

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

For Supreme Judge, SAMUEL MAXWELL. For University Regents, L. B. FIFIELD, ISAAC POWERS.

Republican County Ticket.

For Sheriff, A. J. ARNOLD. For Treasurer, J. W. EARLY. For Commissioner, H. J. HUDSON. For Auditor, I. J. CRAMER.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction, E. D. MONCRIEF.

For Coroner, S. A. BONESTEEL.

Republican Precinct Ticket.

Assessor, GUS G. BECHER. Constables, JOHN HUBER, HENRY WOODS.

Justices of the Peace, BYRON MILLET, W. M. CORNELIUS.

Road Supervisors, DIST. I, G. W. WESCOTT, "II, JOHN E. GODFREY, "III, A. E. CAMPBELL.

Judges of Election, Wm. BURGESS, J. S. SHOTWELL, HENRY RAGATZ.

Clerks of Election, D. N. MINER, HENRY HOCKENBERGER.

A. F. COON has been confirmed as postmaster at David City.

When the cabinet making is done with we will publish results.

SENATOR VAN WYCK'S children were buried at Milford, Pennsylvania, on the 24th.

NORTH PLATTE is doing a very sensible thing in the organization of a library association.

A SPECIAL TERM of the supreme court of this state is to be held Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 3 p. m.

GENERAL MANAGER Touzain of the B. & M. R. R. in Nebraska has been elected first vice president of the C. B. & Q.

An appropriate collection of the literary remains of Gen. Garfield, is to be published at the earliest practicable time.

EX-GOV. MORGAN of New York has declined a cabinet position—secretary of the treasury, on account of his private business being so exacting.

MISS HOBNETT of Ballydechole, Ireland, was arrested under the coercion act on the 24th, for persisting in exhibiting the "no rent" manifesto in the window of her house.

PROF. KING and his companion, the balloonists, came down all safe enough, and have got back to civilization. Their voyage is interesting enough to publish in the JOURNAL next week.

THE Nebraska Farmer thinks that Senator Van Wyck made a serious mistake in delivering a political address at the State Fair, instead of an agricultural address. So far, the General seems to have been a successful political farmer at least.

THE Centennial celebration of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown has been engaging the attention of the dailies for the last week. Our local affairs have been so crowding on our columns this week that we can barely mention outside matters.

FR MR. S. B. GALEY should make enough out of his Fremont and Lincoln railroad bond scheme to pay us what he owes on subscription to this paper, and if, after having made the money he would pay us, we should be pleased, but disappointed.—Omaha Republican.

Two Good Appointments.

Two citizens of Lincoln were appointed yesterday by the President to federal positions. Hon. Charles W. Pierce was appointed to be register of the land office at Lincoln and Chas. H. Gould, now of the Lincoln postoffice, to be receiver of public moneys at Miles City, Montana. The friends of these two gentlemen will rejoice at their good fortune. The appointments are deserving and have been worthily bestowed.

Our Precinct Ticket.

The Republicans of Columbus precinct, on Monday afternoon last, met at the Court House, organized a caucus board, held the polls open until five o'clock, nominating an excellent ticket, which will be found elsewhere in to-day's JOURNAL. There was no particular contest except over the justices, and B. Millett and W. M. Cornelius received the great body of the votes cast.

It is no use whatever to say that Byron Millett will make a most excellent justice, understanding the law, and applying it as impartially as he can, and applying it to the comparative value of property in the precinct, is patient, agreeable, affable, (always three good qualities in those who serve the public) and will, as he has done, give general satisfaction in the discharge of his duties.

John Haber and Henry Woods, the constables, are men who take a personal pride in honoring with faithful service the stations of trust to which their fellow-citizens have called them. Not wealthy, in the common usage of that word, they yet have that independent mind which wealth cannot buy. Their duty plainly laid down, they are things well," soothe and comfort them, for human condolence at such a time is wholly inadequate. Having buried their oldest daughter at Milford, Pa., Mrs. Van Wyck's name, it was decided to take the remains of the other two there for burial. A short and appropriate funeral service was held at the parents' home yesterday afternoon, Rev. Robert Cleland officiating. When the family and remains reached this city the senator was notified by Mr. Derrum, C. B. & Q. agent, that, owing to the strict sanitary law of Iowa the company would be obliged to refuse him transportation; after a consultation of friends the senator decided to inter his loved ones in Wyuka cemetery for the present. Dr. Brown very kindly offered the hospitality of his home, and the funeral will take place from there to-morrow.—Neb. City Press.

Do We Harbor Villains?

Last week we made mention of the capture of a horse thief here by Chief of Police McMahon. Judge Riley of Albion was on that day in the interest of his son-in-law, who had paid out money for one of the stolen horses. He obtained the money, and claims that he was made the victim of a conspiracy, by which he came near being placed in the hands of a band of thieves. We quote from the Albion Argus of Oct. 21st, and call upon the Judge to name the men engaged in the affair: "When he was about leaving for home he was approached by a party whom he had seen several times during the day, but was a stranger, and invited to go in one of the saloons and have a glass of beer. The Judge, desirous of sustaining the good old English custom, and withal being of a social disposition and not wholly adverse to the beverage, consented. Almost immediately after taking the beer he began to feel deadly sick and drowsy, and he became convinced that he had been drugged. He hastened to the Albion train and fortunately reached it before he became unconscious. He remained in a dead stupor for hours, and had been in the hands of those who planned and perpetrated the outrage, he would undoubtedly have fared badly financially, as they were evidently after the money they knew he had on his person."

Genoc.

Go away for news, is illustrated by several instances this week. It was well known to our citizens that D. C. Loveland had been engaged with the Union Pacific Co., but it seems to have been generally believed here that, after being discharged, he was reinstated in work for the Company in the west somewhere. That idea was given forth, but we cannot find that there is any truth in it. The Omaha Herald of the 16th contained the following paragraph: "Something of a sensation was created in the district court yesterday when through some 'informality' in calling the list of indictments, the name of D. C. Loveland indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses was proclaimed. District Attorney Burnham answered: Continued for arrest, and the next case was called. Precisely what the charge is based upon cannot of course be known until D. C. Loveland has been employed in the right-of-way or claim agent by the Union Pacific railway, which is presumed to have brought the charge before the grand jury. The sum is reported to be $1,200. Loveland was a member of the legislature of 1878-9, as float representative from Platte and Colfax counties. He was formerly one of the firm of Loveland & Ellis of Columbus."

It is rumored here that Mr. Loveland is at work at Butte City, Montana, at his carpenter trade; that he has gone to the British possessions; and that he has been placed under arrest. At this writing, we cannot ascertain the true state of affairs concerning his whereabouts. We are very sorry to be compelled, even as a matter of news, to refer to the case, as Mr. Loveland is a man of generous impulses, and, if he has fallen into evil ways, all his old friends will be sorry to hear of it. We could hope that there is some redeeming feature in the prosecution.

Our Precinct Ticket.

The Republicans of Columbus precinct, on Monday afternoon last, met at the Court House, organized a caucus board, held the polls open until five o'clock, nominating an excellent ticket, which will be found elsewhere in to-day's JOURNAL. There was no particular contest except over the justices, and B. Millett and W. M. Cornelius received the great body of the votes cast.

It is no use whatever to say that Byron Millett will make a most excellent justice, understanding the law, and applying it as impartially as he can, and applying it to the comparative value of property in the precinct, is patient, agreeable, affable, (always three good qualities in those who serve the public) and will, as he has done, give general satisfaction in the discharge of his duties.

John Haber and Henry Woods, the constables, are men who take a personal pride in honoring with faithful service the stations of trust to which their fellow-citizens have called them. Not wealthy, in the common usage of that word, they yet have that independent mind which wealth cannot buy. Their duty plainly laid down, they are the men who will discharge it fearlessly. Wescott, Godfrey and Campbell are good selections. A road supervisor should be promptly at hand to put things to rights; to do it so well that it will stay for awhile, and at such a reasonable price that more work can be done on the roads. Burgess, Shotwell and Ragatz as judges of election, will hold the scales even, giving every man his just due, while Miner and Hockenberger will make a clear and faithful record. As we said before, the ticket is an excellent one, and will add strength to the county ticket for this precinct.

Commissioners Proceedings.

THURSDAY, Oct. 13th, 1881. Pursuant to adjournment, the board of county commissioners met on Thursday, October 13th, 1881, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Roll called, present John Wise, chairman of the board of commissioners; Michael Maher and Joseph Rivet and John Stauffer, clerk.

Minutes of meetings October 4th and 10th, were now read and approved.

On motion the clerk was instructed to not advertise for the building of a bridge across Still Creek near Platte Center until further orders the board. Board took a recess until 1 o'clock p. m.

At 1 o'clock, all present. List of personal property taxes uncollectible was referred back to treasurer for a more definite statement, and the county treasurer was instructed to have the same prepared on or before October 25th, next, in alphabetical order.

On motion the contract with Adolf Jaeggi for jailors residence was cancelled after October 1st, 1881.

The following bills were allowed and the clerk instructed to draw warrants therefor on general fund levy of 1881, to-wit:

GENERAL FUND. Adolf Jaeggi house rent for jailors residence, $30.00

Adolf Jaeggi, work for sheriff, 6.00

Joseph Rivet, services as county com., 31.00

Mrs. Hamer, boarding Chas. 31.50

John W. Gaffly, treasurer, cash expended for county, 46.35

On motion the action taken by this board, October 4th, 1881, in regard to paying Stephen Robinson $1,283.96 in balance due on loan for bridge, was not recinded, said warrant not having been drawn or delivered yet, the clerk was on this motion instructed to draw a warrant on general fund levy of 1881, in favor of said Stephen Robinson for said sum of $1,283.96 as balance of payment for said loan for bridge.

Commissioners Maher and Rivet voting "yes"; commissioner Wise voting "no."

Contract was let to Stephen Robinson to drive piles for the repair of Jackson bridge, 24 piles, 12 cents per cubic foot.

Adjourned till Tuesday, Oct. 25th, 1881, at 10 o'clock.

JOHN STAUFFER, Clerk.

Platte Center.

Several accidents have occurred in and near this neighborhood lately. The JOURNAL of last week made mention of that which befel our townsman Jos. Tasker, who is around again at his business, a little worse looking temporarily, but just as good as ever.

Rev. A. Heurich was thrown from his vehicle lately and run over, but is now doing as well as could be expected.

Dr. Blair, who is engaged with Dr. Wm. Edwards in the drug store, while crossing the bridge on a dark night lately, stepped off on one side, there being no railing, and was precipitated a distance down of fifteen feet.

Dr. Edwards has tended all these injured men, and they have done jno. to his treatment.

Jno. Timothy is building a new dwelling house.

Wm. Bloedhorn has put up a large building for agricultural machinery. It is men of this kind who add to the value of a town, bringing customers from a distance.

By the way, and it is just about as good an item as I can close this letter with, we need another grain buyer. I don't say this because of any personal feeling I have in the matter, but it looks to me as though wheat etc, shouldn't go right past our doors down to Columbus. We know that a very considerable portion of money is left in a place by those who sell their wheat, and we feel that we ought to have the advantage of that kind of dealing. Besides, wholesome competition is the life of business.

CAUSTIC.

October 22d, 1881.

Nebraska.

When farmers can bring a load of forty bushels of corn and carry home $20 it doesn't look as though the people were going to starve.—Fremont Tribune.

Wm. Imlay has manufactured this season 1,000 gallons of sorghum of excellent quality. Our farmers would find it profitable to raise enough for their own use.—Seward Blade.

V. Deich has five acres of potatoes that will go 150 bushels to the acre. They are the Early Vermont and Beauty of Hebron. He has already dug some that will weigh two pounds.—York Republican.

So far as we can learn, there have been no fatal cases of pink-eye horse disease in this city. There were two cases at McCull's dairy, one at Mike Daily's stable. The disease is a sort of influenza, from which the eye becomes of a reddish color—hence the name.—Lincoln Globe.

A sad accident occurred recently near Manchester on the Middle Loup. A Swede, in company with his little girl, was hauling wood from a canyon when the oxen, by some means, overturned the load upon them. The man's back was broken and the unfortunate girl was buried under the load with her face in the sand, and was dead when found. The man has since died.

At the last meeting of the board of education it was ordered that the superintendent be instructed not to allow any children to attend school who are members of families where there is diphtheria. Also that all teachers visiting families of which any member thereof are sick with the diphtheria or have attended funerals where death has occurred from diphtheria are hereby forbidden to attend their schools until they have been thoroughly disinfectured.—Nebraska City News.

John N. Reynolds, who has been east some days on business, a package of which was to purchase a press and fixtures for a new paper at Fullerton, returned Monday evening. Mr. Reynolds purchased his press and outfit of S. P. Rounds, of Chicago, and expects its arrival this week. We greet you, friend Reynolds, as a member of the editorial fraternity. May you be as successful in your new enterprise as you are in every other you have undertaken.—Genoa Leader.

A party while out hunting on the Dismal River north of here, sustained the loss of a member who has not been heard from as yet. The party was in camp, and the member went out after some deer. He killed two, and is supposed that he followed some others into the sand hills, and becoming bewildered, lost his bearing. The party instituted a rigid search for him, but it was fruitless. It is believed that he can get no water in the sand hills, he has probably died ere this.—North Platte Telegraph.

A little daughter of Mr. Ramsey was enticed on a wagon by a man named Hunt, and brutally outraged. The child at last accounts was in a critical condition, not expected to live. The brute is married and has a wife living somewhere in Iowa. He was arrested and taken before Justice Kleitzig at Blue Springs and discharged on account of some technical defect in the papers. This is a most cruel and outrageous offense and tries the patience of our citizens, and there is talk of lynching the scoundrel.—Wymore Reporter.

This week Mr. C. Christensen bought of Albert Bergers, who lives near Humboldt, 230 bushels of butter in one lot. This butter was the product of about thirty cows for the past three months, and it was of good uniform color and in fine condition. Mr. and Mrs. Bergers understand the art of buttering, and their butter is of the most important, the art of keeping it after it is made. They have no refrigerator or patent appliances, but have kept their butter cool and in splendid condition during all the hot weather. It is unnecessary to say that a farmer like Mr. Bergers raises good crops—he has a fine crop of corn this year. The Herald likes to encourage just such thrift and enterprise as this.—Fremont Herald.

Prepare for Winter.

This subject, like a good story, will stand repeating. And yet in spite of our frequent warnings there will no doubt be much suffering among stock on account of insufficient shelter and poor condition of animals. Our stock don't happen to be provided with an extra overcoat or pair of blankets, consequently it behooves us to furnish them with protection from the cold winter blasts. To do this is not only humane but it pays. No man ever failed to shelter his stock had been tailed through the winter. It takes good care to make good stock, and a great part of the good care consists in good shelter.

Not long since one of our largest feeders told me that he found it much more profitable to shelter his fattening stock and keep them growing during the winter, and then when warm weather and grass come, begin fattening, by feeding plenty of corn, than to feed the corn during cold weather.

Caves and yearlings should not be allowed to run with the older cattle, but should have separate sheds where the entrance is only large enough for them to go through, but not large enough for the older ones to enter. They should have plenty of oats and good hay before them at least every day, with an occasional feed of oil-cake. Money spent in this way brings good returns. The same treatment should also be given colts. Allow all kinds of stock the range of the stock field during the day, but when night comes see that they are properly sheltered.—Nebraska Farmer.

Telegraphic Summary.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE. JACKSON, Amador Co., Cal., Oct. 20.—The residence of N. Jellicott, one mile from here, was destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock this morning, and all the inmates, consisting of Jellicott, his wife, and two children, a girl 2 years old and an infant 6 months old, perished. Jellicott's remains were found with the infant within a foot of the kitchen door. He had apparently suffocated while trying to escape with the infant in his arms. The bodies of his wife and eldest child were found close together by the bed-room window, the bodies burnt to a cinder. Four men were sleeping within a few yards, but could do nothing for the inmates. The fire is believed to have been accidental.

POOR CROPS AND RAIN. MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Oct. 19. The continued rain of the past two weeks has been a great drawback to farmers in their fall work. There is yet a large amount of small grain to thresh, while no plowing has been done at all.

Most of the corn would do to gather if it were dry enough to crib, but will not be for at least a week or two of good weather. Crops of all kinds have been very poor this year, and now wet weather bids fair to spoil what little has been raised.

MAJORITIES IN OHIO. CINCINNATI, Oct. 21.—Foster's official majority in Hamilton county is 3,551. Other majorities range from 1,789 to 4,795. Ludlow, temperance candidate for governor, received 487 votes.

EDITORS SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY. NEWTON, N. J., Oct. 21.—Two editors, for confessed libel, were sentenced to ten and six months in the penitentiary with hard labor respectively. WILLING TO SUBMIT TO ARBITRATION. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Garrett, of the Baltimore and Ohio, says he is willing to submit the d. m. r. r. lines to the arbitration of Chas. Francis Adams, Edgar S. Wells and John O. Wright.

THE MICHIGAN RELIEF FUND.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—To date the Michigan relief commission has received $108,128 in money. Thirty thousand more has gone direct from individuals, $75,000 worth of goods and supplies have been forwarded.

HOLDING A CORPSE FOR RANSOM.

IOWA CITY, Oct. 21.—There is great excitement here this afternoon over a landlord threatening to hold a corpse in a poor family for rent, and sell it for dissection. The landlord is threatened with mob law.

MURDERED HIS WIFE.

ST. LOUIS, October 21.—Sanford Noe, a brutal wife beater, near Greenville, Ill., whipped his wife unmercifully, after which she took refuge at a neighbor's. The following day she was murdered by her husband at his own residence. He stabbed her three times with a dirk and then escaped toward the river.

A DEFAMER KILLED.

GREENVILLE, Miss., October 21.—L. L. Love, who, in a publication, impeached the virtue of a young lady just married to Mr. Laur at West Point, Miss., was killed this morning by Laur.

A LITTLE LONGER TO LIVE.

AUGUSTA, Georgia, October 21.—Sung Ahmoot, colored, sentenced to be hanged in Crawfordsville to-day for the murder of Mr. Ellington last March, was reprieved until November 28th, when he may have been arrested charged with complicity.

A BREAK IN THE SNY LEVEE.

ST. LOUIS, October 21.—A Hannibal dispatch says: A break in the Sny levee is reported fifteen miles below here, through which the water is rushing in tremendous volume. The break in the levee on Railroad travel is greatly impeded. The Keokuk and St. Louis railway has abandoned all trains to Hannibal.

A Warsaw special says: The water fell one and a half inches last evening. The break in the levee a few miles below here enlarged to near 200 feet. Nearly all corn in the bottom is in water.

COAL MINERS KILLED.

MAHONEY CITY, Pa., October 21.—A fall of top coal killed Thos. and Jno. Ward and seriously injured two others.

FLOODS.

We clip the two following dispatches of the 23d, as samples showing the extent of the floods along the Mississippi river: QUINCY, Ill.—Refugees from the submerged district continue to arrive in Quincy, many of them having left everything and fled from their homes. Another break occurred in the Sny levee ten miles below Hannibal yesterday afternoon, adding to the general destruction. No trains have crossed the bridge at Quincy to-day excepting the St. Joseph, all the tracks on the Missouri side being under water. The flood is now thought to be at its height.

Burlington, Ia.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St. Louis, Mo.—Contrary to all expectations the river has rose two inches within the past twenty hours and is now within six inches of high water mark of June, 1880. Many merchants on Front and Valley streets have been compelled to remove goods from their cellars.

St