Buy the Henry F. Miller pianos of A. & M. Turner - equal to the very best. A musical instrument that costs as much as a small dwelling and lasts a life-time should be a good one.

It should have been Mr. Spear of the Grand Pacific Hotel instead of Spooner as drawing one of the prizes at Fitzpatrick's. We make this correction to ward off a threatened libel suit by Spear, who don't like to be nicknamed "Spooney."

The Nebraska State Grange favors the idea of loans by the government at a rate sufficient to cover all expenses and through a central bank and local branches. The scheme is not altogether new, but whether the men who make the laws can be made to see the advisability of it, is a question of serious doubt.

What every farmer of the west wants is a factory in his community. It enhances the value of his products by insuring a strong demand and eliminating the cost of transportation to distant markets which otherwise absorbs a large portion of his otherwise legitimate income.

The farmer is benefited by protection. - Fremont Tribune.

There is a band of fifty-five Omaha Indians camped near the Loup. They are waiting till the snow melts to go up the Loup trapping for beaver. Two bucks were in town Monday buying coffee and sugar, with money got from the sale of five pounds of beaver skin at $1 a pound. They seemed to take great pride in the big beaver whose hide brought them $3.

The Schuyler Herald reports a real live anarchist from Columbus sojourning down there, and that he was given to understand by several Germans there that this country was no place for anarchists, and that when he differed with this government it was simply his own mistake at his own peril. Guess there must be some mistake again. Columbus has no anarchists.

Tomorrow (Thursday) is the last day for the county supervisors elect to qualify. If a majority of the supervisors taken the oath, shall appear on the 5th and organize as provided by law, the new board will have a legal existence. The first meeting of the board is usually the most important one of the year, and it is desirable that all be present.

A visitor to Blair, Neb., last week, noticed a multitude of crows, making themselves quietly at home in the back lots, streets and alleys. He was informed that this is the second winter they have passed in this way. They are regarded as pests by the citizens, and repay the hospitality they receive by eating all manner of refuse, thus keeping the town free from decaying matter.

Paul Hagel tells us that the butter and egg business is fairly active - the first 10 to 18 cents according to quality, fresh eggs 18. These prices, with this firm, are cash. They ship a large amount of these products, and the business grows every year. The JOURNAL believes there is a greater per cent. of profit in raising eggs than there is in raising beef, and there is always a good demand.

The respectable and self-respecting communities of Nebraska are making an outcry against rookeryism, hoodlumism, the gaming-table, the heavy horse, and the doggerly that violates the liquor law every day of its life and brings young leards to ruin. The last outcry is from Sedaw, where, it seems, that Sunday whiskey in lugging bummers has done bad work recently. Insist on the authorities abating the nuisance.

Our cotemporary, the Fremont Tribune, has put in place a new, two-revolution Optimus Book press, which arrived Wednesday last. It is finely equipped as a newspaper and job printing firm, and will soon be ready to do every kind of work that may come to hand. The firm of Hammond Bros. are well-adapted to gather business from near and far, and the community of Fremont have fully demonstrated that they appreciate the immense good work that the Tribune has been doing for them.

One of the many industries that would pay well in Columbus is a canning factory. Operated on a large scale it would give employment to hundreds of people, and help make Columbus a manufacturing center, as she now is a railroad center. The canning factories at Blair and Tekamah net a profit last year to the stockholders of over $5,000 for the season. Columbus's start forward in the road of progress, the next step and the most solid of all, will be the establishment of manufactures and wholesale houses.

Blind Boone Concert. - This remarkable blind pianist appeared last evening at the Academy of Music before a large and critical audience. The occasion was one of double interest, it being the first performance of Mr. Boone on his new Chickering grand piano, purchased for him by his manager, Mr. John Lange, at a cost of $850 from Max Meyer & Bro., of this city. Mr. Boone's playing is really wonderful. - Herald, Omaha, Neb., Dec. 15, 1887. - At the Congregational church Monday evening, Jan. 3, 1888. Reserved seats 35 cents at Pollock's.

The Columbus Loup-river, bridge-bond case was to have been heard by the supreme court yesterday. At this writing (noon Tuesday) no word has been received here. It seems that the Attorney General relies on section 77, chapter 14 providing that "all public bridges exceeding sixty-six feet in length over any stream crossing a state or a county highway shall be constructed and kept in repair by the county," to defeat the registration of the bonds. The case has excited considerable interest throughout the state, and an expert opinion by the court may be looked for.

The Quill raps the churches of Schuyler over the knuckles thus: "A large per cent. of Schuyler's church people are drunkards in a more or less degree. If society did not lionize these same fellows and would turn a cold shoulder to a man who so lowers himself in the scale of humanity it would be somewhat different. We consider our church affairs in this city of a weak nature, with one or two exceptions. Our language on this subject may be a little strong, but it is true and when a person touches on such a subject it should be handled without gloves. A man has a right in a sense of the word to do what he pleases with himself, but the public has no right to uphold him and honor him in his recklessness. We repeat it, Schuyler takes the bait."

M. H. Carleton, Esq., of Loup City was a Columbus visitor Wednesday last, having been elected Supt. of Schools; he has a Polish newspaper plant that he wishes to sell. He could not interest any of our monied Polish patriots, as they are too busy otherwise and have no desire to go into the newspaper business.
