

An earthquake shock was felt on Long Island the other day.

RUFUS BLODGETT has been elected United States Senator from New Jersey.

The appointment of Benedict to be public printer has been confirmed by the Senate.

FALLS CITY desires and will try to obtain a daily train from and to Omaha.

SAMUEL F. BIRCH has been appointed register of the land office at Valentine, Neb.

E. F. HUDSON, of Nebraska, has been appointed receiver of public moneys at Lincoln, Neb.

SAMUEL G. GLOVER, of Arlington, Neb., has been appointed receiver of public moneys at Valentine, Neb.

A BILL to abolish stores with passenger cars was introduced the other day in the New York legislature.

The Board of Trade at Sutton, Neb., has decided to offer a bonus to manufacturers who would locate at that point.

The river bank suddenly and unexpectedly caved in at Loda, Miss., carrying with it a warehouse and several other buildings.

A RESIDENT of a remote part of Oregon sent in the other day 7,000 rabbits scalp, upon which a bounty of five cents each was paid by the county.

The chairman of the revenue commission of Illinois proposes to levy a tax on the gross receipts of railroad companies, instead of on the road bed and stock.

The bill for the redemption of trade dollars and the anti-polygamy bill have become laws without the President's signature, the ten days having expired in which he should have signed and returned them.

THERE was great rejoicing in Gloucester, Mass., on the third among fishermen over the passage of the Edmunds' bill. At noon all the bells were rung, colors hoisted and guns fired.

The nomination of James M. Trotter (colored) to be recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia was reported adversely to the Senate. A resident of the District of Columbia is demanded.

NEAR EASTON, Pa., a deplorable accident occurred. Six boys were out hunting muskrats and in a blinding snow storm returning home were run into by a passenger train and all killed, and mangled in a horrible manner.

Is it possible that the Omaha Republican is a-m-a-d? One would think so to read this which it says of Rosewater, editor of the Bee: "He is simply a materialized infamy, a moral idiot, a permitted and continuous crime." Abuse will not build up a newspaper business.

THE President approved a number of bills on the 3d, among others that to authorize the President of the United States to protect and defend the rights of American fishing vessels, American fishermen, training and other vessels in the British dominion of North America.

It is stated at the White House that there is no probability of a special session being called by the President for the purpose of acting on nominations or for any other purpose. The Interstate commerce commission and the successor of Manning will probably be appointed next week, or the week following.

HARRY GUINN, a timber cutter, started for his cabin, thirty miles from Leadville, Col., to Frisco to get provisions. When he reached the railroad track a train was approaching which he attempted to board. A moment later the train had heard a shriek and stopping the train found the mangled body of Guinn beneath the wheels. The dead body was literally cut to pieces.

A NEW counterfeit dollar has appeared simultaneously in several cities, and it is said to be the best yet made. They look right, and are correct weight, but they are too large failing to pass through the treasury gauge. They are coated with pure silver thick enough to resist acid. A dangerous five dollar piece has also appeared. It is light weight, but coated with thirty-five cents worth of gold to resist acid.

At the signal office at Washington is an instrument called the seismoscope, which, though of delicate construction, can only be opened by an earthquake. The other day when Italy was shaken up and the news flashed across the Atlantic, the seismoscope at Washington was attentively watched. Six hours later it duly recorded the event, thus showing that the earth tremor traveled at the rate of about 500 miles an hour.

A JOINT convention of the two houses was held at Lincoln, the object being to correct the records and reconvene the vote on the legislative amendment. The speaker of the house read the abstract of votes and announced the total vote cast to be 138,423; for the amendment, 72,497; against the amendment, 22,135. He then declared that the amendment had been carried by a constitutional majority. The results of the canvass were immediately delivered to Gov. Thayer who has issued a proclamation declaring the amendment carried and declaring the holding of a sixty days session.

Henry Ward Beecher.

The greatest preacher of our times, and one who had a marvelous influence over his fellow men, was stricken with apoplexy last Friday morning, and has been pronounced incurable, and liable to die at any moment.

We may not expect to see another Beecher, for nature never repeats herself in this sense. Each individual is different from every other, and that combination of physical, intellectual and moral forces which make him known as Henry Ward Beecher, has ceased, as a visible existence. It is too early for a review of this wonderful man's wonderful career. The sudden close of an eventful life prolonged to ripe years, is probably due to extra effort and added work during the last few months, a strain too great for his strength.

Peace to his memory.

The Old Bell-Reeched.

A recent number of the Chicago Times shows that that sheet, consistent with its record during the rebellion in sympathizing with traitors and abetting treason, is now opposing just measures in favor of those who were Union soldiers, and helped to save the country. It is enough to make patriotic blood boil, or the spirits of the dead soldiers return to their old haunts to read these lines:

"There is in the nature of the volunteer hero something that inclines him to the profession of mediocrity, and it will be a happy day for this republic when the last beggar of the Grand Army humbug is securely planted."

The Grand Army which saved the government against the machinations of creatures such as the writer of the above could have been during the war, will be remembered as heroes, while such as he will be executed along side of Benedict Arnold and Aaron Burr.

It strikes me very forcibly, said a citizen the other day, that there is something radically wrong about the "innocent purchaser" business in regard to promissory notes. The laws ought to be arranged something after the fashion of the land laws so that the purchaser would be put on his guard when he buys notes. Notes should not be negotiable unless filed by a proper officer and acknowledged to be genuine for a lawful consideration, or, better yet, the maker of the note should have the same defence against any purchaser of the same that he would be entitled to as against the first man who obtained his note; this would put a quick end to the taking of fraudulent notes.

For my part, continued the citizen, I don't see why the "innocent purchaser," so-called, should be shielded at the expense of the "innocent giver" of the note, the first "innocent" is certainly, as a rule, more entitled to the protection of law. Let us begin to get rid of the old cobwebs of law made to favor those who are abundantly able to take care of themselves. Because a rule of law has obtained for generations, is no reason why we may not question its fairness, and get rid of it, if it is oppressive.

REV. HENRY WARD BEECHER was stricken down Friday morning last by a stroke of apoplexy and at the time of this report was lying unconscious. While hoping that the attack may not prove fatal, grave fears are entertained by his intimate friends and members of his family that his labors as a pastor in this world have ended. Beecher resides with his son, Col. Henry Beecher, at the corner of Hick and Clark streets in Brooklyn, New York. A son who is in the west, another in San Francisco, and Mrs. Schofield, his daughter, have been telegraphed for. W. C. Beecher, with his wife and Mrs. Beecher, spent all day Saturday at the bedside of the great clergyman. They were completely overcome with grief at his condition. There was no change in Mr. Beecher's condition at 3 o'clock a.m.

A SENSATION was produced in Omaha the other day by the report that the Union Pacific railroad company had issued an order making a sweeping reduction in their expenses and changing matters wonderfully. There appears to be some truth in regard to the issuing of the order to reduce expenses, but it did not have the sweeping force among the clerks as at first reported. It appears to be aimed at the construction department that operations take a tumble, and although reluctantly, commanded last week, that with the exception of contracts already awarded, further construction be entirely shut off, and the engineering corps that were in the field, have been called in and will not be sent out again. This means also, that there will be no more extensive purchases of supplies.

A REPORT comes from Geneva, N.Y., of a meeting being held the other night. Mr. Reagan, the attorney for the Kansas City & Omaha, and J. Jensen and E. M. Billings of Geneva were present and addressed the meeting, after which there were speeches by residents. A vote was taken and every resident voted in favor of giving aid to the Northwest and Kansas City & Omaha railroads. The railroads offer to not take the proposed bonds and to give as much money as they ask of bonds if the people will remit their taxes for twenty years.

The Norfolk Journal says it would be cowardly and disgraceful for the republicans of the legislature not to submit the question of prohibition to a vote of the people, and give other parties a leverage against the republicans, because in their last state platform they pledged themselves to submission.

The President has nominated James M. Trotter (colored), of Mass., to be recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia.

Texas business blocks, including the Republic and Observer offices at Richmond Center, Wis., burned the other day. Loss $40,000.

The stock and building of the William Pieme wholesale hardware company and warehouse of the Standard Milling Co. at Alton, Ill., burned the other morning. Loss about $20,000.

THERE was a report in London that a revolution had broken out in Sofia, but it was later found that a trifling disturbance occurred there, resulting in the arrest of a few Russians.

SEVERAL Chinamen have recently died in Denver, Col. It is now the prevailing opinion that they died from attacks of genuine leprosy. The effects of the Chinamen who recently died were burned.

BURGERS blew open the safe in the bank at La Grange, Mo., the other night and secured all valuables, amounting to $21,000, mostly in bonds and notes. The robbers escaped, leaving no clue.

MARTIN TIGHE, a somewhat prominent citizen of Valparaiso, Neb., fell under a moving train the other morning and sustained severe injuries on the head and breast, but it is thought they will not prove fatal.

THE Hebrew religious journals of London, Berlin, Paris and other great cities, as well as the secular newspapers, have recently contained accounts of a very interesting philanthropic movement which is approved by statesmen, although its object is not political. It is for the return of the Jews to Spain, from which they were banished four centuries ago. This movement has the approval of the Spanish government and has been eloquently advocated by Castelar himself in the Cortes. Mr. Guedella, of London, and the Rothschilds look upon it with favor; it's taking practical shape is due chiefly to such eminent editors, financiers and lawyers as Senor Lopez Laperza, Julio Jodas, Gonzalo Repares and several other influential public men in Spain.

"McDUGGLES' Hot Water, Hot Air and Steam Hotel and Car Heater," is the title of an Omaha invention which will surely bring a fortune to McLaughlin, its originator. A very satisfactory test of this heater has been made in Omaha, which showed that the temperature of an ordinary railway car can in less than ten minutes be changed from 10° below to 100° above zero. And this, too, without danger of explosion or fire, or anything imperiling the safety of the car or its human freight.

THE eastbound Atlantic & Pacific passenger train ran into a bridge west of Needles, Cal. The engine, baggage, mail and express cars were burned. E. L. Gilbert, brakeman, was burned to death, also two Indians and one tramp. Engineer E. J. Hodgdon is not expected to live. Dr. M. J. Chase, of Galeaburg, Ill., was bruised about the head. W. March, Quincy, Ill., leg hurt. The coroner's jury has returned a verdict exonerating the Atlantic & Pacific company from all blame.

The first synod of Catholic ministers ever held in this diocese convened at Omaha March 1st. Delegates were present from all parts of Nebraska, Wyoming, Dakota and Colorado, to the number of about a hundred. Bishop O'Connor presided. The time of the synod was devoted almost entirely to the consideration of social matters connected with the church-work, and hearing reports of the condition of churches throughout the diocese.

THE Irish National League of America, met in convention in Lincoln on the 3d and organized a state league. Two hundred Irishmen were present. Patrick Egan was elected chairman of the meeting and made a very happy speech, after which the temporary organization was perfected. The 4th being the anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmett, the proceedings were in the nature of memorial services.

THE Senate at Lincoln the other day came very nearly occupying the entire afternoon in discussing whether they should re-consider Soldiers' Home bill. Wyomere and Milford have both offered $5,000 and $400 acres of land for the location of the institution; consequently there is a growing opposition to the location at Grand Island.

ALICE PARKER, a young girl while attempting to start the kitchen fire by the use of oil, at Wilcox, Neb., the other day, was terribly burned about her face and head by the lighting from a live coal in the stove of the gas which had accumulated there on the previous evening.

A COMPANY of Kansas City capitalists—ex-Gov. Thomas T. Crittenden and others, have filed articles of incorporation for the immediate construction of a cable-line, street-car system in Omaha. The route named touches twenty-six streets and traverses about eight miles.

Washington Letter.

(From our regular correspondent.)

Congressmen never want an extra session, but the people of Washington always do. It is to their interest for Congress to hold on as long as possible, and they would like for its session to be perpetual. The House is now working night and day to get through. Hon. Mr. Butterworth of Ohio says the House is very conservative for its delay of this work. He is a member of the powerful appropriations committee of the House, but he is a republican member, and of course in the minority on a vote. He was speaking of the untimeliness on the part of the House in not giving the Senate time to carefully consider these bills, but said he "The only question involved is that of amount, it is not as if there was any legislation connected with them."

While the matter of appropriations and confirmations is not in itself sufficient to bring about an extra session of the Senate, it contributes to the influences which may produce a called session. Opinion respecting the President's power to appoint the Interstate Commerce Commissioners during a recess of the Senate are widely apart. The President thinks he has the right to do so and Senator Sherman agrees with him, as does also the Attorney General, who has rendered an opinion and cited Attorneys General Stanberry, Evans, Williams, and Davens as precedents.

But Messrs. Edmunds, Harris, Pugh, and other Senators of prominence declare that the President has no shadow of constitutional right to fill a newly-created office when the Senate is not in session to give its advice and consent. They hold that his power in the matter is limited to filling vacancies temporarily which may happen during the recess.

There is a good deal of speculation as to what the President will do with the bill recently passed by both Houses of Congress making a Department of Agriculture and an addition to the Cabinet to be called the Secretary of Agriculture. This bill has been pending in Congress for years and was passed once before by branches, but was vetoed by President Arthur. Agriculturalists generally petitioned for its passage of late and it is thought Mr. Cleveland will not veto it for fear of imperiling his political future.

It has been just 38 years since a Congress created a new Executive Department. Our first President began his administration with a Cabinet of three members, the Secretaries of State, Treasury and War. At the beginning of his second term, however, the Attorney General was added to his official household, and later the Navy Department was organized. The Cabinet then consisted of five members until 1829, when the Postmaster General was added. Twenty years later Congress organized the last Department, that of the Interior, and President Taylor made Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, its first Secretary.

As soon as Mr. Corcoran, the venerable and widely known Washington philanthropist, learned of the arrival of Mrs. Grant in this city, he called to see her. She has also been visited by all of the employees of the White House who were there during her residence in it.

Mrs. Cleveland had grown a little fatigued from the numerous official hospitalities which always crowd the last fortnight of the gay season, and welcome the quiet lent.

Such mild festivities as Shakespearean, German and French readings, whist clubs, Dorcas meetings, musical and sewing schools, are now in order, and seem to be full of interest to those who give up all social pomp and vanities during the Lenten season.

Inflammatory Rheumatism.

BOLTON'S PLAT,

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 20, '96. Swift's Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

GENTLEMEN: I have been a constant sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for twenty-five years. For the past five years I was off and on the bed for several months at a time, racked with pain, and unable to put my foot to the ground. My wife had to cut up my food and feed me while I lay helpless on the bed. When I was turned in bed, it had to be on the sheet, held on either side.

My physician, one of the ablest in Montgomery, finally gave me up; and he said my only hope was to go to Hot Springs.

My wife, however, persuaded me to try S. S. S. Three years ago I began to take the Specific, after having been treated for the inflammatory rheumatism by the most eminent physicians in Richmond, Va., Augusta and Savannah, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala. After a few bottles of S. S. S. I improved rapidly, and for a while I ceased taking the medicine, and before the disease was eradicated. Later I had a relapse, and I immediately resorted to S. S. S., which soon brought me around all right, and since then I have attended regularly to my business.

In all I have used only $16 worth of S. S. S. It cured me, and I regard it as the greatest and only rheumatic cure that I know of.

Very respectfully,

M. T. LAMAR.
