-Farmers are laying out their programs for the spring work. It might be well enough to consider whether it wouldn't be more profitable to have greater variety of products, and a greater variety of farm animals, from which to raise money for taxes, groceries, dry goods, machinery, etc. Whatever will erect as many houses as in the past two assist in bringing the two ends of the years. year together to the advantage of the farmer, we are all interested in seeing, for when he prospers every other line of business prospers, and when he langguishes, all other industries (and they are built upon agriculture), go short. The farmer's problems are thus vitally important to everybody, and an interest-

-This western country must manufacture. The freight on corn, oats and wheat to our nearest market on account of bulk must for all time be many times greater than starch, oatmeal, crackers and the many other articles made from these raw materials. The freight on a car load of cured meat to Chicago is no more than the freight on a car load of live hogs to the same place. The car of cured meat represents ten cars of live hogs. It is worth as much more as the cost of labor in butchering and curing. So long as the west sends its hogs to Chicago to have them butchered, its corn to the east to the starch factories, then buys the same hogs and corn back. paying for all the labor, freight both ways, and commission men there and here too, we may expect to have our balance on the wrong side of the ledger.

- [York Republican. -D. J. Poynter in the Albion New suggests that, as the salaries of the officers of general, state and municipal governments are fixed by law, even to the remuneration of bus and back drivers, why wouldn't it be a good scheme to elect a commission to fix the price of labor? Then, on this basis, the price of all products, from farm, mine and factory could also be fixed. "Can any man give any good reason why such a thing should not be done? Just because it never has been so is no reason why it should not be. Do you say it would interfere with competition? Such an argument will apply with equal force to county officials. Let us take off the fixed salary and see if aspirants would not compete so strong for the positions as to serve the county for next to nothing. A state office is sometimes purchased with a price to exceed the salary. If men want position so badly, why not take off the lawful salary and leave the matter open to competition? Maybe aspirants would give the county or state something to let them serve it. But you say this is absurd-well, so is the other. Fix the price of all labor, the same as salaries of officers are now fixed, and then we will have settled times and no more

ED. COLUMBUS JOURNAL:-In the days of great reforms I am glad to note that our township fathers are not be hind. I noticed the other day that a petition is being circulated in this township praying the county board to emplo an expert to examine the county records with a few signers already on said petition, but on looking the petition over found nothing stating from what year to begin nor when to end, but may be they Buckwheat will circulate another later on to that effect. Said petition also requested to have the justice's dockets of the county examined by experts. It might, perhaps be a good idea, as I heard it claimed no ong ago that a certain heavy fine imposed by a justice in this town nearly a year ago was not paid into the county reasury yet, but if such is a fact i eems to me that it might be got without any great expense, as I would supsupervisors of the different townships could report such to the county board (provided they were not too anxious for re-election), and the board certainly could get what fines there might be in the justice's hands paid into the county treasury without any great expense to
