In that question which is important to all parents and to the country at large, "Where is my boy tonight?" an exchange says: "You are his father or his mother, and if you desire to lay your hand on your boy within five minutes any night, you wouldn't know where to find him. He is on the streets somewhere, but just where, with whom, in what engaged, what plotting or executing for the shrewder ones who plot for him, you could not tell for the life of you. He has a good home and he ought to be there at night. He desires to be somewhere else with the boys, and you lack moral courage to insist that he should be. You hope that he will escape the piffal, but you know the chances are against him. Why don't you do the boy the kindness to keep him at home nights? The time will come when he will thank you for it, or reproach you for not doing it." All of which is doubtless intended for good, but there is an element lacking for action do not lie deep hidden in their nature; they are bent on amusement; their learning must come to them largely in the way of amusement or lively interest; there is said to be a scheme (but it is a late invention) of learning to swim without going into the water at all, but boys are a part of the living world and with that world they must associate; "good company or none" is well enough as a motto, but like most wise sayings is impossible of practice; amusements with companions of their own age; develop their good qualities until some one master motive rises. If, as a parent or friend of the boys, you can aid in doing this, you have done well.

S. M. Slawinski, postmaster at Duncan, met with a casualty last Wednesday night that may result fatally. The last known of him before his injury, he left a saloon to take the 11:30 train for Leavenworth. He was found near midnight, by Henry Keating, who took him into the freight depot and went for the night policeman, who took him to jail, supposing the case was one of ordinary drunkenness. In the morning when visited, he called for a drink of water, which was given. At about 10 o'clock, Dr. Evans was called by chief Slawinski. The Dr. found a case of apoplexy with a paralysis of the left side. Cuts on the right hip are supposed to have been made by a bottle breaking in his pocket. These cuts were the cause of the first rumor in regard to the injured man, that he had been a case of apoplexy with a paralysis of the left side. The truth probably is that he was intoxicated when he got on the train, and that he fell from the platform with the results as stated. He was taken immediately to the St. Mary hospital, where he will probably die. While writing the foregoing we expected at any time to learn of the unfortunate man's death, which took place Friday night. He never gained consciousness after he called for a drink of water. He was a comparatively young man and leaves a wife and three young children. The funeral took place Sunday, the remains being buried at Duncan.

Francis Dunn has been nominated as the independent candidate for representative of Colfax county.

Monroe, and Wm. Shelp Grand Prairie. An informal ballot was taken, resulting in: Wright 42 Hyatt 5 Shelp 21 Clark 4 Jewell 20 Swartzley 3 Freeman 5

Clark withdrew. Freeman withdrew in favor of Shelp, and the first formal ballot was taken with the following result: Shelp 56 Swartzley 18 Wright 27 Jewell 4

On motion, the nomination of Shelp was made unanimous. He accepted in a brief speech which was well received by the convention.

Saunders, Hyatt and Conch were appointed committee to act in behalf of Platte county, with the friends of the cause in Colfax county, as a candidate for senator.

The nomination of a candidate for county attorney being declared next in order, a motion was made that John M. Godinger, the present incumbent be nominated by acclamation. This probably would have been done without further question had not Clark of Columbus offered a resolution endorsing Godinger and directing the central committee to place him on the ticket in case of his nomination by the democrats.

The delegates elected to the state convention were Wm. Dadds, Levi Ely, Adam Martz, S. O. Raymond, E. J. Conch, F. Matson, James Burrows, J. C. Swartzley, Fred Jewell, C. E. Campbell, Daniel Meek, N. S. Hyatt, John Walker, James Kierman.

A finance committee was appointed: Wm. Kearville, Wm. Shelp, post-office Platte Center; A. W. Clark, post-office Columbus.

The central committee is: Butler J. O. Blodgett; Burrows Wm. Dolk; Columbus J. C. Byrnes; Columbus city First ward E. O. Wells; Second ward O. D. Butler; Third ward S. O. Raymond; Creston O. S. Moran; Grand Prairie J. M. Renner; Grandville Gus Merrick; Humphrey J. J. Graves; Joliet D. D. Dickson; Loup J. K. Kummer; Lost Creek H. Keller; Monroe F. Matson; Shell Creek G. W. Brown; Sherman Wm. Reese; St. Bernard Walker F. W. Edwards; Woodville Ray Clark.

THIRD DISTRICT. The Independents in Session to Nominate Their First Candidate for Congress. One hundred and forty-eight delegates are, as we go to press, congregated at the opera house, listening to speeches and waiting for the action of committees to go forward with the business of nominating a standard bearer in the congressional campaign.

A number of speeches have been made, some very judicious, such as that by Mr. Powers of the state alliance, and ex-governor Butler and Mr. Sims; others not so well calculated to bring the somewhat discordant elements together, such as Mr. Schraeder's speech on the tariff. Mr. Chamberlain's speech was devoted to picturing the oppressions by the money power, giving incidents met with in the course of his labors as an organizer, and to firing the hearts of his audience to fight the fight until the bitter end.

There is quite a crowd of interested, old-party men present, who are giving respectful attention to what is being said, and there is a plainly evident determination on the part of the delegates to deliberate fully before deciding upon a candidate.

On an informal ballot, M. A. Knox of Carter had 10 votes, W. A. Royner of Boone 11, C. D. Schraeder of Logan 69, W. L. Willard of Hall 4, and O. M. Ken of Carter 56.

The first formal ballot, Ken had 82 votes, Schraeder 76, Knox 1, and Ken was declared the nominee of the convention. On motion of Schraeder the nomination was made unanimous and Mr. Ken was called upon for a speech. He responded with a very fair, deliberate, straight-forward presentation of his views, and gave an insight into the sincerity of his sentiments by an account, in brief, of his life in Nebraska, of which, more at length in the next issue of THE JOURNAL.
