

Communications, to insure insertion in the next issue, should be in hand on Monday; if length, on Thursday preceding issue-day. Advertisements of whatever class, should be in hand by noon, Tuesday.

Advertisements under this head five cents a line first insertion, 40 cents a line each subsequent insertion.

—Insure of Becher & Co. 2
—Penelope Saturday night.
—George Lehman went to Omaha yesterday.

—The Gazette has completed its first volume.
—Plenty of money to loan at Becher & Co's.

—Harry Magoon, of Fullerton, was in town last week.
—The editor of the JOURNAL was off office duties Tuesday.

—Mrs. Wilson is fast recovering from her illness of last week.
—Penelope is immense, and My Neighbor's Wife is "immense."

—Dr. McAllister returned to the city Tuesday last from a trip east.
—At Brandt's restaurant, a warm meal for one dime. Don't forget it.

—Several young men of the city will depart for the west early in the spring.
—Tommy Stewart arrived in the city from Rochester, N. Y., Sunday evening.

—Sup't. Moncrief started for Illinois this morning to be gone a couple of weeks.
—A snow set in here Sunday night, with slight wind from the northwest.

—Sup't. Moncrief will hold an examination in Columbus on March 11th, at his office.
—Plenty of old papers in bundles of ten each, for five cents a bundle, at the JOURNAL office.

—It is reported that a new, two-story brick depot is to be erected in the spring by the U. P. Co.
—A. M. Post and Judge Higgins were in attendance on the Supreme Court at Lincoln last week.

—Dr. Wilson has been suffering with sore eyes for some time, but they appear to be improving.
—Mrs. Will Rickly was visiting Mrs. Calloway in Butler county last week and returned on Saturday.

—All persons holding tickets for Penelope and My Neighbor's Wife, can present them Saturday night.
—J. W. Temple's stock sale on account of the storm Monday has been postponed to Monday, Feb. 27.

—Don't you forget that Ernst, Schwarz & Co. are selling heating stoves at cost, to close out their stock.
—Fred Meyer was down from Albion Saturday. He says that Dr. Lewis of that place was recently married.

—Services this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Grace church (D. V.). The first of the Lenten season, the rector officiating.
—We understand that the Opera House is soon to be enlarged and refitted, a very much needed improvement.

—John Newman and Louis Peterson, accompanied by a friend, gave the JOURNAL office a pleasant visit Friday evening.
—The snow is not even enough for good sleighing. Guy Baruum's cutter, however, did climb the ridges nicely Tuesday.

—Jno. Huber, auctioneer, tells us that the thoroughbred bulls at Corbin's sale Saturday last brought an average of $81 a head.
—To-night the Hook & Ladder boys give their eighth annual ball at the Opera House. Turn out and give them a full house.

—Frank Burke and Charley Clark, better known as the "Alabama Team," gave the JOURNAL boys a pleasant call Friday last.
—All stock raisers are ready to improve their stock as soon as their means will justify them in purchasing thoroughbred males.

—The B. & M. R. R., known as the "Burlington Route," offers special advantages to travelers. See advertisement in this paper.
—Anybody wanting choice Timothy or Hungarian seed, call at Wm. Becker's store. It is an excellent quality of seed.

—Remember that those who subscribe for the JOURNAL paying one year in advance, get Kendall's Treatise on the horse and his diseases.
—There will be an adjourned meeting of the citizens interested in the organization of a library, and reading room association this (Wednesday) evening.

—Messrs. Saunders & Crossland have purchased thirty-eight cows in Missouri, all good, graded stock, mostly three-quarter blood, which will be here in a few days.
—Anybody wanting harrows or plows, call at Wm. Becker's where you can buy very cheap. Come soon, as they are selling fast.

—The opera house was filled to overflowing on the occasion of the performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," last Friday night. That building certainly ought to be enlarged.
—All who have paid their subscription to the JOURNAL for the year 1882 are entitled to a copy of Kendall's treatise on the horse and his diseases, in either English or German.

—On account of the severe storm Monday night the entertainment which was to have been given that night was postponed until Saturday evening, Feb. 25th.

—The Seward Reporter makes mention of Dr. Polley and O. H. Archer, of this city, sojourning there, the latter nursing the rheumatism, the former visiting his son Ed.

—Rev. J. W. Little of the Presbyterian Church is delivering a series of sermons on the Parable of the good Samaritan. His evening discourses will be devoted to the above theme.

—Old farmers say that the snow now falling is just what is needed for the crops. It is well known that snow is an excellent manure, besides giving the proper degree of moisture to the land.

—An application has been made for the appointment of a guardian for Mrs. Josephine Wynn, known as Mrs. Wm. Gerhold; the suit between them was submitted to the Supreme Court last week.

—See what an excellent thing that telephone is. Now at Omaha they have had one put up from the city to the post house, and communications go back and forth without any danger of "catching" the small-pox.

—Anniversary of Washington's birthday. How many teachers of the county have made mention of the history of this great man? Can not more of our teachers send short sketches of school work in their district?

—It looks natural to see D. A. Lord, the sheep king of Platte county, on deck again. The fact that he has been back to the Empire state to visit old friends seems to have given to his countenance an additional smile.

—Our snow storm which commenced Sunday night, lasted only one day and two nights, breaking in upon the accustomed rule of three days and nights. The weather in Nebraska is decidedly undergoing material changes.

—Young people who desire to become better posted in regard to the series of S. S. lessons called the International, would do well to attend the Baptist Sunday school, which is held in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

—O. H. Archer who has been in the employ of the Columbus JOURNAL for some time, became so sorely afflicted with rheumatism that he was obliged to lay up for repairs. He came down to Seward and is now at his father's in this city.

—W. M. Robertson, Esq., and Judge Seales of Madison passed through town Monday, the latter on his way to Alabama, the former to Lincoln, and both on legal business. Although going to a much warmer climate, the Judge didn't purpose staying more than a few days.

—We furnish the American Agriculturist (in English or German), the best farmers' monthly in the world, together with the COLUMBUS JOURNAL, one year, to any address in the United States or British Possessions, for $3, cash in advance. The price of the Agriculturist alone is $1.50.

—The Herald says that the Fremont creamery turned out last week its first cheese, and of good quality too. The practical men generally seem to think that the two businesses of cheese and butter making should be combined, to make a success, thus giving work for all the year round.

—Jno. Heitkemper, well known to most of our readers, goes into the grocery business about the 1st of March, and will occupy the place now occupied by his brother, the jeweler, on 11th st. Jno. is one of the cleverest of dealers, and will have a good share of public patronage.

—Nearly every day the "prairie schooners," laden with household furniture and families, may be seen piloting their way across the sea of land in this region. These contain some of the vast number who are coming west to better their condition. No better ships "sail the sea over."

—Many of our subscribers are taking the American Agriculturist with the JOURNAL, both for $3.00 a year payable in advance. The Agriculturist is published in English and German, is finely illustrated, and is conducted on old-fashioned principles of honesty and common sense.

—There was an adjourned meeting of the citizens to organize a library and reading room association on Wednesday evening last. It was decided to organize permanently as soon as $500 is pledged. The organization will provide means of continuing the association in good working order.

—A public meeting of the Columbus Woman's Suffrage Association at the Congregational church on Wednesday evening, Feb. 22d, at 7 1/2 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend. The order of exercises will consist of essays and impromptu speaking. All opponents are especially invited to participate.

—We regret exceedingly to learn that Fred Barnhold of Richland lost his house by fire last week. Mr. Barnhold was about to move into the building and provide for the wants of travelers, in other words keep a hotel. He was fortunate in not having his household goods in the building.—Schuyler Herald.

—Pat. Murray's building, corner of 13th st. and Neb. Avenue, is being veneered with brick. It will make a right handsome appearance when finished. Pat. ought to have all the credit due for his enterprise in making his property valuable and thus building up the business interests of the street upon which it is located.

—A tramp, name unknown, stole a pair of over shoes from Greison Bros. and hid them in a water closet. He was seen by two of our citizens, who described him to John McMahon, who tracked him and found the shoes. The tramp is now awaiting examination by the police judge. What shall be done with this class of men in society?

—Rt. Rev. R. H. Clarkson, D.D., Bishop of Nebraska diocese of the Episcopal Church will officiate in Grace Church Sunday, March 5th, 1882, at 11 a. m., at which time the Holy communion will be administered. The Bishop will conduct services at Schuyler in the evening.

—This is the occasion of his annual visitation among the churches of his diocese.
—About thirty people found their way to the Opera House Monday night in spite of the storm, and rather than see them go home disappointed, after walking that far 'thru' the "beautiful snow" the performers kindly gave a full rehearsal of Penelope, which was pronounced by all present to be one of the neatest little musical sketches ever played in Columbus.

—Jno. E. Dacko says that a great many Illinoisans are coming to Nebraska this spring. There is room and work and welcome for tens of thousands of them, and the sooner they come the better for them and Nebraska, too. Land is steadily advancing in price here, and from all appearances now, is destined to go up higher in the next five years than in any previous ten.

—Another alarm of fire has sounded forth and the citizens were hurried forth to battle with one of the most destructive elements. The whole city was in danger, and only for the prompt action of those first on the ground was such a catastrophe averted. We understand that Mr. Fitzpatrick's stable was burned, also that of Mr. Miner was burned during the late prairie fire, on last Thursday, Feb. 16.

—G. W. Clark was in the city Saturday making his reports to Gus G. Becher & Co. George is one of the best men, and for this reason has been engaged by the "Boss" insurance firm to travel for them. Some people may think that George is altogether too modest for an insurance agent, but all real merit is modest, and if he tells you that you ought to insure, you may be sure that he tells you the truth.

—The JOURNAL seldom makes mistakes, and when it does, aims to keep within bounds, as for instance, several days ago when we spoke of a three year old steer sold recently by the Moran Bros. of Creston, we did so from memory, knowing that it was 1730 lbs. or 1570 lbs. We stated it at the latter figure. It proves to have been 1730 lbs. instead, and we are pleased to note the correction in the interest of truth and big cattle.

—A young girl giving her name as Mollie Homer, was picked up near Galesburg, Ill., in a state of harmless insanity. She was lodged in jail for safe keeping. She says she lives in Nebraska. Has been at Lincoln and Omaha, but refuses to give any particulars. The girl is about 16 years of age, rather tall, dark complexion, clear skinned and extremely neat and clean in her dress and personal habits. It is hoped that this item will meet the attention of some friend of this girl who will return her to her home and friends.

—An accident on the U. P. Monday night was interesting to three of our citizens, Drs. Mitchell & Martyn and Mr. T. H. Saunders, who were on board. It was the express to Denver, and about a mile out from Omaha. There were two engines pulling the train, when all at once the forward engine jumped the main track, running off on a side track, against another train pointing eastward and waiting for the passage of the Denver. The first tender was turned upside down, and thrown off the track, but nobody hurt. The train was going on an up-grade, and at a rate of about six miles an hour. The air-brakes being immediately applied, the shock was not severe.

—A newspaper is a sort of public conscience, when rightly conducted, and being itself a part of the community in which it works, its accusations have not that bitter edge that would appear from one abroad. There are all classes of men in almost every community you may name, but there is a predominant characteristic, as of men. These remarks are suggested by a paragraph in the Schuyler Herald of a recent date, running as follows: "There is more truth than poetry about the remark made by an intelligent gentleman of this town, when he said one great drawback to our town is the large majority of business men will not take hold of public enterprises, unless they can see for every dollar invested a fair prospect of two or five in return."

—The Madison Chronicle has this to say of Leonard Bryant: "He came to Madison and got his father to go on his bond, and is now at home. Leonard is in reality a good boy, but was led into doing a deed, the magnitude of which he never considered until the facts and law stared him in the face. If he is wise he will profit thereby, and when he once gets clear of his present difficulty be more careful of his actions and with whom he associates."

—Last Wednesday afternoon Dave Postle took a ride of some eight miles, entirely against his wishes. He was out driving and when near the depot the team became frightened and started up Howard avenue regardless of Mr. Postle's objections to the contrary. Though unable to control them he could guide them and kept them in the road until after he had passed Capt. Force's place when he succeeded in turning them and seeing the race track he concluded that was a good place to let them have their run out. Though using all his strength he was unable to stop them until they had scored seven miles on the track.—St. Paul Free Press.

—Sudden Death. Arnold Jaeggli, resident in the northeastern part of Valley precinct, let his mother's horse last Monday about 11 o'clock and about an hour afterwards, his little son ran into the house crying and told his grandmother that his father was sick. Mrs. Jaeggli, who is an elderly lady, went to the stable and found her son lying on his face dead. A number of the neighbors were quickly summoned and the body was carried into the house. It was decided that an inquest was not necessary. It was supposed that the deceased died from either apoplexy or heart disease. He was about thirty-seven years of age, an industrious man and leaves two small children, his wife having died some time ago. He has two brothers living in Columbus and a sister, (Mrs. John Horst) living at Silver Creek. "May he rest in peace."—Oceola Record.

—The American Agriculturist for March is at hand, as bright and cheery as ever, and is a publication that no good farmer can well afford not to have. The suggestions for the season, given in each number, are well worth the year's subscription. Every interest comes in for a mention. The farm proper, the orchard, the fruit garden, the kitchen and market garden, the flower garden and lawn, greenhouse and window plants, &c. Everything of interest or profit on the farm receives due attention, the illustrations making plans and methods plain to the eye. This is a special feature of the Agriculturist that is very commendable. In this number, for instance, there are of these, a grain and stock barn, feed boxes, corn marker, garden marker, gates with wooden hinges, a barrel roller, sagging bar for a gate, a cattle tie, a home-made desk, &c. The expose of humbugs is another specialty of the Agriculturist, and in this it excels all comers; in this number, the following are ventilated: Ozone and Ozocerite; the wash-rag plant; the marriage dowry associations; religious lotteries; electro-medicated glasses; and the nasty medicine men who play upon the fears of the young and who only want money. Send $1.50 to Orange Judd Co., 751 Broadway, N. Y., or subscribe for both this and the JOURNAL, one year, $3.

—For the JOURNAL. Instruction. That which fits any one for happiness and usefulness is a proper object of instruction. Let the methods be practically consistent and timely. Beware of excluding the true basis of thoughtful reasoning, by the idea that theory is nothing; but inculcate correct principles, knowing that true sciences ever embody in tangible form the thread of connection which exists, binding our knowledge of the different phases of human thought.

—Above all, be so thoroughly in earnest that the mind of the learner will imbibe the true spirit of research. Put your own soul and life, as it were, into your teachings, and the growth of your work will be the student of diligent habits in the complete mastery of some department of learning. VALLEY.

—For the JOURNAL. What to Teach. Agesilaus, king of Sparta, being asked what things he thought most proper for boys to learn, very appropriately replied, "Those things which they should practice when they become men."

—Now, I would ask the board of education of the city of Columbus what things our boys and girls at the present day should learn? I think the wise king of Sparta gave a very appropriate answer.

—What practical use will a partial knowledge of algebra, geometry, Latin, &c. (which is about all that is ever acquired in our common schools) be to the boys and girls, when they go out into the busy world to act for themselves?

—Let all parents and guardians pay more attention to the right education of the youth of our community, and by frequent visits to the school-room see that they are pursuing such studies as will be of practical use to them in after life. G. W. STEVENS.

School Affairs. EDITOR JOURNAL: It is very sad to me that I have any objection to make against the manner in which public matters are managed, but there is one thing about the management of our schools that seems very singular to me, and I would like to have some of the majority of the school board, who are in favor of our present scheme, explain now to me. Sec. 8 of the school law, among other provisions, says "they (the school-board) shall also elect at their regular meeting in July annually, one superintendent of public instruction, who shall be the principal teacher of the school, with such salary as the board may deem just."

If common report is true, our superintendent is not a teacher at all this winter, and yet, as superintendent, it is, by law, a part of his duty to be the principal teacher. The singular thing is that the superintendent, who should not be a mere figure-head, a fifth wheel to a wagon, but one of the teachers, and the principal one.

Prof. McGinitie holds the office by virtue of having been elected by the board, but isn't it something more than a question whether the principal teacher (Prof. Cramer) is not the actual superintendent, and entitled to at least the teacher's portion of the pay for the duties of that office?

I submit to the attorneys of the board whether they can legally charge the law so as to put the burden of the labor of the office upon one man, and all of the pay for the same into the pocket of another. Or will they venture to say that, outside of teaching a school, the superintendent's work is worth $90 a month?

—Tax Payer. Library and Reading Room. There is an urgent necessity existing for an institution of this character. It is an imperative duty on those who have received the benefits of law institutions to throw their support in favor of any measures, just and right in themselves, that will advance the prosperity and add to the value of the results of a work of this kind. All who are indebted to education, and a greater reason for their social well-being and happiness, that nothing shall daunt them, or take, in any measure, the desired prize.

There will be means of continuing the workings of the library without taxing one so that it will be felt, the running expenses will be kept at a minimum.

Whoever desires to see this movement succeed should go to work in earnest. Do not be listless, idle, or slow in this undertaking. It can be done, and it will be done if there are only a few who have a deep enough interest in the matter to come out and battle for it. Count the benefits to yourself, and then consider that your returns amply compensate you for a considerable sacrifice. You need also the consent of your neighbors. Talk the matter over with enough interest in your own mind to be able to arouse interest in others. VALLEY.

—Reserved Seats. EDITOR JOURNAL:—There is an evil practiced upon our citizens by traveling troupes who occupy our Opera House, and such an evil, if it is continued, will lead to a scene that will be regretted by all concerned, therefore it will be well to attack it with the pen, as the mightier weapon, than the digits of some stalwart defender of personal rights. The selling of reserved seats has always been construed as guaranteeing the seat so purchased, as the right to possession, hence the coupon attached to the ticket so purchased; there have been frequent occasions of vexation and chagrin, by ladies holding tickets, and finding their seats occupied by persons who did not even have a coupon for their seat, and of gentlemen with ladies, having the mortification to be stoutly refused his seats, by other occupants, and from failure of support from the usher, who should promptly eject all such intruders, hunts a seat as best he can, often debarred the company of his lady friend, rather than be the actor of a scene not on the bills. Last Friday night capped the climax for downright swindling, and utter disregard of the rights of the patrons of the drama, or other entertainments given by troupes occupying our Opera House. One hundred reserved seats were sold at an extra charge of 25 cents each, and I believe not more than 50 were secured to the purchasers. The usher in charge deliberately tearing up coupons entitling the holder to reserved seats, obliterating the proof of claim. It is not my wish to incite ill-will towards any parties or indulge in unblatant calumny, but I suggest to the proprietors of the Opera House, or to the agent selling tickets for reserved seats that ushers shall be furnished or a policeman stationed on nights of entertainments, who will require the enforcement of all contracts so made by coupon attachment to tickets so sold for reserved seats, or stand responsible for the consequences that may follow a repetition of last Friday night's bulldozing, be it man or woman. Dor.
