GEORGE BRENDEL, the tender of the elevator at Fairbank's lead refinery in Omaha, is another elevator victim, who lost his life one day last week.

The greatest freshest since '83 prevailed the other day at Fairfield, Mo. The hulkheads at Somerset are gone, taking with it $20,000 worth of logs.

The Berrys, mother and son, who so unmercifully assaulted Marion and fractured his skull the other evening at Lincoln, are both in jail and Marion is still alive.

A FIRE broke out the other morning in the St. Joe & Grand Island depot at Fairbury. But owing to the prompt action of the employes but little damage was done.

T. J. FLEMING, real estate broker at Chicago, is under arrest, charged with being accessory to the robbery of M. L. Heck on the West Side, in which $800 was taken.

A DISPATCH from Fresno, the capital of Western Australia, to London, says: "A hurricane swept the northwestern coast one day last week. The Pearl fishing fleet, numbering 400 boats was destroyed, and 150 persons perished."

A FIRE occurred in Pittsburg, Pa., one day last week starting in Willis Bruce grocery store, a four-story building, the upper stories of which were occupied by a number of roomers. Three or four persons were found in bed, dead, suffocated by smoke.

Custom officers in Great Britain and Ireland have received stringent orders to search all arriving immigrants from America, China and the east, the government having been warned that explosives have been sent from San Francisco to points in the east to be transhipped to England.

The officials of the Kansas City and Northwestern railroad propose to the railroad of Blue Springs and Wymore to locate their line through the two towns. As proposed the lines will run on Mission Creek to Burdett, then through Blue Springs and Wymore and then on to Hastings and the northwest. The line is to be built this year.

During a heavy rain one afternoon last week a water spout burst on Fairbank's Hill west of Petersburg, N. H., and caused the most damaging washout ever known in that town. The water came down in the streets, covering the entire hills, and upon reaching the street swept everything before it. Large rocks weighing two tons, were swept from their beds and left in the street.

Everywhere the people are speaking up for the enforcement of the law against the would-be railroad nullifiers of the same. The companies will soon begin to find that the people in a solid phalanx now, are back of the law, and ready to see that their weak places be made strong, and its remedies strengthened according to the resistance that may make itself felt.

While, as the commission has said, there is nothing new in the principles of the law, only an affirmation of well-known holdings of courts as to common carriers, yet it is the picket-line of the battle, and the pickets have been fired upon, (with more or less caution, it is true), and the fight must go forward.

The Journal has no hesitation in saying that the people will be victorious. It is a question of time only. The railroads will soon be able to see that the people, as represented by this law and the commission, are in no mood for trifling. All along the railroads have had, practically, full sway, managing everything about as they pleased—upstream in business, dominating all other interests; upstream in politics, distorting nominations, controlling elections, writing the statutes, and giving their construction in court. Now this must stop. The time for stopping is now. Endurance has long ceased to be a virtue in this regard. The people intend to rule, and their Stock Company, which has its headquarters at Washington, D. C., is fully able to transact the business. If the present board of managers are not fully up to the task, others will be chosen, by and by, who will be both willing and capable.

As to the regulation of inter-state commerce, it will be ascertained that the people of this country, in the Government at Washington, have a "monopoly," whose rights are not to be questioned, and whose power must be respected, and they guide right, on the general welfare.

While it is doubtless true that our new city officers were elected for the reason that they were democrats and no particular contest was made against them, except by the prohibitionists, and no particular issue raised, it is nevertheless a fact that a very respectable number of the supporters of the ticket were in favor and are in favor now of the enactment of an occupation tax which would place a nominal sum on business generally, and an occupation tax of $500 a year on saloons.

Where the prohibition element does not hold the balance of power, and thus practically aid the opposition, an occupation tax, levied particularly and forcibly at the saloons, is to be the object sought by Nebraska towns and cities the next few years.

In nearly all of them, the school fund, replenished from licenses and fines, is full, while city treasuries are comparatively poor, empty, or worse, and yet one of the main items of expense to cities is the police, police court, etc., whose main work is looking after drunken disorders.

For the benefit of such of our city fathers as may be interested in the subject, we give beneath, from the Quill, a statement of what has just been done at Schuyler, which is a community very much like our own on the liquor question:

The new ordinance passed by the unanimous vote of the council fixing the saloon license at $700, which goes to the school fund, and $300 occupation tax, which, with the dry and peddlers' license, goes to the city, is a step taken that the people will heartily endorse. We do not believe in having a large surplus there that is of no public benefit.

It is believed in certain localities that either Roswell Miller or Joseph F. Tucker would in all probability succeed Alex. Mitchell as the next president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad.

W. C. PALMER, of 212 South Fourteenth street, Omaha, has recently developed a remarkable mind-reading talent, and his trial tests so far given appear to be generally satisfactory to the public.

ST. PAUL, Minn., and vicinity was visited the other day by a terrific hail storm which did much damage. Hail stones were in size from a pea to goose eggs, some of the largest weighing four ounces.

THREE large brick buildings used for bolting, drying, printing and bleaching at the Company's mills in the village of Brondale, New York, were completely demolished by four or five fearful explosions in rapid succession, which produced shocks like an earthquake, and extended in a radius of three miles and shook the houses in the town to their foundations. The building was on fire.

ROBERT BROWN, a two years old colored child at Cleveland, Ohio, was left the other day by Mrs. Doelle in the care of two colored girls while she was absent a short time. When she returned the little boy was sick and soon after died. The girls told Mrs. Doelle that the child had been naughty and they had whipped him "a little." It was believed that the child was flogged to death.

UNDER the amended law of Nebraska relative to the live stock sanitary commission, the commission has been slightly changed and reorganized. The new commission consists of J. Gerth, Jr., D. V. S., Veterinarian, Lincoln; R. S. Ramecotti, Omaha, and A. E. Wessel, Hastings, assistants; Commissioners, G. W. Barnhart, Columbus, J. C. Birney, Crete, W. W. Abbey, Falls City. A letter addressed to the Commissioners, box 536, Lincoln, will reach them.

THE city authorities of St. Louis, Mo., had a real battle the other day with a band of organized tramps, who have been encamping in the city limits committing depredations. The police finally succeeded in driving them out of the limits. On going over the field of battle the police found a tramp with a pistol ball in his spine. He was taken to the hospital and will probably die.

SEVEN men, including the groom, were killed last week in Yucatan, at a wedding celebration where the guests became involved in a general fight.

A REPORT from the City of Mexico states that a party of prospecting Americans had discovered two lost Mexican mines, which contain fabulous wealth.

CHARLES OSWALD, living near Pittsburg, Pa., the other morning was supposed to have killed his daughter Bessie, and then killed himself by cutting his throat.

Rev. J. S. Moore, whose minister at this place, arrived Saturday, and on Sunday preached two most excellent sermons, one at Creton in the forenoon, and in the evening at Humphrey.

A. J. Poppleton is about to erect an elegant summer residence at Elkhorn, on the Union Pacific. The main building will be 65x28 and a wing 32x28, and will be ornate in both interior and exterior design, with a handsome portico on all sides.

Omaha is making an effort to secure the Industrial Home. Why not cities occupying more central positions in the state put in their claims? They might be able to present such arguments as would secure the object sought. Can't Columbus speak?

The other morning at Omaha the Union Pacific carpenter shops burned. The building was a large frame structure, containing a large number of tools and great piles of seasoned hard lumber. The value of the property destroyed is estimated at $4,000.

A seven-years-old child at Nebraska City died a horrible death from rabies on the 21st inst. About a month before a strange dog bit it in the face, but the wound healed and nothing more was thought of it until the little fellow was taken with convulsions.

A big fire broke out the other day at Beatrice in a stable and then reached the farming implement warehouse of Loring & Phelps and finally spread to the Pacific House, which with three or four other buildings were about ruined. The total loss is estimated at $15,000.

Ex-Senator Dolan's residence at Indianola, Neb., was visited by thieves the other night, who took the tongue out of his buggy, put it into his platoon, left their old buggy, took the phonograph and set of harness and left. The value of the property stolen is about $200. Thieves not caught at last report.

NEBRASKA NOTES. Norfolk has a steam laundry. Norfolk boasts of a sixteen-ack mail recently. Neligh starts a loan and building association with 300 shares. Omaha sent three more boys to the Kearney reform school last week. Building and loan associations are springing up throughout the state. Omaha has organized a varnish company with a capital stock of $25,000. A company of the Nebraska National Guard has been organized at Norfolk. Also at Ord.

Some of our exchanges state that the Nebraska land offices will be opened on the first of July. Hon. A. J. Weaver's death causes a vacancy in the chairmanship of the republican state central committee. The Salvation Army folks have made over sixty converts in Omaha and many are from the leading young people. The inter-state commerce bill has advanced freight six cents a cwt. on lumber from Chicago to St. Louis. T. J. Potter, the new first vice president of the Union Pacific, was at Omaha last week supposed to be looking over his new field of labor. The Fairbury city council the other day passed an ordinance requiring all saloons to pay $500 license and $500 occupation tax. This was the final result of a severe contest. The committees from the Grand Army Posts are already making arrangements at Lincoln to observe decoration day. They want to secure as one of their speakers the services of General Lew Wallace. Fire bugs were at work in Lincoln last week. Three fires within thirty hours. The department worked nicely, controlling the fires and preventing their spread. The losses were not heavy, about $1,600.

The well at Fourth and Pierce streets Omaha has reached a depth of 1,300 feet. The iron casing has been taken out on account of the great pressure of the water, and the drills are said to be working very slowly. The death of Mrs. Mary A. McComas, mother of Mrs. Robert W. Furnas, was announced at Brownville, on the 28th ult. She had been a resident of Nebraska over thirty-one years, and was a favorite with all who knew her. Rev. J. S. Moore, whose minister at this place, arrived Saturday, and on Sunday preached two most excellent sermons, one at Creton in the forenoon, and in the evening at Humphrey.

A. J. Poppleton is about to erect an elegant summer residence at Elkhorn, on the Union Pacific. The live stock sanitary commission is finding a good deal of business on hands these days, over 150 cases awaiting their action. Dr. Gerth and Commissioners Barnhart and Birney were in north Nebraska last week. Complaints on a large number by fifty different counties, a file number being given for glandered horses. It is stated at Winer, that a citizen named Zerbet sold a young heifer that was told that he need not be afraid to go to bed in the dark, because angels would be there to watch over him. He only sobbed the harder, and answered, "It's the angels themselves that I'm afraid of!" If women are angels, the influence of their votes could hardly be otherwise than good, and no one need be afraid of them. On the other hand, if they are only ordinary human beings, why should they not have ordinary human rights? Alice Stone Blackwell.

ROASTED HER OWN BABY. Shocking Crime with Which a Cincinnati Woman is Charged. CINCINNATI, O., April 28.—A widow named Mrs. Scammler, living at 24 Mulberry street, is locked up, charged with a hideous crime. Her husband died a year ago. She was delivered of a child six days since. The fact was apparent, but no indications being suspected of a live or dead child the authorities were notified and a search was made. The charred remains were found in the cook stove. An autopsy showed that the little one had been born alive. The woman was put under arrest at her house, her condition not permitting removal. It is thought that the child was put alive into the stove as the lungs are scorched with the first fiery inhalation, which was also the case.

THE GRAND OLD MAN. Visits Buffalo Bill's Show and Replies to a Toast to His Health. LONDON, April 28.—Gladstone and wife today visited the grounds of the American exhibition and camp of the "Wild West" show. A special performance was given for their entertainment. They were much impressed with the aborigines. Gladstone was entertained at lunch by the managers of the exhibition.

GLADSTONE, replying to a toast to his health said, among other things: "The institutions and progress of the United States has always been a subject of great interest to me ever since a great many years ago. I studied the life of Washington. God Almighty made Englishmen and Americans kinsmen, and they ought to have affection for one another. If they had not humanity would cry shame upon them. I rejoice that the clouds which once obscured our mutual vision almost have vanished from our political sky, and the future is as bright and promising as the warmest hearted among us could desire."

Washington Letter. [From our regular correspondent.] The present is one of the dulllest news seasons known in Washington, and the reporters in their desperation worked the canard of the President's alleged too-noon declination of a second nomination for it all it is worth. It is now known that the story has no basis in fact. The President did not tell the western senator, Vest, that he would not accept a second nomination or anything of that kind. He has frequently said in a jocular way to senators and members who are pursuing him with petitions for appointments: "Well, I am quite willing for you fellows to try this business and manage it better if you can. You shall have my support and unique vote for the presidency." It is well known that a number of democratic members and senators are opposed to a second term for Mr. Cleveland and it is certain that Senator Vest was expressing his own wishes rather than the expressed determination of Mr. Cleveland when in a convivial frame of mind at an uptown restaurant, he talked upon the subject of a second term and sounded the key note to what was swelled through newspaper exaggeration into a grand overture.

It is evident that the music did not please Mr. Cleveland, for he hastened through his after-eggs, Colonel Lamont to repudiate the motif, and in doing this, he has been betrayed into a mis-droit bid for a second nomination. No one who has followed the history of the present administration can be of other opinion than that Mr. Cleveland is working with political shrewdness for the democratic and mugwump nomination of 1888. That he will get the democratic nomination is possible, but it is very doubtful if he can hold on to the mugwump contingent. There are very recent signs of defection against his staunch and powerful supporters of the literary mugwump persuasion. There is a renewal of talk of an extra session, which it is now thought will be called in October. The surplus in the treasury increases continuously at the rate of $10,000,000 per month. It is realized that something must be done to arrest the drain upon the circulation of the country. The extra session should have been called immediately after the fourth of March, and it is urged by some that if the country can endure the strain until the first of October it can continue two months longer until the time of the regular session. But nearly a month will necessarily be taken in the election of a speaker, the organization of committees and other preliminaries to the real work of legislation. If Congress does not assemble until the first Monday in December the Christmas holidays will seriously interrupt the first month of the session; two months will intervene before Congress can mature and pass needed revenue legislation, and by this time Congress and the country will be so disturbed by the approaching presidential campaign that politics will be passed.

There has not as yet been an exodus from Washington. There is great activity about the departments and in society. Many members and senators are still here. The inter-state commerce commission has, as was expected, attracted to the city many visitors distinguished in commerce and politics. Great preparations are being made for the competitive drill which is to take place the latter part of next month. Drunkenness, or Liquor Habit, can be cured by Alexander's Dr. Sargent's Golden Syrup. It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it, effecting a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunks have been made temperate men who have taken Dr. Sargent's Golden Syrup, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. No harmful effect results from its administration. Cures guaranteed. Send for circular and full particulars. Address in confidence GOLDEN SYRUP CO., 185 Race St. Cincinnati, O. Jan 12-7

THE OHIO militia were ordered by Gov. Foraker one day last week to the scene of the riot at the Paulding county reservoir. THE huge, drastic, gripping, sickening pills are fast being superseded by Dr. Pierce's "Purgative Pellets."

MURAT HALSTED, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, was in Chicago last week and one afternoon was in conference with James G. Blaine. He had satirized HAMPTON STATION, Tenn., Feb. 26, 1887. Gentlemen—I have had catarrh for over three years. For over three years I had pains over my eyes. I often could not sleep, not being able to breathe through my nose. I was not able to smell anything for three years. In this sad plight, last spring, I began taking S. S. S. I took one dozen bottles. The pains left my forehead, my smelling faculty returned, and I could sleep soundly. This is the happy result of your medicine. I have felt no symptoms of the return of the disease until the very wet and cold season set in, and even then, I was so much better than I had been for three years, that I felt like a different man. I am going to take a few bottles this spring, so as to completely eradicate every remnant of the disease. My general health is greatly improved since I began taking your medicine, and my disordered kidneys restored to their normal functions. My digestion is now first-class, and I can eat anything I wish, whereas before I took S. S. S., such was not the case. Yours truly, J. B. ALLEN. Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free. voice. Within a few weeks she went to Iowa with another man and was married to him—the laws of this state prohibiting the re-marrying of a divorced person within a year from date of decree. A short time after this Judge Post reversed his decision and left her married in two places. The case came up again last week; and in the meantime Saunders had filed a cross-bill, charging her with adultery. Judge Marshall granted the husband's petition. And it looks as if this woman had been a sort of left-handed mormon all winter.—Schuyler Herald.

Entertaining BILL. LONDON, April 28.—Colonel Hughes Hallett, Member of Parliament, will entertain "Buffalo Bill" at a dinner tomorrow. A 13-Years-Old Embezzler. William Beckert, a 13-years-old boy, whose parents live in Chicago, was held in $500 by Justice Meech for embezzling $30 given him to buy postal cards with by Messrs. O'Brien & Tyler. His parents said he had stolen $100 from them and had been on a prolonged spree. Evicting the Settlers. PIERRE, D. T., April 25. United States troops are evicting the settlers from the Big Bend reservation. The settlers are given three days' notice to go, and if they are still on the ground the military takes charge. The government will fence the greater part of the land. Indignation runs high, and efforts are being made to prevent cruel treatment of the settlers. A Good Smeller. A family living near Fairland, Ind., owns a large dog, which comes to the train every evening, and when the Journal is thrown to him he carries the paper to the house. A few evenings since there was no Journal, and a Sentinel was thrown to the dog. The canine cautiously sniffed the paper, scratched some dirt over it, and returned to the house, leaving the Sentinel behind.—Ex.

LOST WITH ALL ON BOARD. The Minnie Lamont, with Thirty Passengers, Reported to Have Gone Down. DETROIT, Mich., April 26.—A News special from Duluth, Minn., says: A messenger report from the lower mines gives information of the loss of the tug Minnie Lamont on Lake Vermilion. She was breaking ice in an endeavor to reach some logs, and had some thirty people on board, enjoying the novelty of the first trip. The report says she struck new ice, which cut her through, sinking her immediately with all on board. Save the Boys. A law on our statutes protects girls from the rake and the seducer until sixteen years of age. So far so good. Now we should have a law to protect the boys until of the same age. More boys are ruined by guileful harlots before they are eighteen, or even sixteen, than girls, five to one. Let the law protecting boys under eighteen years, make it a penalty offense for the rascals over eighteen to entice them to dens of iniquity as well as for the strumpets to entertain them in those dens. With a proper protection for the boys the girls would be far more safe.—North Bend Flail.

MOB LAW IN AN OHIO COUNTY. Gov. Foraker Issues a Proclamation—Troops Hurrying to the Scene. COLUMBUS, O., April 28.—There is wild excitement at Delaware today. Building country is in the hands of a mob. Gov. Foraker has been telegraphed to for troops, and he has ordered Adjutant General Axline to proceed to the scene at once with a company of militia. All northwestern Ohio troops are ordered to be in readiness to move at a moment's notice. The governor has issued a proclamation commanding the rioters to disperse. The trouble grows out of the opposition of a faction of the people to the repair of the canal.

A Valuable Invention. A successful experiment was made in the Pan Handle yards at Pittsburg with an automatic fire extinguisher. The apparatus is the invention of S. H. Harrington of Columbus, who is connected with the motive power department of the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad company. It is gotten up on the principle of the Babcock extinguisher and is connected with the automatic brake so that in a car or train it is released if it is put in action. The chemical or gas escapes from pipes into the steved and smother the fire at once. A rail was loosened from the track and a passenger run off. The extinguisher put out both fires.

Afraid of the Angels. It is said that women must not vote, because they are angels; and in the next breath it is predicted that their votes "would generally be cast for the worst men and the worst measures." This suggests the story of the little boy who was told that he need not be afraid to go to bed in the dark, because angels would be there to watch over him. He only sobbed the harder, and answered, "It's the angels themselves that I'm afraid of!" If women are angels, the influence of their votes could hardly be otherwise than good, and no one need be afraid of them. THE OHIO militia were ordered by Gov. Foraker one day last week to the scene of the riot at the Paulding county reservoir. THE huge, drastic, gripping, sickening pills are fast being superseded by Dr. Pierce's "Purgative Pellets."

MURAT HALSTED, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, was in Chicago last week and one afternoon was in conference with James G. Blaine. He had satirized HAMPTON STATION, Tenn., Feb. 26, 1887. Gentlemen—I have had catarrh for over three years. For over three years I had pains over my eyes. I often could not sleep, not being able to breathe through my nose. I was not able to smell anything for three years. In this sad plight, last spring, I began taking S. S. S. I took one dozen bottles. The pains left my forehead, my smelling faculty returned, and I could sleep soundly. This is the happy result of your medicine. I have felt no symptoms of the return of the disease until the very wet and cold season set in, and even then, I was so much better than I had been for three years, that I felt like a different man. I am going to take a few bottles this spring, so as to completely eradicate every remnant of the disease. My general health is greatly improved since I began taking your medicine, and my disordered kidneys restored to their normal functions. My digestion is now first-class, and I can eat anything I wish, whereas before I took S. S. S., such was not the case. Yours truly, J. B. ALLEN. Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.
