John Rickly, the subject of this sketch was born in Buetsberg, Canton Bern, Switzerland, March 19th, 1815, and was one of a family of eighteen children.

In 1834 he came to Franklin Co., Ohio nd in 1838 moved to Columbus, marrying on the 22d of February that year. Miss Katharine Hendri, by whom he had five children, Mrs. Mary Becher, John J. Rickly, Mrs. Katharine Toncray, Mrs. Caroline Dale and Elizabeth Rickly, the latter and Mrs. Mrs. Toncray now deceased. In 1856, with his family he removed to the then territory of Nebraska and settled in this city. His first wife having died, on the 1st of August, 1849, Mr. Rickly married Miss Caroline Bauer. Their children are W. T. Rickly, Mrs. O. H. Archer, Chas. Rickly, Mrs. G. W. Burke, Albert Rickly, Mrs. Jacob Wagner, Augustus Rickly and Samuel Rickly, all of whom except Augustus survive their father.

Mr. Rickly was president of the Colambus Town Co., organized August 30, 1856, and we believe kept it alive to the day of his death. During the earlier years of this young city, he was very active in everything that pertained to its welfare and withal very vigilant against the schemes of other communities to in jure the future prospects of Columbus A strict partisan, politically, not alone

He was a democrat, without any reservations or con-cessions of any kind, and adhered strictly to party lines, not allowing them, however, to at all interfere with his per-sonal friendships. He was very pro-nounced in his likes and dislikes, and inusually liberal in his estimate of his fellow-men. Plain and unassuming himself, he hated every species of cant and hypoerisy, but was a firm admirer of nen of intellect and worth, whatever their beliefs, religious or political. Fremont has had a wholesale grocery for years and has had a very large share of the trade of this place all that time. We may nothing against their dealers; personally we know them and like them, and that's all right, but it is not good business policy for Columbus to allow this condition of affairs to continue. We can help it and we ought to help it. Every such house established here would be a help to all of us.

-About eight years ago Columbus had her territory for trade cut off all around and she was then not much larger than Oakdale. Did the people of that town from the laborer to the heavy merchant vote prohibition on themselves, saying "the town is dead and we'll bury it this time?" No. They paid no attention to such experiments but every one of them stuck to their knitting. They had then more vacant speculator and railroad land around them than Oakdale has now. Now every acre of it is under cultivation and Columbus is a thriving town of about 3,000 people. Oakdale can do the same thing for herself; have every surrounding acre under cultivation and be a live town, if we can once knock this -A man giving his name as John
