A SMALL KENTUCKY TOWN.

Cloudburst Causes a Creek to Overflow and Dwelling Houses and Their Occupants Swept Away - Many Abandon Their Homes or the Loss of Life Would Have Been Larger.

At Bull creek, near Maysville, Kv., a cloudburst caused the creek to overflow its banks and several dwelling houses and their occupants were swept away. About a dozen people are reported drowned. The following bodies were found: John Ruggles, fisherman; Lucy P. Ester, widow, and her four children. A stone culvert on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad over the creek ductor and brakeman jumped from the embarked.

rear car and escaped unhurt. A fast wrecking train on the way to the scene ran over Frank Scott, a colored emplove, and killed him.

A little later a mixed passenger train would have passed over the fatal culvert where the freight train went down, when the loss of life would have been appalling. The clouds suddenly bursting caused a rapid rise in the creek. Farmers say the creek rose two feet per minute and the water looked like a wall twenty-five feet high when it got to the railroad fill. Irwin's portable saw mill was lifted from its fastenings with over 100 logs and hurled violently against the railroad stone culvert. This is probably what caused it to give away. The creek is raised two feet higher get the raft to the city. The raft contains than it has been in forty years.

The force of the storm caused many persers on Bull creek to abandon their nomes and take to the hills, else the loss of life would have been greater. The storm did much damage to buildings, fences and crops in that portion of the county. Some half dozen persons are vet missing, but it is believed they will turn up all right.

In this brief epistle Mrs. Lamson wrote that she no longer cared for her husband who, she said, had deserted her. She wrote in conclusion: "I am young and pretty, my husband was old and cranky. He deprived me of my horses and of love, but, thank heaven. I have found some one at last in whom I can place implicit confidence." Meanwhile, Mr. Lamson had been cabled to come home. It is hinted that the handsome stranger is attached to one of the foreign legations in Washington and that he was a suitor for the fair Marion's hand long pefore she dreamed of becoming Mrs.

GEORGIA'S ALLIANCE NOW GO-ING INTO POLITICS.

Will Try to Elect a Governor, Capture the Legislature and United States Senatorship, and Elect at Least Three Congress men-Claims to Having a Membership

Senator Brown, of Georgia, has just returned to Washington, after a long visit to Atlanta. Speaking of the present political situation in Georgia, he said: "The farmers' alliance is a most powerful organization in our state. The democratic party numbers about 150,000 voters in G orgia J. A. Grimison, has been admitted to and the alliance has 100,000 members. That means that two-thirds as many as there are in the democratic party are members of the alliance. That they mean to take a hand in politics is settled. They will try to elect a governor, capture the legislature and United States senatorship and elect at least three congressmen. The state convention will be held early in Angust and the degree of their success in this convention will probably determine the action in the congressional conventions which will follow later in the month. Hon. J. W. Northern, a wealthy planter living near Sparta, is at present the most prominent alliance candidate for the governorship. The "American Book Company" Caught in the Very Act-A Trap Was Set for the Trust. T. H. Leach, of Vancouver, a member of the Washington state board of education, announced to the board that he had been offered $5,000 as a bribe to bring about a reconsideration of the board in regard to text books. He also laid before the board a check for the money drawn in his favor by C. Eames on the First National bank of Portland, Ore.

Last Thursday the board adopted text company, representing the book trust, receiving only about 28 per cent. of the awards. Two members of the board voted constantly for all the trust books. The trust agents, represented by Eames. who is connected with a detective agency in Portland, moved for a reconsideration so far as the readers and arithmetics were concerned, which would give the trust houses 80 per cent. of the awards. Leach was promised $5,000 and certain other considerations. Leach moved to reconsider Monday. The motion was accepted and the matter left open. He then received the check and exposed the plot. The board promptly reaffirmed its action of last Thursday and passed resolutions condemning the American Book company.

The meeting is held with closed doors and no move by the strikers or the company will be made until tends. The company claims it is impossible to operate the road with the protection afforded them, and the indications are that no cars will be started to-day.

CROP PROSPECTS. Condensation of Reports Received by the Chicago Farmers' E-view. The following report will appear in this week's Farmers' Review: Correspondents scattered throughout Pinnois, Indiana and Ohio report that the soil generally is hard and cloddy. Corn and oats are not thriving as they should. In Ohio, the condition of wheat has visibly improved. No particular change in Ind asa. Illinois reports show a decline of several points. This is in part due to injury by insects. The Hessian fly has damaged wheat in Christian county 75 per cent ; in Fulton county, 50 to 10 per cent.; Mason and Pulaski counties, 20 per ce.t.; fields in Madison county are said to be "full of th

In Jackson, Jersey and Washington counties, oats are said to be severely damaged by the grain plant louse. In Indiana, the grain plant louse has been working on wheat and oats in Crawford and Knox counties and the latter crop is said to be greatly damaged. Rains continue in Michigan and Wisconsin. Corn is late and some farmers have been obliced to replant, owing to rotting of the see i, but present conditions are favorable to growth. Oats are in fine condition. The condition of wheat has improved since last report. In some of the counties of Missouri and Kansas local rains have fallen sufficient for the present need of the crops but in many parts of these states oats, wheat and corn are suffering for rais. Reports show a marked decline in the condition of wheat

Where local showers have fallen, as has been the case in many parts of the state, corn is thriving. It is too late, however, to repair the damace which the oat crop has sustained by the prolonged drouth.

In Iowa crop conditions are promising, cut worms are doing considerable damage

Cotton Crop Report The statistical returns for Ju- 2 to the department of agriculture show an increase of acreage in cotton in nearly every state. The area as compared with acreage of 1889, is reported in this preliminary investigation as follows: Virginia, 98; North Carolina, 102; South Carolina, 103; Georgia, 102; Florida, 103; Alabama, 102; Mississippi, 102; Louisiana, 95; Texas, 105; Arkansas, 99; Tennessee, 100; average, 102; average condition, 88.8. The percentage of Virginia is 90; North Carolina, 98; South Carolina, 97; Georgia, 94; Florida, 92; Alabama, 93; Mississippi, 85; Louisiana, 84; Texas, 84; Arkansas, 85; Tennessee, 87. The fair price prevailing with low prices for other products stimulates the extension of planting. The overflows in Arkansas and Louisiana delayed planting in those states and prevented the increase which would otherwise have been made. There are locations where replanting to perfect stands injured by cold nights is still continued and will be in extreme cases till June 25. Stands are generally very good in the Carolinas, with exceptions in the low areas, where frosts or cool nights have destroyed plants. In the Mississippi valley and in Texas heavy rains. local floods and inundations have caused an unusual amount of replanting and on the Mississippi and other great rivers delay of planting until the waters recede. In such cases the seed has been dropped in the mud and the plants have appeared promptly, sometimes within four days from planting. Except on the Atlantic coast the excess of rains has retarded chopping out and cultivation. leaving the crop somewhat grassy, though recent fine weather has done much to secure clean cultivation. In more southern latitudes the plants are beginning to bloom, while in the entire breadth, as a rule, the plants are healthy and growing Crop reports for every section of the country are most encouraging. The outlook in Ontario is generally good, but much depends upon the weather during fered for wanz of snow and an excess of rain over half a crop. Spring wheat looks very quality. In Quebec everything is back-
