Before investing in a sewing machine, organ or piano, see A. & M. Turner at their organ depot, or address G. W. Kibler, their traveling salesman. Chas. Waldron left for Plattsmouth Monday. He intends going into the real estate business at that point, but will retain his business interests here. George McFarland, who has been employed at Berger's broom factory during the winter, started Monday for Valentine where he expects to remain. Carl Kramer drove up to Genoa last Friday, and while there visited the Indian school. He says that the young Indians are seemingly well contented. The Platte river bridge is the next object in sight—then the permanent wagon bridges over the Loup and Platte in connection with the railroad bridges. Brad Slaughter of Fullerton passed through the city Saturday. He had been to Omaha and was wearing the latest style of "stove-pipe" hat. He said it was a "Padock" hat; and we mustn't knock it off.

We are informed that Rev. J. A. Reed, during his last visit here, purchased the corner lot east of the Congregational church, and presented it to that congregation. The refusal of the legislature to submit the prohibition amendment to a vote of the people has not disposed of that question by any means. It is one of the live issues in this state and it will not rest quietly until the people of Nebraska record their views upon the subject at a nonpartisan election called for that purpose. However, if submission at the next election of senators and representatives had been agreed upon, and prohibition defeated, the question would have been quieted for some time, as that of woman suffrage was. In this country the great body of sovereign citizens acknowledge the rule of the majority, and while a reasonable number of dilatory motions are in order, the policy of thwarting the evident will of the majority, or, as in this case, thwarting an expression by the people, cannot be tolerated and will not be, beyond a certain limit. The last Republican state convention pledged the party, not to prohibition, but to the submission of the question to a vote of the people. If that pledge had been fulfilled by the legislature, the vote would take place at the election of 1888, and the proposition to prohibit might possibly have been defeated, and thus the subject taken out of controversy for a time at least. As it is now, the agitation is greater than ever, and likely to continue. This is the way they purpose managing at Schuyler, according to the Quill: "So late the schools have been running on Sunday and having a large trade by the back door and the school staff. Do not accept office unless you intend to enforce the laws." The cord which unites corrupt politicians, with the triangular league of perdition, the saloon which violates the law, the gambling room and the bawdy-house, (which latter two have no right of law to exist) should be cut, and, by either of the elements named, but by the people whose very right of self-government is not immediately threatened, but is in immediate danger of overthrow. The Columbus "cut-off," uniting the two U. P. systems of railway, will give David City three or four additional trains each day, and will be almost as much of an acquisition as an independent line of road.—David City Tribune. The same here, and Columbus is to be congratulated on her railroad situation. If properly seen to, now, our problem for permanently bridging the Loup is virtually settled, for good, and Columbus energy and money can look after other matters that will tend to build up the city. This is bound to be a railroad center, can't help it, and that means everything else in the way of manufacturing as a natural and almost unavoidable consequence. Now is just the time to let no opportunity slip to build up these interests, and add others as an occasion offers. Pat. Murray has purchased the two lots north of Arnold's on Nebraska Avenue, and will, we learn, put up a good brick block on the site. Mr. Murray is abundantly able to do this, and it will add greatly to the value of his other property near by, as well as to all the property on the street. It will not be very long until the vacant business and dwelling lots in the city will all be occupied, then, of course, additions will have to be made, whether property owners are willing or unwilling. Assessor Clouther found in his records only two soldiers that had served in the same Company, Dr. Martyn and Mike Welch, Co. B. 146th Ill. and two others in the same regiment, J. H. Galley and W. A. McAllister, 2d Neb. Cavalry. Two captains, John Hammond of Co. K, 1st Missouri Heavy Artillery, and E. L. Morse, of Co. J, 9th Indiana Cavalry. Mexican soldiers, John Elliott, 2d Sergeant Co. F, Mounted Rifemen, and Herman V. Harmon, Co. K, 12th Illinois Infantry.

The Plattsmouth Herald, pretty sound on all public questions, has this to say: "The refusal of the legislature to submit the prohibition amendment to a vote of the people has not disposed of that question by any means. It is one of the live issues in this state and it will not rest quietly until the people of Nebraska record their views upon the subject at a nonpartisan election called for that purpose. The New Depot. Thursday evening the new U. P. depot was occupied by the officials for the first time, and their occupation of the structure was greeted by a throng of ladies and gentlemen who stepped in to look over one of the best and most substantial improvements that has been made in Columbus. We have before given a description of the building, but a reference here will not be out of place. It is situated midway between Olive and North streets, the extensive platform reaching from one street to the other. The building is of Colorado sandstone, with pressed brick and red sandstone trimmings, slate and tin roof. It cannot be said to combine strength and beauty; strong, it certainly is, but handsome we cannot call it. It is supposed to be the style. Inside, however, it is handsome, and seems to be all that could be wished for in a depot. The entire length (east and west) is 97 feet 2 inches, width, 34 feet 3 inches, ceilings 15 feet in height. At the west end is the baggage room with three large doors opening north, west and south. This room is thoroughly furnished with scales, etc. Next is the office and lobby, a very handsome room in every way and no doubt satisfactory to the officials who occupy it. At the south end of this room is a bay window, from which the track on the main line can be seen for several miles either way. The next apartment is the passengers' waiting room, roomy and handsome in every particular. A large door on the north opens to the track for the Cedar Rapids, the Albion and Norfolk trains; a similar one on the south for trains on the main line, including (we suppose, shortly) the David City and Lincoln train. Connected with this is a lunch counter, which will certainly be a very acceptable feature to the many transients who tarry here a few minutes, night and day. Also in connection with this room is a ladies' toilet room, which is everything that could be desired. The building was begun last fall, and has been constructed under difficulties naturally attending severe cold weather, but Mr. J. P. Northrop has superintended the work well, and completed it in good shape. We are not advised as to the cost, but it must be between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars, at least. The Company have made a contract with the city to supply them with water, and the mains are being laid to the new depot, likewise to the proposed site of the old one (to be removed to Olive street directly west of the new passenger depot); a complete system of sewerage has also been provided for the depot. The Company and the City of Columbus are to be congratulated on the erection of such a structure, the comfort of the thousands who will tarry for a while within its precincts. The present officials here are: J. R. Meagher, agent who has served the Company for twenty years; C. A. Bois, train dispatcher for the branch roads; C. P. Miller, agent for the Pacific Express Co., who has served the company sixteen years; C. W. Howell, Western Union Telegraph operator; Ole Johnson, night operator; Louis Herald, cashier; C. W. Jackson, warehouseman; John McGuire, freight rustler; Mr. Whitbeck, baggage-man; Thomas, yardmaster; Hugh Compton, night switchman. It will be seen from this list that the regular disbursements of the Union Pacific here are no inconsiderable sum, and there is good reason to believe, in the very nature of the situation of railroad affairs, that before very long, we can look for a much greater volume of business for the road and for Columbus, by reason of the road.

While acting for her own interests, it so happens that the Union Pacific Railroad Company will do a great deal for Columbus, and is so disposed to do. We are glad to be able to note these two facts because in them, we believe, in a large measure, is wrapped up a considerable degree of the future prosperity of this city. The improvements completed here this spring have been done at large cost, and are of a substantial and business-like character. What is to come will doubtless be of the same character. These indicate the intention of the Company with reference to this station on their road, better than anything else could. The link that is to be welded here—Columbus to David City—will unite the north Nebraska branches with the south Nebraska ones, completing a well-planned network system of local roads leading to strengthen the main line and make it still more effective in handling transcontinental business through lines diverging more directly to points of destination. Seeing that so much has been done, and is evidently being contemplated by the Union Pacific, for Columbus, we are sure that our thriving city will show its good will toward the Company in ways that will be mutually beneficial. Bismarck Township. Mr. Bartles is putting up a garden fence. Martin Meyers took ten head of fat steers to market last week. George Hodel brought home two loads of hogs on the 26th. We are pleased to note that the spring work is progressing rapidly. Several families in this neighborhood have got the measles among them. Mrs. G. W. Meunter of Richland visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Butler, on the 27th. Chas. Wilsen was taken quite sick on Sunday last; Otto Heiden has also been under the weather for several days. Quite a number of farmers in this vicinity have purchased potatoes for their summer use, owing to the insufficiency of last year's crop caused by the drought. CHARLES. Y. P. S. C. E. The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor meet at the Congregational church every Wednesday evening at 7:30. Leader, C. G. Hickok. Topic, The radical demand of Christ, John 3:7. Woodmen, Attention. A meeting of the Camp will be held at Fitzpatrick's Music Hall Friday, May 6th.

Council Proceedings. April 27. The appointment of Oscar L. Baker as water commissioner was unanimously approved, and bond of $5,000 accepted. The appointment of J. J. Sullivan, Esq., as city attorney and John Elliott as overseer of streets were also unanimously confirmed. Petition of John Stauffer and others for repair of sidewalk along north side of block 112, was referred to proper committee with instructions to report at next meeting. Committee on sidewalks were directed to submit an appropriate resolution relative to building sidewalk, along south side of block 58 and public square, the report of the committee recommending the building of the same having been accepted. The contract between the U. P. Ry. Co. for furnishing water was presented properly signed and ordered filed. The committee on public property and waterworks was authorized to advertise for bids, if found necessary, for purchasing an additional pump for the waterworks. Committee on Fire were empowered to purchase such hose cart as they may deem proper, or submit a recommendation to the Council. Committee on Streets and Grades recommended purchase of grader. The appointments named below were unanimously confirmed, to take effect May 1: Thos. McTaggart, chief of police; John W. Burns, regular policeman. City attorney requested to prepare an ordinance requiring policemen to furnish bonds for the faithful performance of their duties, in the sum of $1,000. On motion of Coun. Whitmore, the water commissioner was directed to make thorough investigation of the waterworks, ascertain their condition and report if anything is necessary to be added for the purpose of having everything in good running and working condition.

Platte Center Items. Where was "Warwick" when the fight began? Ed. Overton of Norfolk was in town Friday. Terry Brady of Columbus was in town Sunday.
