THE JOURNAL

As one of the mediums, because it is read by the best people, those who know what they want and pay for what they get. We challenge comparison with any country paper in the world in this respect—twenty years publishing by the same management, and never one dun to subscribers published in The Journal. This, better than anything else, shows the class of people who read The Journal every week.

In 1879 he was chosen a Judge of the Supreme Court of Vermont, and held this office for ten years, becoming distinguished for judicial learning and probity, and being called to preside at nisi prius over the most difficult trials in the State. In 1879 he was appointed by the Governor a commissioner to repor to the Legislature upon court expenses. with a view to retrenchment and reform. Soon after going on the bench he was appointed a commissioner for revising the statutes of the State. In 1889 he was appointed by President Harrison an Interstate Commissioner, and this office he holds at the present time.

Finances of the Order. The report of Quartermaster General John Taylor, of Philadelphia, consisted entirely of figures. One set showed the official in account with the Grand Army. It gave cash balance Aug. 31, 1889, $12,-333.49; receipts from sale of supplies, $22,895.35; receipts from per capita tax. $7.611.06; interest on United States bonds and deposits $825.21; total to be accounted for, $43,681.11. The expenditures had amounted to $34,239.30, of which $15,759.90 had been for the purchase of supplies and $18.512.40 for incidentals, postage, salaries, etc. Another table gives the total assets as follows: Cash balance on hand, $9,445.81; due by departments, $852.11; United States bonds, $19,800; supplies, $1,571.08; total, $31,669. The Grant monument fund was shown to have been increased by $981.76 since the last encampment, and to amount to $11,114,55

Report of Adjutant General Hopkins. The following is Adjutant General Hopkins' report:

vivid day of the mightiest military power report of the business transactions of the that was ever called into existence. It was a spectacle of superlative grandeur by whatever standard it was measured. In point of numbers it was immense, and but for the excellent management of its organizers and directors it would have been unwieldy. From 11 o'clock in the forenoon till after sunset this memorable march was kept up, column after column passing the grand stands with wonderful precision and presenting to the spectators a succession of

A SON-COMBATANT. military tableaux, each one in its turn possessing some peculiar and distinctive trait of the State from which it came. Maine's sturdy men displayed the pine cones of their forests; Wisconsin's contingent carried a badger: Vermont's gallant comrades adorned their kossuths with sprigs of green to remind us of their green mountains: the Illinoisans bore banners on which the names and faces of their great citizens, Lincoln, Grant, and Logan, were conspicuous; and so on through the long list of all the States represented. . There were 45,500 veterans in line. It was the largest procession the G. A. R. has ever turned out. The President, the Governor of Massachusetts, and Gen. Sherman reviewed the procession from a stand in Copley Square. Undeniably the most gallant figure of the day, and the one most heartily and continuously applauded, was Gen. Alger.

The chief interest in the encampment surrounded the election of grand officers and the location for the next encamp ment. General Wheelock G. Venzy, o Vermont, was elected Commander-inchief, and the next convention will be held in Detroit. Richard F. Tobin, of Boston, was elected Senior Vice Com mander, and George B. Creamer, of Baltimore, Junior Vice Commander. Commander Venzey's Career. Wheelock G. Veazey was born i Rockingham County, New Hampshire, about fifty-three years ago, and was educated at Phillips, Exeter Academy Dartmouth College, and the Albany Law School. He had just begun practice in Springfield, Vt., when the war broke out. At the close of his military service he resumed practice at Rutland, in partnership with the Hon. Redfield Proctor, the present Secretary of War. He enlisted as a private in the Third Vermont Volunteers early in 1861, was chosen Captain of Company A, and promoted to be Major and Lieutenant Colonel that summer. The Coionel of the regiment was William F. Smith, who afterward became popularly known as General "Baldy" Smith Being a West Point man he gave his command thorough discipline, and it distinguished itself at Lee Mills, the first battle of the peninsular campaign in 1862. By this time, however, its colonel had been made a general, and was in command of a division, and Colonel Veazey was his chief staff and was engaged in all the battles of the peninsular campaign. In addition to a leading law practice in 1864 he accepted an appoint-

GENERAL ALGER, THE RETIRING COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

State of North Dakota, was organized at Grand Forks, N. D., on April 24, 1890. Com-rade George B. Winship was elected Department Commander, who appointed Comrade William Ackerman as Assistant Adjutant General, with headquarters at Grand

The Provisional Department of Indian Territory and Oklahoma was authorized by special orders No. 21, dated June 23, 1890, and a department encampment called for the purpose of organizing a permanent department at Guthrie on the 7th day of August, 1890. I beg to refer and cordially indorse the recommendations of Past Adjutant General Eugene F. Weigle, in which he refers to the great advantage that would accrue to the departments and the organization if there were a less frequent change of the Assistant Adjutant General in the various departments. Some of the larger departments have adopted the plan of keeping permanent headquarters and making infrequent changes in the office of Assistant Adjutant General. This seems to me very desirable indeed, and I quite agree with Comrade Weigle in his report that it would be amply sufficient to have semi-annual reports instead of quarterly, as the latter only enhance the abor of the post and the department officers without serving any purpose that would not be equally as well served by semi-annual As giving an indication of the amount o work required in the office of the Adjutant General, I beg to notice that there have been ssued eighteen general orders, three circuars, two national rosters, which with an ssue of 12,000 copies of each amounts in all to 240,000; in addition seventy-five special orders were issued, and nearly 4,000 comnunications of various kinds were received. most of which call for a reply, which may be found copied in the letter books of this A special mailing list, comprising the na-tional and past national officers, members of the Council of Administration, prominent members of the order of the Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans and soldier newspapers, is now quite large, and makes a large Item in postage. About 900 commissions have been issued, I beg to call the attention of the several departments to the desirability of printing the reports of their proceedings in as nearly a uniform style as possible, to conform to the printed reports of the national encampment. Commander-in-chief-I desire to expremy sincere regrets that our official relations, which have been at all times most pleasant, are so soon to be severed. You have impressed upon me, as you have all the comrades of the various departments you have visited, the sincerity of your work in behalf of the organization. The amount of time that you have placed at the disposal of the comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic was measured only by the time between the dates when you assumed the office and when you will have laid it down. If I have in any manner merited the confidence which you have placed in me, and my official action has been satisfactory to he members of the organization. I am more than pleased, and abundantly rewarded for

I desire in as public a manner as possible to express my thanks to the officers of the various departments for their uniform courtesy in responding to my demands made ipon them in relation to their departments To Assistant Adjutant General James T. Sterling I am greatly indebted for his assistance, so cheerfully and zealously given at all times, and to Quartermaster General John Taylor, Judge Advocate General Austin. and Inspector General Griffith for their aid whenever called upon. Sincerely in F., by fire. C. and L.. George Hopkins. Adjutant General.

MRS. ANDREW HANSON, of Hartwell has pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy. She soon tired of farm life, and removing to Minden, applied for a divorce, which was refused. During her stay in Minden she gained an unenviable reputation. nary Care. This mallet is made of the best hickory and covered at each end with thick raw hide, which forced on to the wood by hydraulic pressure. So firmly is the raw hide bound to the wood that no splitting or cracking is possible. The raw-hide covering is one-half an inch in thickness over the ends of the mallet, and extends back nearly two inches toward the center.

Try it in your next week * cleaning and see. * A STRUGGLE WITH DIRT

Goes on in civilized society from the cradle to the grave. Dirt is degradation-and degradation is destruction. Women, especially, are judged by their habits of household cleanliness, and no stronger condemnation can be expressed than "she keeps a dirty house and a filthy kitchen." But the struggle with dirt is often unequal. The woman's weakness or the worthlessness of the soaps she uses make it impossible to overcome the demon of dirt. By the use of SAPOLIO she wins casily.
