The boys of Nebraska who are expected to add to the wealth of Oxnard by raising sugar beets for him must receive a larger compensation than they did this season for their work.

The very cold snap has found a goodly number of people in the city yesterday for winter. When one gets to studying about it, it has never taken more than a half minute's thought, it seems one of the very strangest things in the world that the people of these United States don't own and operate railroads enough to secure the transportation of fuel, at such a cost as would make it plentiful and cheap everywhere, and at the same time give owners of coal beds a chance to utilize their property, and give employment to thousands of men in need of same. How long!

A patron of the schools the other day said to my calf, instead of calf, half instead of half, "ah" instead of "ah," and instead of "ah," half instead of half, and so on clear through the chapter. He supposes that, being tart, it is doubtless all right, but it is enough to make an old-fashioned calf laugh at the innovation in all the fullness of its completeness, so to speak, as it were. He says it is "lawful" that such pronunciation should be taught, and yet the teachers themselves not practice their own teaching.

There is a wonderful amount of inventive genius abroad in Nebraska, and other towns besides Columbus are favored. The Schuyler Herald says: "Mr. George Beck of our city has just completed a model for a safety boat, upon which he has applied for a patent. The principal features of this novel boat are, six tight compartments, of which there are four, and the method of propelling the boat by means of a single paddle wheel placed in the center of the boat. The manner of constructing the boat is such that it will be impossible to upset it in the highest seas."

The undersigned desire to tender their heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses during the last illness of husband and father.
