-A dwelling house belonging to one Vossick, a Pole, was burned down Thursday evening last. It was insured for about all it was worth, and the fire was set by the son of the owner, a lad of fourteen years. He confessed to the crime, but gave as a reason that he didn't like the place, because his mother had died there.

-I am a democrat and have always voted the democratic ticket, but when I go to the polls and am compelled to open my ticket for the inspection of ward strikers, that ticket goes under my heel and is ground into the earth. I am tired of this bulldozing at the polls. -[Extract from a democrat's oration Tuesday night.

-It is coming to be understood how to dehorn cattle, and a good many are taking advantage of the knowledge to secure hornless beasts: "There is a little button on the calf's head that is loose and slides under the pressure of the finger, which is the germ of the horn and if it is taken out no horn will appear. It can be done during the first three weeks by making a small slit and scooping it out."

-A very peculiar and almost fatal accident occurred Monday evening to Miss Jennie Wiseman, a young lady about 17 years of age, who is employed in the family of Geo. E. Willard of this city. While at work over the cook stove she was taken with a fainting spell and fell forward with her face on the hot stove and there remained until consciousness returned; although being burned in a fearful manner, we learn that she is not so seriously injured.

-Last Saturday night near twelve o'clock, Mrs. M. S. Drake heard a noise at the side window of her millinery store on Nebraska Ave., and on going to it saw what she supposed was a boy jump down from the window sill. Taking her pistol she went out of the store into the alley to scare him away. The supposed boy going farther away, concluded to return. She warned him to go away, and told him if he came a step nearer she would shoot him; but he came nearer and the pistol wouldn't go off and to add to his crimes, he snatched the pistol from her and ran off with it, firing two shots within a block or two. All the young lady employees of the establishment were absent at the Hospital Fair.

-On Saturday last Ed. Dwyer, well known to many of our older readers as a citizen of Boone county, departed this life. Mr. Dwyer had been sick with typhoid fever for some time, but we had not been aware that his illness was considered dangerous. He was a man of many excellent qualities, frank and manly, both in his likes and dislikes. He believed in his friends, lived for them, and, no doubt, if duty called, would have willingly, freely, given his life for them. Nothing was too good for Ed. Dwyer's friends, and the sentiment was reciprocated by them. No man, who for once saw the inner beauty of Dwyer's nature, could ever forget what a man he was. We never knew anything of his life prior to making his acquaintance years ago in this state, but he must have been highly educated—his faculty for writing or talking was unique, exceedingly picturesque and attractive.—Peace to his memory.

Look Out. I am feeding 120 head of wild cattle on my place and am compelled to notify men with guns and dogs to keep off entirely, as the cattle will stampede, and may cause great damage. Last year under similar circumstances, my tame antelope stampeded and killed a number of hogs. Please keep off my place. 28-2t P. MURRAY.

Notice is hereby given not to purchase a certain promissory note for $120 given by me Oct. 19th, to Grant, Cole & Co., and payable one year after date, as I did not receive value for same and the same was obtained by false representations. JOHN DORRICH, Nov. 5, 1887. 29-3

-David Anderson the veteran livestock dealer of Columbus whose very name has been a household word in almost every family in old Platte and adjoining counties for these many years, has sold his buildings, yards, hog and grain trade, etc., to Rickly Bros., and will in a short time locate permanently with his good wife, in the narrows and fast-growing city of South Omaha, where he has secured large property interests.

Mr. Anderson is one of the old pioneers of Platte county, having moved here from Philadelphia in 1860, and resided here ever since, following the live stock and shipping business successfully, for the last fifty years. He has been what the world terms a great "rustler," and, through indomitable and never-tiring energy and activity, succeeded in establishing one of the best and most reliable stock markets in the state. The citizens, the business interests and the farming community in general will sorely and sadly miss our old friend. May success attend him. Anderson's activity and push, led to Columbus, will be a gain to South Omaha.

To Whom It May Concern. Notice is hereby given to the public not to negotiate for a promissory note for $120, given by me, Oct. 24, 1887, to Grant & Co., and payable one year after date, as I do not receive value for same, and that the same was obtained by false representations. The Hospital Fair.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of last week took place at the Opera House, the Hospital Fair previously announced. The Hospital here, instituted some seven years ago, is in charge of the Sisters of the Franciscan order. They have done great good, and the result of the Fair will enable them to do still more than ever for those who may come under their charge.

From the committee we learn the following facts: The essay chair was drawn by ticket No. 1, Adam Sauer; the gold watch by ticket No. 82, Chris. Kerwin; the baby Afghan, ticket No. 52, Anton Semidt; the coat to D. C. Kavanagh; the lady's jewel case to Miss Helen Stokkel.

The speeches by J. E. North and H. J. Hudson on Friday evening were very well received and seemed to add zest to the friendly contests of the evening.

The net proceeds were a little upwards of $600. On Saturday evening there were about 400 persons took supper.

Establish It. Columbus needs all the manufacturing interests she can command. Anything that will use the raw product we can raise here and find a ready market within five hundred miles of us is what we need, and what we must have to make Columbus the city she ought to be. Among the many lines of enterprise that would fill these requirements is sugar work. An item from Ft. Scott, Kan., shows this account of an enterprise recently started there which bids very fair to be a decided success. There is no reason at all why Nebraska and Columbus couldn't do as well in this regard as Kansas and Ft. Scott.

"Sugar works commenced running a week ago to work up this year's crop of sorghum cane. The result so far has been wonderful, and it has been demonstrated that sugar can be made very profitably from sorghum cane. From 104 to 110 pounds of first sugar, twenty pounds of second and ten gallons of syrup are the average product from a single ton of cane."

An Organ Contest in Monroe. The traveling salesmen for the Western Cottage Organ on one side, and the Sterling, and Story & Clark on the other, met at the residence of A. Guile in Monroe twp. one day last week in contest. A medium Western Cottage organ was first pitted against a Sterling, which was re-enforced by a Story & Clark.

Mr. Guile, the proposed purchaser, and the agent for the Sterling, selected Mrs. R. E. Wiley as the expert to judge between the instruments, the selection being approved by the agent for the Western Cottage. Mr. Guile said he would buy whichever organ Mrs. Wiley should determine to be the best, if it was worth $20 more than the other. The instruments were very thoroughly tested by Mrs. Wiley who pronounced the Western Cottage organ much superior to the others and gave her reasons therefor.

The Western Cottage challenges comparison with any other organ in a fair contest.

Bismark Township. Today is election day, and we have to hurry through with this to listen to the politicians.

Otto Mueller is still plowing, as he has a large amount of plowing to do. Otto was farming on a large scale this year, and he intends to do the same next.

John Connelly finished husking a fifty-five acre field of corn on the 2d, and 700 bushels of corn were secured. Several of the other neighbors are getting pretty well along with theirs, while others have just commenced.

L. H. Leavy commenced his sixth term in the Bismark Academy on the 7th; Mr. Leavy is an efficient teacher; we are glad to see that his talents are appreciated, and hope he will continue to prosper in the future. CHARLES.

We will shortly begin the publication of one of the most thrilling incidents of the War of the Rebellion as told by Rev. Wm. Pittenger who, as a young soldier, was one of the party concerned. As the story will run for several weeks, those wishing the chapters entire will do well to subscribe for the JOURNAL at once. The JOURNAL has never before published a continued story, but the JOURNAL family are personally acquainted with the author, a very talented gentleman, and we know that our readers who enjoy that sort of literature have a treat ahead.
