

The Canadian Government has decided to advance the price of liquor licenses.

The remains of the late John B. Gough were interred at Worcester, Massachusetts.

The first term of district court ever held in Dawson county was in session last week at Chadron.

The treasurer at Washington has paid out about $10,000,000 so far this month on account of pensions.

GEORGE Q. CANNON, the Mormon apostle, was released the other day at Salt Lake, on giving bonds of $45,000.

EX-PRESIDENT ARTHUR was reported in very bad health last week. He is staying closely at his residence and seen by only a few intimate friends.

The secretary of the treasury at Washington has issued a call for $10,000,000 of 3 per cent. bonds, the principal of which will be paid April 1st next.

The bill creating a non-partisan board of election in Toledo, Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati has passed both branches of the Ohio Legislature.

DANIEL MCKEEGAN, a farmer of Cuming county, was thrown from his wagon one day last week, resulting in breaking his neck. A boy riding with him escaped without injury.

An effort is being made by the republicans of New York to induce Roscoe Conkling to take the leadership of the party, with the view ultimately of sending him to the United States senate.

WALLACE CHURCH made his escape one night last week from the Chadron, Neb., jail. He had just been sentenced by the district court to a term of six years in the penitentiary for horse-stealing.

DIXON, United States Attorney, was assaulted the other day at the Continental Hotel, Salt Lake. Frank J. Cannon, son of George L. Cannon, and Angus Cannon were two of his assailants, and they were arrested.

JOHN W. LAUER was arraigned one day last week at Omaha for the murder of his wife and he entered the plea of not guilty. If the public remember, he is the man that claims he shot his wife by mistake for a burglar.

Tax foolish and unnecessary strike at Mattoon, Ill., and thirty coal miners have resumed work and were not molested. The rest of the miners intend to go to work under the same conditions prevailing before the strike was made.

Ward was received at Chadron the other day that the Chinese inhabitants of Buffalo Gap were held up and robbed of about $70.00 by some of the toughs of that place. It is claimed that the Gap has an unusual number of roughts.

The Iowa legislature on the 26th ult. passed resolutions of respect for Judge Mitchell of this state, who died at the pioneer law-maker's re-union in Des Moines on the 25th, and appointed a committee to escort the remains to Nebraska City.

The Ohio Senate Committee investigating the October election has had the poll book and tally sheet of precinct "A," fourth ward, photographed. Mr. Dalton will now be able to obtain the original which he can use in freeing himself from contempt.

The State Farmers' Alliance held its sixth annual meeting at Hastings last week and transacted a large amount of business. We notice among the proceedings that W. A. McAllister, of this city and D. L. Bruen are appointed members of the State Central Club for Platte county.

PATENTS were issued one day last week at Washington City to citizens of Nebraska as follows: Joshua G. Benster, of Duncan, a wind-mill; William A. Smith and J. H. Hughes, of Woodland, hose coupling; Marquis F. Seely, of Fremont, grain elevator; Geo. M. Feedles, of Stuart, and E. G. Fisher, of Atlantic, Iowa, a plow.

"The great conspiracy, its origin and history," Senator Logan's proposed new book, is being already severely criticised. What attention the real book will receive when it appears is hard to tell, but one exchange says "Logan's book has been more severely criticised already than any other volume with which men now living are familiar."

A GENUINE case of rabies in the person of S. P. Williams, of Callaway postoffice, Texas, is reported to have been successfully treated by Dr. McLean, of St. Louis. The patient was kept under treatment for ten days, when the doctor declared his work complete, and apparently it was most successful. Williams returned to Texas in the best of health and spirit and confident of immunity from rabies.

RAIS, wind and snow storms again visited the east. At Boston telegraph poles were broken off by the high winds, blocking several streets with fallen poles an inextricable snare of wires. Many horses were entangled and the streets had to be roped off. A furious blizzard prevailed during the night of the 26th ult. and for a long distance down the eastern coast. At Portland twenty inches of snow fell. At Baltimore the storm was very severe. In part of the city houses were unroofed and in several instances shooting was torn off.

THE Nebraska Press Association met at Lincoln on the 23d ult., with a larger attendance than usual. Fifty-four gentlemen paid their fees and became members. Hon. E. M. Corral, of Hebron, was elected president; vice-presidents, Calhoun, of Lincoln, Haskell, of Ord, Thomas, of Holdrege; secretary, Bushnell, of Plattsmouth; treasurer, E. Whitcomb; executive committee, C. W. Pool, F. R. Morrissey, F. B. Riskey, W. N. King, J. A. McMurphy, L. A. Stevens. The above named officers were chosen to serve for the ensuing year. Will S. Jay was selected as orator for the next meeting, and H. M. Bushnell was elected poet. Bushnell, Simons and Brown were chosen a committee on revision of the constitution and by-laws. Oliver of the Fairfield Herald offered a resolution recommending that no advertisement be given for dailies. It was tabled. A vote of thanks was then tendered daily papers which had exchanged with the weekly press of the state. The next meeting will be held at Omaha.

A FEW days ago as a party of four persons, two men and two women, were nearing Buffalo Gap, the Sheriff of Custer county met them, and producing a warrant arrested them on charge of two murders. The statement as made is that last summer they kept a saloon in a tent at Sand Ridge, a point on the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley railroad being built. Two carpenters at work on the bridge there suddenly disappeared and no trace of them could be found. Soon the four parties left the saloon and went to the tin mines. The people tore down the tent and noted that under the bar the soil was loose. Examination was made and the body of one of the carpenters was found buried there, and the other was found in a thicket near by. Other evidence has been gathered, and the arrest made in consequence.—Ainsworth Journal.

MRS. ELIZA MCNAIR and her children have commenced suit in the district court at Lincoln against M. Glass and his bondsmen for selling her husband liquor, which has deprived them of their means of support. McNair is a bookbinder and capable of earning good wages when not under the influence of liquor. This winter McNair, while drunk, was so badly frozen that he lost eight fingers and a thumb, which has forever incapacitated him from working at his trade. The amount of the damage claimed is $5,000. A similar suit has been commenced by Sarah E. Meinnick, wife of a blacksmith against Charles A. Schawaz, Charles Meyer and C. Schaffer. She claims she has been deprived of her means of support by reason of the defendants selling her husband intoxicating liquors. She puts her damage at $3,000.

JUDGE JAMES L. MITCHELL, of Nebraska City, was attending the convention of the Pioneer Lawmakers on the 25th ult. at Des Moines, Iowa. Previous to making his speech the soldier's life was so vividly brought to his recollection by the singing of the song "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," that a friend noticed the Judge was visibly affected by it. When the singing was over the Judge was called upon for a speech and he responded briefly in sentences of thrilling power, and just as he was concluding with the words, "I love the ninth general assembly and the Iowa soldiers," he sank into his seat as if shot, supposed to be caused by an attack of apoplexy, which produced immediate death. At the time of his death he was Judge of the Second judicial district of this state. His wife and three children survive him.

A VERY destructive fire occurred last week in the business portion of Wilmington, N. C. The fire originated on the river steamer "Bladen," cotton laden, which set fire to the wharf and sheds of the Clyde line of steamers. Houses were swept away on Water street for three blocks, mostly business places. Among the buildings destroyed were the First Methodist church, offices of the Atlantic Coast line, the freight depots of the Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta, and Wilmington & Weldon railroad companies. The loss will probably exceed a million dollars.

JUDGE WYLIE, of the common pleas court at Columbus, Ohio, the other day denied the application of Clerk Dalton, of Hamilton county, for a writ of habeas corpus. He was arrested for refusing to produce before the house the election returns from precinct A, Fourth ward of Cincinnati. The application was dismissed and Dalton remained in custody of the sergeant-at-arms. These fraudulent returns will hurt some one yet. He who tampers with the ballot endangers free institutions more than he who commits any ordinary theft.

MRS. GRACEY, who kept a boarding house in Denver, was seized by the throat about 2 o'clock the other morning by an unknown person, who forcibly tore from her night clothing a package containing $800. After this struggle she fainted, and the robber securing the money, set fire to the house, and it burned to the ground. It is claimed that the inmates had been drugged, and it was with difficulty that they were got from the burning building. The loss by the fire will reach $5,000.

Tax body of the missing wife of George Graham was found at the bottom of a dry well fifty feet deep, near Brookline, Missouri, with a bullet hole in her right breast. Her husband proves to be a hornetish, bigamist, and every circumstance attending the death of Mrs. Graham goes to prove that he has added murder to his other crimes. Pending further investigation of the murder, Graham has been put under arrest for bigamy.

Washington Letter.

(From our regular correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 23, 1888. Since I last wrote you, the women have come, fought again and gone. I mean the women who want to vote. For eighteen successive winters they have rendezvoused in Washington with the intention of capturing Congress. They made a three days siege this time, and now that it is all over the city will resume the even tenor of its way, and its feminine element will return to dancing, flirting, going to church, making crazy quilts and painting plaques. These laudable enterprises were sadly neglected during the Woman's Suffrage Convention. As usual, the ladies went to hear all about the rights and possibilities and duties of their sex, and their minds were deeply stirred by the impassioned oratory of Miss Anthony and her co-workers.

The advocates of woman suffrage say that if men were to make such a struggle for freedom and their rights, it would be considered a fine thing, and there would be books and even poetry written about it. And this may be true. There is something poetically pathetic in the energy, patience, and chronic hopefulness evinced by these toilers for female enfranchisement. One is constrained to wish such industries and such faith were consecrated to a more hopeful cause.

At these conventions, the women are much given to speech making, personal glorification, and criticism of perfidious man. All they say they believe and mean and have said before. But how could anything new be said on a subject that is thoroughly discussed and exhausted annually? Miss Ada Sweet, of Chicago, whose powers of tenacity were strikingly illustrated in defense of her office of pension agent in that city, was prominent among the delegates to the convention. She is young, good-looking, self-possessed, and can make a speech, which she did, relating her experience with insane asylums, and giving her opinion that they should be at least partly under the management of women.

Mrs. Sewell, of Indianapolis, is one of the pillars of the sisterhood. She is not prepossessing in appearance, but probably as much so as the law of the association approves. Her adornments were limited to bangs. This concession to frivolous fashion in no wise detracted from Mrs. Sewell's formidable physiognomy, however, nor from her usefulness to the cause. She had a good deal to say about hardened Congressmen and indurated Senators, but she thought the consciences of these gentlemen less at fault than their intelligence. She regretted that it was impossible to sum up the benefits already accomplished by the suffrage movement, but that the same might be said of the sunlight. She made a really eloquent flight at this point, comparing suffrage to sunlight.

Mrs. Sewell was followed by Mrs. Perkins, of Ohio, a sister of uncompromising demeanor, who typifies the righteousness of the movement, as Mrs. Shattuck, of Boston, represents its aesthetic phase. Mrs. Perkins was sternly statistical on this occasion, although she has ornate resources, which she displayed during the sessions of the convention. She discoursed at one time upon the ladies of society, whose walk and conversation she does not approve, using a number of scriptural quotations. She has a tendency to be caustic in her public utterances. Men, she said, think women good enough to be angels, but not good enough to be citizens. They pray so fervently for Providence to bless women, that they leave it chiefly for Providence to do.

Mrs. Clay Bennett, a representative of the Blue Grass State and a relative of Henry Clay, vowed her fidelity to the cause, and made a spirited address on the "Constitutional Right of Women to Vote and Hold Office." Mrs. Bennett may be said to represent the ground whereon frisky and strong mindedness meet and unite. Her costume was neither frivolous nor funeral, but it was en train, and her gloves were a la Bernhard. Her oratory and elocution were, like herself, Kontakian.

Senator Vest underwent unutterable things at the hands of Mrs. Meriwether, of Missouri, for having expressed himself as an "uncompromising opponent" of the woman suffrage movement. Mme. Neyman, of New York, who has a fine Teutonic face, closed the conventions proceedings with a clever and comprehensive paper on the comparative independence of German and American women.

The bill now before the Senate looking to the enfranchisement of women is a source of great comfort to the members of the association who have been waiting and working to this end so long. Because of it they attached unusual significance to this their eighteenth Washington convention. Next winter they will come again to tell the same old story with variations, and to say every thing of Senators Vest and Edmunds.

News Notes. ALMOND trees are blooming in California. The new Methodist church at York cost $18,000, and is clear of debt. The Bohemian Turner society at Wilbur are about to build a large hall. It is claimed that a large quantity of counterfeit coin is in circulation at Tekama. Somebody has discovered that the Egyptians wore jerseys in the sixth century. In the north part of Holt county a new town has sprung up called Nebraska Falls. It is stated that at Nebraska City nearly 2,000 persons have signed the temperance pledge.

The fruit growers in Maine say that the ice has killed the buds, and they predict a short crop.

In Paris it costs $3 to cremate a body, and this includes coal and labor with an urn thrown in.

Nor less than seven German Generals will complete their fiftieth year of active service during 1888.

A nice pudding was received the other day among the third-class mail matter at the Brooklyn postoffice.

ACCORDING to the latest official statistics the number of working women in England and Wales is 7,706,545.

A NAIL and tack factory started last week in Council Bluffs, with Mr. Mountain, of Omaha, as one of its operators.

A NEW overcoat, made of strong, light, waterproof canvas, has been put on the market to take the place of the ordinary rubbers.

PROF. FAIRCHILD says that Manhattan Island is gradually sinking, and the sea will yet cover the present site of New York.

THE estimated number of post-offices in the United States up to the 1st of January was 51,919, 2,248 of them presidential.

EVAN BARNES, a passenger engine, well known in the vicinity of Galena, Ill., was killed the other day by an accident in Nebraska.

A PHILADELPHIA physician fastens his lantern on his horse's breast in dark nights so that the light is thrown forward where it is most needed.

CLARA BROWN, a colored woman, living on the Piedmont road, near Charleston, W. Va., says she is one hundred and twenty-two years old.

A JURY at Los Angeles, Cal., the other day awarded Louise E. Perkins $75,000 damages in her suit for breach of promise against "Lucky" Baldwin.

REV. PETER AKERS, one of the oldest Methodist preachers in the west, died at his home in Jacksonville, Ill., Sunday week. He was 95 years old and had preached since 1821.

THE circuit court at Columbus, Ohio, has affirmed the decision of Judge Wylie in the Dalton contempt case and it will be taken to the supreme court on error instanter.

GRASSHOPPERS in myriads have hatched out along the Mokelumne river, California. They are not larger than fleas, but the cold weather has not had the anticipated effect of killing them off.

NEXT month the Canadian Government will send a column of troops to the Northwest under command of General Middleton. Special visits will be made to reservations where disaffection exists.

A SON of David W. Henderson, a street car driver at Atlanta, Ga., recently lost a leg by being run over by a car on which his father held the reins. Henderson, sr., now sues the company for $10,000 damages.

MRS. PETER HIGGINS and George Higgins have confessed to the murder of the woman's husband, whose body was recently found in a manure heap near Central Lake, Mich. The victim was an uncle of George Higgins.

SUITS for damages aggregating $35,000 have been brought at Dubuque against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, the claim being that sparks from one of its engines caused the disastrous lumber fire last September.

It is claimed that small fly-wheels cast hollow and loaded with lead, is a foreign notion that promises to become popular in this country. They afford the same centrifugal power as a large wheel, cost less and take up less room.

A REPORT comes from Pekin, Ill., that Joseph Whitley, recently elected to the position of city treasurer of Pekin, has defaulted and fled to parts unknown. The amount of his default is not known but is believed to be large.

At Anoka, Minn., the other night, United States Marshal H. R. Denny and other officers, captured Frank Cole, George Goodson, Burt Lashness and Edwin Teller while in the act of manufacturing bogus money. They were taken to St. Paul and held in heavy bonds.

ACTIVE measures were being taken last week by the Mayor and citizens of Philadelphia, Pa., to raise funds to assist in the erection of a monument in that city to the memory of General George B. McClellan. At this meeting subscriptions to the amount of $43,58 were taken.

SANBORN, Hasse and Dingle, three young men of Greeley, Col., were out the other day hunting jack-rabbits near Evans; in getting out of the wagon Sanborn's gun was accidentally discharged striking him in the forehead, completely blowing off the top of his head, killing him instantly.

It is said that states rights is at a discount in the southern, as well as the northern end of the big American continent. The United States of Columbia, hitherto split into nine sovereign states, is to become the centralized Republic of Columbia, with the seat of power at the people's capital, Bogota.

ALBERT MITCHELL, a trusted employe of the Missouri Pacific and Washab Railways at St. Louis was arrested the other day for abstracting $1,000 from an express package, and confessed the crime. His accounts as treasurer of a colored club are short $2,000 and he expected to cover a portion of the deficiency by the theft.

At New Haven, Conn., the other morning the insane wife of Professor Waide, of Yale College, escaped from her keepers and could not be found. The students joined in the search and subsequently she was found two miles away, in the act of climbing up a precipitous cliff of rocks, from which she slipped and fell to the bottom dashing out her life.

MARTIN BROCKMAN and Fred Herman, directors of the city infirmary of Cincinnati, Ohio, were found guilty the other day of making fraudulent vouchers and various malfeasance in office. They both had tendered their resignations to the Mayor and fled. Brockman went to Canada and Herman to Havana. The Mayor did not accept their resignations.

Shell Creek Items. Mr. A. Henrich has rented his farm, stock and all, for five years to Mr. C. J. DeWalt from Iowa, who is expected to arrive before the first of March and move into the new house Mr. H. is building.

A fearful story is afloat of starving and maltreating a wife to death, of hiding her corpse in the granary and not allowing anybody to see it, of trying to dig a grave in the night. Where is the coroner?

The JOURNAL's suggestion of Hon. Leander Gerrard for our next Governor is received favorably throughout the county. An almost unanimous vote may be given him if he will only "run"—no he don't need to "run" the race; if he will only consent to give his name.

A dialogue from the White House: Politician. "He ought to be removed, Mr. President." The President. "Is there any cause for removing him?" "Any cause? Any cause? Why certainly, Mr. President, I have promised the place already to thirteen different men. Any cause? I should think so?"

What queer ideas people have of what is manly or womanly, gentlemanly or ladylike! There is little Billy Firstpants, he sees a man make a chimney out of his mouth and straightway he picks up out of the gutter a dirty stump of a cigar, lights it and struts away as proud as a peacock. Harry Sixyears sees his father drunk and takes pride in playing drunkard, tumbling from one side to the other of the sidewalk. "This is the way father does," Lucy Cheeringum wants a low-neck dress, "because I want to be a lady like mamma." Dick Bully sees a brute whip his wife and he thinks it is manly to abuse and maltreat and strike a teacher—yes even a lady teacher. But there is a difference in imitating a gentleman or a mule. Shame on a human or inhuman mule-bully!

The writer had a letter from Elder D. C. Thomas, a Welch Baptist minister who used to preach in these parts, inquiring about some items he saw in the JOURNAL, and about some of his old friends. Elder T. lives in Trumbull county, Ohio. He reports hard times on account of strikes. Speaking of strikes reminds me of little Tommy. His mother said, "Why, Tommy, that was awful mean in you to eat your sister's part of the cake." "Why, mamma, I should take my sister's part every time." The laborer wants to take the part of the employer, and he in turn that of the workman I. e. in Tommy's sense. Both are wrong. To be dissatisfied with reasonable wages when competition or low prices compel the employer to cut down is wrong, and for the employer to regard laborers as so many lemons to be squeezed to the last drop and then thrown away, is equally wrong, or even worse if avarice prompts to it. In such cases employers may well heed that the good old book says: "Go to, now, you rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you. Behold the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields which is of you kept back by fraud, cloth and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth." "Wee unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness and his chambers by wrong; that uses his neighbor's services, and giveth him not (or not what is just and right) for his work." X. Y. Z.

Nipped in the Bud. For eleven years I have suffered from a cancerous sore on my throat. At times it became very angry in appearance, discharging large quantities of matter and giving me intense pain. I used the ordinary household remedies only, and it would dry up and a scab would form over it, then it would increase in size again and trouble me greatly, and finally break and discharge freely. Thus for years it has been annoying me. A cancer doctor in Atlanta decided it was a cancer, and wanted to cut it out. I could not muster courage to let him use the knife on my throat. About that time I saw the advertisement of Swift's Specific, and the statement of some one suffering like myself. I determined to try it, and in May, 1884, I commenced its use. My general health began to improve from the first. I was unable to eat anything scarcely, and became quite feeble; but my appetite increased, and I can eat anything now. The sore has healed up and I am in perfect health. The only sign of a small red spot about the size of a pea, but it gives me no pain. Am sure that it gives me more will even remove that. It has done more for me than all other remedies used.
