Brader, grocer; Thos. Heinbine, machinist; Joseph Pratler, commission merchant. The opinion is expressed that, generally speaking, it is a good, average jury.

After the jury was sworn Col. A number of witnesses were examined relative to the shooting, but no one related the fact that we remember of seeing Guiteau fire the shots-but that makes no material difference, as he admits that he shot at the dead president, but denies that he killed him.

A section of the spinal column of the assassin's victim was brought into court and offered in evidence, which created quite a sensation. Dr. D. W. Bliss was on the stand, and his testimony was continued in identifying the spine, and on other Pleuro-Pneumonia.

Of course anything which touches upon the general question of stock, will be of concern to many of our Nebraska readers, as this is their greatest moneyed interest.

Our state has seen many losses on account of severe storms when and also from disease, contagious and otherwise, but so far, the mortality has been very light compared with eastern states. These paragraphs are written to call and fix the attention of our readers upon the fact that sister states have realized the importance of protecting themselves against the importation of diseased cattle, and that it becomes Nebraskans to do what they can in the same direction.

Gov. Cullom of Illinois has issued proclamation in pursuance of an act of the General Assembly of that state entitled "An act to suppress and prevent the spread of pleuro-pneumonia among cattle," approved May 31st. He states therein that he has good reason to believe that pleuropneumonia has become epidemic in certain localities of the states of Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, mentioning the particular counties, and as required by the act, proceeds to prohibit the importation of any domistic animal of the bovine species into Illinois from the infected districts named, unless accompaerly signed by a duly authorized of attempting to blackmail Jay veterinary inspector.
