The proceedings in brief may be found in this number of the JOURNAL. F. G. Hartwell has located in the rooms above Dowry & Chin's drug store, for the practice of dentistry, and solicits a share of public patronage. The JOURNAL job department has just finished a very neat bar-docket, the admiration of all who have seen them, for use during the March term of court.

We are glad to notice that some needed attention is being given side-walks in the business portion of the city, too numerous for particular mention. We learn that the Ocellus wife-killer, Smith, was sentenced last week by Judge Norval at the March term of court for Polk county to be hanged. A fire which is supposed to have originated from flying sparks from a passing engine burned a stack of hay on the Steger farm east of the city last Friday evening. The March term of the district court of the fourth judicial district for Platte county will convene next Monday at the Court House, with Judge A. M. Post presiding. H. M. Winslow shipped eight car-loads, 144 head, of fat cattle to Chicago Friday, and sold one car-load of fat hogs averaging 350 lbs. each to Mr. Crandall of Duncan. Mr. Geo. Yale, the Olive street implement dealer, is preparing his spring pronouncements to the farmers of Platte county, which will appear in the JOURNAL. Look out for it. Those in need of corn planters should remember that Krause, Lubker & Co. have the celebrated Union and Keystone machines with Tate's check row, which will appear in the JOURNAL. Look out for it. WANTED--Cattle to herd for the coming season in the Loup Valley, 6 miles west of Columbus, section 18, township 17, range 1 west. Call on or address, A. T. Rowe, Lost Creek, Nebr. 48-1f. Now is the time for those who do not take a copy paper to begin. On receipt of $9.00 we will send, postage paid, one year, to any address in the United States, six copies of the JOURNAL. Baker Post No. 3, G. A. R. indulged in a little social festivity and a banter supper last Saturday night, at which the wives of the members participated. Report says everybody enjoyed themselves. Robt. Uhlig writes us from Minden: "Being the day on which my subscription expires, I enclose you a check for $2.00. Please send the JOURNAL along regularly, as you know we can't live without it." The contract for furnishing the new school building with desks and seats was let to the Kane Co. at $737.20. The other bids were, Shepherd, $870; Automatic, $790.90; Cincinnati, $760; Novelty, $713; Burlington, $712. Take advantage of the war among the Steamship lines. Prices now less than half the usual rates. Buy your tickets now. Old rates may be re-established any moment. Will sell on time if desired. First National Bank. 40-1f. From present indications there will be no lack of fun at the city election. The temperance folks propose to show their hand, and it begins to look as though nothing short of three tickets would satisfy the different factions. The legislature has provided for the taking of the state census on or before the 1st of June, 1885. It will cover about the same ground as the national census, embracing all matters of interest relating to the growth and material prosperity of the state. Albert Luth recently lost two valuable cows killed by the cars. It would seem as though it would pay the railroad companies, in saving from such accidents, to fence their lines, especially where they traversed a section of country thickly settled and well supplied with stock. Nominations for the city officers are now in order, and we wish to remark that in our opinion the nomination of men whose names will be a guarantee that our municipal affairs will be wisely administered for the best interests of the entire community will receive the support of the majority of our citizens. The numerous tramp indicates the approach of spring. He goes forth over all the land, and since winter quarters in some cold, warm jail is no longer the sweet desire of his heart, he begs openly as usual, but does his stealing by stealth, dodging rather than coveting the company of the wary "cop." The legislature made a number of amendments to the school laws. One of the important provisions is that the county superintendent shall divide a district on petition of one-half of the legal voters of each district affected. Formerly a petition of two-thirds was required. Another important provision is the changing of the school year, which will now commence on the first Monday in July. The annual meeting will be held on the first Monday in April as heretofore, but the officers elect do not assume their duties until the beginning of the school year, the present officers holding over until that time. A good house greeted the opening performance of "A Mountain Pink" yesterday afternoon. The popular local favorite, Laura E. Dalny, had a warm reception, and was several times called before the curtain during the progress of the play. She acts the part of Sincerity Weeks in a charming manner, and her Southern dialect is perfect. Miss Illie Moses plays two parts--Belle Trifton and Samantha Weeks--one a Southern belle and the other a moonshiner's wife, who smokes a pipe and is altogether unlovely--and plays them both well. The part of Felix Bonnyer, the outlaw, is well played by Mr. Langdon, and Mr. Hennegan as Scip makes a very good aged darkey. Mr. Hynson does as well as could be expected as Harold Wilnot, the conventional lover, and Mr. Denny does a good bit of character acting in the part of Jack Weeks. The play abounds in strong situations, is handsomely mounted, and judging by the applause at the evening's performance, bids fair to do a large business. Chicago Herald.

A GALA DAY FOR THE LADIES. Grand Opening of the New Millinery Store. The new Millinery store of Messrs. Holmes & George on Nebraska Avenue will commence business on Saturday, March 29th, with a grand opening for the benefit of the ladies of the city and vicinity. All are invited, and will receive polite attention in examining our styles and prices. Each lady will be presented with a handsome chrome. Three doors north of State Bank. We learn of a fatal accident which happened near Fortville, this county, on Saturday, the 14th instant, by which the wife of Mr. D. H. Davis lost her life. She had mounted a horse to ride to one of the neighbors, when the horse became unmanageable and threw her off, causing injuries from which she died on the following Monday. The solid freezing up of the ponds and lakes seems to have played havoc with the fish, killing them by hundreds. Mr. Guy C. Barrum tells of having seen after the recent thaw at a certain spot across the Loup thousands of dead fish carcasses washed up on the bank, and as he expresses it, "at least the calculation nine thousand bushels of dead frogs." C. W. Waldron, of the Rounton & Waldron land agency, returned last week from Creston, Iowa, having completed for his firm the negotiation of an extensive real estate transaction by which about 3,000 acres of Cheyenne county lands go into possession of some Iowa parties who wish to engage extensively in the business of stock raising. Mrs. Jane Crayon of Kansas was in this city Friday soliciting contributions to help her rebuild her dwelling in Ottawa county, that was destroyed by the cyclone of June 1883. Some of her family were injured, and all left homeless, her husband being disabled for life. These facts were vouched for on the subscription paper by S. D. Houston, Sen., who, she said, was a land agent. The JOURNAL job department is prepared to furnish, on short notice, all kinds of commercial work, such as letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, circulars, envelopes, cards, doggers, posters, &c.; visiting cards; lawyers' briefs; pamphlets; catalogues; sale bills; &c. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders by mail promptly attended to. Address, M. K. Turner & Co., Columbus, Nebr. Mrs. A. Luth and Mrs. P. H. Finlogher, with their children, met with quite an incident the other day. On the road between this and Scheyer there is a bridge, and, at the time we speak of, the water was high and the mules misad the bridge, going into quite a depth of water, giving all the occupants of the wagon a thorough "soak." The party were dried out at Mr. Erb's and will long remember their escape from drowning. The alarm of fire which was sounded about 9 o'clock last Friday night caused considerable anxious apprehension until it became apparent that it was in a portion of the city which would not endanger the entire town--the extreme southwest suburbs on the bottom. The fire was in what is known as the old Preston building which was burned down, being well under headway before discovered. The building was unoccupied and is supposed to have been set on fire by tramps. Mrs. G. W. Anderson modestly disclaims the distinction of being a lecturer; nevertheless, those who had the pleasure of listening to her sensible discourse to fathers, mothers, young men and young women, boys and girls--in fact each and every responsible member of the home circle came in somewhere for words of instruction and good advice--will award her the credit of placing before her hearers some plain, homely truths in a very pleasing manner. Her lecture should have been much better attended. The Council have authorized their committee Messrs. Lockner & Rickly to improve the public squares, one near Mr. Spieck's residence, the other where the Engine House is situated. The question now is with this committee, how much or how little to expend upon them. The square east is already planted to trees and seeded to grass, and is in fair condition, while the Engine House square is hardly useful, not to say ornamental in any particular. We believe the action of the Council will be almost universally approved, if this committee will do its best to make the public square, in the heart of the city, a thing of beauty, until such time, at least, as it may be demanded for business uses. The JOURNAL does not wish to be liable to the charge of partiality in chronicling the principal events of the city, and will say in excuse for not having noticed that there was a row at Wendell's saloon Saturday night a week ago that the neglect was owing to the fact that a knowledge of it did not come to the ears of our reporter in time for mention last week. It appears to have been a regular monkey and parrot time of considerable dimensions, but was quieted consistently confined to the precincts of the saloon. "So mote it be." Let the fighting be confined to the places where inspiration for such "battering troubles" is dealt out. Bucklen's Arnica Salve. The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillsbains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. There is probably no state in the Union which, for its years, can show so much of a record for general farming and stock raising as Nebraska. The rich alluvial soil of Nebraska is admirably adapted to raising all the small grains, and this makes stock raising not only a necessity, but wonderfully profitable, as all our farmers know theoretically, and as all of them will know, practically, as the years roll by. We know of places east where it is considered a big thing to raise half a dozen heavy hogs on a farm, and so it is for them, but in Nebraska it is no common occurrence for small farmers to sell from forty to sixty and more fat hogs from their herds each year. The following is a neat sample of what is being done in Platte county. Messrs. Gerrard & Zeigler bought $300 worth of hogs three years ago, this spring; from these, the first fall following they sold $250 worth, last year $900, and this year a little over $1300 worth and have left 125 pigs. This shows a little of what is being done in this line of farm enterprises. We may add to the strength of the lot delivered here the other day to D. Anderson, dealer. Eighty-three hogs weighed an average of 384 lbs. each; 51 of the lot averaged 411 lbs.; 25 averaged 457; and four of the heaviest averaged 565 lbs. each. Nebraska may well boast of her productions. Brandt's saloon on 13th st. was the scene of a lively scrimmage last Friday night between the proprietor and several young men of the city engaged in the innocent and intellectual pastime of painting the town a deep red. Mr. Brandt seemed to think the boys were too drunk to be agreeable company and insisted on their departure, to which arrangement there was objection on their part. On what grounds the objection was based is not quite clear, but possibly might have come from some sort of notion of the eternal fitness of things--that if too drunk to be proper inmates of a saloon they stood a good chance of becoming still more obnoxious as occupants of the street and almost a certainty of not having proper attention from the police. At any rate there was a difference of opinion which was not settled until a little collision with clubs and billiard cues was indulged in, resulting in a broken head for the proprietor. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Anderson closed a series of temperance lectures at the skating rink last Friday evening to a fair audience. They commenced their work here last Sunday in the interests of the prohibition cause with the understanding that their stay would be regulated by the interest manifested by the community, and since their sojourn was prolonged to nearly one week, with a lecture every night, we must conclude that the encouragement they met was not entirely discouraging, though the audiences were generally small. As lecturers the Andersons are all their claim to be--not pretending to particular brilliancy or magnetism, but certainly do seem to deserve the credit of being earnest, conscientious workers in the cause of temperance and good morals. In their short stay they made many friends among our citizens. The tramp nuisance has struck Nebraska at several points. The best cure for the malady will be found in the towns purchasing stone and setting the vagrants to work out their fines and pay for their board. It is simply wonderful how such a town becomes known to the fraternity, and no less marvelous the unanimity with which they shun the place and go by on the other side. The annoyance to citizens is outrageous, and the crimes that are likely to be committed by the horde of roving loafers, beggars and thieves may be prevented by towns that will make them work. Of all the things on top of the ground that the tramp does not want to find is work for his hands, by which he might earn an honest living. Let Columbus buy some stoves and try the experiment. The Council have authorized their committee Messrs. Lockner & Rickly to improve the public squares, one near Mr. Spieck's residence, the other where the Engine House is situated. The question now is with this committee, how much or how little to expend upon them. Heister and his accomplished helpmate, returned from their trip south last week. Mr. Heister says he wouldn't live away down south if the entire country were given. He believes he will now be content to live a day in Nebraska or Kansas. Duncans. Ed. JOURNAL--In one of the last numbers of your valuable paper an advice was given under the heading "How to built up a town." "Talk about it," "Write about it," "With the instruction of your paper. With your permission we would endeavor to write something about our little town of Duncan, which is beautifully located on the Union Pacific R. R., 100 miles west of Omaha in the fertile valley of the Platte river. Though we do not expect to see the said town grow to the size of New York or Chicago, but at least big enough to find a bottle of Perry Davis' Pain Killer for sale within its borders when we are troubled with toothache or any other ache. A great mark of our town to weaver is the new elevator of Messrs. Jaeggi & Schuppach of Columbus, the capacity of which is estimated at 10,000 bushels, constructed, and completed under the careful management of Mr. Nick Blaser, who hit all the nailright on the head. The running of the institution is performed by the chief engineer, Chris Meedel, who by the way will buy all the grain and hog-busines of our worthy friend Mr. Crandall, who handles nearly two cars a day, causing him to run with a speed of 114, 6 footstepes a minute. The general merchandise business of C. S. Webster's deserves special mention. He has a kind word for all his customers, and in connection with the post master, makes something, and waits on a great number of customers every day. Slow but sure. Then the dry goods and grocery establishment of Mr. Borowiak, who is a new business man and knows how to treat folks to satisfy them. He is now building a nice dwelling on Cleveland street. The proprietorship of the Commercial Hotel, is in the hands of Mr. Maler, who will please everybody in want of something in his line. The Commercial is the leading house of the city. Next comes the blacksmith and iron works of Mr. Naylor, who if there was 998 blacksmiths in the state could safely be counted for 2 to make a round thousand. Mr. Schneider has also improved his extensive iron shop, turning in and out lots of plows and other things every day. The jewelry and watch business of Mr. Weisenbach recommends itself. The clerk in charge is always able to tell what time of day it is. A Walking Skeleton. Mr. E. Springer, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., writes: "I was afflicted with lung fever and abscess on lungs, and reduced to a walking skeleton. Got a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which did me so much good that I bought a dollar bottle. After using three bottles, found myself once more a man, completely restored to health, with a hearty appetite, and a gain in flesh of 48 lbs." Call at Dowry & Chin's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle of this certain cure for all Lung Diseases. Large bottles $1.00. [3] Best in the World. MARRIED. LUESCHE--MUELE--LOSEKE. LUESCHE--On Thursday the 19th inst., at the residence of Mr. Henry Luesche, Sr., where they received a royal welcome at the hands of Mrs. Luesche. The marriage ceremony was followed by an impressive sermon, after which the very large number of happy guests resorted to the residence of Mr. Henry Luesche, Sr., where they received a royal welcome at the hands of Mrs. Luesche. The tables fairly groaned under the load of good things. It was evident that Mr. and Mrs. Luesche had resolved to celebrate the marriage of two of their children in the good old fashion of Fatherland--and right well they succeeded, as every reporter can testify. The two brides, Henry and Gerhard (the former the oldest son of Mr. H. Luesche and the latter a nephew of our townsman Mr. G. Schutte) are fair specimens of that sturdy, manly, honest and persevering yeomanry which is the bone and sinew of our country, that, on which our hopes for the political, social and moral good of the future are based. Their blushing brides while becoming mistresses of new brides meet their husbands' with loving hearts and willing hands; ready to take up life's burdens as well as to partake of its pleasures. False notions of the duties of the sexes do not prevail among the sons and daughters of our Shell Creek pioneers. Young friends, you have chosen well.
