the acquaintance of any of the families in the neighborhood, and consequently were left to themselves. That, apparently was what they desired, and why they came to Ponkapog. For after its black bass and wild duck and teal, solitude is the chief staple of Ponkapog. Perhaps its perfect rural loveliness should be included. Lying high up under the wing of the Blue Hills, and in the odorous breath of pines and cedars, it chances to be the most enchanting bit of genuine country within 50 miles of Boston, which, moreover, can be reached in half an hour's ride by railway.

But the nearest railway station (Heaven be praised!) is two miles distant, and the seclusion is without a flaw. Ponkapog has one mail a day; two mails a day would render the place uninhabitable. The village—it looks like a compact village at a distance, but unravels and disappears the moment you drive into it—has quite a large floating population. I do not allude to the perch and pickerel. Along the Old Bay Road, a highway even in the colonial days, there are a number of attractive cottages straggling toward Milton, which are occupied for the summer by people from the city. These birds of passage are a distinct class from the permanent inhabitants, and the two seldom closely assimilate unless there has been some previous connection. It seemed to me that our new neighbors were to come under the head of permanent inhabitants; they had built their own house, and had the air of intending to live in it all the year round.

'Are you not going to call on them?' I asked my wife one morning. 'When they call on us,' she replied lightly. 'But it is our place to call first, they being strangers.'

This was said as seriously as the circumstances demanded; but my wife turned it off with a laugh, and I said no more, always trusting to her intuitions in these matters. She was right. She would not have been received, and a cool 'not at home' would have been a bitter social pill to us if we had gone out of our way to be courteous.

I saw a great deal of our neighbors, nevertheless. Their cottage lay between us and the post-office; where he was never to be met by any chance—and I caught frequently glimpses of the two working in the garden. Floriculture did not appear so much an object as exercise. Possibly it was neither; maybe they were engaged in digging for specimens of those arrowheads and flint hatchets which are continually coming to the surface hereabouts. There is scarcely an acre in which the plowshare has not turned up some primitive stone weapon or domestic utensil, disdaintfully left to us by the red men who once held the domain—an ancient tribe called the Punky-pogs, a forlorn descendant of which, one Polly Cook, figures in the annual Blue Book, down to the close of the Southern war, as a State pensioner. I quote from the local historian.

When I saw the little house building, an eighth of a mile beyond my own, on the Old Bay Road, I wondered who were to be the tenants. The modest structure was set well back from the road, among the trees, as if the inmates were to care nothing whatever for a view of the stylish equipages which sweep by during the summer season.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Table with columns for space, time, and rate. Includes rates for 100 lines, 100 lines, 100 lines, etc.

THE SLIM TEACHER.

How He Managed the School at Cranberry Gulch.

'Mister, no doubt you have all the learnin' that's required in a school teacher, but it wants more than learnin' to make a man able to teach school in Cranberry Gulch. You'll soon find that out if you try. We've had three who tried it on. One lays there in the graveyard; another lost his eye and left; the last one opened school and left before noon time for the benefit of his health. He hasn't been back since. Now you're a slender build, and all your learnin' will only make it worse, for all our young folks are roughs and don't stand no nonsense.'

'This was what one of the trustees of the district said to my friend Harry Flotee, when he made application for the vacant position of teacher. 'Let me try. I know I am slender, but I am tough and I have a strong will,' said Harry. 'Just as you like. There's the school-house, and I'll have notice given if you want it done,' said the trustee. 'I do,' said Harry, 'and I'll open next Monday at 9 a. m.'

THE KANSAS CYCLONE.

Details of the Swath of Death and Destruction. EUELINGAME, KAN., June 14.—The cyclone in this county was more serious than telegraphed from Topeka yesterday. Could not send from here on account of wires being in bad order.

The cyclone first formed between Arvonia and Olivet. It then passed northwest, going out of the county in the direction of Pomeroy, Franklin county. In its course it killed five persons, including John Rosenberger, John Harper, a man named Brown, two colored children and a person whose name has not been learned. Fifty houses are known to be destroyed and undoubtedly many others. These were all farm houses in an old settled country, and many of them fine residences.

At Quenemo the Presbyterian church was destroyed, and one other building. Of the first twenty-seven buildings destroyed, a majority were upon opposite sides of a road leading from the west into Quenemo. The road divides two school districts, and all the families were absent attending their Sunday schools, which accounts for the saving of life in that section. There are a large number badly hurt. The citizens in buildings uninjured turned out, and all are comfortably cared for. The loss of property is enormous, but cannot be safely estimated.

One instance of the cyclone will give some idea of it. At the residence of H. M. Austin, Mr. Enos Hammond had just driven up and hitched his team. Mr. Austin had an underground cellar away from the house into which he sent his family. Austin and Hammond remained at the house, seeing the storm funnel coming directly for the house both he and Hammond tried to reach the cellar, but failed. Austin fell under the hedge and hung on to the roots. Hammond fell at a fence post and hung to it. The wind thrashed the ground with him several times, but he and Austin escaped with only bruises. Hammond's buggy went with the house and had entirely disappeared. The two horses remained hitched to the post uninjured.

For fifteen miles through the most densely settled and best part of Osage county the cyclone cut a swath of desolation and death. Entire farms have been stripped of buildings, cattle and much of the vegetation. At one place, only a piece of tire a foot long and a hub were left of a lumber wagon. OSAGE COUNTY, KAN., June 14.—A careful examination of the portion of the country traversed by Sunday's cyclone discloses the fact that about fifty houses were destroyed, with all other buildings, orchards and crops. The wheat in the stack is totally destroyed, and the corn badly damaged. Probably the number wounded will not exceed thirty or forty—some dangerously and not expected to live. The total loss to the people of this county will not be less than $200,000. While many families are left wholly destitute, only three persons were killed outright.

After a state election in New York in which the Republican party was defeated, Mr. Lincoln was asked how he felt after having heard the news. He replied: 'Somewhat like the boy in Kentucky who stubbed his toe while running to see his sweetheart. He said he was too big to cry and too badly hurt to laugh.'

From that day on Harry kept school for two years in Cranberry Gulch, his salary doubled after the first quarter, and his pupils learned to love as well as to respect him, and the revolvers were out of sight within a month. They had found a man at last who could keep school. This is a fact—San Francisco Chronicle.