The Blast at Cincinnati.

The dailies of Sunday and Monday contained columns concerning the mob of Saturday at Cincinnati. As near as we can epitomize the affair it is about as follows:

For quite a while criminals have not met their just deserts at the hands of the law, and at the time of the outbreak there were thirty men in prison, charged with murder. Two of these were Berner and Palmer, who killed Kirk with a hammer, to rob him of $100, hauled his body off and dumped it into a creek. They had confessed, and were placed on trial. The jury returned a verdict in Berner's case of manslaughter—not punishable by death.

A public meeting was held at Music hall and attended by a large body of respectable citizens to give vent to their opinions concerning the state of affairs in the city. The Chicago Times, from which we glean, says that there were no indications of lawlessness at this meeting, but "upon the close of proceedings, the crowd moved, as if impelled by a common impulse, to the jail, and commenced breaking down doors, and demolishing walls, in the openly-declared purpose of bringing out the thirty murderers and expeditiously terminating them then and there, without the form of law."

INCIDENTS.

At one time there was estimated to be 10,000 people in the crowd at the jail.

At latest accounts received here 26 persons had been killed and 56 wounded.

Berner escaped from the crowd, and after a number of adventures was finally placed in the penitentiary at Columbus.

All the available militia of the state were ordered to the scene in the quickest possible time.

Six regiments, two batteries and one troop of cavalry were to arrive Sunday night.

Mayor Stephens, though dangerously ill with pneumonia, took the initiative in restoring order, and the civil and military power are under the active supervision of General J. D. Cox.

The court house, costing about a quarter million dollars is in ruins.

JAS. B. JOHNSON, of St. Joseph, Mo., has been running drug stores at Salt Lake, and Pitkin, Colorado, having partners in each. He spent most of his time in St. Joe, occupying desk room in the drug house of Smith, Yannatta & Co., from whom he secured most of his goods. It was discovered a few days ago that Johnson had feloniously shipped away goods from time to time, aggregating several thousand. He was accused and confessed, and while on his way with Yannatta to Salt Lake and Pitkin for the purpose of transferring the stores as indemnity to the firm from loss, and while walking on the platform of the Union depot at Denver, Johnson shot himself in the right temple on the morning of the 22d ult. He was married and occupied a high social position in St. Joe.

It is well for the people to say to the professional politicians, in this campaign, "hands off." What is the difference if each congressional district in the state instructs for different candidates and if the state convention instructs for still another? The sentiment of the people should be the guide of the national convention and the smaller the subdivisions respected by the political bodies that select the delegates to the national convention, the more nearly will the actual sentiment of the people be ascertained. In this matter as in all others, the people will do wisely if they follow their own judgment, rather than the interested advice of political hacks, who have "axes to grind."—Strombury Republican.

A JOINT resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution to extend the right of suffrage to woman was reported favorably to the senate from the committee on woman's suffrage, by Senator Palmer. The amendment proposed provides: Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. Section 2. Congress shall have power by appropriate legislation to enforce the provisions of this article.

The recent poisoning case of Mrs. John Lee at Crete, Neb., has not yet been explained. The coroner's inquest resulted in a verdict that "death was caused by poison, not self administered nor taken by accident, but by whom administered the jury, from the evidence, are unable to decide." By order of the coroner the stomach and intestines were removed and delivered to Dr. Martin Clark, of Sutton, Neb., who will make an analysis of the contents and decide the nature of the poison.

The other night Charles Houlton, a farmer, living a few miles south of Petersburg, Ill., quarrelled with his wife, knocked her down with an axe, cut her throat from ear to ear, and inflicted numerous stabs in her breast. He also severely cut in the hand his son, aged 12, who attempted to interfere. He then went to a straw stack, where he gashed his own throat, though not fatally, and where he was found and arrested.

JOHN W. SANDERS, of Bellairs, O., committed suicide the other day at Grand Island, Neb., by shooting himself in the head with a revolver while temporarily insane. He was largely interested in glass works at his home in Ohio and was one of the sufferers by the recent floods. Overwork during the flood, anxiety, etc., led to the act. He went to Grand Island to visit his brother, and obtain needed rest.

A TERRIBLE wind storm struck Denver on the morning of the 27th ult., unroofing many of the finest buildings in the city, including the city hall. Moffat and Kassier and Symon and Clifford blocks were unroofed and signs and awnings were torn down and scattered. Several persons are reported injured but none fatally. The loss at the time of the report could not be estimated.

The body of Simon Kirck which was found floating the other day in Oak creek near Lincoln, was found, on examination, to have a bullet wound near the right ear. The flesh was also burned. The deceased was a shoemaker, and when found had a watch and chain and $11 in money. The strong presumption is that he committed suicide.

We are in receipt of Senator Manderson's speech on the Porter case, and it does credit alike to the senator and to his constituency. Those who yet think that Porter was justified in disobeying the orders of superior officers might do well to read Mr. Manderson's speech, which puts the matter in a strong common-sense light.

The citizens of Mansburg, Ohio, have at last found a real ghost. The people have visited the cemetery where it appears and have shot at it and clubbed it but all in vain to prevent its appearance or in any way injure it. It appears steadily, at certain hours in the night, and the citizens go at that time to meet the ghost.

The thirty-one cars of corn contributed by citizens of Sedgewick Co., Kansas, to the flood sufferers, was sold the other day at Cincinnati, O., at auction on "Change. There was a large attendance and bidding was spirited. The first car was bought by the Adams Express Co., and the remainder all sold at outside prices.

The heaviest earthquake since the disastrous one of 1868, occurred at San Francisco on the afternoon of the 25th ult. People rushed from houses in great fright, while the windows rattled. Several buildings standing on made ground near the water front were seriously damaged.

The anti-monopoly state central committee met at Lincoln the other evening and appointed delegates from three congressional districts to the national convention. Treasurer Sturdevant's acts were commended and Ben Butler declared the committee's choice for president.

[In this department the people talk, and the editor. Each writer must hold himself ready to defend his principles and his statements of facts. "In the multitude of counsel there is wisdom."—ED. JOURNAL.]

Mr. EDITOR:—In the JOURNAL of March 12th, I notice a communication, in your "correspondence" column, entitled "Life or Death" signed by C. G. A. Hulthorff. Will the gentleman, at his earliest convenience give us his views on the 26th verse of the 14th chapter of St. Luke?

A man's house is his castle and should be sacred to himself and family,—and so long as he continues in the paths of virtue and humanity, it is not only right but in our city probable, that he may rest in peace within, but sometimes a man thinks that what transpires in his own house is known only to himself, imagines no one knows, if any member is away or hidden within. So long as all is quiet and results are put out of sight he flatters himself he is safe in his secrets, so securely blind that he could not possibly see a rope hanging above him day and night, and when he so far forgets his manhood as to descend to brute force and rules his household by blows inflicted upon the mother in the family he will not see the noose forming, nor can any one tell how close it may be or how slight a matter might make it into a neck-tie, or how few friends a man would have that would interfere with the due course of law in such cases. The only safe way is for every man within in his own castle to keep his feet from walking in paths forbidden by law, and be as kind and polite where he is ruler of the castle as in intercourse with others.

Popular Education.

This organization aims to promote habits of reading and study in nature, art, science, and in secular and sacred literature in connection with the routine of daily life. To secure to the reader the college students general outlook upon life and the world and develop the habits of close, connected, persistent thinking. It proposes to encourage individual study in lines and by text books which shall be indicated, by summer courses of lectures and "students sessions" at Chautauque and by written reports and examinations. Forty minutes each week will enable the student in nine months to complete the books for one year.

The following are a part of the readings for 1883: Greek history stories in English history, Chautauque text books, Roman, Canadian, English and American history, easy lessons in vegetable biology, philosophy of the plan of salvation. Also the Chautauque (a monthly magazine) in which will be published readings in commercial law, political economy, French, German and American history and literature, readings about the arts, artists and their masterpieces and readings in physical science. We publish this from the Chautauque, hoping many will become interested and adopt this plan for self improvement. There is a movement being made toward organizing a local circle in Columbus of which notice will be given in the near future.

Farmers are preparing for spring work.

We have a picture gallery in town. He is located opposite Newell South's hardware store. Sunday he did a thriving business.

The reports of town meeting, and village election comes too late for this week's issue. There is not much excitement expected in this neighborhood. The town board of Granville held its first meeting last week, at the office of F. M. Cookingham.

Mr. Federson is making preparations at his newly purchased brick yard and says that he expects to furnish brick cheap this summer. We shall be glad if people can be able to purchase brick at home; last year most of the brick used here came from Madison.

Much fault is being found of the roads and bridge that leads into Humphrey from the east. We are in hopes the road overseers in said town will immediately fix up said bridge and road, also the bridge by the school house should have a railing. These small things should be seen to at once as our usually good roads are what bring quite a goodly share of our trade at this point; a word to the wise is sufficient.
