last week, which presents to the public a dark record of the moral training and eductaion of our citizens. Simeon Nelson, of Huron, Dakota, shot and killed Mrs. Shaw, her son and her sister. He also shot a man named

Kelsey through the body, fatally wounding him. The cause of the tragedy was 17 were republicans, 58 democrats and 2 a timber-claim contest decided in favor of Mrs. Shaw. Nelson returned home after the shooting and blew out his brains.

Fredrick Hermann, of Pittsburg, Pa. the other afternoon beat his wife fatally. killed his nineteen-months-old daughter and then cut his own throat, severing the wind pipe and jugular vein. The cause of the trouble was that Hermann was a Lutheran and his wife a Catholic and she had, without her husband's knowledge, had their child baptized in her church.

And still another horrible tragedy reported from Mayville, Ky., that John Schoener murdered his wife and two children and then committed suicide.

Crazy men generally reverse the proper way of doing things. Now, had these killed themselves first, there are plenty of people who would have commended them.

It is a serious matter to a country to have the criminals, paupers and lunatics of other lands unloaded within her borders, and this our laws forbid. Notwithstanding, every once in a while sixty-four at the West Point military there comes up a case of violation. The latest is a report that a British steamer arrived at New York and tried to land a effort is being made to remove the land hundred such people. Government inspectors interfered, however, and prevented further unloading. It was found that these people had been gathered together in England from various places and their passage to this country paid by the British government. It has always been the policy of our government and people to welcome to these shores the honest poor, who, under the influence of our free institutions can better their condition in every way, but it is not right that England or any other country should be allowed to unload upon us those criminals and unfortunates whom they themselves should care

County treasurers are of course fallible men. They are liable to mistakes. They sometimes take money that don't PRESIDENT CLEVELAND arrived in belong to them, but it isn't the common thing. Mostly they are worthy men very important station, they generally act as becomes public servants-faithfully and honorably. There are exceptions, however; the accounts of men, supposed to be all right, have been found to be lacking; men who have gone out of office with honor to themselves are, long years afterwards, turning up as defaulters, the books having been examined and something found wrong. Madison county not long ago had a case; lately Nance county is at work on a supposed case, and now, according to the Stromsburg Headlight, "Polk county watches the game with much interest.' Just what that interest is, and around what individual it circles, the Headlight does not tell its inquiring readers. What is the matter, anyway?

> A WATER-SPOUT West of Hooversville, Somerset county, Pa., the other day put their village entirely under water and over twenty residences washed off their foundations and deposited on the ground. One hundred families in the town lost everything in the lower story and cellars of their houses. At other places the damage will be very heavy from the loss of individual property and the washing away of a number of bridges. Mrs. J. D. Morrell died from heart disease, produced, it is supposed, by the excitement caused by waters surrounding the house. Col. James M. Cooper, of Coopersdale, also dropped dead from over excitement.

> MARTIN CURRY, jr., aged 15 years, of Quincy, Ill., was shot and mortally wounded the other morning by Julius Albright. Sixteen years ago Albright, then a citizen of Quincy, became jealous of the attentions paid his wife by a man named Martin Curry. He procured a divorce and removed to St. Louis. Mrs. Albright married Curry soon after and they have lived there since. Albright, when taken to prison, said the shot was intended for the elder Curry, whom he had never forgiven for alienating his wife's affections, and on whom, after sixteen years,he had determined to
