Don't let any man be able to say with a show of reason that you were voted at the polls by any man or set of men. Val's tools openly brag of the power they can control at the polls, right or wrong.

The long sought for boon to suffering men found at last. A cure for Liver complaint, Dyspepsia &c.; nature's own remedy, DUNN'S. Try it. No cure, no pay. For sale by Dowry, Weaver & Co. 23 ff.

Honest voters should beware of accepting as true statements calculated to make the fact personally in their favor. This, and similar work constitutes all that the Valentine faction have to work on.

Mr. Saunders did not form a part of the exhibition last Thursday at the Valentine meetings at this place. It seems that the "boss" didn't accept Mr. Saunders's generous offer to appear in person and tell his little story.

Honest voters should cast their ballots to defeat a candidate that will pay a contented personality and "quit work," as it is termed which means no more nor less than down right rascality.

Rev. Jno. Gray will be at home this week, and we are requested to announce that he will fill his pulpit at the Congregational church next Sunday. Communion service, preparatory lecture Thursday evening.

The published statement of the Columbus Packing Co., which will be found in another column, shows that the assets of the company at the close of business Oct. 16th, 2d, amounted to $13,188.67. Their only liabilities being taxes to the amount of $235.12.

Columbus has a wide-awake (?) police force. Last Friday was a young man lying on the sidewalk, the thoroughfares dead drunk for more than half an hour—how much longer he remained there we don't know,—and no officer put in an appearance.—Madison Chronicle.

We are requested to announce the following Woman Suffrage meetings: To-night, (Wednesday) at the school house, Hurlburt and Neyman, speakers; Tuesday, Nov. 2d, at the Court House in this city, Messrs. Hensley, Gray and Byron Millet; Friday, Nov. 3d, at Creston church, A. M. Post, Neyman and others.

George Jenkinson's dry team ran away Friday last. They ran into and broke down Will Schroeder's saloon sign on Olive street, and from thence they ran south to 11th street, and turning east were brought up by the corner of Ruelle's on one side, and the end of the tongue being forced back through the side of the building. The team was not injured.

A little girl of James Cressap, living a few miles east of the city, met with a singular accident one day last week in a singular manner. A large dog belonging to a neighbor, what was intended by the animal as a friendly caress jumped with its fore feet upon the child, throwing her down and breaking a thigh. The child was about three years old.

Commissioner Hudson informs us that the repairs on the Platte bridge at Duncen have been completed and that the bridge across the river at this point will be in good repair and perfectly safe by the end of the week. Some necessary delay in the matter of repairing the bridge at this point has occurred on account of the water being so high.

We have a lot of remnants of wall paper that will be sold very cheap. For a bargain, come and see us. Dowry, Weaver & Co. 27 ff.

At Lincoln, last Thursday, the 26th ult., Mr. John Farmer and Miss Bella Redmond, niece of Mr. Meagher of this city, were joined in the bonds of matrimony. Mrs. Meagher attended the wedding.

We are informed by a man who claims that his information is authentic to the effect that fifteen Valentine tools are to be sent into the county to personally canvass every voter before election day, and that their motto will be "anything to secure votes." Their instructions have been given them by their masters. Let the voters of Platte county give those hirelings the reception that they deserve.

Mr. Valentine while here the other day was not so much taken up with the subject of denying his record and dodging the main issues in which the people are interested that he could not take time for a little side job by making an arrangement with Mr. Deffenbach, a German of the county, to aid him with his pension matter. Mr. B. would get him some German votes. Mr. B. went home to commence to fill his part of the contract.

Invitations were circulated in this city among the devotees of Terpsichore to attend a dance at Genoa last Thursday in Willard's new hall. The size of the hall being mentioned would give the impression that plenty of room has not heretofore been one of the luxuries of a ball in that burg. However, a spirit of pride in the enterprise of the town may have prompted the committee to mention in the invitation that the hall was 45x80 feet.

A letter to Rev. R. B. Wilson, of this city, from a Methodist brother up in Holt county, wants to know about M. K. Turner's personal character, stating that reports are in circulation in his locality that Turner is a very profane man, has no respect for families, is a blackguard and a frequenter of saloons. That must be the work of Turner's friends, because Val's political tools don't believe in attacking a man's personal character who they know.

The party of young men of the city who were up to the hunting grounds of the northwest about ten days, returned Saturday last. As a hunting party we believe the boys didn't achieve much fame, but a majority of them took the initiatory step in becoming solid citizens by taking preemption claims of 160 acres of real estate on Cash Creek, Holt county. Chas. and Al. Rickly and Chris. From this identified themselves with the interests of that locality.

Contrast the difference of the opposing sides in the congressional struggle in this locality and what is indicated? Does it not say that Turner's following are willing to leave his election to the ballots of honest voters, whose conclusions have been formed by appealing to their reason and love of principle. On the other hand have Val's tools let a stone unturned to prejudice the issue, not hesitating to misrepresent, distort innocent facts, and work upon the prejudices of men to secure their ballots?

The bottom of this thin excuse for supporting a candidate for congress totally unfit for the trust,—and so acknowledged by all fair-minded men,—on the ground that he was the regular candidate, has been knocked out completely to the satisfaction of any person willing to be convinced. Valentine's leading political support is from that class of politicians that must be with the dominant party for either selfish or pecuniary ends, and they stand now clearly in this light; and all good republicans should so cast their ballots as to rebuke their actions.

John Walker informs us that he expects a visit from his nephew, Hon. John McHugh, proprietor of the Howard County Bank, Cresco, Iowa. Mr. McHugh is said to be a very full speaker and a gentleman of a large degree of literary culture. We understand that a number of our prominent citizens intend extending to him an invitation to deliver an address in Columbus during his visit. Should the effort succeed, there is no doubt our citizens would be favored with a most excellent literary treat, and the speaker complimented with a full house.

Mr. Turner never rode on a pass from any railroad company for which he did not give value received in a legitimate way. Can the gentleman who charged in a speech at Humphrey the other evening that Turner held and rode on a free pass, say as much? Mr. Turner objects to the free pass system, because it is an unjust discrimination against individuals. It is perfectly evident to the dollest intellect that if the travelling public were divided into two equal parts, one of which paid full fare, the other four cents a mile, and the other nothing, that those who paid were really being taxed for the fellows who paid nothing, and that if all paid alike the rate could be lowered to two cents a mile. Every body should be treated alike. If the railroad company, for instance, gives a free pass to a member of the legislature, so soon as it is time for him to attend the session and not before, it is a valuable thing, if used by such legislator, and it seems strange why that proposition cannot be seen. The question will naturally arise with the conscientious man, why didn't I become a member of the legislature, a county commissioner, a district judge, a judge of the supreme court, a county treasurer or clerk or sheriff? If it became an official now and was not before? Am I expected to do something now for them that I couldn't do before in an individual capacity? Will my judgment for or against them on matters that may come up be unbiased? Will those I represent believe that it will, with a free pass in my pocket? There is only one proper way to answer these questions, and that is to cast your ballot for the man who has no sense enough to entitle him to a vote.

Accidentally Killed. A brakeman Falls Between Two Cars and his Life Crushed Out of Him.

Saturday night last, about half past 10 o'clock, Pat Moran, a brakeman on the Norfolk branch of the U. P., accidentally met his death at Humphrey in this county, by falling between two cars while the train was in motion. The full particulars of the sad affair we did not get, but learn that the unfortunate man was a son-in-law to Jno. Walker, Esq., of this county, and that the remains have been sent to his parents in Iowa.

It is safe to say that the voters of this county have had enough of elections carried by resorting to practices that are beneath the sanction of a candidate asking for the trust of the people, and that the time has passed when any man or man's tools could carry an election with beer and money. Honest voters begin to see that honor and honesty actually disqualify a candidate for a political race under this practice, will resist it; and men who have been influenced by any kind of pecuniary consideration have learned how little reliance to place on promises made to secure votes.

Attention Voters. The regular republican and anti-monoopoly tickets printed at this office for Platte county have only a blank form on them in regard to the constitutional amendment, and unless the word for, or the word against, is written before "Proposed Amendment to the constitution relating to the rights of Suffrage," the ballot will fail to count either way. If in favor, write the word For; if opposed write the word Against. If neither is written and the ticket voted just as it is printed it will be a blank vote counting nothing on either side.

T. H. Saunders is either "cranky" on the subject of a mortgage given to Valentine, or he has been duped by gross misrepresentations—to state it mildly—of Val and his strikers. M. K. Turner never heard of the matter until called by Saunders with saying that Val held a mortgage on his farm for services in procuring his record work. The following letter shows pretty conclusively that the whole affair was a set-up job to get Mr. Saunders's affidavit, and make Mr. Turner appear to have descended to the level of Val and his tools in campaign work.

COLUMBUS, NEB., Oct. 16th, 1882. Hon. E. K. VALENTINE, Dear Sir:—I at once sent to Saunders' home in Polk county and also for an affidavit of county clerk to show no such mortgage had ever been given or filed for record. Saunders happened to-day, and as per your request, I at once telegraphed you his affidavit. Also telegraphed copy to J. Y. Arthur, Oakdale. Herein you will find the original affidavit. Saunders also says if you want him at any point to tell this in person, telegraph for him. He (Saunders) told Turner this on the streets to-day. Turner by force put the dollar into Saunders' pocket to-day, whereupon S. told Turner he would give him credit for the same on an old account he had owed him for two years. Yours truly,

JOHN W. EARLY.

The dollar paid Mr. Turner was retained on account of Saunders importing to that effect, and saying that it was to reimburse him (Turner) for postage, &c., and that if he (Saunders) was entitled to any balance to apply it on a notice in the JOURNAL. A notice of Mr. Saunders success in securing back pension from 1865 appeared in the JOURNAL Feb. 15th, 1882, and subsequently the space of the paper was taken up on his behalf. When a knowledge of the use this simple fact was being put to by Mr. Saunders became known to Mr. Turner he forced a dollar into Saunders' pocket with the remark that it had been a very dirty dollar on his part and he didn't want it.

Three or four disciples of John Early are being sent over the county to make speeches and work especially for Valentine, the railroad candidate for congress. These fellows preach Valentine and him only. They were never known to contribute by speech or otherwise anything for the support of the Republican ticket, which shows that they are working for the boss and not for principle. We are told that especially in their confidential statements they not only traduce and malign Turner but his supporters as well. As for instance, without any knowledge, proof or excuse they say that $10,000 was paid to some of Turner's supporters to help carry the A. & N. bonds. How ridiculous and silly this appears to a man of sense. Just as though the managers of that company were foolish enough to pay a large sum to anybody when, as a matter of fact known to all, we all wanted the road worse than they wanted to build it, and only a few years before voted $300,000 for the same road. This was well known to the A. & N. Co., and they even failed to pay all the expenses of the campaign which was claimed by some they ought to pay. The people of the town and in the country wanted this road as bad as these fellows say they want Valentine elected to congress, but nobody worked so hard or stooped so low for the bonds as they are doing for Valentine. Among the leading and hardest workers for the bonds were Judge Higgins, Mr. Barney, Mr. Hensley, Mr. Stauffer, Mr. Haney, Mr. Kavanagh (now deceased), and Mr. Browner. In fact you can scarcely find a good, leading citizen in the county who was not in favor of the bonds, and the vote shows that not many were opposed to them. While we did not realize all we expected in all respects, yet the result is we have roads through the county, can go and come in any direction by rail and get good coal for 60 per ton. Not so bad after all. Like kill-sheep dogs that do not kill sheep near home these workers go from home to slander their neighbors and circulate falsehoods. But if they can mislead any one with such silly and inconsistent stuff it will only be some one who has no sense enough to entitle him to a vote.

By request we publish the following item from the Terre Haute, (Ind.) Evening Gazette:

Mrs. Bertha Schweitzer has become alarmed about her son Louis. The young man studied law here in Mr. N. G. Bull's office and left here about a year and a half ago intending to prospect in various towns in the west before settling down to the practice of his profession. Up until last June he wrote home regularly every two weeks. The last letter was sent from Columbus, Nebraska, in which place he accidentally met his death at Humphrey in this county, by falling between two cars while the train was in motion. The full particulars of the sad affair we did not get, but learn that the unfortunate man was a son-in-law to Jno. HUMPHREY, NEB., Oct. 25, '82. ED. JOURNAL.—Mr. Valentine's friends held a meeting in Humphrey Monday evening with a democratic chairman. Small house. They commenced away back before the war. Made out Van Wyck small potatoes and wound up by telling the postmaster that he could not do to allow any one to handle the mail that would not support Valentine, and if they did they would loose the office.

Mr. Olson's Compliments. ED. JOURNAL.—I see in the Columbus Democrat that two school marms in the western part of the county are on the war path, "Skimmer," and "J. M." Poor dear little what a dreadful thing it is when little savants consider themselves "superior" to their superiors! I suppose is just fresh from the shop. By his name I should judge he is an ex-military peddler and now being out of a job has turned his talent in another direction. All right, keep it up. It will do you good, probably, and me no harm. But how far above the average human being "J. M." must consider himself and probably some of those who are not acquainted with him. He is not straight forward, and you all undoubtedly greatly oblige the people of Platte county. If not, you certainly will. NIELS OLSON. P. S.—Please send that inspiration "jug" around at your earliest convenience. Galley Bro's. N. O. Oct. 30th, '82.

The Ladies' Missionary Society held their annual supper in the church on the evening of the 25th ult. It was well attended, very successful in every way. After the refreshments were served, several ladies and gentlemen entertained the company with instructive missionary intelligence. To the regret of all it was announced that the wife of the late pastor, Dr. Scudder, who has lived here over two years. He has so thoroughly identified himself with all the interests of this place that he will be sadly missed. He leaves for India a few weeks; his wife and children remain here. While all the people feel a personal grief at his departure, all acknowledge that they have been benefitted by his presence, and they will be better christians and citizens for his consistent life among us. October 29, 1882.

Peterson's Magazine. We have before us the November number of this well-known favorite of the ladies' monthlies, and find it full of useful and interesting matter; beautiful engineering, colored patterns for a shirt-board-cloth, numerous illustrations of fashions, embroidery patterns, etc., and stories that are unusually good.

Undoubtedly, "Peterson" is not only the best, but the cheapest magazine of its kind, being but Two Dollars a year to single subscribers. To clubs, it is cheaper still, with great inducements to those getting up clubs. Every lady should take this magazine. Address CHARLES J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Specimens are sent, gratis, to get up clubs with. 26-1
