THE GRANT FUND.

A Large Amount Added to the Sum Already

The New York Weekly Mail and Express announced an arrangement with the Ulysses Grant National Monument association by which all subscriptions for that paper shall be turned over to the fund. It also contains a letter from Mrs. Grant saying that the general's tomb is finally located at Riverside Park, and one from ex-Gov. Cornell, chairman of the association, acknowledging a gift of $10,000 for the monument fund by the Weekly Mail and Express. This is the beginning of a new effort to complete the fund and erect the national Grant memorial before 1892, so that the nations assisting at the world's fair, wherever held, may see how America appreciates the great soldier. This con-tribution is twice as large as any other ever made to the fund, the next largest being $5,000 by the Western Union Telegraph company, and makes the fund now on hand $140,000.

The Irish Londor Greeted by Great Crowds of Pospie-He Reglies to P.omier Salis-bury and Discusses the London Times and the Parnell Commission

A Lendon dispatch says Mr. Pernell was mot by a great crowd on his arrival at Nottingham, and was greated with mingled grouns and cheefs. He addressed a large meeting in reply to the speech recently made by Lord Salisbury. Mr. Parnell declared that there never had been a movement of such magnitude to the country which was so comparatively free from crime as the Land League movement. The object of the home rule movement, he said, was to regenerate Ireland, especially with regard to her industrial condition. Manufactures might be developed to such an extent as to take the strain off the land, and enable the people to look to other means than farming for gaining a living; but Irishmen themselves must promote Irish industries—not at the expense of the English but of the Irish exchequer; or, best of all, through the efforts of local and individual enterprise and with private capiof all, through the efforts of local and individual enterprise and with private capital. Mr. Balfour's plan of making railways through impoverished districts was a vain expenditure of mency.

Home rule, the speaker said, aimed at national regeneration, and this implied the regeneration of the industries and the industrial and commercial spirit of the people. If home rule were granted it would not discourage the rich people of England from promoting industrial developments, but the money would be judic ously and advantageously employed instead of being wasted, as now, to maintain in power a government of fraud and trickery. Expenditures of that sort would enable Ireland to get and keep her head above water, and so exercise and develop the qualities of her people that she would be no longer an exhibition for the wonder and scorn of the nations of the world.

Briefly referring to the Parnell com-Briefly referring to the Parnell com-mission, the speaker said that he believed the judges' report would not discredit the nat onal movement.

If the Government had nothing to be ashamed of in its connection with the Times, Mr. Parnell added, doubtless it would gratify curiosity by making known the truth about that matter. The country wanted to know how far the Government had gone in a course so mean and so thoroughly contrary to the English spirit as to attack men from ambush and by the use of such disreputable instruents. He knew the letters were forger ies, but he would rather have died than have accepted the vindication the Government offered him. The Parnell Commission, instead of trying the personal indictment, had tried the Irish nation and the movements of the Irish party.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT. A Lineman Falls from a Pole and Receiver Probably Fatal Injuries. A New York dispatch says: The first serious accident attending the raid of the city authorities upon the electric wires oc urred on Broadway, in front of the chemical bank. Daniel Montague, a lineman in the employ of the United States Illuminating company, fell from a pole and received probably fatal injuries. Montague was standing on a cross-bar, and this snapped off close to the pole. The lineman fell across some wires, bounded off to the stone sidewalk, and rolled into the basement of a building. Montague was engaged in taking down the wires of his company to save them from destruction by the city's gang of laborers who were at work behind

A Chicago dispatch says: There was terrific explosion in the United States Express company's shipping office in the Rock Island yards at Harrison and Sherman streets. A heater in the basement blew up, tearing away the floor and a portion of the roof. Eeveral persons were in the room above where the explosion occurred at the time, but by a miracle no one was killed. A man named John Fredericks was buried several feet by some of the debris and was badly injured.

Will Claus Spreckels Soll? New York dispatch: The World states "It is claimed now that the sugar trust people, who have from $12,400,000 to $15,000,000 in cash in the treasury, are instructing the bank and trust companies with whom they do business not to lend money on sugar trust certificates. If this he true it is the most serious blow yet struck at the value of sugar trust certificates, and demonstrates the truth of the Wall street story that the sugar trust magnates have been very industriously depressing the price of the stock so that they can luy in the certificates sold to the pub lic at 125 at less than half price. The story that they were locking up money so as to millience the course of speculation on the bear side has not been denied. The most interesting sugar trust rumor now in circulation is that Havemeyer and his acsociates are negotiating with Claus Spreckels with the view of purchasing the new Philadelphia refinery. There seems to be a general idea that Mr. Spreckels will eventually sell, but he does not dare to do

Maine Democrats to Take the Offensive A Waterville (Maine) dispatch says: At conference of the Democratic State committee here steps were taken toward strengthening the party organization throughout the State. It was strongly urged that the leading feature of the next campaign should be the resubmission of the prohibitory amendment to the people. One of the arguments used by those who favored this was the example of Rhode Island, Iowa, and other States where the Democrats have taken a bold and aggressive attitude on this question.

A Columbus (Ohio) dispatch says: The Supreme court has decided that the biennial elections amendment to the constitution of Ohio, which received a majority of votes cast on that proposition at the last election, was not legally adopted. Changeable Males. "The mails have changed, madam," said the clerk at the post-office window in answer to a question about the time for the arrival of the letter pouch. "Yes, indeed," replied the old lady, placing both hands on the window ledge and looking straight into the clerk's yes, "the males have changed. When was a girl we didn't hear of half the wickedness we do now, and all owing to males." "But the mails I mean-" "I know what males you mean. The papers are full of their goin's on And it's a perfect shame. Seems though men get married nowadays just to be supported. When I was a girl a man would be ashamed to live off his wife's money; but, law, they think nothing of it now. They even hold themselves in the market to be bought up by some rich girl, like the Prince What-you-may-call-it over in Paris.

Then the old lady went away, pleased that she had been able to free her
