A. F. BLUNDELL, manager of the Lincoln telephone exchange, and secetary of the Young Men's Christian Association, is reported in the State Journal of the 16th inst. as missing with about $1,000 of the company's money. Those who were best acquainted with him are slow to give credit to the reports and believe he will turn up all right, as heretofore he has been regarded as a model young man.

THE New York bar association tendered Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, of London, one of the most magnificent banquets ever given to any citizen in the United States. Preparations were made to accommodate 1,200 guests. Not less than one hundred thousand dollars was expended in beautifying the stage and turning it into a flower garden with green walks, rare and costly shrubs, trees the other.
