Now, however, they seem to be recovering their old-time energy, and it is not unlikely that an inheritance of the same enterprise which characterized them in the past will once more push them steadily forward. New Bedford, formerly the greatest whaling port on the whole coast, now boasts a population of 11,044, a gain of more than 50 per cent. since 1880, and New London, the second port in importance, has gained some 30 per cent. or more in the same time.

ALTHOUGH of immense proportions, Siberia is so closely guarded that, on an average, not over one hundred prisoners escape annually, and of these many perish from hunger and cold, or are eaten by wolves on the frozen steppes which surround much of the country. All around the borders are placed, at intervals, stations where are located a few officers and quite a number of soldiers or Cossacks, who intercept all travelers and stop their progress if they cannot show a pass from the Governor of some province or the Czar. In the interior there are also many of the stations, at each of which the traveler finds his journey barred unless he has the proper passport; so it is a very difficult matter to escape, but many prefer to risk their lives on the frozen plains than bear the hardships of the prison. There are three classes of prisoners. The lowest are the poorer people who have been detected in plots against the Czar. They spend the most of their lives in the mines, which produce gold, silver, copper and platinum, the greater portion of which is exported.

PEDRO MCCARTHY, of Philadelphia, was the subject of a peculiar operation at the Presbyterian Hospital. A needle which protruded from his abdomen was removed by Dr. W. B. Gilliard. The needle was much corroded and blackened. McCarthy said he could not explain how the needle got there, but remembered that about twenty years ago he trod upon a needle which troubled him slightly, but was never discovered. McCarthy says he did not experience much pain at the time, but since then he has suffered extreme pains less or more all around the left leg, which gradually moved upward. The pain shifted to his side, and he has latterly experienced the stinging pain in the region of the abdomen. While at work at the foundry he was doing some work which necessitated his stooping considerably. He felt keen pains as if something was penetrating his flesh like a needle, and he had to get up, and, on examination, he discovered the blackened point of the needle. The case is one of the most peculiar that has come under treatment at the hospital for many years.

MR. STANLEY, in "Darkest Africa," gave some idea of the way in which one ruler succeeds another among the African tribes, and has better illustrated the ways of dealing with the royal family in these tribes than any other explorer. The ruling party can admit of no rivals, and when he has gained the throne his only security is in putting all possible rivals to death. When the late King of Uganda succeeded to the throne, he proceeded to put to death all his brother's children, and Mwanga only saved his own life by flight from the country, leaving all his children behind him. When his elder brother, Karema, had killed them all, as well as his own children, he had the misfortune to be killed himself, and when Mwanga returned to occupy the throne, which had been held in his family for three centuries, he found himself to be the only surviving member of the royal family of Uganda in existence. This is a reminiscence of the treatment of royal families in earlier ages of the world, when the rivals to the throne were put out of the way by destroying them.

WISE SAYINGS.

From the Exchanges.

A SMALL man has a small God.

WORDS with GOD in them are never wasted.

THE man who serves the devil will soon find out that he has to do it at his own expense.

A SMILE by never was lost behind the ears. A self-righteous man is a good deal like one.

GOD wants His children all to be stars of Bethlehem, to lead somebody to the Saviour.

NO ONE can ever joy peace and be indifferent as to what may be God's will concerning him.

WHEN we get to Heaven it will surprise us to find how small the world looks from there.

WHEN you come to die will there be anything you have done that will make you glad you have lived?

FROM WASHINGTON.

AN INTERESTING NEWS SUMMARY.

Secretary Blaine and Reciprocity—Fate of the Public Building Bills—The Lafayette Monument—Other Interesting Notes and Comments.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Special correspondence: Congress has reached the beginning of the end. It is a foregone conclusion that the finance committee amendment as a substitute for the Blaine reciprocity proposition will be adopted by the senate. The majority of the ways and means committee, recognizing this, have been considering the matter and have so far advanced toward an understanding that it is probable they will not be long in reaching an agreement when the matter gets into conference.

Mr. Blaine's Great Stroke.

The popular favor with which Mr. Blaine's reciprocity suggestion was received has compelled the leaders in both houses to yield; but in so doing they are discrediting the plan as much as possible and giving it as little scope. While the committee amendment to Mr. Blaine's ideas will be passed by the senate, in the house, members who had to abandon the idea of reading Mr. Blaine from the party, will relieve their feelings by slurring at his plan and then adopting a little of it. Having decided on this course, they are counting on an adjournment between the 21st and 25th of this month.

Speedy Disposal Probable.

The tariff bill will probably be sent to conference very soon after it reaches the house, and there the members already having had the questions that will arise under their individual consideration, the matter promises to be speedily disposed of.

Commendable Caution.

At a meeting of the house committee on territories Monday the subject of the consideration of the bills for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona into the Union being under discussion, a preamble and resolution in regard to the matter was unanimously adopted. The preamble recites that there have been bills introduced in the house and referred to the territories committee looking to the future admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as states, and that great contrariety of opinion exists as to the wisdom and propriety of their immediate admission to the union. The resolution authorizes the committee on territories to send a sub-committee of seven members to New Mexico and Arizona with authority to inquire into the social, educational, financial and moral condition existing in the territory, and report whether the territories in justice to themselves and their relations to the other states of the union are prepared for statehood or not. The resolution also authorizes the sub-committee upon its trip to visit such localities in the territory of Utah as they may deem proper and there take and report testimony upon the question of the prevalence, extent or decadence of the doctrines and practices of plural and celestial marriages, as taught by the heads of the Mormon church. The committee is required to make its report at the second session of the present congress.

Mr. Case's Case.

Mr. Case, of Iowa, said today that he thought congress would adjourn between the 20th and the 25th of September.

Public Building Bills.

A number of members of the house interested in the public building bills, which have so far failed to receive final consideration in the house, have decided in a formal request of the committee on rules that by means of a special order sufficient time be offered to the committee on public buildings and grounds to dispose of some of the more important measures.

The Lafayette Monument.

The Lafayette monument, which arrived in this city from France some ten days ago, is still homeless so far as the site for its permanent location is concerned. A foundation in Lafayette park, costing the government nearly $2,500, is all ready for its reception, but as the erection of the monument upon this foundation would obstruct in part the view of Gen. Jackson's statue from the white house and Pennsylvania avenue, the commission in charge has been urgently solicited to have a new location designated. There being a law on the statute books providing for the removal of the Peace monument from the west entrance to the capitol grounds may open a way for a most conspicuous and commanding site for the statue of that noble patriot, Lafayette.

Ladies on Two Wheels.

The capital city has fully and successfully inaugurated and placed above absurdity, reproach or censure the fascinating and wholesome exercise of bicycle riding by the ladies, and at any hour of the day, and especially in the evening, hundreds of these two-wheeled vehicles can be seen gliding swiftly along the smooth concrete of the main thoroughfares, propelled by the elite ladies of the city.

A Noticeable Improvement.

The sanitary condition and appearance of the house corridors since Speaker Reed caused a raid upon the pie venders and notion women is quite noticeable and favorably commented upon. Now, if "prohibition" of liquors in the capitol restaurants was as effectually a success, a psalm of praise and thanksgiving would go up from a grateful people, and the disgraceful scenes recently in the house would never again bring blushes of shame to the cheek of the disgusted American statesman.

Want Rapid Transit.

The city street car corporations have been notified by district authority that after six months from September 1 the use of "horse power" must give way to some other and more improved plan of locomotion. The adoption of the cable system is contemplated by the Washington and Georgetown line, and electric power by other lines. The old and venerable "Herdic" will lumber about as their said manner of aimlessness, and the moss here is to see that their successful motive of propulsion thereon will not be interrupted.

Handsome Wedding Present.

Representative Cutcheon, of the Detroit district, is home by special permission to attend the marriage ceremony of his daughter Lucy, which event will take place on the 17th inst. As a token of regard for the estimable qualities of the father and unbounded respect for his accomplished daughter, the house delegation united in the purchase of a magnificent diamond necklace, which will be presented to the bride. The necklace is of rare and most unique design.

Quite Cool at Night.

The Great Library.

The work on the public library building is progressing fairly well, and when finished will be the most magnificent edifice of the kind in the world and within the past inexhaustible collection of publications extant.

The Building Boom.

The building boom in Washington seems almost fabulous. Nearly 1,000 residences, at an average value of $10,000, have been erected this year, and contracts have been consummated for about half as many more.

The Fittest Spot.

Washingtonians are patriotically jubilant over the prospects of securing the remains of Gen. Grant. It is apparent to all that Arlington National cemetery is the proper final resting place for this great general.

NEBRASKA IN A COLUMN.

Gambling Holes in Omaha The Regular Day for Suicides at Syracuse—News in Paragraphs.

Since the raid on gambling dens in Omaha was made ten days ago the gamblers have been rather quiet. A new place was opened over the Turf Exchange on Douglas street, and though carefully run, was enjoying fine patronage. The police decided to check the affair, and Capt. Mostyn, with a squad of officers, descended upon the place. The den was surrounded and escape cut off. Then three wagon loads of reckless players, and as many more loads of tools were gathered in and taken to the station. Arrangements for giving bail were made and several of the arrested gamblers were released. Among those taken in were a number of well-known athletes who were in the city. The affair created considerable excitement. It was a skillfully planned and executed raid.

Temporarily Insane.

Mrs. Henry Kramer, aged 53, residing two miles northwest of Syracuse, suicided by taking strychnine. She took the poison at 9 a. m. and died at ten. A physician was called, but too late. The coroner was summoned, called a jury and gave a verdict of death by poisoning administered by her own hand while laboring under temporary aberration of the mind. This is the fourth case of suicide in Syracuse in one year, and each one occurred on Wednesday.

Nebraska Cities.

The census bureau at Washington has announced the population of the following places in Nebraska: Beatrice, 13,921, increase, 11,471; Lincoln, 55,491, increase 42,488; Nebraska City, 11,472, increase, 7,289; Omaha, 130,526, increase, 109,009; Plattsmouth, 8,403, increase, 4,228.

A Severe Wound.

Frank Roberts, an Omaha boy of 12 years, was bitten by a dog owned by Mr. Rave. The policeman on the beat shot at the dog twice, but the bullets passed him and he escaped. The boy's wound is severe.

TEDDY'S LAMENT.

Oh, dear, I'm awful lonesome,
I don't know what to do.
My mamma's gone to grandma's,
My papa's somewhere, too.

My cart's all broken to pieces,
The hens don't lay no eggs,
And kitty's scratched me awful
Because I tied his legs.

I cannot climb on the haymow
Since Willie broke his arm.
I wish I didn't live where
Fun is always harm.

Safety from a Pestilential Scourge.

Protection from the disease, not a medicinal agent which merely checks the paroxysms, is the grand desideratum wherever the epidemic scourge of malaria prevails. Quinine does not afford this protection. The chief reason why Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has won such immense popularity is that it prepares the system to resist the malarial pest. This it does by treating and toning the physical organism, regulating and promoting an equal flow and distribution of the animal fluids, and establishing digestion on a sound basis. Not only is fever and ague prevented, but the worst types of the disease are conquered by it. Such is the only conclusion to be drawn from the overwhelming evidence in its favor. It is equally efficacious in dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, general debility, and rheumatic complaint, and is a reliable diuretic and nervine.

IN certain British regiments a pet has become quite an institution, as in the case of the South Wales Borderers, whose silk-haired goat is familiar to many as it marches proudly along at the head of the regiment, under the guidance of a pair of drummer boys.

Ducks in the Chinese Empire.

There are more ducks in the Chinese empire, says an authority, than in all the world outside of it. They are kept by the Celestials on every farm, on the private ponds, on the public roads, on streets of cities, and on all the lakes, ponds, rivers, streams and brooks in the country. Every Chinese boat also contains a batch of them. There are innumerable hatching establishments all through the empire, many of which are said to turn out about 50,000 young ducks every year. Salted and smoked duck and ducks' eggs constitute two of the most common and important articles of diet in China.

to use

SAPOLIO

for house-cleaning. It is a solid cake of scouring soap. Try it.

Cleanliness is always fashionable and the use of or the neglect to use SAPOLIO marks a wide difference in the social scale. The best classes are always the most scrupulous in matters of cleanliness—and the best classes use SAPOLIO.
