LOVE REPELLED. Within the garden wall he sat, And softly strummed his guitar, And filled the air with dulcet strain, Which many a heart had heard refrain.

ONLY ONE LIFE. I have before me a fac-simile copy of the London Times, October 3, 1798. It is twenty-three inches by seventeen, printed clear and large. It is a mile in comparison with the Times of to-day. It contains thirty-seven advertisements.

THE LATE JOHN BROWN. A London letter says: Nothing more curious or marked the exceptional character of the man who died in the battle of Gettysburg than the fact that he was a Quaker.

THE TORNADO SEASON. The tornado season has fairly commenced, though not in the section of country where its most terrible ravages usually experience. Every man must have one or all of the rear of the procession.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY. —Joaquin Miller rises to remark that the daily newspaper is "the six-shooter of Eastern civilization." Every man must have one or all of the rear of the procession.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL. —A church is being erected by the Baptists in Salt Lake City. —The Spiritualists claim that from nothing thirty-five years ago the number of avowed believers now reaches 2,000,000.

—A Chicago court decides that when a boy goes to a private school and pays tuition in advance and then gets drunk and is expelled the school must return the unearned money. —The Texas Legislature has given another million acres of land for railroads.

—At a Methodist Conference held at Beloit, Wis., the members refused to admit or ordain any candidate to the Conference who uses tobacco, and requested the Bishop not to appoint any preacher as presiding elder who is in the habit of using tobacco. —The Bishop of the Episcopal Church has been elected to the See of New York.

—The Virginia State Board of Education has accepted the Griffin Farm, near Petersburg, for the colored and Collegiate Institute, provided in which a City Council of Petersburg gives $5,000. The college building will be erected near the spot where the memorable "crater" light occurred during the war. The amount appropriated by the Legislature for the establishment of the school is $100,000.

—Mrs. Amanda Smith, the celebrated colored evangelist, is evangelizing among the colored people of Grand Rapids, Mich. She has given many Bible readings, and that she finds among the women of Liberia a great disposition to study the Bible. She finds strong drink to be the great cause of the moral and laboring degeneracy in the cause of temperance reform. She will probably make her permanent work in Liberia.

—In Scotland last year there was expended on public schools the sum of £212,047, of which sum schools connected with the Church of Scotland received £28,306. The Free Church schools, £18,213, and non-denominational schools, £26,277. The Episcopal schools, £23,393, and the Roman Catholic schools, £27,512. A further point in these school statistics is that the total estimated population of Scotland is 1,169,943, of whom 556,660 are on the books of elementary day schools; but, by excluding children under five—the age at which education is compulsory—the number would be reduced by nearly 306,000.

A Money-Making Memory. George Harding, Esq., the distinguished Philadelphia patent lawyer, is remembered in memory. On Saturday Mr. Harding rode down to Wall Street, New York, in a Broadway omnibus. A beautiful young lady got in and handed fifty cents to the attendant, requesting him to please hand it to the driver.

—"With pleasure," said Mr. Harding, at the same time passing the fifty cents up through the hole to the stage man. "The driver made the change and handed forty cents back to Mr. Harding, who quietly put it away into his vest pocket and went on reading a morning-machine paper." "Then all stood silent," said the young lady began to look nervously at Mr. Harding for his change. "Can it be possible that this is one of those polite confidence men we read of in books?" she thought to herself. Then she looked up timidly and asked Mr. Harding something about the Brooklyn Ferry.

—"Oh, the boats run very regular—there are three boats running the interrupted lawyer, trying to smile. Then he went on reading his brief." "Do the boats run from Wall Street to Astoria?" continued the young lady. "I don't know, madame," replied Mr. Harding, "but I am a resident of New York; I'm a Philadelphian."

—"Why, ten cents, madame—ten cents," said Mr. Harding. "I did give her the change. I gave forty cents to you, and you put it in your pocket," shouted back the driver. "To me?" said Mr. Harding, feeling in his vest pocket, from which his fingers brought out four ten-cent pieces. "Gracious goodness, madame! Is that ten thousand pardons; but—"

—"Oh, never mind," said the lady, "I know you are a lawyer, and you know a lady in a how-to-do-it-like New York has to look out for herself. It's no matter—it wasn't the forty cents; but before I left home mother cautioned me against polite confidence men, who look so good outside and so bad inside." "Goodness gracious! my dear woman!" exclaimed Mr. Harding, while all the passengers eyed him with suspicion. "I assure you—"

—But the stage stopped, and the young lady, holding fast to her portmanteau, got out and fled into the Custom House, while Mr. Harding went on filling up in this form: "Goodness gracious! Did you ever? O Lord! what shall I do?" etc. The lawyer got so excited that he went back to Philadelphia in a hurry. He even forgot to take a big fine in a morning-machine case. He says he'd rather pay ten thousand dollars than to let the Philadelphia fellows get hold of the story. —Philadelphia Item.

—This is a recent ordinance in the town of Bellary, India, that has become exceedingly troublesome, by attacking women and children carrying bundles on their heads, and unloading the roofs of the houses. In towns, these animals are caught and arranged into the jungles, and that arrangement made that monkeys may not pass any injury while being seized.
