—Ed. J. Neiswender will give away a beautiful gold watch on the first day of January, each dollar's worth of goods securing one chance. Sign of the Big Watch.

Mr. H. L. McCoy, the gentleman who lately purchased the Lindell hotel property, a recent resident of Creighton, Neb., has taken up his residence in Columbus.

A. J. Arnold will give away a fine diamond ring and other valuable articles of jewelry on January 1, 1910. Everyone making a cash purchase of $1.50 gets a ticket for the drawing.

—We learn that an epidemic is prevalent in Fremont which the physicians diagnose as a disease very similar to la grippe. The glands of the throat are first attacked. It is not considered contagious.

Sup't Cramer reports the corn crop at about 20 bushels to the acre. There are exceptional fields here and there, some better and others worthless; but most farms put their crop at about that figure.

Tonight Occidental Lodge No. 21, Knights of Pythias, will elect officers for the ensuing term. An extra session was held Saturday night to dispose of the work on hand to make room for the election.

John Tannahill called at The Journal headquarters Saturday and left a box of cigars for the boys. It's a girl and she presented her resignation for membership in John's family Saturday morning.

—Sheriff Baker of North Platte was in the city over Sunday with a couple of convicts from Lincoln county en route to the penitentiary at Lincoln. The said convicts were guests of the Hotel de Cuba well over night.

Sup't Cramer visited the school in district 22, taught by Miss Annie Freeman, yesterday. He reports the school in good condition, and Miss Freeman as a teacher thoroughly alive to the importance of her work.

—The following item from the Central City Courier will be of interest to many of our readers: "Last week the Union Pacific began fencing its right of way between this city and Clark. When the grant of land was made to the company by the government it was allowed 200 feet on each side of its road bed through even-numbered sections reserved by the government. They have never claimed their rights and those who settled on the government land have always considered that their property reached up to within 100 feet of the road and the company only reserved that on its own land. It is now fencing in the entire 200 feet on the even-numbered sections, and there is music in the air. Johnny Patterson has an 80-acre tract east of town which is cut diagonally into almost equal parts by the road. The company's men had dug the post holes for the fence, but Johnny went down there the other day and filled them up. The next thing was an injunction from the United States court restraining him from interfering with the property of Uncle Sam's ward."

—John Massengale of the firm of Massengale & Ross, stockmen of Carbon county, Wyo., spent Sunday in the city. He is returning from a trip to South Dakota to dispose of a bunch of horses which he has been holding on the range in that country. Mr. Massengale relates with considerable relish an incident of the trip in which a ferryman at Chamberlain was taught that western men don't take kindly to methods of extortion. Finding that he could not cross his horses by way of the boat without submitting to being "held up" for an unreasonable price, he roped the leader of the herd, and removing the bell from his neck, proceeded to swim him trailed after a skiff in which the bell was being gently tinkled in the hands of one of the men. The plan worked to perfection. The horses, accustomed to follow the bell of the leader strung into the water and following the lead of the reedling skiff and tinkling bell stemmed the current on the opposite bank.

—Remi Miller, an old-time citizen of Columbus, but for many years past a resident near Shelby, Pa. county, was in town yesterday on business. We learn from him that on the 11th of this month, after an illness of three weeks, his oldest son, William, died of typhoid fever. About a year ago he was attacked with la grippe, and he supposed at first that this was a similar attack, but it proved otherwise. William was born at Geneseo, Henry county, Ill., Aug. 7, 1885. He was a dutiful son, an affectionate brother, a good citizen, and his departure from scenes of earthly trials and conflict, in the prime of his young manhood, will be a matter of serious thought for all young people of his acquaintance. The afflicted family have the sincere sympathy of their friends in the sad loss of their oldest son.

The editor of the Iowa Homestead is personally known to many of our readers, and into the publication office he presides he has the faculty of getting more of practical worth to the square inch of white paper. Life is too short, and the demands of our western farm life are too many and urgent to waste time reading eastern farm periodicals mainly taken up with something appropriate only to their own locality. See the proposition elsewhere of the Homestead Co., and if you don't wish to bother sending for their paper, call at this office, and we will take your subscription, along with that of The Journal, and both papers will be paid one year in advance, for $2.75.

J. A. Turner, F. C. Turner and C. T. Kennedy of The Journal force are feeling good over the receipt of a handsome newsham pipe apiece for the two latter named and a splendid amber cigar holder for the former, presents from G. W. Turner of Cody's Wild West Show at present located in Germany. To connoisseurs in pipes and lovers of the weed in that form, both holder and pipes are a subject for esthetics. The pipes were manufactured to George's order in Vienna expressly for the boys. Accompanying the presents came also a whole box full of European cigarettes and cigars from the different cities of Europe through which George has traveled.

The publishers of the Homestead, the weekly twenty-four page agricultural paper of Des Moines, Ia., edited by a practical farmer, inform us that they will send their paper from now until the first of next January, free of charge, to every farmer in this country not already a subscriber, who will send his name and address, plainly written on a postal card, to the Homestead Co., Des Moines, Ia. The copies will be absolutely free, and will be sent to any farmer to enable him to judge for himself of the merits of the Homestead as a paper devoted to his special interests. On the first of January the paper will be discontinued unless subscribed for in the form.

—South Omaha has a daily of its own, the initial number appearing last Friday under the heading of South Omaha by Ritchard, Schallig & Powers. The Saturday edition of the paper contains the following sensible reasons for the venture: "The Tribune is not launched in the heat of a campaign for the purpose of defeating the poor but aspiring candidates; neither is it born to 'fill a long felt want,' but is purely a business enterprise and will be run—first, in the interest of the publishers as to financial matters, and for the good of South Omaha first, last and all the time."

—About fifty of our teachers assembled at the High school building last Saturday to attend the Teachers' Meeting, and a very interesting session was held. The exercises are spoken of as being good in every respect. Some of them were of a high order of merit and reflect much credit on their authors. Prof. Grinstead of Fremont represented the Nebraska reading circle, and perhaps twenty-five teachers enrolled their names as members. The next meeting will be held at Platt Center. The date is not yet fixed.

A mysterious cattle disease has broken out in Iowa. A special to the South Omaha Stockman says: "A mysterious and singularly fatal disease has shown itself among the cattle in this section. It appears to be contagious and is rapidly carrying off the live stock of the farmers around this place. Several have already died and a number more are down and not expected to recover. No local veterinarian is able to stop the progress of the disease, and the people are at a loss as to what to do."

S. E. Phillips of Platt Center was in the city Saturday.

M. V. Mundy, attorney of Genoa, was in the city Monday.

Judge J. G. Higgins was down from Grand Island Saturday.

Byron Dieffenbach of the Genoa Indian school was in town Monday.

W. B. Backus was in town yesterday on his way to the Indian territory.

Paul Hagel was over at David City last week to see his partner M. S. Reid. The editor of the Fullerton Post, Mr. J. W. Turner, was in the city Monday on business.

Chief of Police C. M. Taylor took sick Monday and went to his brother's at Tecumseh.

Mayor R. H. Henry and wife returned from their visit to Chicago last Saturday evening.

Miss Bertha Krause of Albion was a visitor the first of the week with her parents in this city.

Messrs. F. Wilber and O. K. Rice of New York state were in the city last week the guests of W. H. Randall.

Attorney George G. Bowman who with his family recently made his home at Omaha, was in the city Monday.

H. E. Fauble and family have returned to Columbus to live. The Journal with their many friends, is glad to welcome them back.

Allen Steumbras visited in Madison county over Sunday with his brother Harry, who intended leaving Monday for his old home in Columbus, Ohio.

W. H. Leiman, general western agent for the firm of Storey & Camp, Chicago, spent Sunday in the city the guest of his brother George, landlord of the Thurston.

A CRYING NEED.

Columbus Wants More Coal.

Last week THE JOURNAL mentioned the fact that a coal famine seemed imminent in case of severe weather which would soon exhaust the present supply and make the present reserves of the different yards entirely inadequate to the demand.

The condition is still unchanged for the better, and so far as the U. P. company are concerned, no satisfaction can be gained by our dealers in answer to urgent requests for coal. An urgent scarcity of locomotive power to handle the business of the road is the plea of the company. The cause of the failure to supply the demand by the source from which they have a
