A STARTLING ACCIDENT. Lucky Termination to what might have been a Catastrophe of a very Serious Nature. Last Saturday a startling episode of ordinary bridge crossing was enacted at the Loupe wagon bridge southwest of the city, caused by a runaway team. The team, belonging to a German farmer whose name we did not learn, took fright at the lumber yard of the Chicago Lumber & Grain Co., and getting away from their driver made straight for the bridge, keeping in the road. Gaining the bridge, they hit the approach fairly and started in their mad panic of fright across it. At the part near the north end where the addition of the new part to the standing spans of the old forms a decent, they ran into the buggy of Al. Arnold from the rear. Frank Gillett occupying the buggy with him. Both men jumped from the buggy before the collision came, and Al. hung to the lines for some time in a vain endeavor to check the runaway pressure that was forcing his outfit to join the rout, but was compelled, in order to save himself, to abandon the effort; and across the bridge dashed the fusion runaway. At the opposite end of the bridge was George Barnum with team and platform spring wagon, backed up by Mrs. Naylor with horse and buggy. By prompt action after taking in the situation, George freed the horses from the vehicles, but into these obstructions to their mad course dashed the runaways, and—well, those who witnessed it say that things were so badly mixed up that details of what immediately transpired could not be noted. But what we are glad to announce is that nobody was hurt, and the horses were uninjured. The vehicles of Messrs. Arnold and Barnum were totally wrecked.

GRAND OPENING. Chicago Comedy Company—Eighteen Actors—Superb Band of Eight Pieces—Orchestra of Five Pieces. The opening of the Columbus Opera House with a season of two nights (Friday and Saturday) by the Chicago Comedy Company will, no doubt, be a brilliant social event. The management of the Opera House has shown praiseworthy enterprise in having the hall enlarged, new stage and gallery added and new scene and fresco painting done by a first-class artist, until it ranks among the first in the state. They have also taken pains that the opening shall be by a troupe that will be a credit to the occasion, and have secured one that ranks high in the dramatic art, comprised of eighteen actors, all of marked ability in their profession. In Iowa, where they have appeared we see them well endorsed by the press and also by leading citizens. Miss Alice H. Clarke, the leading star, is spoken of as the superior of any in the west, and her support of the very best. The great sensational drama, "Under the Gas Light," has been put upon the boards for Friday evening.

Weather Report. Review of the weather at Genoa, for the month of October, 1882. Mean temperature of month, 52.31; Mean of highest, 60.0; Mean of lowest, 44.62; Highest of day, 79; Lowest of night, 27; Ordinarily clear days, 17; Very cloudy days, 12; High winds, 4; Calm days, 13; Inches of rain fall, 1.63; Rain fell during portions of days, 2.4; Prevailing winds during the month, from S.
