—The Lincoln Democrat comes to us now asking an exchange. We have learned to admire Calhoun as the writer of the Topics of the Times in the Journal, and we have a curiosity to see how mean he can be as a democratic editor.

—Miss Mary Breyer is a host in herself. Her versatility is charming, and she seems perfectly at home in every character. As 'Lady Audley' she rivals Mrs. Bowers. A thoroughly conscientious actress, she surrounds herself with a company as careful and painstaking as herself.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

—One day last week one of L. D. Clark's spirited buggy horses became frightened near Baker's barn, took the bit in his teeth and started out at a 2:40 gait northward, overturning the vehicle and unseating the occupant at Hammond's corner, bringing up at the home barn, doing but little damage.

—The other morning as the B. & M. train was going into Lincoln on the Columbus branch, it ran over a little child of Mr. Porter, two years old, who was sitting on the track, killing it instantly. The child was sitting on a curve and the engineer was unable to stop his train after seeing the child in time to save it.

—Some burglarious thieves got into the residences of Paul Hoppen and Louis Schreiber Monday night, and stole from the former a gold watch, and from the latter, a silver watch. John Hoffman was disturbed, but lost nothing, and a would-be thief was scared away from Coolidge's, H. P. hearing him at the window.

—We are in receipt of No. 1, Vol. 1 of the Argus, published at Platte Center by Warwick Saunders. The JOURNAL has the new paper as another force helping to develop the resources of Nebraska. No town but may be very much benefited by a good newspaper; indeed, it is almost indispensable in these times to the welfare of a community.

—Miss Breyer won golden opinions from our amusement goers by her superb acting, while the ladies found an additional attraction in the excellent manner in which she dressed every character. Elegance of material, good taste and skill, all combined to make her the best dressed actress that has appeared at Brooklyn in this season.—Brooklyn, N. Y., Eagle.

—Mr. W. F. Hillman, one of the editors of the Cedar Rapids Era, was in town Friday last and called at this newspaper headquarters. He was on his return home from a three weeks tour of the western country with the Nebraska Press Association, about 60 members of which made up the party. He speaks well of the section visited and reports a very enjoyable trip.

—Buy the Whitehill sewing machine at A. & M. Turner's. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every particular. It is one of the very best machines sold, is easy running, is very easily managed, and makes a neat stitch. You will save money by examining the Whitehill before purchasing. Give your orders to G. W. Kibler, traveling salesman.

—J. C. Swartley, one of the board of county supervisors, narrowly escaped death Tuesday last, at the hands, so to speak, of a threshing machine. He was throwing sheaves to the table, and seeing one partly lodged on a belt, he was gently removing it with a fork, when the belt going at a rapid rate, caught on a tin, whirling the fork in such a way that it drove straight for the pit of Mr. Swartley's stomach, and probably would have penetrated it had it not been for thick clothes that Mr. S had on. It was a terrific blow, but with the assistance of those two good and capable Samaritans, Drs. Martyn & Schug, Mr. Swartley is around again and apparently all right. Some time ago he got kicked by a horse, and now this rumple with a threshing machine, led Sup'r Hudson to charge him with being a quarrelsome man, but Mr. Swartley declares these contests were not of his seeking.

—The probability is that a very large proportion of the butchers' stock among cattle in Illinois will be thrown on the market as early as possible, because of the scarcity of feed—naturally enough, that will be kept over which will require the least feeding with the greatest promise of success, the younger stock. Even now many Illinois stockmen who are able to do so are talking of coming to Nebraska with their herds. The JOURNAL reiterates that there is likely to be a good price for all the hay that can be put up in Nebraska. It might even pay this season, as it does in Kansas, to cut the corn and shock it. It certainly will, if the cost will not exceed, as there, two and a half cents a shock of 196 hills. Save all the provender.

—Drs. Martyn & Schug have provided themselves with one of the newest batteries we ever saw, and connected with it is an electric light which they can, without injury, insert exposed into any cavity of the human frame, and see plainly what's going on. This apparatus is especially adapted to examining the throat, and with it a doctor can see every spot. The battery is a powerful little machine, and those who need toning up can take their electricity in steady strengthening streams.

—Laxity in the enforcement of law is one of the greatest evils of these times. There ought to be something more definite as to the punishment of offences against the peace and good order of society. What may be anybody's business is really nobody's, and it doesn't just seem sensible to let a criminal go unpunished and unpunished, only because no one feels wealthy enough to be at the expense and trouble of a prosecution that ought to be the work of the general public.

—The canning business is destined to be of enormous extent in the west before many years. Already, where it has been properly begun, the results reached have been beyond promise. At Council Bluffs, the factory works up from 1,000 to 1,500 bushels of tomatoes daily thus running up 16,000 to 24,000 cans every twenty-four hours. The Nonpareil says that if the season had been favorable, the business would have been at least doubled.

—The performance at the Opera House on Friday night under the auspices of the Lyceum was quite well attended taking the hot weather into consideration. The net result was $26.00 over and above all expenses. The program was carried out neatly and evidently to the great satisfaction of the audience, for many numbers were encored.

—Ephraim Clark, Esq., of Cadiz, O., who is interested in the Township Farm, Stanton Co., arrived in the city Saturday afternoon and will remain some little time, combining business with pleasure. Father time has dealt gently with Mr. C. since his last visit to Nebraska, some ten years ago. He observes a wonderful improvement in our fair young city.

—One of the most beneficial of modern institutions is the fair, the exposition, and we have them of all kinds and varieties, from the society fair to the world's exposition, but each, in its way, is productive of great good. Lay aside the cares of the farm, the shop and the office for a week and attend the Platte County Fair.

—Messrs. Rosewater and Cook left last evening after concluding their investigation of the waterworks. Their decision will be sent in to the city council. We understand that they pronounce the entire arrangement—both pump and wells, as just a little thin for the purposes for which they were intended.—Fremont Tribune.

—The W. Y. Bissell Hose Team, owing to the misfortune of having short hose at the Fremont tournament, did not figure in the championship race, which was won by the Pacific of Grand Island, they making the run of three hundred yards in 41.5. Our boys took the third prize of $75 in the 41 race.

—Henry J. Hess, one of Platte county's worthy and energetic teachers, who has been enjoying a short vacation at home, has returned to the Omaha Commercial College, at Omaha, to improve his time until the first of October, when he will return and take charge of the Duncan school.

—John Wise got kicked by a horse in town Monday, at Vanalstine's stable. For an hour he was quite sick at the stomach. With quite a gash on his right leg and a recollection, he chews his fine-cut as usual.

Bargains! Bargains! In order to make room for fall goods, we shall, for 30 days, close all summer goods at cost, at Galley Bros.

—Miss Mary Breyer, as Marie, in the great temperance drama, "A Woman of the People," carried the audience with her throughout the play. The closing scene of the second act, in front of the Foulding Asylum, was superbly grand, and the audience showed its appreciation by round after round of applause. To be called four times before the curtain in one evening is an honor seldom accorded by a St. Joseph audience to any actress, and yet this is just what occurred at the Opera House last night.—St. Joseph Evening Journal.

"Plastered Property."

I wish to state to the public in reply to an article that appeared in the Democrat of this city August 13, '86, in the name of Wm. Irwin, alleging that I had run away with a mortgaged span of mules and a span of mares, and also leaving various and divers creditors to mourn my sudden departure, that I'm still living east of the Rocky mountains ready to meet all my creditors and the editor of the Democrat, and can be found at the "Big Cat," Scribner branch, Aug. 26, '86. JOHN URWIN.
