Having made the acquaintance of bear, a young jackass was deeply gratified and promised himself great pleasure in the communion of souls. In the meantime the bear had told his wife that he had met a very pleasant fellow who had, however, a pair of criminally long ears and a voice that incited misde meanor. A rat in the bear's den heard these disparaging remarks, and the ears of the jacka-s soon came to them, and loudly and somewhat unmelodiously he lamented the perfidy of his false friend. "I shall let bears alone henceforth," he exclaimed, "they are not restrained, it seems, by considerations of decency and

"Why," said an Owl who, being within a marine league, had overheard his complaint, "why should you bewail the natural consequence of your own folly? Your treacherous friend has not disparaged you because he is a bear, but because he is married. Did you expect to enjoy the friendship of a married animal on the same easy terms as that of an unmarried? Learn then, from me this great central, basic, and eternal truth: "No man is a hero to his friend's wife."-San Francisco Examiner.

Sunshine in London.

From records of the amount of sun shine in London kept at the Greenwich observatory for the last fourteen years it appears that the darkest month of the ear in London is December, in which here is a total of only twenty hours of aunshine, or 8 per-cent, of the possible, and in which there is an average of (wenty sunless days. January is but little better, with twenty-six hours of sunshine and an average of nineteen sunless days. February has twice as much sunshine as January and March shows an equal improvement on its prelecessor. The brightest day only four aours of sunshine are to be expected, while throughout the entire year an average of sunshine amounting to 1,214 aours, or 27 per cent. of the possible amount is shown.

Rarly Rising for Women.

Polly Peppers says, in the American Home, that early rising wears out women too fast. "I notice that our thrifty great aunts and grandmothers had a habit o dying early and giving their husbands an opportunity of leading two or three blushing brides to the altar. Now, I don't propose to leave any chance for my husband to get any such double or triple oliss as that. I don't intend to have any other woman walking around in my shoes, appropriating my kisses and do ing other disagreeable things which l should object to. I mean to take care of yself so as to last as long as my better half. No woman has any business, ordinarily, to get up and go to work at 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning. If there is anything in the world that a woman needs it is plenty of rest. If she feels tired and languid in the morning and hates to get up, it is a sure sign that she is as early as anyone ought to get up and go to work."

One of the most useful and magnifi cent productions of the vegetable kingdom that enriches the soil of China more particularly the provinces of Kiang-si and Canton, is the campho tree. This stupendous laurel, according to the testimony of learned Chinese mandarins, has been known to attain a height of 300 feet and a girth measurement of 80 feet. The trees seldom grow on uplands, but are to be found in abundance on the banks of many of the larger streams. Lord Amherst's embassy reports the average height o camphor trees at from 50 to 70 feet, with a stem circumference of 20 to 35 feet. Besides yielding the camphor gum of commerce, this valuable tree is the principal timber wood of the celestial empire, and is used not only in building but in articles of furniture. Calf Carried Off by a 'Gator. At Staunton, Fla., a few days ago Miss Gatlin was engaged in household duties, when she was alarmed by hear ing a calf on the grounds bellowing as if in pain. She rushed out to see what was the matter, and found that about forty yards from the lake an immense alligator, fifteen feet long, bad caught the calf by the back of the neck and was slowly dragging it into the lake. She very courageously tried to make the reptile leave by throwing light wood at him, but he had evidently other intentions, and in spite of the presence of a human being, which is supposed to strike terror to the hearts of such animals, he dragged the calf over forty yards into the lake and both disappeared.
