Here we found Mr. Jake Gregorius, nicely established at his old trade.

Thence descending the grand Echo and Weber canons, where one may gaze with awful wonder upon the gigantic walls and overhanging precipices of colored rock, our train reached Ogden, Utah. Here we had the pleasure of a visit from Dr. Mitchell, late of Columbus, and also John Godfrey, of Nebraska butcher fame. The last morning of our trip by rail found us emerged from some forty miles of snow shed among the heights of the Sierra Nevadas, where the view of broken ranges, covered with towering evergreeus, and the deep winding abyse below formed s beautiful contrast with the bold monotony of the barren Rockies, and the whitish sage brush plains. Indeed the American Desert e uld be but poorly pictured by a volume of descriptions, there being so much of interesting, wondrous grandeur. Coming down into the Sacramento valley from the mountains, we found the hottest place en route. This broad, level region resembles somewhat the Platte valley.
