

—Patience! Patience! Mrs. Stump has just received a large stock of one of the most perfect fitting patterns and the latest styles. Call and get your fashion plate. 11-1f

—Mr. Lange, the whilom publisher of a German paper here, now traveling salesman for an Omaha wholesale house, was in the city last Saturday shaking hands with his many friends.

—The report concerning a body found in the cellar of the old house in the rear of the First National, had all the particularity of a veritable "tough" story, but was gotten up to amuse the boys.

—Mr. Sprecher and his son J. P. of Schuyler were in town Wednesday last and spent an agreeable hour with the editor. Father Sprecher is 76 years old and the hair of his head is black as a crow.

—Dr. McAllister and his assistant are very busy doing dental work. The photograph rooms at the rear of the office will be finished this week. The Dr. has a daisy place and does the best work in the state.

—We notify each subscriber, every week, of just how his account stands for subscription. If you wish the paper sent you no later than the date printed opposite your name, please drop us a postal card so stating. 1f

—Ladies, if you will just step into Mrs. Stump's store, you will find the greatest bargains in notions, millinery and ready-made suits and ladies' underwear, corsets, covers, ladies' white sacks and children's suits. 11-1f

—Some forty of Norfolk's citizens came down to celebrate with us, mainly to witness the game of ball between the Hastings Reds and the Columbus nine. The game was well worth witnessing, being a meeting of the two best amateur clubs of the state.

—A delegation of citizens of Columbus waited upon the county supervisors Monday to ask them to take action in regard to the Platte river bridge, which is out of order. The supervisors were of the opinion that the matter belonged to the township authorities.

—The game of ball which was confidently expected to come off on Monday last between the home nine and the Chicago Reserves was declared off, the management not approving of the proposition of the Reserves to guarantee them $75 as an inducement to meet our boys.

—The heavy rain storms of last week were preceded by very ominous looking clouds that suggested a cyclone to the more timid observers; but they passed over with a drenching rain and a pretty stiff blow that did no harm further than to demolish shade trees in some parts of the city.

—Messrs. Sheldon & McDill of "Richland Stock Farm" report the sale recently of two of their yearling short horns, one, 2d Duke of Richland, to J. H. Reed, Esq., of Columbus, Neb., price $200.00. The other Bull Duke of Richland to Otto Backman, Esq., of Grand Island, Neb., at $150.00.

—The street crossings of the city generally will not admit of much commendatory comment, but some of them are particularly bad and in order to be safe need attention. Dr. Schog tells us that his horse stepped through a crossing on one of the principal streets the other evening and narrowly escaped serious injury.

—The JOURNAL, having added a number of new fonts of type of the latest patterns, is better than ever equipped to furnish all sorts of commercial printing such as envelopes, letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, business cards, labels, programmes, wedding stationery, posters, dogtags, lawyer's briefs, sales bills, etc., etc. 1f

—The Hastings base ball club was accompanied to this city by a number of excursionists on the Fourth. It was expected that a special excursion train would come from Hastings on that day in which event a large crowd would have come to witness the game but it was impossible to make arrangements with the U. P. company for cars and the club were obliged to come and go by the regular trains.

—J. B. Wells recently returned from a trip in which he explored quite extensively the northwest frontier of this state. He speaks well of the country west of Valentine in the White River Valley, particularly the region of Rush Creek where the Rikely boys and party are located. Jack has secured real estate interest in Brown county, near Ainsworth, at which place we believe he has also engaged in the lumber business, associated with F. E. Gillett, late of Columbus.

—One day last week a large safe was being moved into Echols & Turner's shop to be re-painted. The safe was in the door-way on skids and resting on its side when Otto Huer, a young man in the employ of Becher & Co., came along and commenced working the combination to see if he could open it, sitting the while in such a position that when he chanced to hit the combination right the door (the hinges being on the bottom side) swung out and down upon his leg, mashing the ankle badly. No bones were broken.

—George Lehman, proprietor of the Grand Pacific is furnishing the new apartments of his hotel with some of the finest furniture in the market. Ten new chamber suits with wool mattresses and steel bed springs were put in last week and as many more will be needed in a very few days. After inspecting the different stocks of furniture in Columbus, Mr. Lehman went to Omaha and learning the outrageous prices there immediately returned and bought his entire bill of J. E. Munger; being fully convinced that he could get more goods of Munger for $800 than of any other dealer in the state.

—Last Thursday a little Polish boy, between 8 and 9 years old, whose parents live on the bottom, while in swimming in the Loupe got into the power of the strong current and was drowned. He was accompanied by a little boy about his own age, who of course, was unable to rescue his drowning companion. Such an undertaking would tax the power of a strong man and an expert swimmer. The body of the drowned boy was recovered. The fact that many boys of the city are in the habit of going in bathing in the Loupe has caused the JOURNAL to call attention to the danger in it to the little fellows unattended by older persons; and even should they be so attended, an attempt to rescue a drowning boy may only result in a double tragedy, as was recently the case in a neighboring town on the Loupe when a father attempted to rescue a little son and both were drowned. At most times the Loupe is a turbid, treacherous stream that is neither fit nor safe for man or boy to swim in. Besides, there is plenty of clean, living water, in the vicinity of the city. To the boys, especially, we say, keep away from the river.

—A little skrimmag occurred on 11th street Saturday that was a good deal nearer a breach of the peace than was consistent with good order. It does seem that on such occasions policemen are uncommonly scarce, although the force would seem to be amply sufficient for a city of this size. The presence of a wielder of the locust would have a salutary effect even if there is no "pulling" to be done, the necessity for which the judgment of the officer in conformity with his duty may decide. Of course a policeman is not omnipresent, and this little reminder would not be made were it not for the fact that on more than one occasion the very last persons to seem to discover that anything conflicting with good order was transpiring were those whom we naturally expect to be promptly on hand in such emergencies.

—An accident occurred during the parade on the Fourth that for the moment threatened disastrous results. The seat upon which Capt. Hammond the driver of the four horses attached to the Hook and Ladder truck was sitting, (a box temporarily placed on top) upset, pitching the captain on his head in the road. In an instant the spirited horses were free and doing their level best to inaugurate a panic in the parade, but were caught before doing any further damage than breaking the tongue to the truck. Mr. Hammond was considerably stunned and bruised, but not seriously hurt, and was on hand to fill the portion of the program allotted to him—reading the declaration and addressing the multitude.

—As the result of an experiment recently made by Mr. J. N. Taylor in hatching with an incubator he now has about eighty fine, thrifty young chickens from one hundred eggs. Mr. T. who takes considerable interest in fine poultry, says that his hatching experiment has proven equally as successful as he has ever been from the old process of "setting" the hens. Among large poultry breeders the incubator is fast superseding the setting hen, and the next thing in order will be the propagation of a breed of chickens without the setting instinct, that will turn their whole attention to laying eggs, leaving science to manufacture the chickens.

—Troy Hale was successful here the other day in a little scheme to down some of the Columbus sports who backed Nickell's flyer against an ostensible emerald nag passing through tied behind a covered wagon, and did not discover the said nag was Troy's property until after their money had passed into his pockets through the hands of his cappers. It would seem that Hale's ability to work a "stick" racket on the "boys" and match a trained racer against a pretty fast team horse is superior to his judgment of fast horse flesh. It is a common saying in race track circles that it is safe to always bet "ferniest" Troy's judgment.

—The North Platte Telegraph has nothing particular to say for the skill of the ball club there, but does seem to feel a little proud of the diplomacy of the club's weak-kneed backers. It says:

"Greedy North Platte! to suck a base ball club dry the first day and then, the column-bussers having sent for funds over night, refuse to bet on the game next day!"

Their discretion is commendable. Luck could hardly be expected to prevail against science twice consecutively.

—In this section of the future greatest state of the Union the prospect for an excellent crop of all kinds of small grain was probably never better, and corn is said to be making such rapid growth that the joints haven't time to form. Can't vouch for the truthfulness of that assertion but do know that the growth is something wonderful. The rye harvest will commence this week. Of this cereal a considerable acreage is to cut.

—Mike Moskel, a Polish laborer, who has a wife living on the bottom in this city, and who has recently been working at Seward, was drowned at that place Saturday last while bathing in the Blue river. The body was recovered and buried at this place Monday last.

—The JOURNAL is pleased to notice that Geo. Smith, who was injured by a stroke of the ball from the hands of the pitcher in the recent game between the Columbus and U. P. nines at Omaha, is again able to be around.

THE FOURTH IN THE CITY.

How Independence Day was Observed by Our Citizens.

At an early hour the booming of cannon announced to the drowsy denizens that the Nation's Birthday was about to dawn, and later its advent was rendered exceedingly pleasant by the inspiring strains of the band in several of the old-time patriotic airs, from the observatory of the Court House.

The early morning did not give promise of a favorable day, dark, lowering clouds obscuring the sun and the elements wearing a threatening aspect until nearly noon, when the clouds gave way to clear sky and sunshine.

Considering that almost every hamlet in the county had its own celebration, the multitude that congregated at Columbus to help celebrate the nation's greatest holiday was quite complimentary to the efforts of the fire department to offer an acceptable program of attractions for the day. The Mayor and city council, attorney and clerk riding in a carriage in front of the column of uniformed firemen, headed by the band in their handsome new suits was well calculated to give a brilliant and very attractive lead to an interesting following of callithumpians and other ludicrous indispenables to the tale of a Fourth of July parade, that it was intended should be a marked feature, and it is but justice to the committee to say that they were themselves disappointed, not being able to get the assistance and encouragement necessary to make that part of the program as complete as was intended; however, what there was of it was good. Friedhoff & Co., Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Drake were represented very acceptably.

After the parade, the throng gathered at the bowery in Frankfort Square and listened to the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Capt. John Hammond, who also addressed the multitude very appropriately, followed by an address by the mayor of the city, J. M. Macfarland, and an adjournment for dinner.

Of the program after dinner we have not space to speak in detail and note its interesting features with results of contests, etc., but want to say that however attractive it might have been with a proper place to present it, that place is not a thoroughfare of the city; and further, we think all who are interested in having the very best time and a celebration enjoyable to the utmost would do well to remember that to find a suitable place for such celebration we must go out of the precincts of the city.

The game of ball in the afternoon was an interesting feature of the day and the fire works in the evening were really fine. On the whole the day was a success throughout and no doubt all felt satisfied with its observance.

The ball in the evening was largely attended, there being hardly dancing space sufficient to accommodate all who wanted to participate and mingle with the gallant firemen.

HASTINGS VS. COLUMBUS.

The Ball Game on the Fourth-Columbus "Gets There."

The ball game between the Hastings "Reds" and the Columbus nine at Athletic Park grounds was an interesting and to many the most pleasant feature of the doings of Independence Day in the city, and was witnessed by the largest crowd ever gathered in the Park. The "Reds" are a good team and this pencil opinion is that whenever our boys meet them they will need to be on their metal and in first-class shape for the game. Up to the fourth inning the game was a beauty, resulting in goose eggs on both sides of the score sheet. Hastings was the first to go to pieces on errors, but was followed very closely by a bad break on the part of Columbus, neither club entirely recovering themselves, though the score will show the game on the whole to have been a good one and close enough to make it intensely interesting.

County Alliance. JULY 5th, 1884.

The County Alliance met at Platt Center, pursuant to call. J. S. Freeman served as temporary chairman and Nellis Olson as temporary secretary.

The following committee was appointed by the chair on credentials: H. P. Kelly, H. S. Redenbaugh and Mr. Luthé.

The committee reported the following named gentlemen entitled to seats on the Alliance: John Brunkan, H. S. Redenbaugh, George Redenbaugh, J. S. Freeman, John Mullen, D. L. Bruen.

P. H. Kelley was elected permanent chairman, and D. L. Bruen permanent secretary.

A motion made and carried that each Alliance be allowed their full delegation.

The following Alliances were admitted to representation in the Alliance: Lost Creek, West Croston and East Croston.

All went on smoothly until we came to the reading of the minutes of the last County Alliance. Objections were made by J. S. Freeman, and corrections called for in the report of the investigating committee, which was chosen at the last County Alliance in Humphrey, Feb. 24, 1884, to strike out the word chairman and insert the word committee. Correction not ordered. The minutes were approved as read, which caused a uproar and a bolt. Rights are all work for.

D. L. BAUEN, Sec'y.

INFORMATION TO THE ALLIANCES OF PLATTE COUNTY.

I am informed that there was some discord at the last County Alliance held at Platt Center, July 5th, concerning the report of the investigating committee which was chosen at the County Alliance held at Humphrey, Feb. 24, 1884, for the purpose of investigating the action taken by the Platte County Alliance Central Committee in the last fall campaign. As I could not be at the last County Alliance held at Platt Center, July 5th, I wish for information of the Alliances in said county to make a correction in the secretary's minutes concerning the report of the investigating committee; as I drafted that report I know how it was worded:—

"Investigating committee's report Feb. 24, 1884: We, the authorized investigating committee, do hereby exonerate the Platte County Alliance Central Committee from all blame whatsoever in the action taken by them in the last campaign."

T. A. POTTS, Chairman.

On motion, this report was accepted and ordered printed, no change of motion for to change the report above was brought before that convention.

[D. L. Bruen, secretary, hands up the above as from T. A. Potts.—EVENING JOURNAL.]

Humphrey.

Business men as well as farmers are jubilant over the prospect of good crops.

Boys, get your plumes and eagles ready for the Blaine and Logan clubs to be organized soon.

The stone has arrived for the foundation of the Methodist church, and we are likely to have a church building going now.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nicholas are conducting a business and pleasure trip to Red Oak, Iowa. His business interest will be looked after here by F. M. Cookingham during his absence.

The Fourth was a success in every department. The declaration was read by Mr. J. I. Robison, editor of the Independent, the oration was delivered by Mr. J. M. Gonding, a promising young man from Indiana, and music given by the Humphrey band, was complimented in very glowing terms by nearly every lady present. The sports in the afternoon were by the Calithumpian parade, was highly cheered, and the program was carried out to the letter. The racing was enjoyed by many and a goodly number of the boys made their experience in winning prizes, and it was notable for there being no row or fight on that day; we flatter ourselves in having as peaceable a town for one of its size as there is in the state. The ball was a success to the boys.

C.

City Council.

From the clerk's notes of the regular council meeting Saturday evening, and an adjourned meeting Monday evening, we note as follows:

In the matter of the petition of citizens asking that Frankfort or Engine House square be cut up into lots and the fence removed, Councilman Ragatz moved to lay on the table, which was amended by motion of Councilman Whitmoyer to refer to committee on public property and so ordered.

Ordinance closing barber shops on Sunday was repealed.

A resolution electing John G. Goutson, Geo. Willard, I. Gluck and Hoppen and Gerhard Schutte assessors of damages caused by opening Meridian avenue.

An ordinance was passed making levy of ten mills on the dollar of all real, personal and mixed property of the city to pay salaries of city officers, grading and protecting streets, etc.

Lost Creek Items.

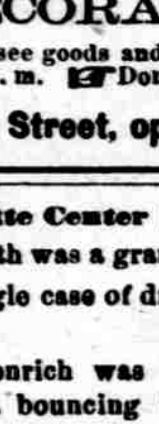

The brick foundation for our new church is laid and building commences this week.

Mr. Murdock commences Tuesday to build his residence, and I see the inside out for our new school house. We are slowly but surely getting there.

Plante Center Items.

The Fourth was a grand success.

Not a single case of drunkenness or disorder.

Jacob Heinrich was blessed June 31st with a bouncing boy. Mother and son are doing well. Dr. Powell was master of ceremonies.

E. A. Fulford of Creston was the orator of the day, and it is the unanimous verdict of those present that he did the subject full justice.

There was an addition to the family of Mr. Richard Perkinson July 2d, in the shape of a bouncing boy. Richard realizes that we want to incorporate.

The excavations for another building are under way between I. Niemoller's store and the creek. Your correspondent has not yet learned what it is intended for.

The fortunate ones in the horse races were Charles H. Carrig and Nicholas Gentleman. Light weight foot races, Daniel M. Regan. Fat man's race, David Carrig, Jr. Shooting, John Maher first, George Field second. T.

Drouth-proof Grass.

The evergreen millet, a new drouth-proof grass, is claimed to be equal if not superior to alfalfa. Unlike the ordinary millets, it is perennial. It is propagated either by seeds or roots, like the Bermuda grass, and once put in will soon spread and occupy the whole ground. Drouth affects it very slightly if at all, in consequence of some of its roots penetrating deeply. It is not generally known, but it is stated that its strongest recommendations come from California. It is claimed that it may be cut from three to six times a year, and makes from four to eight tons to the acre of excellent hay at each cutting. If the statements are true regarding this grass it is undoubtedly the very article that Nebraska farmers should procure and cultivate, as the time will soon come when it will be necessary to secure the tame grasses for this state.

Overhauling and Unquestionable Testimony that the Little Light Champion "Got There."

Farm of Jas. R. Smith, Lost Creek Township, Platte Co., Neb., July 7th, 1884.

Wm. Bloedorn, Platte Center, Neb., Champion Machine Co., Springfield, Ohio, Gentlemen:—We have to-day witnessed the working in tangled grain by Deering Junior and Champion Binder and we say the Champion runs and looses easier and quicker, cuts and handles down grain better, operates easier and pulls lighter. Champion run part of time with William Bloedorn's two small eight-hundred-pound horses in buggy harness—for the Sandwich Reliance Binder, James Smith, Jr., Agt. and field operator for Disk cultivators & harrows.

Respectfully, W. J. Wright, Jr. Champion and puts it up and starts it himself to-morrow.

W. E. Kent, Agt. and mechanic, expects for Buffalo, N. Y., Roller Mill Machinery. A practical man who has worked in the machinery for years. 11-2
